3. Special basis weights: A special basis weight, not lighter than basis weight 30, nor heavier than permitted in A 3, may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 20,000 pounds of a standard grade and color and at least 5,000 pounds of each item.

"B" GRADE GROUNDWOOD PRINTING

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White and India only.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 30, 32, 35 in English, Machine, Antique and M. F. Roto Finishes; and, if in Antique Finish, basis weight 40; and, if in Antique Finish for printing text books for elementary school grades 1 and 2 or for juvenile books, basis weight 45, provided that before the sale thereof the manufacturer shall require from the buyer a statement that the order is for such use. The manufacturer shall keep such statement, together with a complete record of the order readily available for inspection by the War Production Board.

4. Standard sizes: Any roll width or sheet size is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

5. Standard finish: No restrictions.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grade: None permitted.

2. Special color: None permitted.

3. Special basis weights: A special basis weight, not lighter than basis weight 30, nor heavier than permitted in A 3, may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 20,000 pounds of a standard grade and color and at least 5,000 pounds of each item.

NOVEL NEWS

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White only.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 30 and 32.

4. Standard sizes: Any roll width or sheet size is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

5. Thickness: Not less than .004 of an inch.

B. Exceptions: None permitted.

SUPERCALENDERED ROTOGRAVURE

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White and India only.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 25" x 38"): 30, 35, 39; and if for use in commercial printing, 45.

4. Standard sizes: Rolls: Any roll width is a standard size if manufactured in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

Sheets: None permitted.

5. Standard finish: Supercalendered only.

6. Standard watermarks: No watermarkings or waterlining permitted.

B. Exceptions: None permitted.

LIGHTWEIGHT CATALOGUE PAPER

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White and Canary only.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 22½, 25 and 28.

4. Standard sizes: Any sheet size or roll width is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 10,000 pounds of an item.

5. Standard finish: No restrictions, except that this grade may not be supercalendered.

6. Filler: No filler of high refractive Index such as titanium dioxide or zinc oxide or the equivalent thereof shall be used in amounts greater than 2% of the furnish.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special color: A special color may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 40,000 pounds of an item, in a standard grade.

3. Special basis weights: A special basis weight, not lighter than basis weight 19, nor heavier than permitted in A 3, may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 40,000 pounds of a standard grade and color and at least 5,000 pounds of each item; or in a special color in the quantity provided for under exception 2 above.

DIRECTORY PAPER

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White and Canary only.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 22½, 25, and 28.

4. Standard sizes: Any sheet size or roll width is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 20,000 pounds of an item.

5. Standard finish: No restrictions, except that this grade may not be supercalendered.

6. Fillers: No pigment of high refractive Index, such as titanium dioxide or zinc oxide, shall be used in the manufacture of this grade.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: A special color may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 40,000 pounds of an item in a standard grade.

3. Special basis weights: A special basis weight, not lighter than basis weight 19, nor heavier than permitted in A 3, may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 40,000 pounds of an item in a standard grade.

BOARD AND BOX LINING

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White only.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 30 and 32 only.

4. Standard sizes: Rolls: Any roll width is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

Sheets: None permitted.

5. Standard finish: No restrictions, except that this grade may not be supercalendered.

B. Exceptions: None permitted.

CARBONIZING

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture. This "kind" of paper shall be manufactured only to fill special making orders as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White, and two colors, selected according to paragraph (d) of the foregoing schedule.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 480 sheets 24" x 36"): Any basis weight not in excess of 58. (No ounce stock).

4. Standard sizes (in inches):
Roll widths: 19⅜, 21⅞ and 29⅜.
Sheets: None permitted.

5. Standard watermarks: None permitted.

6. Standard finish: No restrictions, except that this grade may not be supercalendered.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: None permitted.

3. Special basis weights: None permitted.

4. Special sizes: Rolls of a width narrower in each case than 19⅜, 21⅞, and 29⅜ may be manufactured, provided such widths are to be manufactured into wallpaper to lay 18", 20" and 27" widths respectively on the wall.

POSTER PAPER

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: No. 2 Poster: White and light colors of Pink, Jade, Mandarin, Sulphur and Gold and medium color Azure. No. 1 Poster: Any color, of no greater depth than medium, other than light colors listed as standard for No. 2 Poster. No White permitted.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 32.

4. Standard sizes (in inches):
Sheets: 16 x 24, 22 x 30, 24 x 36, 25 x 38, 26 x 42, 30 x 44, 30½ x 44, 36 x 48.
Rolls: Any roll width in a permitted weight is a standard size when manufactured as part of, and at the same time as, a full machine deckle of the identical grade.

5. No restriction as to finish.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: None permitted in No. 2 poster; A special color may be manufactured in No. 1 Poster in a greater color depth than medium to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 20,000 pounds of a standard grade and at least 10,000 of a permitted basis weight and at least 5,000 pounds of each item.

3. Special basis weights: Basis weight 30 lb. may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 10,000 of an item in a standard grade and color or in a special color in the quantities provided for under exception 2 above.

4. Special sizes: A special size, either sheet or roll, may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of a sheet size or 2,000 pounds of a roll width in a standard grade, standard color and standard basis weight; or in a special color or special basis weight in the quantities provided for under exceptions 2 and 3 above.

RAILROAD MANILA

A. Grades, Colors, Weights and Sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: No. 1 Railroad Manila: No white permitted; Sulphur and Cream only.
No. 2 Railroad Manila: White, and Sulphur, Pink and Cream.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 17" x 22"): 13, 14 and 16.

4. Standard sizes (in inches): Sheets: 8½ x 11, 17 x 22, 17 x 28, 19 x 24, 22 x 34, 24 x 38, 28 x 34, 34 x 44.
Rolls: Any roll width in a permitted weight is a standard size when manufactured as part of, and at the same time as, a full machine deckle of the identical grade.
Typewriter sizes may be made if no larger than 8½ x 14 and no smaller than 7¼ x 10½.

5. No restrictions as to finish.

6. Ash content: Not less than 5%.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: A special color may be manufactured to fill a special making order, provided that:
(a) The quantity of each special color is at least 20,000 lbs. in one standard grade, and
(b) The quantity of each standard weight is at least 10,000 lbs., and
(c) The quantity of each standard sheet size is at least 2,000 pounds and the quantity of each special sheet size is at least 5,000 pounds.

3. Special basis weights: None permitted.

4. Special sizes: A special sheet size or roll width may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of a sheet item or 2,000 pounds of a roll item.
(a) In a standard color and in a standard basis weight; or
(b) In a special color in the quantities provided for under Exception 2 above.

MIMEOGRAPH PAPER

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: No more than two, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White and six colors: Selected according to paragraph (d) of the foregoing schedule.

3. Standard weights (Per 500 sheets 17 x 22): Substance weight 16.

4. Standard sizes (in inches):
Sheets: 17 x 22, 17 x 28, 22 x 34, 28 x 34.
Rolls: Any roll width in a permitted weight is a standard size when manufactured as part of, and at the same time as, a full machine deckle of the identical grade.
Typewriter sizes may be made if no larger than 8½ x 14 and no smaller than 7¼ x 10½.

5. No restrictions as to finish.

6. Ash content: Not less than 5% in substance weight 16 or 3% in substance weight 13.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: None permitted.

3. Special weights: Substance weight 16 may be manufactured to fill a special making order for the United States Government.

4. Special sizes: A special sheet size or roll width may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of a sheet item or 2,000 pounds of a roll item in a standard grade, standard color or white and a standard weight, or in a special weight as provided for in exception 3 above.

5. Ash content: Not less than 5%.

PENCIL TABLET PAPERS

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White, and Canary only.

3. Standard basis weights (per 500 sheets 24" x 36"): 30, 32.

4. Standard sizes: Sheets: Any sheet size not larger than 8½" x 14" or roll width is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

5. Standard finish: No restrictions as to finish, except that this grade may not be supercalendered.

6. Ash content: Not less than 5%.

B. Exceptions: None permitted.

GROUNDWOOD WRITING TABLET PAPERS

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White, and two colors, selected according to paragraph (d) of the foregoing schedule from the three following: Canary, Green-White tint, and Pastel Nile.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 17" x 22"): 16.

4. Standard sizes: Any roll width or sheet size is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

5. Standard finish: No restrictions.

6. Ash content: Not less than 5%.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: None permitted.

3. Special weights: Basis weight 14 may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 40,000 pounds of a standard grade and color and at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

GROUNDWOOD BOND PAPERS

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White, and six colors—Sky, Buff, Sulphur, Lime, Corn, Pink.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 17" x 22"): 13 and 16.

4. Standard sizes (in inches): Sheets: 17 x 22, 17 x 28, 19 x 24, 22 x 34, 24 x 38, 28 x 34; Rolls: Any roll width in a permitted weight is a standard size when manufactured as part of, and at the same time as, a full machine deckle of the identical grade.
Typewriter sizes may be made if no larger than 8½ x 14 and no smaller than 7¼ x 10½.

5. No restrictions as to finish.

6. Ash content: Not less than 5% in substance weight 16 or 3% in substance weight 13.

B. Exceptions for "special making orders" as defined in (a) (9) of the foregoing schedule.

1. Special grades: None permitted.

2. Special colors: None permitted.

3. Special weights: None permitted.

4. A Special size: A special sheet size or roll width may be manufactured to fill a special making order in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item in a standard grade, color and basis weight.

GROUNDWOOD ENVELOPE PAPER

A. Grades, colors, weights and sizes for regular manufacture.

1. Standard grades: Not more than one, selected according to paragraph (c) of the foregoing schedule.

2. Standard colors: White, and six colors, selected according to paragraph (d) of the foregoing schedule.

3. Standard basis weights (Per 500 sheets 17" x 22"): 16, 20.

4. Standard sizes: Any roll width or sheet size is a standard size if manufactured at one time in a quantity of at least 5,000 pounds of an item.

5. Watermarks: A laid mark or a name or design mark may be incorporated in a continuous run of at least 40,000 pounds of paper under one mark; none otherwise.

6. Standard finish: No restrictions.

B. Exceptions: None permitted.

[General Conservation Order M-317, as Amended May 29, 1944, Amdt. 1]

COTTON TEXTILE DISTRIBUTION

Section 3290.115 General Conservation Order M-317 is amended as follows:

In paragraph (e) (3) delete "to fill that yarn order."

In paragraph (f) (1), fourth line, delete "in" and substitute for it "from the production of".

Issued this 5th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

[F. R. Doc. 44-8003; Filed, June 5, 1944; 11:45 a. m.]

PART 3292—AUTOMOTIVE VEHICLES, PARTS AND EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L-270, as Amended June 5, 1944]

AUTOMOTIVE MAINTENANCE EQUIPMENT

§ 3292.56 Limitation Order L-270—(a) What the order does. This order explains what is meant by "Automotive Maintenance Equipment", how much and what kinds of such equipment may be made, and how it may be sold.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Producer" means any person who manufactures any automotive maintenance equipment, whether for his own account or for the account of others.

(2) "Manufacture" means to fabricate or assemble any item of automotive maintenance equipment.

(3) "Automotive maintenance equipment" means the items listed in Schedules A, B, C or D to this order.

(4) "Automotive vehicles" means passenger automobiles, light, medium and heavy motor trucks, truck tractors, truck trailers, passenger carriers and off-the-highway motor vehicles.

(5) "Item" means any product listed in Schedules A, B, C or D to this order and includes all sizes and types in such listing.

(6) "Repair part" means any part or component of any item of automotive maintenance equipment not consumed or used up in ordinary operation of the automotive maintenance equipment.

(7) "Military order" means any contract or purchase order calling for delivery to or for the account of the Army or Navy of the United States, United States Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration.

Provisions Relating to Production

(c) General policy. In processing applications for priorities assistance on Form CMP-4B, the War Production Board will be guided by the policy that the total production will not exceed the approved WPB program for the products to which this order applies and that the production in any one plant, or labor requirements therefor, will not interfere with war production in that plant or in any other plant located in the same area.

(d) Restrictions on production of individual items—(1) No production of Schedule A items. Except to fill military orders, no producer shall manufacture any item listed in Schedule A.

(2) Limitation on production of Schedule B items. Except to fill military orders, no producer shall manufacture in any calendar quarter any item listed in Schedule B in excess of fifty (50) percent of the number of the like item manufactured by him in the corresponding calendar quarter in 1941.

(i) Provision for minimum factory runs. In the event that the limitation imposed by this paragraph (d) (2) should result in restricting production to less than his minimum practical factory run of any item listed in Schedule B, a producer may, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (d) (2), manufacture a minimum practical factory run: Provided, That the total number of any such item manufactured by him in any two consecutive calendar quarters shall not exceed fifty (50) percent of the total number of the like item manufactured by him in the two corresponding calendar quarters of 1941.

(3) Limitation on production of Schedule C items. Except to fill military orders, no producer shall manufacture in any calendar quarter any item listed in Schedule C in excess of one hundred (100) percent of the number of the like item manufactured by him in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941.

(4) Limitation on production of Schedule D items. Except to fill military orders, no producer shall manufacture in any calendar quarter any item listed in Schedule D in excess of one hundred (100) percent of the number of the like item manufactured by him in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941, unless a quarterly quota in excess of one hundred (100) percent of the corresponding quarter of 1941 production has been assigned to the producer under the following procedure:

(i) Special quotas on Schedule D items. A request for assignment of a special quota for production of any item listed in Schedule D, in excess of one hundred (100) percent of the number of the like item manufactured by him in the corresponding quarter of 1941, may be made by a producer who can increase production within the limitations of paragraph (c).

Such a producer may file an application in writing with the Automotive Division of the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: L-270, for permission to increase production at such plant by giving complete explanation of the circumstances justifying such increase. Thereupon the War Production Board may authorise an increase in the production of the item at such plant in such quantities and upon such conditions as it shall find requisite in the public interest. Such authority will be issued either in the form of individual letters or by published directions supplemental to this order.

The War Production Board may likewise direct an increase in the production of items on Schedule D in conformity with paragraph (c), in such quantities and upon such conditions as it shall find requisite in the public interest.

(e) Limitation on production of repair parts. Except to fill military orders, no producers shall manufacture in any calendar quarter a dollar volume of repair parts for automotive maintenance equipment in excess of ten (10) percent of the total dollar volume of automotive maintenance equipment manufactured by him in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941.

Provisions Relating to Critical Materials

(f) Use of aluminum and steel.[1] No producer shall use any aluminum, steel or other critical materials in the manufacture of automotive maintenance equipment where the use of less critical materials is practicable, and when so used such aluminum, steel or other critical materials shall be reduced to the minimum quantity and grade necessary for the proper operation of the automotive maintenance equipment.

(g) Use of copper.[1] No producer shall use any copper products or copper base alloy products in the manufacture of automotive maintenance equipment other than in the following: (i) conductors of electrical current, (ii) bearings, bushings, thrust washers and similar parts which require oil, grease or water lubrication, (iii) valve seats, tubes, and similar parts where condensation or corrosion make substitutions of less critical materials impracticable: Provided, That any copper products or copper base alloy products so used shall be reduced to the minimum practical gauge, size and grade necessary for the proper operation of the automotive maintenance equipment.

Provisions Relating to Distribution

(h) Sales by producers only on rated orders. No producer shall sell, transfer or deliver, on consignment or otherwise, any item on Schedules A, B, C or D, except pursuant to orders bearing preference ratings of AA-5 or higher;

(1) Assigned on Forms WPB-541 (PD-1A), on Form WPB-542 (PD-3A), on Form WPB-547 (PD-1X), or on Canadian Form PB-1010.

(2) Assigned on export licenses or requisitions approved by Foreign Economic Administration.

(3) Assigned on Form CMP-4B, on CMP-4A, on Canadian Forms PB-1005, on PB-1006, or on PB-1007 and used only for the procurement of items on Schedules A, B, C or D to be physically incorporated in other end-products. The use of preference ratings assigned on these forms is prohibited for the procurement of any items on Schedules A, B, C or D for resale as such.

(i) Sales of stationary crankshaft regrinders only on WPB-1319 ratings. On and after June 1, 1944, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (h), no producer shall sell, transfer or deliver, on consignment or otherwise, any stationary crankshaft regrinders, except to fill military orders or pursuant to ratings assigned on Form WPB-1319.

(1) Application should be made by the user on Form WPB-1319, in accordance with the instructions for its use, which is obtainable at all field offices of the War Production Board.

(j) No ratings required for repair parts. No preference ratings are required for the purchase of repair parts for automotive maintenance equipment.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(k) Quarterly reports by producers on Form WPB-3614. Each producer of automotive maintenance equipment shall execute and file with the Automotive Division of the War Production Board within fifteen days after the close of each calendar quarter a report, (on Form WPB-3614), of the number of units of each item listed in Schedules A, B, C or D produced by him in such calendar quarter. The reporting provision of this order has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(l) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order may be made by filing Form WPB-1477 in triplicate with the Field Office of the War Production Board for the District in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(m) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(n) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(o) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Automotive Division, Washington 25, D. C., Reference: L-270.

Issued this 5th day of June 1944.

Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE A

See paragraph (d) (1) of this order.

Alignment gauges (except as listed in Schedule B)
Battery chargers: floor, stand and wall type (except as listed in Schedule C)
Battery chargers: trickle type (except industrial installation)
Battery testers (except as listed in Schedule C)
Body and fender tools: hand, pneumatic, hydraulic or electric operated
Brake testing machines: automotive vehicle type
Car washers: pressure or nozzle type Car washing machinery
Chassis dynamometers
Chuck gauges: any type of air pressure measuring gauge which is attached in any manner to a flexible air line to be used for inflating tires
Combustion analyzers: automotive vehicle type
Distributor setting machines. (except as listed in Schedule B)
Electrical testing equipment: automotive vehicle type (except as listed in Schedules B or C) Engine flushing machines: internal Engine reconditioning equipment (except as listed in Schedules B, C, or D)
Engine repair stands (except as listed in Schedule C)
Frame straightening equipment (except heavy duty—as listed in Schedule C)
Frame straightening racks
Front end equipment (except as listed in Schedules B or C)
Gasoline mileage testers
Headlight testers: automotive vehicle type
Jacks: bumper or wheel rim
Jacks: pit, lift or vibrating; mechanical or hydraulic (except as listed in Schedule C)
Jacks: portable or tool box type (less than 3-tons lifting capacity, measured by load raising ability through the entire jacking range from minimum to maximum height)
Jacks: shop, wheel type; mechanical or hydraulic (except as listed in Schedule D)
Lifts: automotive vehicle type (except heavy duty as listed in Schedule C)
Motor analyzing equipment (except as listed in Schedules B or C)
Spark plug cleaners: pedestal or stand type Spark plug testers
Tire air hose reels
Tire air pressure gauges (except as listed in Schedules B or C)
Tire air service equipment: tower, pedestal or wall type (except as listed in Schedules B, C or D)
Tire pumps (except as listed in Schedules C or D)
Tire scuff checking devices (except as listed in Schedule B)
Tow bars
Wheel balancers: automotive vehicle type
Wheel spinners

SCHEDULE B

See paragraph (d) (2) of this order.

Alignment gauges: portable (including only caster, camber, king-pin, toe-in, tracking, turning radius, or combinations thereof)
Alignment gauges: stationary, drive-over type
Battery jumpers
Bearing oil leak detectors
Brake bleeders
Brake fillers
Brake lining appliers: hand type
Brake shoe gauges
Cylinder leakage testers: automotive vehicle testing type
Degreasing flushers: transmission or differential
Distributor setting machines: bench model
Front end machines: light duty; to include all gauges, tools and parts necessary and to be of capacity sufficient for checking and correcting to manufacturers' specifications all angles of steering geometry on all automotive vehicles of 1½ tons and less capacity.
Fuel pump testers: automotive vehicle testing type
Master air gauges: tire air gauge testers
Piston expanding machines
Speedometer testing machines
Transmission jacks
Wheel straightening equipment
Wrecking cranes: truck mounted type

SCHEDULE C

NOTE: Schedule C amended June 5, 1944.

See paragraph (d) (3) of this order.

Air chucks
Air pressure gauges: pencil type or truck service type
Armature growlers: automotive vehicle testing type
Battery chargers: fast type (battery leads not to exceed 7 feet each; AC lead not to extend beyond charger case)
Battery chargers: wall type (six or more battery capacity)
Battery testers (prong type)
Brake drum gauges
Brake drum grinding attachments
Brake drum lathes
Brake lining grinders: portable or spindle mounted
Brake relining machines.
Cam angle meters
Circuit testers: automotive vehicle testing type
Cleaners: steam vapor (self-firing or generating)
Clutch pressure plate grinders
Clutch rebuilding equipment
Coil testers: automotive vehicle testing type
Compression gauges: automotive vehicle testing type
Condenser testers: automotive vehicle testing type
Connecting rod aligners
Crankshaft regrinders: portable
Cylinder head resurfacers
Cylinder hones
Cylinder reboring bars
Engine repair stands: engine revolving type

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[RMPR 289,[1] Amdt. 7]

DAIRY PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 289 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 26 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Sales by processors of condensed milk products in bulk or bulk packed. (1) Maximum prices for sales to any class of purchasers shall be those listed in Items 1 and 2 of Table A, f. o. b. processor's plant, subject to the composition adjustments set forth in Item 4 of Table A.

TABLE A

Product	Composition percentage (exclusive of moisture)			In cents per liquid pound (f. o. b. plant)
	Milk fat	MSNF	Sugar	In wooden barrels		In containers (except wooden barrels) and in tank cars or tank trucks
				Zone A	Zone B	Zone A	Zone B
Item 1:
Plain condensed skim milk	0	20	0	----------	----------	4.06	4.13
Super-heated condensed skim milk	0	20	0	----------	----------	4.39	4.46
Item 2:
Plain condensed milk	8	22	0	----------	----------	8.26	8.53
Super-heated condensed milk	8	22	0	----------	----------	8.61	8.86
Sweetened condensed skim milk	0	30	42	8.06	8.15	7.33	7.40
Sweetened condensed milk	8½	10½	42	12.28	12.53	11.53	11.78

[1] Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.
[2] 9 F.R. 5140, 5427, 5429, 5588.

Item 3.—Description of zones. (i) Zone A shall be all states not included in Zone B.

(ii) Zone B shall be Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia.

Item 4:—Adjustments. (i) The maximum prices for products listed in Item 1 of Table A, in bulk or bulk packed, shall be adjusted up or down by adding or deducting $0.0014 per pound for each change of 1% in the composition percentage of milk solids not fat in the finished product, and fractions of 1% shall be adjusted proportionately.

(ii) The maximum prices for products listed in Item 2 of Table A and for any "miscellaneous condensed product", in bulk or bulk packed, shall be adjusted up or down by the amounts stated below for each change of 1% in the composition percentage of the ingredients in the comparable finished product, and fractions of 1% shall be adjusted proportionately. (See examples.)

Ingredient:	Add or deduct per pound
Milk solids not fat	$0.00145
Milk fat	.0065
Sugar	.0006

Example A. If a product contains only 7% fat and 18% MSNF it is not "plain condensed milk". However, if a processor in Zone A wishes to supply such a "miscellaneous condensed product" he would figure his maximum price as follows:

Find the price in Table A for the comparable finished product (plain condensed milk) which is 8.28¢. Since the butterfat is 1% less and MSNF are 4% less than the stated composition of plain condensed milk, he will deduct $0.0065 for reduction in fat and $0.0058 ($0.00145 x 4) for reduction in MSNF, resulting in a price of 7.05¢ per lb. for the "miscellaneous condensed product".

Example B. If "plain condensed milk" should contain 8½% fat and 20% MSNF the price is figured by adding to the price in Table A, $.00325 (½ of $.0065) for ½% increase in fat and deducting $.0029 (.00145×2) for 2% decrease in MSNF to obtain a price of 8.315¢ instead of 8.28¢ per pound in Zone A.

(2) Dry solids. "Dry solids" means the number of pounds of dry milk solids not fat in a condensed liquid product.

(3) Records. The invoice which the seller is required to deliver to the buyer under section 5 of this regulation shall also state the total net weight of the finished product together with the percentage content of dry solids not fat.

(4) F. o. b. and delivered prices. The processor's prices are f. o. b. the processor's plant, however, sales may be made on a delivered basis as follows:

(i) If delivery is made from the processor's plant to the buyer's place of business or customary receiving point by a vehicle owned or controlled by the processor, add to the price (f. o. b. the processor's plant) either $.0015 per liquid pound, or, the lowest published rate of a common or contract carrier available for the delivery service;

(ii) If delivery is made from the processor's plant to the buyer's customary receiving point or place of business by a common or contract carrier, add to the price (f. o. b. the processor's plant) the established transportation charge of such carrier and the actual icing charge, if any, incurred from the processor's plant to the buyer's customary receiving point or place of business;

(iii) If, before April 28, 1942, a processor made deliveries of small or less carload lots of condensed milk products to the buyer's place of business from a public warehouse or distributing branch, which was in whole or in part, used, leased, owned or controlled by the processor before April 28, 1942, for the purpose of receiving, storing and shipping (or repacking and shipping) condensed milk products, and which is located more than 15 miles from the processor's plant, his maximum price for such deliveries shall be the price f. o. b. his processing plant plus

(a) The lowest published common or contract carrier rate, and icing charge, if any, incurred from his processing plant to the above described warehouse or distributing branch, and plus

(b) ¾ cent per liquid pound if delivery from the warehouse or distributing branch to the buyer's place of business is made in a vehicle owned or controlled by the processor, or plus

(c) Either ¾ cent per liquid pound, or, ⅛ cent per liquid pound and the lowest published rate of a common or contract carrier available for the delivery service, if delivery is made from the warehouse or distributing branch by a vehicle not owned or controlled by the processor, whichever is lower.

(iv) If the processor performs any of the transportation services described below by his own vehicle or by a vehicle not owned or controlled by a common or contract carrier, the appropriate maximum prices established in subdivisions (ii) and (iii) may be increased by $0.001 per liquid pound for that part of the services actually performed:

(a) From the processor's plant to the receiving point of a common or contract carrier;

(b) From the terminal of a common or contract carrier to the buyer's customary receiving point or place of business or to the warehouse or distributing branch described in subdivision (iii), and

(c) From the processing plant to the warehouse or distributing branch described in subdivision (iii).

2. Section 26 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Sales by or through brokers, jobbers and other persons in bulk or bulk packed. (1) The maximum prices on sales of condensed milk products, in bulk and bulk packed, by or through brokers, jobbers and other persons to any class of purchasers shall not exceed the maximum prices set forth in paragraph (a) for processors, except that,

(i) In the case of a jobber, as defined in subdivision (iv), who resold condensed milk products, in bulk or bulk packed, before April 28, 1942, his maximum price (f. o. b. his place of business) shall be the appropriate price set forth in paragraph (a) f. o. b. processor's plant, plus the actual transportation charge and actual icing charge, if any, to the jobber's place of business plus the appropriate markup (in cents per liquid pound) as follows:

	Cents
Plain condensed skim milk	¾
Super-heated condensed skim milk	¾
Plain condensed milk	¾
Super-heated condensed milk	¾
Miscellaneous condensed product	⅞
Sweetened condensed (Milk and skim milk):
In lots of 5 barrels or less	¾
In lots of more than 5 barrels	9/10
When the products listed above are repacked or sold in lots of less than 50 pounds	¾

(ii) In the case of a jobber, as defined in subdivision (iv), who did not resell condensed milk products, in bulk or bulk packed, before April 28, 1942, his maximum prices (f. o. b. his place of business) shall be the appropriate price set forth in paragraph (a) f. o. b. processor's plant, plus the actual transportation charge and actual icing charge, if any, to the jobber's place of business.

(iii) In the event a sale is made on a delivered basis by a jobber, as defined in subdivision (iv), his maximum prices shall be increased by the cost of transportation (exclusive of icing cost, if any) from the jobber's place of business to the buyer's customary receiving point computed in the same manner as delivery charges by a processor are computed in paragraph (a) (4).

(iv) The term "jobber" as used in subdivisions (i), (ii) and (iii) above means and is limited to a person who purchases from a processor all bulk condensed milk products he sells (for his own account) and customarily receives shipment, in large or carload lots, at a warehouse owned or leased and maintained by him and not owned or controlled by any processor of condensed milk products or by any of the jobber's customers and whose sale or delivery on any day to any individual customer of any of the bulk condensed milk products listed in subdivision (i) above, does not exceed 1,350 pounds in containers (other than wooden barrels) and 7,500 pounds in wooden barrels.

(v) "Jobber's place of business" means the place where the jobber's warehouse described in subdivision (iv) above, is located.

3. Section 26 (d) (6) is amended to read as follows:

(6) "Bulk" or "bulk packed" means packed or shipped in any container or in any form other than in hermetically sealed containers of one gallon capacity or smaller, and other than in glass or paper containers of one quart capacity or less.

This amendment shall become effective June 8, 1944.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[GMPR, Amdt. 62]

ADJUSTMENT OF MAXIMUM PRICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1499.18 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) In the case of any seller at retail who shows:

(1) Either that his maximum price for any commodity established under this regulation is less than the minimum price at which he was lawfully required to sell the commodity during March 1942 pursuant to the provisions of a State Fair Trade Act; or that he has been permanently enjoined by a court from selling the commodity at less than such minimum price; and also

(2) That the commodity was generally sold at retail during March 1942 at prices no lower than such minimum price within the locality in which his selling establishment is located.

In such cases, the maximum price of the seller will be increased to such minimum price.

This amendment shall become effective June 8, 1944.

[SR 14B [1] to GMPR,[2] Amdt. 3]

BREAD AND BAKERY PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Supplementary Regulation 14B is amended in the following respects:

1. The first paragraph of the preamble is amended to read as follows:

The purpose of Supplementary Regulation 14B to the General Maximum Price Regulation is to provide a more logical and convenient arrangement for certain provisions which modify the General Maximum Price Regulation so far as it applies to bread and other bakery products. Supplementary Regulation 14B does not apply to the bakery products that are subject to Maximum Price Regulations 262 and 495, Revised Maximum Price Regulation 319 and section 1.21 of Revised Supplementary Regulation 14.

2. Section 9 (a) (4) is added to read as follows:

(4) If the figure resulting contains a fraction of one-half cent or more, it shall be adjusted to the next higher cent, or if it contains a fraction of less than one-half cent it shall be adjusted to the next lower cent.

3. Section 10 (c) is amended by adding the following sentence at the end thereof: "The Administrator or any Regional Administrator may adjust, and any Regional Administrator may authorize any District Director within his region to adjust, maximum prices in the manner provided in this section."

4. Section 12 is hereby revoked.

This amendment shall become effective June 8, 1944.

PART 1347—PAPER, PAPER PRODUCTS, RAW MATERIALS FOR PAPER AND PAPER PRODUCTS, PRINTING AND PUBLISHING

[MPR 30,[1] Amdt. 7]

WASTEPAPER

A statement of considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, is issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 30 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1347.11 (a) (4) is amended to read as follows:

(4) A dealer means a person in the business of collecting and/or buying and selling waste materials, including wastepaper, for private profit.

2. Two new subparagraphs (12) and (13) are added to § 1347.11 (a) as follows:

(12) An "accumulator" means any person who accumulates wastepaper in the course of and as a result of a manufacturing, converting, printing, publishing, merchandising or similar operation conducted by him, or any person who accumulates wastepaper for sale with the intent of voluntarily devoting the proceeds to some public or charitable purpose, and not for the private profit of such person.

(13) "Sales agent" means a person who represents an accumulator of wastepaper and arranges and makes a sale of wastepaper to a consumer for the account and in the name of the accumulator.

3. A new paragraph (i) is added to § 1347.14 as follows:

(i) "Selling agents". (1) In the event that wastepaper is sold to a consumer through a sales agent, as defined in § 1347.11 (a) (13), the maximum price which the seller may charge the consumer may equal, but shall in no event exceed, the amount which a broker may charge in a sale of the same wastepaper to a consumer. Provided, That the amount which the seller may receive and realize from the sale for his own use shall in no event exceed the appropriate maximum price established by this Maximum Price Regulation for the grade or grades sold before the addition of brokerage fees: And provided, That the difference between the price charged and the price realized is paid to the selling agent. In no event shall a selling agent receive more for his services than the difference established by this paragraph (h); i. e., an amount equal to the amount of brokerage commission which a broker may receive in a similar sale under paragraph (g), exclusive of any other merchandizing profit. In no event shall the selling agent's commission be split or divided with any other person.

(2) In order that the accumulator may charge the consumer the higher price hereinbefore established, the following conditions must be met:

(i) The invoice must show the selling agent's commission as a separate item, and must identify the selling agent. The invoice must contain a statement that the selling agent has not prepared the wastepaper covered, prior to its delivery to the consumer, and that the charges are not in excess of those established in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 30.

(ii) The accumulator and the selling agent must record the name of the selling agent and the accumulator, respectively, in each transaction, the quantity and grade of wastepaper purchased, the price f. o. b. point of shipment paid by the consumer, the method of shipment to such consuming purchaser, and the amount of the selling agent's commission.

(iii) All pertinent provisions in this Maximum Price Regulation No. 30 must be strictly complied with.

This amendment shall become effective June 3, 1944.

PART 1300—PROCEDURE

[PR 12,[1] Amdt. 5]

REPLACEMENT OF LOST, STOLEN, DESTROYED, MUTILATED OR WRONGFULLY WITHHELD RATION BOOKS OR COUPON SHEETS

A rationale accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1300.953 (c) of Procedural Regulation No. 12 is redesignated (d); § 1300.953 (b) is redesignated (c); and a new § 1300.953 (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) A ration book is not mutilated merely because a stamp for which a validation period has not yet been designated is accidentally or mistakenly detached and an application for replacement of such a book cannot be made. However, if a validation period is subsequently designated for that stamp, the book shall then be deemed to be mutilated and application for its replacement may be made.

This amendment shall become effective June 9, 1944.

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

[Gen. RO 5,[1] Amdt. 66]

FOOD RATIONING FOR INSTITUTIONAL USERS

A rationale accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.

General Ration Order No. 5 is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section 5.7(d) is added to read as follows:

(d) (1) A Group III, IV, V or VI institutional user whose December 1942 use of foods covered by Ration Order 16 was composed principally of foods which still have a point value, may apply for an adjustment of his May-June 1944 meal service allotment for those foods;

(2) His application must be made, on OPA Form R-318, and must show his December 1942 use, in pounds, of meats which still have a point value. (In giving that information he may give his best estimate if he does not have records, and indicate that the figures given are estimates.) If he used no such meats, he need state only that he requests an adjustment under this section;

(3) The Board shall determine the percentage which his December 1942 use of foods covered by Ration Order 16 which still have a point value (other than "canned milk") bears to his total use of foods covered by Ration Order 16 (other than "canned milk") in that month, and if that percentage is more than 50 percent, shall grant him an adjustment. In making this determination, each type of food covered by Ration Order 16 shall be converted into points by using the factors set forth in Supplements 3 and 3;

(4) If the Board finds that the applicant is entitled to an adjustment, it shall multiply his May-June 1944 meal service allotment, as computed prior to the reduction required by paragraph (a) of this section by the percentage determined in (3). The result is his adjusted allotment. It shall issue certificates (or reduce his excess inventory) in an amount equal to the difference between such adjusted allotment and the allotment as reduced under paragraph (a).

2. A new section 15.5 (b) (4) is added to read as follows:

(4) Processed foods or foods covered by Ration Order 16 while they still have a zero point value.

This amendment shall become effective June 9, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

HICKORY AND ASH LOGS AND OTHER SPECIALTY WOODS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

In section 12, a new paragraph (f) is added to read as follows:

(f) In any case where the maximum price established in section 12 is lower than the individual seller's legal maximum price as of January 12, 1944, buyers and sellers affected by such change, who had entered into contracts or firm commitments on the basis of the maximum prices applicable to them on January 12, 1944, may apply for special permission to complete such contracts or commitments without regard to the new ceilings, under the following conditions:

(1) The permission, if granted, will allow use of the contract prices or deliveries in completion of the contract before July 15, 1944.

(2) The existence of a "firm contract" must be shown by the seller's submitting a copy of formal contract or copies of written order and acceptance covering specific items, quantities and prices.

(3) The application must show that actual production of the items covered by the contract was commenced prior to May 15, 1944.

(4) The seller must state in his application—and the permission if granted will be so limited—that all prices shown in the contract will be adhered to, even though the maximum price on some items included therein may have been increased by the regulation.

(5) Application must be sent to the Lumber Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The Lumber Branch may grant or deny such application by letter or telegram.

Note that the seller and buyer must apply for the special permission covered in this paragraph, and may not go ahead on the basis of the contract prices unless and until they have received the authorization to do so.

This amendment shall become effective June 5, 1944.

PART 1341—CANNED AND PRESERVED FOODS

[MPR 306,[1] Amdt. 29]

CERTAIN PACKED FOOD PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 306 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1341.551 (g) is amended to read as follows:

(g) The provisions of this regulation shall apply to items packed during the year 1943 and after, except that § 1341.553b shall apply to items packed prior to 1943. (This regulation applies to items packed on and after January 1, 1944, until such time as they are covered by a superseding regulation.) If the major portion of any item was packed in 1943 the item shall be considered to be packed during the year 1943. Any canned citrus juices packed after November 1, 1942, shall be deemed to be packed during the year 1943.

2. Section 1341.553b is added to read as follows:

§ 1341.553b Maximum prices for resales by processors of items which have been sold to them by government agencies. The maximum price for sales by a processor, to purchasers other than government procurement agencies, of any item packed prior to 1943 which has been sold to the processor by a government agency, shall be that processor's maximum price, f. o. b. factory, as established under this regulation for the same item when packed in 1943. However, differences in brand shall be ignored.

This amendment shall become effective June 5, 1944.

CORN MEAL, CORN FLOUR, CORN GRITS, HOMINY, HOMINY GRITS, BREWERS GRITS AND OTHER PRODUCTS MADE BY A DRY CORN MILLING PROCESS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 305 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1351.1754 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) The maximum base point price for degerminated yellow or white corn meal or corn grits which have been enriched by the addition of at least 1.2 milligrams of thiamine, 14 milligrams of niacin and 11 milligrams of iron per pound of such degerminated corn meal and corn grits shall be the foregoing maximum base point price for yellow corn products or white corn products, as the case may be, plus an increase at the rate of 13 cents per hundred pounds for corn meal and 18 cents per hundred pounds for corn grits: Provided, That such enriched degerminated corn meal and corn grits are placed in 100 pound cotton sacks or containers other than 100 pound cotton sacks and each such sack or container bears a tag or label stating that its contents has been enriched as above described. Any 100 pound cotton sack or container other than a 100 pound cotton sack of enriched corn meal or corn grits which does not bear said tag or label shall have the base price established under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section.

2. Section 1351.1756 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) For case goods, other than degerminated enriched corn meal and corn grits priced under paragraph (f) below, the price determined by the following method:

(1) The seller shall first determine the maximum price he would be permitted to charge under the General Maximum Price Regulation, as amended, if the sale were not exempted from the General Maximum Price Regulation.

(2) To the price so determined, he shall add a sum equal to 40 cents per 100 pounds computed upon the net weight of the product in the case.

3. Section 1351.1756 (f), is added to read as follows:

(f) For case goods consisting of degerminated corn meal or corn grits which have been enriched by the addition of at least 1.2 milligrams of thiamine, 14 milligrams of niacin and 11 milligrams of iron, per pound, when the individual packages of such enriched corn meal or corn grits bear a label stating that the contents has been so enriched, the price determined by the following method:

(1) The seller shall first determine the maximum price he would be permitted to charge under the General Maximum Price Regulation for the same case goods if they were unenriched, if such sale were not exempted from the General Maximum Price Regulation, as amended.

(2) To the price so determined, he shall add a sum equal to 53¢ per 100 pounds for corn meal or 58¢ per 100 pounds for corn grits, computed upon the net weight of the product in the case.

This amendment shall become effective June 10, 1944.

HARDWOOD SMALL DIMENSION

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 501 is amended in the following respects:

1. In section 2, the last sentence of the first undesignated paragraph is amended, and a new sentence is added immediately thereafter, to read together, as follows:

The term includes items that have been sawed, surfaced, molded, glued, equalized, tenoned, bored, mortised, sanded, etc. Specifically, wooden plow and cultivator handles are covered: Provided, however, That specific maximum prices heretofore established by individual order under Maximum Price Regulation 246 for the following manufacturers may be continued in effect by those sellers, and deemed to be consistent with section 3 (a):

Farmville Manufacturing Company, Farmville, Va.
Southern Plow Company, Columbus, Ga.
J. O. Goshorn Company, Memphis, Tenn.
J. H. Phipps Lumber Company, Fayetteville, Ark.
Harriman Manufacturing Company, Harriman, Tenn.
King Plow Company, Atlanta, Ga.
Manchester Manufacturing Company, McMinnville, Tenn.
W. G. Barron Lumber Company, Rogers, Ark.

2. In section 3 (a), sub-paragraph (5) is redesignated paragraph (b); the figure "(1)" is inserted immediately after the heading "Reports"; and a new sub-paragraph (2) is added, to read as follows:

(2) Regardless of any provisions to the contrary in paragraph (b) (1) above, manufacturers of plow and cultivator handles must report their first computation of maximum price under this section.

This amendment shall become effective June 10, 1944.

PART 1394—RATIONING OF FUEL AND FUEL PRODUCTS

[RO 5C,[2] Amdt. 129]

MILEAGE RATIONING: GASOLINE REGULATIONS

A rationale accompanying this amendment issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

[2] 8 F.R. 15937.

Ration Order 5C is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1394.7704 (b) is amended by substituting a comma for the colon following the phrase "to provide such mileage," in the third sentence and substituting for the remainder of the paragraph following such phrase the following provisions:

subject to the following provisions:

(i) No Board shall allow an average mileage in excess of the maximum set forth below, unless the mileage in excess of such maximum is defined as preferred mileage under the provisions of § 1394.7706 or is additional mileage allowed pursuant to § 1394.7707:

(i) If the Board is in Area A the maximum mileage is 400 miles per month.

(ii) If the Board is in Area B the maximum mileage is 475 miles per month.

(iii) If the Board is in the gasoline shortage area the maximum mileage is 325 miles per month.

(2) If the applicant fails to establish eligibility for occupational mileage in accordance with the provisions of this section for a period of three months, but establishes such eligibility for a period of less than three months, the Board shall determine and allow occupational mileage for the period for which such eligibility has been established, but not to exceed a period of one month, subject to the limitations of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph (b). In such a case, the Board shall issue the ration in accordance with the provisions of § 1394.7705 (e).

2. The text of § 1394.7705 (a) preceding subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

Supplemental rations shall be issued to provide the total mileage allowed by the Board in accordance with § 1394.7704 or § 1394.7707. If the Board issues the ration in the form of Class B or Class C coupons such coupons shall be in strip form, shall bear serial numbers in consecutive order and shall be accompanied by a folder. The Board may issue strip coupons in separate sets if each set bears serial numbers in consecutive order and a separate folder is issued for each such set. The person issuing the ration shall note on each ration book or folder issued the date of issuance as the date on which coupons become valid, and the earliest renewal date. If the mileage has been allowed on a basis of a period of one month, or less, pursuant to § 1394.7704 (b) (2), the number of coupons issued shall be determined pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section. If the mileage has been allowed on the basis of a period of three months, the number of coupons issued shall be determined as follows:

3. Section 1394.7705 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) For the purposes of paragraphs (a) and (e) of this section, a passenger automobile is conclusively presumed to operate fifteen miles, and a motorcycle forty miles, per gallon of gasoline.

4. Section 1394.7705 (e) is added to read as follows:

(e) If a Board allows a supplemental ration for a period of one month or less pursuant to § 1394.7704 (b) (2), it shall issue a sufficient number of coupons of an appropriate class to provide the total mileage allowed. It shall issue Class B or Class C coupons for use with a passenger automobile and a Class D book (marked supplemental) for use with a motorcycle.

5. In § 1394.8051 (b) (1) the parenthetical phrase in the first sentence is amended to read as follows: "(except in the case of a basic or transport ration, a supplemental ration issued for a period of less than three months; or a special ration issued pursuant to §§ 1394.7851, 1394.7854 or 1394.7855)."

6. Section 1394.8052 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Application for a further ration shall be made in the same manner as the application for the current ration, and the applicant shall append to the application a statement showing:

(1) The reason or reasons why a further ration will be needed for use before the end of the period for which the current ration was issued.

(2) If the further ration is needed for the reason set forth in subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a) of this section, that the current ration is insufficient to meet his needs for more than thirty days from the date of the application.

This amendment shall become effective June 9, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1575—PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

Schedules A, B, and C attached to § 1575.2 (PAW Materials Redistribution Program No. 2) are hereby amended to read as follows:

NOTE: Additions or changes in the schedules appear in brackets. The following deletions were made June 3, 1944.

1. In Schedule A, from the column entitled "Production (oil or gas)":

Wire rope.
API steel sucker rods.

2. In Schedule C, from the column entitled "Marketing":

Meters[1][2].
Petroleum displacement type.

Pumps[2][3] (power driven only)
Centrifugal.
Rotary.

Tanks[3]
Steel storage, 65 gallons to 500 bbls.

SCHEDULE A

DETERMINATION OF SURPLUS CRITICAL MATERIAL FOR THIS SCHEDULE

To determine surplus critical material for Schedule A: Subtract from the total quantity of any item of critical material (of a type identified on this Schedule), that quantity by item which is required or scheduled for use during the succeeding 90 days.

Critical material used in—

Production (oil or gas)	Natural gasoline [recovery]	Refining	Transportation	Marketing
Carbon and alloy steel	Carbon and alloy steel	Carbon and alloy steel	Carbon and alloy steel
Tubular Goods (oil country): Casing. Tubing–2" and up. Drill pipe. Line Pipe–2" and up.	Line Pipe–2" and up.	Line Pipe–2" and up.	Line Pipe–2" and up.

SCHEDULE B

DETERMINATION OF SURPLUS CRITICAL MATERIAL FOR THIS SCHEDULE

To determine surplus critical material for Schedule B: Subtract from the total quantity of any item of critical material (of a type identified on this Schedule), one-half of the quantity by item actually installed or put into service (use) in 1942 [plus that quantity by item which is required or scheduled for use during the succeeding 90 days for any facilities which have been put into operation since December 31, 1942.]

Critical material used in—

Production (oil or gas)	Natural gasoline [recovery]	Refining	Transportation	Marketing
	Carbon and alloy steel	Carbon and alloy steel
	Condenser tubes.	Condenser tubes. Boiler tubes. Still tubes.

PART 1585—TRANSPORTATION

[Petroleum Directive 69, as Amended May 29, 1944]

INLAND WATERWAYS EQUIPMENT

To minimize the effects of the tanker shortage on the Atlantic Seaboard, it is necessary to insure the most efficient utilization of available inland waterways equipment operating on the Great Lakes, the New York State Barge Canal and the Hudson River as far south as and including Rensselaer, New York, and the following operating directive is deemed necessary for the prosecution of the war.

§ 1585.1 Petroleum Directive 69 as amended May 29, 1944—(a) Appointment of Joint Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee. With the view to obtaining maximum efficiency in the use of all inland waterways equipment employed by the petroleum industry on the Great Lakes, New York State Barge Canal, and Hudson River as far south as and including Rensselaer, New York, and of assuring that all such inland waterways equipment is utilized to meet the critical problems of petroleum supply in each District, the Chairman of the Transportation Committees for Districts One and Two shall appoint, subject to the approval of the Petroleum Administrator for War or the Deputy Petroleum Administrator, a Joint Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee for Districts One and Two, comprised of eleven members, of which five shall be appointed to represent each District and one shall be appointed jointly by both Chairmen as a member-at-large.

(b) Surveys and studies. The Joint Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee shall make such surveys and studies and shall obtain such information with respect to the use, location, port-to-port movement and availability of inland waterways equipment operated in the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a) as may be necessary or desirable to accomplish the objective specified in paragraph (a). All users of inland waterways equipment in, or available for, the service of the petroleum industry on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a) are requested to cooperate with the subcommittee in furnishing such information to the subcommittee, at such times as it shall specify.

(c) Plans for the allocation and use of inland waterways equipment. The Subcommittee shall analyze all pertinent available facts, figures, and other data obtained under paragraph (b), including facts, figures, and other data with respect to the past and present utilization of all such inland waterways equipment by specific persons, natural and artificial, for the transportation of petroleum, petroleum products, and other commodities, and it shall estimate therefrom the additional inland waterways equipment and facilities necessary for the efficient transportation and handling of the increased supply of petroleum and petroleum products available for transportation on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a). This analysis and estimate shall be made with the object in view of submitting plans to the Director of Supply and Transportation of the Petroleum Administration for War with respect to:

(1) The number of additional lake tankers, barges, and power equipment which specific owners have available to divert from other trades, uses, and services to the transportation of petroleum and petroleum products on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a) during the open navigation season;

(2) The necessary improvement of terminal and storage facilities which should be made by specific owners to facilitate the handling of the increased supply of petroleum and petroleum products available for transportation on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a); and,

(3) The kinds of petroleum and petroleum products that specific types of lake tankers and barges are best adapted to carry, and to make such information available to refineries and shippers in order to secure the most efficient use and conservation of available tonnage capacity of vessels in service on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a).

Any such plans shall include the correlation of inter-district operations and port-to-port movements to eliminate unnecessary cross-hauling and back-hauling and to assure a continuous, adequate, and efficient transportation system on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a).

(d) Meetings. Meetings of the Supply and Transportation Committees for Districts One and Two, the Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee, representatives of the persons, natural and artificial, engaged in the petroleum industry in Districts One and Two and all other persons wherever located who may be affected may be held from time to time for the purpose of gathering information, rendering reports, and preparing plans provided in paragraph (c). The aforesaid committees, subcommittees, representatives, and persons, or any of them, may meet from time to time for the purpose of doing all things necessary to carry into effect any plan issued in accordance with the provisions of this directive.

(e) Effectuating plans and schedules. All suggested plans required to be submitted hereunder shall, after such modification or revision as the Director of Supply and Transportation shall determine to be necessary to accomplish the objectives of this directive, be transmitted to the Chief Counsel of the Petroleum Administration for War. No plan provided for herein shall become effective until it has been approved by the Chief Counsel of the Petroleum Administration for War and issued by the Petroleum Administrator for War or the Deputy Petroleum Administrator. Upon the approval of any such plan by the Chief Counsel and the issuance of such plan by the Petroleum Administrator for War or the Deputy Petroleum Administrator, copies thereof shall be forwarded to the appropriate committees, subcommittees and all persons named therein, and all committees, subcommittees, and persons, natural or artificial, who may be affected by such plan, shall carry into effect such plan according to its terms, conditions and intent.

(f) Supervision of inland waterways equipment operations. The Subcommittee created pursuant to paragraph (a) shall keep informed concerning the loading, unloading, routing and handling of all inland waterways equipment used in petroleum service on the inland waterways specified in paragraph (a) and, subject to the prior approval of the District Director of Supply and Transportation for the District in which the recommendation is to be carried out, shall make appropriate recommendations to the owners, users, and handlers of such equipment to the end that maximum efficiency in use of inland waterways equipment in appropriate supply services may be attained.

(g) Administration. In carrying out the duties, responsibilities, and functions provided under this directive and any approved plan authorized herein, the Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee shall consult with other appropriate committees and subcommittees in Districts One and Two to the extent that plans or activities hereunder may affect such other committees and, to this end, all such committees and subcommittees shall provide the Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee with such information, material, and assistance as may be necessary or desirable to carry into effect the provisions of this directive. The Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee shall maintain such staff, and appoint such persons as it finds necessary to carry out its duties, responsibilities, and functions under this directive or any plan adopted pursuant thereto. Any vacancies in membership of the said subcommittee shall be filled through appointment of new members by the appropriate Chairman of the Supply and Transportation Committee of the District involved, subject to the approval of the Petroleum Administrator for War or the Deputy Petroleum Administrator.

(h) Reports. The Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee shall file a weekly progress report with the Chairman of the Supply and Transportation Committees for Districts One and Two. A copy of all reports, schedules or other documents prepared pursuant to the terms of this directive shall be forwarded to the Director of Supply and Transportation in the Petroleum Administration for War and to all other appropriate Directors in that Office.

(i) Expenses. Any expenses incurred by any committee or subcommittee pursuant to the operation of this directive shall be defrayed by the appropriate general committee or committees pursuant to the provisions of Recommendation No. 7.

(j) Transfer of functions from Joint Barge Subcommittee for Districts One, Two and Three. The functions of the Joint Barge Subcommittee for Districts One, Two and Three with respect to all inland waterways equipment operating on the Great Lakes, New York State Barge Canal, and Hudson River as far south as and including Rensselaer, New York, are hereby transferred to the Joint Great Lakes-New York State Barge Canal Subcommittee for Districts One and Two, and Recommendation No. 51 of the Office of Petroleum Coordinator for War (§§ 1505.88 to 1505.96, inclusive) is hereby amended accordingly.

(k) Appeals. Any person affected by this directive or any action taken hereunder who considers that compliance therewith or the results thereof would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him may appeal to the District Director in Charge of District One, Petroleum Administration for War, 1104 Chanin Building, 122 East 42nd Street, New York 17, New York, or to the District Director in Charge of District Two, Petroleum Administration for War, Blum Building, 624 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago 5, Illinois, whichever is appropriate, setting forth pertinent facts and reasons why he considers himself entitled to relief. If dissatisfied with the decision of the said District Director in Charge, such person may appeal within fifteen days after receipt of notice of the said Director's decision to the Petroleum Administration for War, Interior Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Issued this 29th day of May 1944.

SUSPENSION OF RULE REQUIRING INSPECTION OF NON-SCHEDULED AIRCRAFT STATIONS

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held in its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of May, 1944;

Whereas the Commission has under consideration relaxation of certain of its requirements relating to the inspection of non-scheduled aircraft radio stations, and

Whereas it appears that there are certain wartime restrictions on nonessential aircraft travel and a need for conservation of critical war materials used in the operation of such aircraft, which have resulted in great curtailment of use of non-scheduled aircraft and which give rise to certain practical difficulties in effecting periodic inspections of radio stations aboard such aircraft;

It is ordered, That until October 1, 1944, § 9.52 of the Commission's rules and regulations requiring the licenses of non-scheduled aircraft radio stations to submit their stations for inspection by representatives of the Commission at least once during the license period be, and the same is hereby suspended.

1. That the charges for telegraph communications between the several departments of the Government and their officers, relating exclusively to the public business in their transmission over the lines or circuits of any telegraph company subject to the Post Roads Act, approved July 24, 1866, 14 Stat. 221, as amended, (U.S.C. Title 47), shall not exceed eighty (80) per centum of the charges applicable to commercial communications of the corresponding classification, of the same length, and between the same points in the United States, which shall be deemed herein to include Alaska, subject to the following: (a) the minimum charge for Day Messages (telegrams) shall be 25 cents, for Day Letters 45 cents, for Night Messages 20 cents, for Night Letters 30 cents, for Serial messages 54 cents, for serial Longrams 60 cents and for Day Letter/Longrams 45 cents, unless any of these amounts shall be greater than the minimum for a corresponding commercial message in which event the provision set forth in paragraph 4 below shall apply; (b) a Day Letter shall be charged for as a Day Letter or a Day Message, according to which of these classifications shall produce the lower charge for the particular message; (c) a Day Letter/Longram shall be charged for as a Day Letter/Longram or as a Day Message, according to which of these classifications shall produce the lower charge for the particular message; (d) an overnight message shall be charged for as a Night Message or a Night Letter, according to which of these two classifications shall produce the lower charge for the particular message; (e) when the first section of a Serial message is not followed by another on the same day, it shall be charged for as a Day Message; when more than one section is filed on the same day, the sections shall be charged for at the Serial rates or each section shall be charged for as a Day Message, according to which of these classifications shall produce the lower total charge; (f) when the first section of a serial Longram is not followed by another on the same day, it shall be charged for as a Day Letter/Longram or as a Day Message, according to which of these two classifications shall produce the lower charge for the particular message; when more than one section of a serial Longram is filed on the same day, the sections shall be charged for at serial Longram rates or at Serial rates, or each section of the serial Longram shall be charged for as a Day Letter/Longram or as a Day Message, according to which of these four classifications shall produce the lowest total charge; and (g) the provisions of this paragraph shall apply only to Government messages filed as Day Messages, Day Letters, Day Letter/Longrams, Night Messages, Night Letters, Serial messages, and serial Longrams.

2. That the rates and charges for telegraph communications between the several departments of the Government and their officers, relating exclusively to the public business between points in the United States and points in possessions of the United States, between points in different possessions, and between points in the United States including such possessions and points in foreign countries and ships at sea, transmitted by any carrier or carriers subject to the Post Roads Act, or subject to the terms of a permit or license granted by the President of the United States giving the Postmaster General authority to fix rates for Government communications by telegraph (such a carrier being hereinafter called a domestic carrier) shall, between all points embraced within the scope of such Act, permit or license, not exceed fifty (50) per centum of the full ordinary charges applicable to commercial communications of the same length and between the same points, except that charges for Government code messages shall not exceed fifty (50) per centum of the charges for like commercial code messages, subject to the following: (a) in cases where Government messages are transmitted between any of such points in part over the facilities of any domestic carrier and in part over the facilities of any other carrier, or administration, (hereinafter called a foreign carrier), the charges for Government communications shall not exceed the following: (1) for Government communications between points in the United States and Mexico or Canada, the amounts derived by applying the percentages stated in the first ordering paragraph herein, to the prevailing commercial charges between the points of origin or destination in the United States and the border, plus the prevailing charges applicable to United States Government messages between points of origin or destination in Mexico or Canada and the border; and (2) for Government communications between all other points, the amounts derived by applying the percentages specified in this paragraph, to the full portion of the commercial charges accruing to the domestic carriers, plus the charges actually made for United States Government communications by foreign carriers; (b) the charges for Government ordinary messages between the following named points, shall be:

	Per word
Between Fisherman's Point, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba and Canal Zone	$0.09
Between Limon, San Jose, and Puntarenas, C. R., and Canal Zone	.075
Between Manila and China:
Shanghai	.10
Hongkong	.0575
Kwangsi, Kwangtung Provinces	.11
Macao	.11
Manchuria (Other than Japanese Offices)	.15
All other places	.15
Between Manila and Japan:
Formosa	$0.23
All other places, including Caroline Islands, Chosen-Corea, Jaluit (Marshall Islands), Japanese Saghalien, Kwangtung Peninsula (China), Palaos Islands, Pescadores Islands, Saipan (Marianne Islands) and Japanese Office in Manchuria	.235

and the charges for Government code messages between the foregoing points shall be 60 per centum of the charges above specified for Government ordinary messages; (c) with respect to Government messages to and from ships at sea the percentages specified shall not apply to the coastal station and ship station charges; and (d) with respect to Government night messages to and from points in Canada or Mexico transmitted by carriers having both night message and night letter classifications in effect to and from such points but having only night letter classifications in effect between points in the United States, such Government night messages shall be regarded as night letters for the purpose of determining the prevailing commercial charges for such messages to and from points in the United States and the border.

3. That if any new service shall be established, a supplementary order may be issued fixing the Government charge for such service.

4. That in no case shall the charge for a Government message exceed the charge for a corresponding commercial message.

5. That in cases where the charge for a Government message, as determined herein, shall include a fraction of a cent, such fraction, if less than one-half, shall be disregarded, if one-half or more, it shall be counted as one cent; except that the charge for Government code messages shall be rounded up to the next higher half cent, if the fraction be less than one-half and to a full cent, if the fraction be more than one-half.

6. That every Government message shall have priority over all other messages of the same classification, and every Government day message, serial message, ordinary message and code message shall also have priority over all other messages regardless of the classification; and every Government message shall, unless otherwise provided herein, be subject to the classifications, practices and regulations applicable to the corresponding commercial communications.

7. That every domestic carrier which is subject to the Communications Act of 1934, shall immediately file with this Commission all schedules of charges applicable to Government communications established pursuant to this order, said schedules to be filed in full compliance with the requirements of section 203 of the Communications Act of 1934, and with Part 61 of the Commission's rules and regulations (Title 47—Telecommunication), to be constructed in such manner and form that the full charges for all Government messages from origins to destinations can be exactly and readily ascertained therefrom, and to name effective dates as of July 1, next ensuing: Provided, however, That if schedules applicable to Government messages are already on file and in effect and are in accord with the provisions of this order, new and revised schedules need not be filed.

8. That in every case where any schedule containing charges applicable to commercial messages shall be changed, or the charges made by any foreign carrier shall be changed, the schedule containing the charges applicable to Government messages shall be correspondingly changed, effective on the same date.

9. That nothing herein contained shall apply to charges fixed by agreement between any department of the United States Government and the companies performing the service if such agreement be authorized in any statute of the United States.

10. That nothing herein contained shall be construed to give Government messages priority over radio communications or signals which are given a higher priority under section 321 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended; or under Article 26 of the General Radio Regulations (Cairo Revision, 1938) Annexed to the International Telecommunications Convention (Madrid, 1932); nor shall anything contained herein be construed to give Government messages priority over messages given a higher priority under any order of the Board of War Communications.

This order shall become effective on the first day of July, 1944, and shall continue in effect until June 30, 1945, both dates inclusive, unless subsequently changed by order of the Commission.

By the Commission.

PARTIAL REVOCATION OF LAND WITHDRAWAL

APRIL 18, 1944.

The SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

SIR: From recent investigations in connection with the Salt River project, the withdrawal of the hereinafter described land, withdrawn in the first and second forms prescribed by section 3 of the act of June 17, 1902 (32 Stat. 388) by Departmental Orders of July 2 and August 26, 1902, March 2, 1903, and July 20, 1905, no longer appears necessary to the interests of the project.

It is therefore recommended that so much of said orders as withdrew the land hereinafter listed be revoked: Provided, That such revocation shall not affect the withdrawal of any other land by said orders or affect any other orders withdrawing or reserving the land hereinafter listed.

BITUMINOUS MINES IN DISTRICT 20

ORDER TERMINATING GOVERNMENT POSSESSION

On December 17, 1943, a wage agreement was entered into by the United Mine Workers of America and the representatives of the bituminous coal operators who produce the great preponderance of the nation's tonnage. This agreement has been approved by the National War Labor Board and the Director of Economic Stabilization.

I have been advised that the operators who produce the great preponderance of the tonnage in District No. 20, as defined in the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, have executed or are about to execute contracts, and that they will put the contracts into effect immediately upon termination of Government possession of their mining properties. On the basis of such advice and the available information and evidence, and after consideration of all of the circumstances, I find that Government possession of the coal mining properties located in District No. 20 is no longer required, and in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) and the War Labor Disputes Act (Pub. Law 89, 78th Cong.) should be terminated.

Accordingly, I order and direct that the possession by the Government of the bituminous coal mines located in District No. 20, as defined in the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, including any and all real and personal property, franchises, rights, facilities, funds and other assets used in connection with the operation of such mines and the distribution and sale of their products be, and it is hereby terminated, and that there be displayed conspicuously at those mining properties copies of a poster to be supplied by the Coal Mines Administration and reading as follows:

NOTICE: Government possession and control of the coal mines of this mining company have been terminated by order of the Secretary of the Interior.

In accordance with section 40 of the regulations for the operation of coal mines under Government control, as amended, (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), the appointments of the operating managers for the United States for all of the aforesaid mines with respect to which the mining companies have on file with the Administrator effective instruments of agreement and certification as provided for in section 25 of the regulations as amended, (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), are automatically terminated.

Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to preclude the Government from requiring the submission of information relating to operations during the period of Government possession, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence and amount of any claims against the United States so that the administration of the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) may be concluded in an orderly manner.

Dated: June 2, 1944.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Farm Security Administration.

[FSA Instruction 471.1 Rev.]

FLOOD AND WINDSTORM RESTORATION PROGRAM

I. General. In July of 1943 Congress made available to the Secretary of Agriculture a fund of $15,000,000 for assistance to farmers whose property was destroyed or damaged by floods in 1943. Current legislation has made available the unused balance of this fund for assistance to farmers whose property was destroyed or damaged by floods or windstorms in 1944. The Secretary of Agriculture has designated the Farm Security Administration as the Agency to administer the Flood and Windstorm Restoration Program.

A. Purpose of program. The Flood and Windstorm Restoration Program will provide assistance to farmers in designated counties, who, because of damage or destruction of property by such floods or windstorms, will not be in a position to continue agricultural production needed in the war unless credit and/or grants are made available from this source. The purpose of this program is to correct situations which appear reasonably to have resulted from such floods or windstorms and to enable eligible farmers, (a) to resume or continue agricultural production in 1944, or (b) to make arrangements for such production in 1945.

B. Scope of program. The Flood and Windstorm Restoration Program will be restricted to counties designated by the Secretary of Agriculture. No activity will be initiated in any county until the regional director of the Farm Security Administration has been officially notified of such designation by the Secretary of Agriculture. Regional directors will submit recommendations for the designation of counties and will include information regarding the date and extent of damage and whether such damage was caused by flood or windstorm or both to the Office of the Administrator for referral to the Secretary of Agriculture.

C. Local assistance from other agencies. Although the actual making of loans and grants and the servicing of loans will be the responsibility of the FSA, there will be a need, particularly at the county level, for the full cooperation and assistance of other agricultural agencies and representatives. War Boards, representatives of other agricultural credit sources (Federal, State, and local), and other community leaders can furnish valuable advisory assistance, publicity, and other services. It will be particularly important in administering the grant program for FSA supervisors to cooperate fully with the National Red Cross, and local welfare agencies in order to prevent the duplication of relief and in such other respects as may be appropriate and consistent with this instruction.

II. Eligibility. Any farm owner or any farm operator (including tenants and sharecroppers) whose farm lies in a designated county and whose property was destroyed in whole or in part by floods or windstorms in 1944 will be eligible to apply for financial assistance under this program, Provided, Such applicants are unable to obtain credit elsewhere at reasonable terms, and Provided further, That such financial assistance is necessary to resume or continue agricultural production in 1944 or 1945, except that owners other than owner-operators are not eligible to receive grants. Final determination of the eligibility of individual applicants will be made by County FSA Committees. (Farmers who suffered only from flood damage in 1943 are eligible to receive Flood Restoration loans only until June 30, 1944.)

III. Loan policies and purposes. A. Two types of loans, "Production Restoration Loans" and "Real Estate Restoration Loans," (see paragraphs III B and C below) will be available to applicants under this program. Loans made under this program will be identified as FW loans. Recipients of loans will be identified as FW borrowers.

1. Refinancing. a. No indebtedness secured by a mortgage upon real estate will be refinanced under this program. Indebtedness other than real estate debt may be refinanced with FW loans in exceptional cases if such refinancing becomes necessary by reason of flood or windstorm damage and is essential to the resumption or continuance of production and then, only after such debts have been properly adjusted.

b. Loans including amounts for refinancing must be supported by a signed narrative statement explaining the circumstances of the individual case which makes refinancing necessary as a last resort. Such statement should be prepared by an FSA supervisory official having personal knowledge of the case. The narrative statement should explain:

(1) The action taken by an FSA employee or committeeman to obtain a subordination agreement, non-disturbance agreement, extension agreement or other form of debt adjustment.

(2) Why such refinancing is essential to the applicant's future farming operations.

(3) Whether the value of essential security property which is being refinanced, or the value of the applicant's equity in property which is in jeopardy, is equal to or greater than the amount recommended for refinancing.

2. Debt adjustment. There will be many situations under this program where the damage or loss resulting from floods or windstorms will have created circumstances that prohibit the orderly liquidation of existing debts and, therefore, necessitate a careful and thorough adjustment of debts.

a. Real estate debts. In those situations where the existing indebtedness on real estate merits adjustment to justify the additional credit necessary to restore the land to production, efforts should be made to induce creditors to (1) reduce the amount of such indebtedness, (2) extend the terms thereof, or (3) otherwise, satisfactorily adjust the indebtedness to the debt-paying ability of the applicant by any combination of these or other methods.

b. Other debts. In those situations where the adjustments of debts other than real estate debts is essential to the resumption or continuance of production, efforts should be made to induce creditors to adjust debts through reduction, extension or other appropriate methods, to within the reasonable debt-paying ability of the applicant. If it appears necessary to refinance such debts, the amount recommended for refinancing must not exceed the sum of a conservative estimate of the borrower's ability to repay annually, multiplied by the number of years over which repayment should be extended (this may not, in any case, exceed 10 years), or in the case of secured debts a conservative estimate of the value of the security, whichever is the lesser.

3. Alternative protective actions. In those situations where adjustment of debts appears desirable but may not be vitally essential to the resumption or continuance of production, alternative measures may be followed for the protection of the Government's and the applicant's interests:

a. Subordination agreements may be obtained from secured creditors, either real estate or nonreal estate, in lieu of debt reductions where it appears that ultimate repayment of the total debt could be made without serious financial injury to the applicant.

b. Nondisturbance agreements may be obtained from either secured or unsecured creditors (real estate or nonreal estate debts) in those instances where it appears that the applicant will be able to either repay or place himself in a safe financial position provided he is not disturbed during an ample period of time.

4. Protective tenure improvements. There may be some situations where contract purchasers of land and mortgagors with small equities will desire to make so-called permanent improvements to real estate which are necessitated by flood or windstorm damage and which appear essential to bringing about production of essential agricultural commodities in 1944 or 1945. In passing upon these loan applications, due consideration must be given to the approximate cost of such improvements in relation to the borrower's equity in the land. If it appears that the borrower may, through foreclosure, cancelation of contract, or otherwise, fail to realize the reasonable value of the expenditure, the loan should not be made, unless the mortgagee or title owner of the real estate (a) assumes liability for the amount loaned for such improvements, or (b) agrees that the improvements may be removed in the event of termination of the contract or foreclosure of the mortgage, or (c) agrees to compensate the borrower for the residual value of the improvements at the time of termination. If the applicant is a tenant the same tests must be followed, and the loan for such improvements must not be made unless the mortgagee or title owner of the real property will agree (a) to become liable for the amount loaned to make the improvements, or (b) to permit the removal of the improvements at the termination of the lease, or (c) to pay for the residual value of such improvements at the termination of the lease, or (d) to extend the period of the tenure sufficient to enable the applicant to obtain full utilization of the cost of the improvement.

B. Production restoration loans. Loans may be made to eligible applicants, for a period of not to exceed 10 years or a shorter period consistent with the borrower's anticipated ability to repay, or the useful life of the security, at an interest rate of five percent per annum for production needs including repairs or replacement of equipment, livestock, minor repairs and replacements on real estate, and other needs essential to the resumption or continuance of production. In those states in which the chattel mortgage will not be capable of extension over the entire repayment period of the loan, the installment due under the note for the year when the lien, created by a chattel mortgage, is to be terminated must be the aggregate of the normal installment for that year and the normal installments for all subsequent years. The borrower should be advised that the note will be renewed or extended to provide for payments over the desired period of the loan if the action is justified and if a new chattel mortgage is given by the borrower immediately preceding the end of the statute period covering security adequate to justify the renewal or extension. In all cases in which the property to be purchased consists of movable property which can be made the subject of a chattel mortgage, a chattel mortgage should be obtained. The regional attorney should be requested to prepare instructions concerning the taking of mortgages on chattels to be affixed to the real estate. Production Restoration loans may include funds for the following purposes:

1. Purchase of feed, seed and fertilizer.
2. The repair or purchase of machinery and farm and home equipment.
3. Purchase of livestock.
4. Minor real estate repairs or replacement of buildings, fences, and other farm improvements and facilities.
5. Refinancing of adjusted debts other than real estate debts.
6. Other general farm operating expenses.
7. Home operating expenses.

C. Real estate restoration loans. Loans may be made to eligible farmers, for a period of not to exceed 20 years or a shorter period consistent with the borrower's anticipated ability to repay, or the useful life of the security, whichever is the lesser, at an interest rate of four percent per annum for major repairs or replacements to real property dstroyed or damaged in whole or in part by floods or windstorms. Such loans may include funds for the following purposes:

1. Leveling land or clearing of debris.
2. Major repairs or replacements of drainage, irrigation or flood control systems.
3. Major repairs or replacements of farm buildings.
4. Major repairs or replacements of fencing, orchards, windbreaks or other farm improvements and facilities.
5. Expenses incidental to the making of the loan.

IV. Making of loans. FW loans will be made under existing FSA procedures except as otherwise provided in this Instruction.

A. Applications. 1. Applications for either type of FW loan will be made on Form FSA–663 (Revised), "Application for Flood and Windstorm Restoration Assistance." No other form of application will be required under this program.

2. Applications will be referred by the FSA supervisor to the county FSA committee for its consideration and determination of the applicant's eligibility and for recommendations on the type and amount of the loan needed. In determining eligibility, the committee will be guided by policies and instructions governing the Flood and Windstorm Restoration Program.

3. Certain applications, particularly among applications for Real Estate Restoration loans, will contemplate repairs or replacements requiring engineering services. In any such case, a request for the services of the district engineer's staff should be made through the proper channels. The office of the district engineer will provide required surveys, plans, specifications, contract documents and supervision, at appropriate times where such engineering services are determined to be necessary.

B. Preparation and processing of loan dockets. Dockets for either type of FW loan will be prepared on the same forms and in the same number of copies and will be processed and case numbers assigned in the same manner as standard RR loans except as follows:

1. All forms will be prominently marked "Restoration Loans."

2. Form FSA–663 (Revised) "Application for Flood and Windstorm Restoration Assistance," will be prepared in an original and two copies; the original will be included in the loan docket, and forwarded to the regional director from the Finance area office upon certification of the Loan Voucher; one copy will be given to the applicant and one copy retained in the county office. (See also Par. V, C, 1, b.)

3. Form FSA–664, "Flood and Windstorm Restoration Loan Agreement," will be required for both types of FW loans and prepared and distributed in the same manner as the Loan Agreement for standard RR loans, except both an original and one copy must be included in the docket where two or more advances are required under one loan agreement.

4. Form FSA–FI 5 (Revised) "Public Voucher" must include information to distinguish whether the advance is the result of "Flood" or "Windstorm" damage. This will be shown by typing the word "Flood" or the word "Windstorm" in the space on the form for "Remarks." (Where the voucher provides for advances for both Flood and Windstorm damage the amount for each must be shown in this space.)

5. Where refinancing is involved a narrative statement must be included in the application, Form FSA–663. (See Par. III, A, 1, b.)

c. Loan approval. 1. Loan applications under this program exceeding $10,000 to a borrower but not exceeding $15,000, will require the approval of the Administrator and should be forwarded to the Assistant Administrator, Cincinnati, with the recommendation of the regional director.

2. Regional directors are hereby authorized to approve FW loans in amounts not to exceed an aggregate of $10,000 to a borrower under this program. This authority may be redelegated in writing to an appropriate member of the regional director's staff, with a copy of the delegation to the appropriate Finance area office.

3. Individual district FSA supervisors and associate district FSA supervisors may be delegated authority in writing by the regional director to approve FW loans, except those involving "Refinancing" (Par. III B 5) in amounts not in excess of $5,000 with a copy of the delegation to the appropriate Finance area office. The authority delegated to district and associate district FSA supervisors will constitute a limitation on the aggregate amount of FW loans to a borrower that may be approved by such employees under this program.

4. Individual FSA supervisors may be delegated authority in writing by district FSA supervisors to approve FW loans, except those involving "Refinancing" (Par. III B 5) in amounts not in excess of $2,500, with a copy of the delegation to the appropriate Finance area office. The delegated loan approval authority will represent the aggregate amount of FW loans for any borrower which may be approved by an FSA supervisor under this program.

D. Security. Loans will be secured in the first instance and security will be maintained to a degree of reasonable adequacy, usually by liens on the property purchased or produced with loan funds.

1. Real estate restoration loans. Real estate restoration loans will be secured by liens on the real estate unless other collateral security is offered which is determined to be reasonably adequate. Liens on real estate may be junior liens: Provided, That the outstanding indebtedness against the real estate, plus the amount of the FW loan, will not exceed the value of the realty and the total indebtedness appears to be within the debt-paying ability of the applicant and arrangements are made so that the tenure of the applicants will be reasonably secure. In all cases of loans of $1,000 or more, the title will be approved by the regional attorney or a mortgagee title insurance policy issued by a company approved by the Solicitor's office shall be furnished. In cases of loans under $1,000, there will be included in the docket Form FSA–665, "Owner's Affidavit", Form FSA–LE 238, "Third Party Affidavit", or Form FSA–RP 70, "Tract Data Obtained from Public Records", completed and signed by either the FSA supervisor, county recorder, county treasurer, an abstractor or other appropriate person or official. The applicant must pay all costs in connection with the title insurance policy or the preparation and continuance of the abstract or other expense necessary in the furnishing of proper title evidence and the costs of recording, but the Government may advance money necessary for this purpose by including sufficient funds in the loan. It will be the responsibility of the regional attorney to prepare appropriate instructions for the obtaining of title evidence, the closing of loans and the obtaining of a mortgagee title insurance policy if required.

2. Production restoration loans. Production Restoration loans will be secured by a first lien on all property purchased and the best lien obtainable on property repaired (except real estate) or crops produced with loan funds. It is anticipated that such liens will ordinarily represent reasonably adequate security, however, in those cases in which the major portion of the loan funds are advanced for items not customarily made subject to a lien, additional security may be required by the approving official in order to establish a situation of reasonable adequacy. In cases where liens are taken on property being repaired or on property representing additional security, junior liens will be acceptable provided the borrower owns a mortgageable equity in such property.

3. Other security. Other security, such as assignments of farm income, may be required by the approving official where it appears necessary for the protection of the Government's interests in the orderly retirement of the FW loan.

V. Grants policies and procedures. Grants made under this program will be identified as FW grants.

A. Grant policies. 1. Grants may be made to eligible applicants only in cases such as those for which grants are provided under the regular FSA program or where grants are necessary to carry out the purposes of this program. Such grants may be made only to the extent that necessary advances of funds under this appropriation are beyond the amount which could be loaned to any applicant with a reasonable probability that such loan could be repaid.

2. Grants may not be made:

a. Under this appropriation in an aggregate amount in excess of $1000 to any individual recipient. Generally the amount of grant to any individual applicant should not exceed the amount necessary to meet the subsistence needs of the family.

b. To make repayments on any indebtedness to any creditor.

c. For major real-estate improvements.

d. For goods or services which the applicant can supply out of his own current resources or out of available income, or where the debt paying ability of the applicant will justify a loan for the purpose.

e. For purposes which would permit a family to divert income, which should otherwise be used to meet its needs, for the payment of excessive debts or inequitable rental. (In other words, grant funds must not be used in such a way as to accrue indirectly to the unjustified benefits of creditors.)

3. A determination of the best estimate of the amount which could be loaned to any applicant with a reasonable probability that such loan could be repaid must be made upon the considered judgment of the county FSA committee and FSA employees. The county FSA supervisor will assemble all factual information he is able to obtain for the use of the committee as a basis for the exercise of its judgment. Form FSA–663 will be useful in recording this information.

4. Grant checks should be mailed to the recipient in care of the FSA supervisor. The FSA supervisor will, thereafter, mail or deliver such checks to the recipients. Where it is advisable to make the grant in multiple advances, subsequent payments to several recipients may be included on the same voucher, Form FSA–FI 58.

B. Grant approval. In cases where an FW loan and an FW grant are recommended for the same applicant the authority delegated herein shall not be exercised unless the approving officer's authority is broad enough to approve both the particular loan and the particular grant.

1. Applications for grants exceeding $500, will be referred to the Administrator of the Farm Security Administration. In all such cases the complete docket will be forwarded to the Assistant Administrator, Cincinnati, through the office of the regional director with his analysis and recommendation.

2. Regional directors are hereby authorized to approve grants in amounts not to exceed an aggregate of $500 to an applicant and to redelegate in writing to individual associate district FSA supervisors and individual FSA supervisors authority to approve grants in amounts not to exceed an aggregate of $300 to an applicant. Copies of such redelegations will be forwarded to the District FSA Supervisor and appropriate Finance area office.

3. District FSA supervisors are hereby authorized to approve grants in amounts not to exceed an aggregate of $300 to an applicant.

C. Grant procedures. Grants made under this program will be designated FW grants. Forms used for the making of FW grants must show whether such grants are made because of "Flood" damage or "Windstorm" damage.

1. Form FSA–663 (Revised), "Application for Flood and Windstorm Restoration Assistance" will be used to show the need for and the type and amount of FW grant which may be recommended. If for any reason the anticipated operatitons for this year will vary from operations which can reasonably be expected over the period of debt repayment, adjusted figures reflecting an expected average year's operation during the period of debt repayment should be shown in the column headed "Expected Av. Yr." in part VI. The proper number of years to figure debt repayment will be dependent upon such factors as: the useful life of items to be purchased with FW advances, the amount and kind of other debts owed by the applicant, the likelihood of future hazards on this farm and other pertinent factors. A narrative justification will be required in part VII for all applications involving a grant.

a. County FSA committees will clearly designate over their signatures in the space provided for this purpose, the amount of FW grant recommended.

b. Where grant advances are recommended it will be necessary to prepare an extra copy of this form submitting an original and one copy to the Finance area office. An original and two copies to the Finance area office, are necessary where multiple grant advances are recommended. (See also Par. IV B 2).

2. Form FSA–FI 58, "Public Voucher for Direct Relief, Stricken Agricultural Area", will be prepared in an original and three copies for all grants approved or recommended for approval. The original and two copies will be included in the docket. One copy will be retained in the county FSA office to be held until the "paid copy" is received from the Treasury Disbursing office. The word "Flood" or "Windstorm" will be typed in column "4" of this voucher. Where both types of grants are made to a single applicant on the same voucher, the amount to be charged to each type should be shown in column "4" and the total advance for both types shown as a single item in column "6".

VI. Supervision and loan servicing— A. Supervision. It is not contemplated that FW borrowers and grant recipients will be given the type of detailed supervision of farm and home practices and operations characteristic of the RR program. However, there may be situations where financial assistance would not be advisable unless supervision of farm and home operations is provided. The county FSA committee, in passing upon the eligibility of each applicant, will determine whether such supervision is necessary. When any FW borrower requests supervisory assistance of the type ordinarily given under the RR program, provision will be made for the extension of supervisory services within the limits of available personnel. Only in cases designated for "supervision" by county FSA committees and where the FSA supervisor and the FSA committee determine that extra precaution is necessary, may the loan or grant funds be placed in a Supervised Bank Account to insure that such funds are used for the purposes authorized.

B. Loan servicing. FW loans will be serviced under the procedures and with forms applicable to standard RR loans except as provided herein. FSA officials who are delegated similar authority with respect to RR loans are hereby authorized to do all acts necessary and incidental to the making, servicing, renewing and collecting of all FW loans, subject to monetary restrictions and other restrictions applicable to similar acts under the RR program. FSA officials who are similarly authorized to act under the RR program are likewise authorized to accept, record, release and satisfy instruments of security for all FW loans subject to monetary restrictions and other restrictions imposed under the RR program (8 F.R. 7413, June 4, 1943). Specific exceptions to these general authorizations are as follows:

1. Partial release of security may be granted under procedures applicable to standard RR loans but only for the following purposes:

a. Repayments on FW loans.

b. Exchange (including sale and repurchase) of security better suited to the future needs of the borrower.

c. For the protection and maintenance of remaining security.

d. For payment of emergency expenses essential to the welfare of the family.

e. (The following authority may be exercised only with respect to crops, livestock products and livestock, produced for sale.) For general farm and home expenditures after annual maturities on the FW loans have been paid; or, prior to such payment where there is assurance that annual maturities will be paid.

2. The renewal of FW loans will be accomplished on the same forms and handled under the same general procedures applicable to standard RR loans except that Real Estate Restoration loans or Production Restoration loans will not be combined with any other type of loan. Separate renewal notes will be required for each of these loan types, although such a renewal may include several loan advances of the same type.

VII. Reports. Borrowers obtaining loans from the 1943 appropriation, formerly identified as "FR Borrowers" will henceforth be identified as "FW Borrowers". Likewise loans formerly identified as "FR" loans will henceforth be identified as "FW" loans. FSA borrowers who suffer flood or windstorm damage in 1944 are eligible for FW loans within the limitations set forth in this instruction but will retain their present classification of FSA borrowers.

A. Finance area offices will prepare as of the last day of each month reports by States showing:

1. The number of FW loans and amount (by loan types segregated as to "Flood Restoration Loans" and "Windstorm Restoration Loans" separately) of FW loan funds obligated, the total amount advanced such borrowers, the amount of principal and interest repaid and the balance of principal and interest unpaid.

2. The number of FW grants and amount of FW grant funds obligated (segregated as to "Flood Grants", and "Windstorm Grants") and the total amount advanced such recipients.

B. Regional directors will prepare on the 10th of each month, a report by States based on applications processed through the Finance area officers during the preceding month, showing the number of FW applications involving funds for each of the purposes indicated on paragraphs III B & C, and the total amount of funds for each of the purposes indicated in these paragraphs.

C. County FSA supervisors in designated counties will provide on Form FSA-322:

1. The number of FW applications received during the month, and the number of FW applications on hand at the end of the month. (Monthly)

2. The number of families receiving FW assistance. (Quarterly)

AUTHORIZATION OF FARM SECURITY ADMINISTRATION TO MAKE LOANS AND GRANTS FOR FLOOD AND WINDSTORM RELIEF

Pursuant to the authority vested in me under the Act of May 20, 1944, (Pub. Law No. 367, 78th Congress), I hereby authorize and direct the Farm Security Administration to make loans and grants in such areas as I may designate to provide assistance to farmers whose property was destroyed or damaged, in whole or in part, by floods or windstorms in 1944 where necessary to enable such farmers to resume or continue agricultural production in 1944, or to make arrangements for such production in 1945 in order to produce for the war effort.

1. Loans may be made for the purpose of aiding any farmer, who is unable to obtain credit elsewhere at reasonable terms, to replace or repair any property so destroyed or damaged, and to finance the purchase of feed, seed, livestock, equipment and other farming supplies, materials, and operating costs and expenses necessary to carry on such farming operations.

2. No loan shall be made for an amount in excess of $15,000, or for a longer period than 20 years. Interest shall be charged at a rate of not greater than 5 percent nor less than 4 percent. Different interest rates may be fixed for different classes of loans.

3. Grants may be made to eligible applicants only in cases such as those for which grants are provided under the regular FSA program or where grants are necessary to carry out the purposes of this program. Such grants may be made only to the extent that necessary advances of funds under this appropriation are beyond the amount which could be loaned to any applicant with a reasonable probability that such loan could be repaid.

4. Grants may not be made under this appropriation in an aggregate amount in excess of $500 to any individual recipient except in unusually meritorious cases and with the approval of the Administrator or some other official specifically designated by him for that purpose.

5. The Farm Security Administration shall have authority to do all acts necessary and incidental to the making, servicing, renewing, and collecting of such loans and the making of grants. Reasonably adequate security shall be taken for all loans made pursuant to this delegation of authority and for this purpose authority is hereby granted to accept, record, release and satisfy instruments of security of all kinds.

6. The Administrator of the Farm Security Administration or, in his absence, the Acting Administrator, shall exercise the authority contained herein, shall issue instructions which shall be in conformity with regulations approved by me, and may delegate and authorize redelegation of this authority to subordinate officers and employees of the Farm Security Administration.

LEARNER EMPLOYMENT CERTIFICATES

ISSUANCE TO VARIOUS INDUSTRIES

Notice of issuance of special certificates for the employment of learners under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938.

Notice is hereby given that special certificates authorizing the employment of learners at hourly wages lower than the minimum rate applicable under section 6 of the act are issued under section 14 thereof and § 522.5 (b) of the regulations issued thereunder (August 16, 1940, 5 F.R. 2862) to the employers listed below effective as of the date specified in each listed item below.

The employment of learners under these certificates is limited to the terms and conditions as designated opposite the employer's name. These Certificates are issued upon the employers' representations that experienced workers for the learner occupations are not available for employment and that they are actually in need of learners at subminimum rates in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment. The certificates may be cancelled in the manner provided for in the Regulations and as indicated on the Certificate. Any person aggrieved by the issuance of the certificates may seek a review or reconsideration thereof.

R. DEISS

In re: Copyright interests of R. Deiss.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation:

1. Finding that R. Deiss, a resident of Paris, France, is a national of a foreign country (France);

2. Determining, therefore, that the property described as follows:

All right, title, interest and claim of whatsoever kind or nature, under the statutory and common law of the United States and the several States thereof, of the aforesaid R. Deiss, of Paris, France, in, to and under the following:

(a) Every copyright, claim of copyright and right to copyright in each and all of the works designated in Exhibit A,[1] which exhibit is attached hereto and hereby made a part hereof;

(b) Every copyright, claim of copyright and right to copyright in each and all of the works subject to copyright, in which such rights and claims are held by the aforesaid R. Deiss, whether or not such works are specifically designated in this order;

(c) Every license, agreement, privilege, power and right of whatsoever nature arising under or with respect to any or all of the foregoing; excepting the right of any person to renew any or all of the copyrights arising in, from or under any or all of the foregoing;

(d) All monies and amounts, and all right to receive monies and amounts, by way of royalty, share of profits or other emolument, accrued or to accrue, whether arising pursuant to law, contract or otherwise, with respect to any or all of the foregoing;

(e) All rights of reversion or revesting, if any, in any or all of the foregoing;

(f) All causes of action accrued or to accrue at law or in equity with respect to any or all of the foregoing, including but not limited to the right to sue for and recover all damages and profits and to ask and receive any and all remedies provided by common law or statute for the infringement of any copyright or the violation of any right or the breach of any obligation described in or affecting any or all of the foregoing;

(g) All right, title, or interest in any paper or other copies of the works described in the foregoing;

is property payable or held with respect to copyrights, or rights related thereto, in which interests are held by, and such property constitutes interests held therein by, a national of a foreign country;

3. Having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification, required by said Executive order or act or otherwise; and hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property hereinbefore described in subparagraph 2, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States: Provided, however, That this order shall not vest any right of any person to renew any copyright in any or all of the works above described.

4. Deeming it necessary in the national interest;

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in a special account pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This shall not be deemed to limit the powers of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof, or to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined that such return should be made or such compensation should be paid.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may file with the Alien Property Custodian a notice of his claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon, on Form APC-1, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Alien Property Custodian. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

(a) Every copyright, claim of copyright and right to copyright in each and all of the works designated in Exhibit A,[1] which exhibit is attached hereto and hereby made a part hereof;

(b) Every copyright, claim of copyright and right to copyright in each and all of the works subject to copyright, in which such rights and claims are held by the aforesaid Rouart, Lerolle & Cie, whether or not such works are specifically designated in this order;

(c) Every license, agreement, privilege, power and right of whatsoever nature arising under or with respect to any or all of the foregoing; excepting the rights of any person to renew any or all of the copyrights arising in, from or under any or all of the foregoing;

(d) All monies and amounts, and all right to receive monies and amounts, by way of royalty, share of profits or other emolument, accrued or to accrue, whether arising pursuant to law, contract or otherwise, with respect to any or all of the foregoing;

(e) All rights or reversion or revesting, if any, in any or all of the foregoing;

(f) All causes of action accrued or to accrue at law or in equity with respect to any or all of the foregoing, including but not limited to the right to sue for and recover all damages and profits and to ask and receive any and all remedies provided by common law or statute for the infringement of any copyright or the violation of any right or the breach of any obligation described in or affecting any or all of the foregoing;

(g) All right, title or interest in any paper or other copies of the works described in the foregoing;

is property payable or held with respect to copyrights, or rights related thereto, in which interests are held by, and such property constitutes interests held therein by, a national of a foreign country;

3. Having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification, required by said Executive order or act or otherwise; and hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property hereinbefore described in subparagraph 2, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States; Provided, however, That this order shall not vest any right of any person to renew any copyright in any or all of the works above described.

4. Deeming it necessary in the national interest;

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in a special account pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This shall not be deemed to limit the powers of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof, or to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined that such return should be made or such compensation should be paid.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may file with the Alien Property Custodian a notice of his claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon, on Form APC-1, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Alien Property Custodian. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

The terms "national" and "designated enemy country" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of said Executive order.

Executed at Washington, D. C., on April 24, 1944.

CERTAIN GERMAN NATIONALS

In re: Interests in copyrighted works held by certain foreign nationals.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation:

1. Finding that the person or persons, names unknown, heirs next of kin, devisees, legatees, distributees, personal representatives, administrators, executors and assigns of Wilhelm Meyer-Foerster, whose last known addresses are Germany, are nationals of a foreign country (Germany), and own or control the property hereinafter described in subparagraph 2 hereof;

2. Determining that the property described as follows:

All right, title, interest and claim of whatsoever kind or nature, under the statutory and common law of the United States and of the several States thereof, of each of the persons identified in subparagraph 1 hereof, in, to and under the following:

All monies and amounts and all right to receive such monies and amounts including, but not limited to, all monies and amounts in that certain account with the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, New York, New York, in the name of the "Estate of Wilhelm Meyer-Foerster, account subject to the authorization of the Alien Property Custodian," paid by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation for the purpose of exercising an option for extending the term of "all motion picture and all sound, talking and musical motion picture rights" with respect to the copyrighted play known as "Alt Heidelberg," and the novel known as "Carl Heinrich," which option was given, and rights were transferred, by Wilhelm Meyer-Foerster, to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation by virtue of an agreement dated March 15, 1932;

is property of, or is property payable or held with respect to copyrights or rights related thereto, in which interests are held by nationals of a foreign country (Germany);

3. Having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification, required by said Executive order or act or otherwise; and hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property hereinbefore described in subparagraph 2, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States.

4. Deeming it necessary in the national interest;

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall it be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed, file with the Alien Property Custodian on Form APC–1 a notice of claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

SOCIETY FOR CARE OF GERMAN SEAMEN IN PORT OF NEW YORK

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That the Society for the Care of German Seamen in the Port of New York, a membership corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York and doing business under the laws of the State of New Jersey, is a business enterprise within the United States and is controlled by a designated enemy country (Germany) or persons within such designated enemy country;

and determining:

2. That the Society for the Care of German Seamen in the Port of New York is controlled by and is acting for or on behalf of or as a cloak for a designated enemy country (Germany) or persons within such designated enemy country and is a national of a designated enemy country (Germany);

3. That to the extent that such nationals are persons not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such persons be treated as nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany); and having made all determinations and taken all action required by law, including appropriate consultation and certification, and deeming it necessary in the national interest, hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian all property of any nature whatsoever situated in the United States, owned or controlled by, payable or deliverable to, or held on behalf of or on account of, or owing to the Society for the Care of German Seamen in the Port of New York, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest and for the benefit of the United States, and hereby undertakes the direction, management, supervision and control of said business enterprise to the extent deemed necessary or advisable from time to time by the Alien Property Custodian.

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to vary the extent of or terminate such direction, management, supervision or control, or return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall it be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed, file with the Alien Property Custodian on Form APC–1 a notice of claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

The terms "national," "designated enemy country" and "business enterprise within the United States" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order No. 9095, as amended.

ELIZABETH HELENE HOFFMEISTER AND ELISE HOFFMEISTER

In re: Interest in real property and property insurance policies owned by Elisabeth Helene Hoffmeister and the unknown heirs, legatees and distributees of Elise Hoffmeister, deceased.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That the last known address of Elise Hoffmeister, at the time of her death on May 27, 1942, was Rosenthal 12, Bonn-On-Rhine, Germany, and that she was a resident of Germany and a national of a designated enemy country (Germany);

2. That on May 27, 1942 Elise Hoffmeister was the owner of the property described in subparagraph 5 hereof;

3. That Elisabeth Helene Hoffmeister, an heir of Elise Hoffmeister, deceased, whose last known address is Muensterplatz 22, Bonn-On-Rhine, Germany, and the unknown heirs, legatees, distributees, of Elise Hoffmeister, deceased, are residents of Germany and nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany);

4. That Elisabeth Helene Hoffmeister and the unknown heirs, legatees and distributees of Elise Hoffmeister are the owners of the property described in subparagraph 5 hereof;

5. That the property described as follows:

a. The undivided one-half interest in real property situated in Kings County, New York, particularly described in Exhibit A attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof, together with all hereditaments, fixtures, improvements, and appurtenances thereto, and any and all claims for rents, refunds, benefits or other payments arising from the ownership of such property,

b. The undivided one-half interest in real property situated in Queens County, New York, particularly described in Exhibit B attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof, together with all hereditaments, fixtures, improvements and appurtenances thereto, and any and all claims for rents, refunds, benefits or other payments arising from the ownership of such property, and

c. All right, title and interest of Elizabeth Helene Hoffmeister and the unknown heirs, legatees and distributees of Elise Hoffmeister, deceased, in and to the insurance policies particularly described in Exhibit C, attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof, which policies insure the improvements to the premises described in subparagraphs 5–a and 5–b hereof, is property within the United States owned or controlled by nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany);

And determining that the property described in subparagraph 5–c hereof is necessary for the maintenance or safeguarding of other property (namely, that property described in subparagraphs 5–a and 5–b hereof) belonging to the same nationals of the same designated enemy country and subject to vesting (and in fact vested by this order) pursuant to section 2 of said Executive order;

And further determining that to the extent that such nationals are persons not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such persons be treated as nationals of a designated enemy country (Germany);

And having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification required by law, and deeming it necessary in the national interest, hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property described in subparagraphs 5–a hereof and 5–b hereof, subject to recorded liens, encumbrances and other rights of record held by or for persons who are not nationals of designated enemy countries, and hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property described in subparagraph 5–c hereof,

All such property so vested to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest, and for the benefit, of the United States.

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account, or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall this order be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed, file with the Alien Property Custodian on Form APC–1 a notice of claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

The terms "national" and "designated enemy country" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order No. 9095, as amended.

Executed at Washington, D. C. on May 15, 1944.

[Special Order ODT B–54]

TRAILWAYS OF NEW ENGLAND, INC.

SUSPENSION OF OPERATIONS BETWEEN NORTHAMPTON AND EASTHAMPTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Pursuant to the Act of May 31, 1941, as amended by the Second War Powers Act, 1942, Executive Orders 8989, as amended, and 9156, and War Production Board Directive 21; and in order to secure maximum use of existing transportation facilities; to conserve and providently utilize vital equipment, material, and supplies; to prevent possible traffic congestion, and to provide for the prompt and continuous movement of necessary traffic, the attainment of which purposes is essential to the successful prosecution of the war; and being satisfied that the fulfilment of requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage of transportation materials and facilities for defense and for private account, It is hereby ordered, That:

1. Trailways of New England, Inc., Springfield, Massachusetts, (hereinafter called "carrier"), in the transportation of passengers as a common carrier by motor vehicle, shall suspend operations between Northampton, Massachusetts, and Easthampton, Massachusetts, and all intermediate points.

2. The carrier shall file a copy of this order forthwith with the appropriate regulatory body or bodies having jurisdiction over any operations affected by this order, and shall likewise file, and publish in accordance with law, and continue in effect until further order, tariffs or supplements to filed tariffs, setting forth any changes in rates, charges, operations, rules, regulations and practices of the carrier which may be necessary to accord with the provisions of this order; and forthwith shall apply to such regulatory body or bodies for special permission for such tariffs or supplements to become effective on one day's notice.

3. Communications concerning this order should be addressed to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C., and should refer to "Special Order ODT B–54."

This Special Order ODT B–54 shall become effective June 12, 1944, and shall remain in full force and effect until the termination of the present war shall have been duly proclaimed, or until such earlier time as the Office of Defense Transportation by further order may designate.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of June 1944.

D. C. DILLON & CO.

APPROVAL OF MAXIMUM PRICES

Order No. 1684 under § 1499.158 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 188. Manufacturers' maximum prices for specified building materials and consumers' goods other than apparel. Approval of maximum prices for sales of a safety razor kit manufactured by D. C. Dillon & Company.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Order Nos. 9250 and 9328, It is ordered:

(a) The maximum prices for sales and deliveries by D. C. Dillon and Company, 485 South Twenty-First Street, Irvington, New Jersey, of a safety razor kit called "Plastipak" are those set forth below:

Maximum prices to jobbers:	Each
In quantities less than five gross	$0.245
In quantities of more than five gross	.233
Maximum prices to retailers	.294

These prices are f. o. b. factory, subject to a cash discount of 2% for payment within ten days, net thirty days.

(b) The maximum price for all sales of the safety razor kit described in paragraph (a) above, by jobbers who ship from the manufacturer's stock, shall be $0.294 per unit subject to discounts, allowances, and terms no less favorable than those customarily granted by the seller.

(c) The maximum price for sales and deliveries of the safety razor kit described in paragraph (a) above by jobbers who stock the merchandise shall be $0.327 per unit, f. o. b. sellers' city, subject to discounts, allowances, and terms no less favorable than those customarily granted by the seller.

(d) The maximum price for a sale at retail of the safety razor kit described in paragraph (a) above shall be $0.49 per unit.

(e) To every safety razor kit shipped to a purchaser for resale, the manufacturer shall attach a tag or label which plainly states the retail ceiling price.

(f) At the time of the first invoice after June 5, 1944, the manufacturer shall notify in writing each purchaser who buys from it of the maximum prices established by this order for resales by the purchaser. Since this order establishes maximum prices for sales by all jobbers including sales by jobbers to jobbers and jobbers to retailers, each jobber who resells the commodity covered by this order must notify his purchaser in writing of the maximum prices established by this order for resales by the purchaser. The written notice may be given in any convenient form.

(g) Unless the context otherwise requires, the definitions set forth in § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to the terms used herein.

(h) This Order No. 1684 may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

This Order No. 1684 shall become effective June 6, 1944.

Issued this 5th day of June 1944.

MANUREP

AUTHORIZATION OF MAXIMUM PRICES

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register, and pursuant to the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and by Executive Orders Nos. 9250 and 9328, it is ordered:

(a) Effect of this order. This order establishes maximum prices at which the importer may sell, and maximum prices at which wholesalers and retailers may buy and sell, brooms imported from Mexico by Manurep of Mobile, Alabama. These brooms are identified by the label "Made in Mexico, Alberto de Leon, Zaragoza No. 61, Cadereyta, N. L."

(b) Maximum prices on sales by Manurep. Manurep may sell such brooms at prices, f. o. b. Mobile, not exceeding $7.00 per dozen for 4-string, $7.75 per dozen for 5-string, and $8.50 per dozen for 6-string. No person may pay Manurep higher prices.

(c) Maximum wholesale and retail prices. No wholesaler or retailer may sell, and no person buying from them may pay, prices higher than the following for such brooms;

Class of sellers	Maximum prices f. o. b. seller's shipping point
	4-string	5-string	6-string
Sales by wholesalers.	$8.05 per doz.	$8.90 per doz.	$9.75 per doz.
Sales by retailers.	$0.89 each..	$0.99 each..	$1.10 each.

(d) Manurep to notify wholesalers. Manurep shall furnish a copy of this order to each wholesaler to whom such brooms are sold and shall also include on the invoice the following statement:

The enclosed Order No. 17 issued under the Maximum Import Price Regulation by OPA establishes your maximum selling prices for these brooms and requires you to notify your customers what are their maximum prices as stated in the order.

(e) Wholesalers to notify retailers. Every wholesaler selling such brooms shall include on his invoice to each retailer the following statement:

Your maximum selling prices for these brooms, as established by Order No. 17 under the Maximum Import Price Regulation by OPA, are 89¢ each for 4-string, 99¢ each for 5-string, and $1.10 each for 6-string.

(f) Revocation and amendment. This order may be revoked or amended at any time.

This order shall become effective on June 6, 1944.

[Region VIII Order G-6 Under MPR 418]

FRESH FISH AND SEAFOOD IN SAN FRANCISCO REGION

Order No. G-6 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 418, as amended. Fresh fish and seafood.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith, and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration by section (d) and section 20 (a) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 418, as amended, it is hereby ordered:

(a) Listed fresh fish and seafood items. The items covered by this order, hereafter referred to as "listed fresh fish and seafood items," are: barracuda, California halibut, black sea-bass, white sea-bass (including Mexican sea-bass or totuava), rock bass (including cabrilla), live crab, cooked crab in shell, and crabmeat. This order shall apply to Region VIII of the Office of Price Administration.

(1) Sales by producers. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be as set forth in Table A of Appendix A.

(2) Sales by primary fish shipper wholesalers—(i) Undelivered. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be as set forth in Table B of Appendix A.

(ii) Delivered—(a) At ports of entry. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be as set forth in Table B of Appendix A.

(b) To localities other than ports of entry. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be the prices at the basing point port of entry specified in Table B of Appendix A for the particular fresh fish and seafood item, plus freight to the purchaser's place of business. Where more than one basing point port of entry is specified for the same item the maximum price shall be the lowest amount resulting when prices are computed according to this method from each of such basing points.

(3) Sales by wholesalers other than primary fish shipper wholesalers to other wholesalers. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be the applicable prices as set forth in paragraph (a) (2) above plus one cent per pound.

(4) Sales by all other wholesalers except to other wholesalers—(i) Undelivered—(a) At ports of entry. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be as set forth in Table D of Appendix A.

(b) At localities other than ports of entry. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be the maximum prices at the basing point port of entry specified for the particular fresh fish or seafood item plus freight from the basing point port of entry to the wholesaler's place of business. Where more than one basing point port of entry is specified, the maximum price shall be the lowest amount resulting when prices are computed according to this method from each of such basing point ports of entry.

(ii) Delivered—(a) Deliveries by common carrier. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be the applicable prices for undelivered sales as specified in subparagraph (4) (i) (a) or (4) (i) (b) above plus actual transportation charges to the premises of the buyer.

(b) Deliveries by means other than common carrier. The maximum prices for such sales of listed fresh fish and seafood items shall be the applicable prices for undelivered sales as specified in subparagraph (4) (i) (a) or (4) (i) (b) above plus a transportation allowance calculated from the wholesaler's place of business as follows:

Deliveries made:	Cents per pound
Within the local delivery zone	0.01
Beyond the boundary of local delivery zone but not exceeding 50 miles	.015
More than 50 but not exceeding 100 miles	.0175
More than 100 but not exceeding 175 miles	.02
More than 175 miles	.0225

(5) Additions to maximum prices—(i) Broken-lot charges. When wholesalers other than primary fish shipper wholesalers pack listed fresh fish or seafood items for shipment to retailers or purveyors of meals in amounts less than 75 pounds, consisting of at least two varieties, a charge of ½ cent per pound may be added to the maximum prices established under subparagraphs (3) and (4) above.

(ii) Container charges. When any seller buys listed fresh fish or seafood items in containers, he may add to the maximum prices established for his sales the amount of container charges paid by him, up to one and one-half cents per pound, except that when any seller packs or repacks listed fresh fish or seafood items in containers other than those in which the items were bought by him, he may add to the established maximum prices container charges, computed according to the following table:

Size container (lb.):	Cents allowance
10	1½
50	1½
75	1¼
150	¾
200	⅝
300	½

The weight of the fish packed shall be multiplied by the cents allowance for the container in which the fish is packed, except that when the weight of the fish packed exceeds the weight specified for the particular container, the weight specified for the container shall be multiplied by the cents allowance. For any size container not listed in this section, the maximum charges shall be the charge established for the nearest size container listed. Any seller who processes listed fresh fish or seafood items which he purchased in containers may add to the established maximum prices amounts not to exceed three cents per pound which will enable him to recover the full amount of the container charge paid by him.

(b) Definitions. (1) Barracuda means all types of barracuda (Sphyraenidae) caught off the Pacific coast.

(2) California halibut means those species of the flounder family (Paralichthys californicus) caught off the Pacific Coast including what is commonly called bastard halibut, southern halibut, alabato.

(3) Black sea-bass means those fish caught off the Pacific Coast belonging to the sea-bass family (Serranidae) commonly known as jewfish or giant bass.

(4) White sea-bass means those fish caught off the Pacific Coast of the species Cynoscion nobilis and including those commonly known as Mexican sea-bass, corbina, or totuava (totoaba).

(5) Rock bass means those fish caught off the Pacific Coast belonging to the family Serranidae and commonly known as rock bass, kelp bass, sand bass, cabrilla, and johnny verde.

(6) Crab means all crab caught off the Pacific Coast.

(7) Local delivery zone for any wholesaler means that area contained within the city limits of the locality where the wholesaler's place of business is located, except that:

(i) The Portland, Oregon, local delivery zone shall include the area within the city limits of Portland, North Portland, and Faloma, Oregon, and Vancouver, Washington.

(ii) The Oakland, California, local delivery zone shall include the cities of Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Emeryville, and Albany, California.

(iii) The Los Angeles, California, local delivery zone shall be that area within a radius of twenty miles from the Los Angeles City Hall, plus that portion of the City of Los Angeles outside such area, except that area included within the San Pedro local delivery zone.

(iv) The San Pedro, California, local delivery zone shall be that area within Los Angeles County south of Roosevelt Highway and the southern boundary of Redondo Beach.

(8) A port of entry shall mean any place at which fish are landed by fishermen, except that in the case of imported fish a port of entry shall mean the place at which the fish enter the United States.

(9) Freight means cost of transportation by the cheapest available method of transportation, not to exceed, however, the lowest available common carrier rate. Freight charges may include the actual cost of refrigeration and other protective services, but not local cartage or unloading. The transportation tax imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 may be added.

(10) Producer shall mean any person as defined in section 18 of Article III of Maximum Price Regulation No. 418, as amended, except that in the case of imported fish, the importer or the agent of any foreign seller shall be considered to be a producer.

(11) Delivered means physical transportation of any listed fresh fish and seafood item to the premises of the buyer, except in the case of shipment by rail.

(12) Undelivered means any sale other than a delivered sale.

(13) Region VIII of the Office of Price Administration means the States of California, Washington, Nevada, Oregon, except Malheur County, and Arizona, except those portions of Coconino County and Mohave County lying north of the Colorado River, and the following Counties in the State of Idaho: Benewah, Bonner, Boundary, Clearwater, Idaho, Kootenai, Latah, Lewis, Nez Perce and Shoshone.

(14) All other terms used in this order shall have the same meaning as set forth in Maximum Price Regulation No. 418, as amended, unless the context clearly otherwise requires.

(c) General provisions. The provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 418, as amended, contained in section 9 (Sales to Government agencies), section 12 (Relation to other regulations), Article II (Record keeping and enforcement), Article III (Miscellaneous provisions), apply to this order, to the extent that they are applicable.

(d) This order may be revoked, amended, or corrected at any time.

This order shall become effective May 27, 1944.

(56 Stat. 23, 765; Pub. Law 151, 78th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871 and E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681)

Issued this 18th day of May 1944.

OFFICE OF WAR MOBILIZATION.

[Directive Order 6]

SETTLEMENT OF CLAIMS UNDER TERMINATED FIXED PRICE ORDERS OR SUBCONTRACTS

STATEMENT OF POLICY BY JOINT CONTRACTS TERMINATION BOARD MADE EFFECTIVE

The statement of policy adopted by the Joint Contract Termination Board concerning Settlement of Claims Under Terminated Fixed Price Orders or Subcontracts for the Manufacture of Supplies Under Government War Contracts is made effective for use by the War, Navy and Treasury Departments, the Maritime Commission, Smaller War Plants Corporation, Defense Plant Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Rubber Reserve Company and Foreign Economic Administration. These agencies will recommend to contractors and subcontractors the use, in accordance with the Statement of Policy, of Exhibit A attached thereto, which is an Approved Termination Provision for Use in Fixed Price Orders or Subcontracts for the Manufacture of Supplies Under Government War Contracts. Other departments or agencies of the Government administering the settlement of terminated war contracts will follow the statement of policy and will recommend use of the exhibit to the extent they deem it practicable to do so.

JAMES F. BYRNES,
Director.

MAY 29, 1944.

STATEMENT OF POLICY CONCERNING SETTLEMENT OF CLAIMS UNDER TERMINATED FIXED PRICE ORDERS OR SUBCONTRACTS FOR THE MANUFACTURE OF SUPPLIES UNDER GOVERNMENTS WAR CONTRACTS

29 May 1944.

1. Procedures for the expeditious settlement of subcontracts on a fair basis are essential. Delay in the settlement of subcontractor to perform further war work and would seriously interfere with quick transition to peacetime production when the war is over. The settlement of subcontracts will be greatly facilitated by the adoption of an approved form of termination article for use in subcontracts and by the establishment of uniform general principles governing the settlement and payment of claims of subcontractors.

2. The Uniform Termination Article for Fixed Price Supply Contracts made effective by order of the Office of War Mobilization dated 8 January 1944[1] requires the prime contractor, on notice of termination, to terminate all subcontracts and purchase orders chargeable to the contract, except as otherwise directed by the notice. The Article requires that settlements of subcontracts and purchase orders made by prime contractors shall be approved or ratified by the contracting officer only if and to the extent that the contracting officer may require.

3. It is the policy of the Government to favor the settlement of first tier or more remote subcontracts or purchase orders on the basis of the rights and principles embodied in the "Approved Termination Provision for Use in Fixed Price Orders or Subcontracts for the Manufacture of Supplies under Government War Contracts" hereto attached as Exhibit A. Exhibit A is recommended for use in first tier or more remote fixed price subcontracts or purchase orders for the manufacture of supplies under Government war contracts. Exhibit A sets forth in short form the same general principles as the Uniform Termination Article for use in Fixed Price Supply Contracts made effective by the Office of War Mobilization on 8 January 1944. For the sake of brevity, Exhibit A omits certain provisions of the Uniform Termination Article which may be appropriate for, and which contractors may desire to incorporate in, particular subcontracts, as for instance the provision of paragraph (f) for a proper adjustment, in the case of partial termination, in the price of work not terminated, or the provision of paragraph (g) for partial payments. The Statement of Principles for Determination of Costs upon Termination of Government Fixed Price Supply Contracts, made effective by the Office of War Mobilization on the same date, will be recognized by the Government as representing "recognized commercial accounting practices" as that term is used in Exhibit A. Other Governmental policies applicable to the Uniform Termination Article will also be recognized as applying to Exhibit A, as for example the policy against reimbursing contractors at the contract rate on termination for completed undelivered articles which represent unreasonable anticipations of production schedules, and the policy against taking advantage of technical defaults when the real reason for termination is the termination of a prime contract by the Government.

4. It is the policy of the Government to encourage the use of the process of negotiation for settlement of terminated subcontracts to the same extent as for settlement of terminated prime contracts, and subject to substantially the same general principles. Such settlements will be reviewed in the manner and to the extent indicated in paragraphs 5 and 6, and will be approved if found to be fair and reasonable. The Government reserves the right to determine whether the basis of the settlement and the amount agreed upon are fair and reasonable. Settlements based upon reasonable estimates by the parties of the aggregate amount which would be due under subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) of paragraph (b) of Exhibit A will be considered fair and reasonable.

5. When settlements of subcontracts are submitted to the contracting officer for approval or ratification, they should be treated like any other element of cost in a prime contractor's settlement proposal, and procedures determining the extent to which they will be scrutinised should recognise the necessity for the accomplishment of speedy and final settlement as well as the protection of the interests of the Government. A high degree of reliance must and should be placed upon the investigation made by the contractor of the basis for the settlement. The procuring agency has, of course, the right, where circumstances indicate the necessity for so doing, to make full investigation of the settlement of any first tier or more remote subcontract.

6. If settlements are to be effected with the necessary speed, it will obviously be impracticable for all procuring agencies to review every settlement of subcontracts and purchase orders in every tier. Therefore, whenever and as long as the procuring agency is satisfied that the procedures and personnel employed by a prime contractor in making settlement with subcontractors are adequate, the procuring agency may provide for the payment of any settlement made by the prime contractor upon appropriate certificates. Likewise, in the case of those intermediate subcontractors, the number of whose lower tier subcontracts makes it important to do so, the procuring agency, whenever and as long as it is satisfied that the procedures and personnel employed by an intermediate subcontractor in making settlements thereof are adequate, may provide for the payment of any settlement made by the intermediate subcontractor upon appropriate certificates.

7. The Government in some instances will be under an obligation either to make reimbursement for, or to assure the defense against, demands by subcontractors or suppliers chargeable to the prime contract which are greater in amount than would be recognized by the principles of Exhibit A. On the submission of a settlement which recognizes any such demand, the procuring agency will decide whether the settlement should be approved or ratified and whether the Government should protect the prime contractor or intermediate subcontractor from the asserted liability.

8. It is the policy of the Government not to delay the making or approval of settlements after agreement is reached for the purpose of disposing of property chargeable to the terminated subcontract. When agreement is concluded on a financial settlement, title to all property not theretofore disposed of or taken over should be taken by or for the account of the Government.

9. This statement deals with the settlement of subcontracts under the vertical basis of settlement, through the prime contractor and intervening subcontractors. If methods of direct or horizontal settlement of subcontracts are adopted, other implementation may be required.

10. Though Exhibit A is recommended for use in orders or subcontracts under Government war contracts, it is recognized that it may be used in subcontracts or orders having no connection with the war. The fact that a subcontract or purchase order contains Exhibit A has, therefore, no bearing on whether the particular subcontract or order is allocable or relates to war production.

11. The requirement of paragraph (a) of Exhibit A that "the seller will, as and to the extent directed by the buyer * * * terminate work under orders and subcontracts outstanding hereunder" is not intended to affect the seller's right to allow such subcontracts or orders to continue to completion, if he desires to do so for his own account without making any claim against the seller by reason thereof. The buyer's termination notice should make this clear, and also should specify in so far as possible which subcontracts or orders, or classes of them, the buyer wants completed for his account, and which he wants cancelled.

EXHIBIT A—APPROVED TERMINATION PROVISION FOR USE IN FIXED PRICE ORDERS OR SUBCONTRACTS FOR THE MANUFACTURE OF SUPPLIES UNDER GOVERNMENT WAR CONTRACTS

ARTICLE ____. (a) The buyer may terminate work under this order in whole or in part at any time by written or telegraphic notice, whenever, without the fault of the buyer, (1) the Government requests the termination of this order or (2) a contract between the buyer and a third person requiring for its performance articles or services of the kind or type covered by this order is terminated, in whole or in part, or amended to eliminate or reduce such requirements. Such notice shall state the extent and effective date of such termination; and, upon the receipt thereof, the seller will, as and to the extent directed by the buyer, stop work under this order and the placement of further orders or subcontracts hereunder, terminate work under orders and subcontacts outstanding hereunder, and take any necessary action to protect property in the seller's possession in which the buyer has or may acquire an interest.

(b) If the parties cannot by negotiation agree within a reasonable time upon the amount of fair compensation to the seller for such termination, the buyer in addition to making prompt payment of amounts due for articles delivered or services rendered prior to the effective date of termination, will pay to the seller the following amounts without duplication:

(1) The contract price for all articles or services which have been completed in accordance with this order and not previously paid for.

(2) (i) The actual costs incurred by the seller which are properly allocable or apportionable under recognized commercial accounting practices to the terminated portion of this order, including the cost of discharging liabilities which are so allocable or apportionable, and (ii) a sum equal to 2% of the part of such costs representing the costs of articles or materials not processed by the seller, plus a sum equal to 8% of the remainder of such costs, but the aggregate of such sums shall not exceed 6% of the whole of such costs. For the purpose of subdivision (ii) such costs shall exclude any charge for interest on borrowings and shall exclude the cost of discharging liabilities for parts, materials and services not received by the seller before the effective date of termination.

(3) The reasonable costs of the seller in making settlement hereunder and in protecting property in which the buyer has or may acquire an interest.

Payments made under this paragraph (b), exclusive of payments under subparagraph (3), shall not exceed the aggregate price specified in this order, less payments otherwise made or to be made.

(c) With the consent of the buyer, the seller may retain at an agreed price or sell at an approved price any completed articles, or any articles, materials, work in process or other things the cost of which is allocable or apportionable to this order under paragraph (b) (2) above, and will credit or pay the amounts so agreed or received as the buyer directs. As directed by the buyer, the seller will transfer title to, and make delivery of, any such articles, materials, work in process or other things not so retained or sold. Appropriate adjustment will be made for delivery costs or savings therein.

(d) The provisions of this Article _____ shall not limit or affect the right of the buyer to terminate this order for the default of the seller.

EMPIRE DISTRICT ELECTRIC CO., ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa. on the 1st day of June, A. D. 1944.

In the matter of the Empire District Electric Company, Ozark Utilities Company, Lawrence County Water, Light & Cold Storage Company, Benton County Utilities Corporation, Cities Service Power & Light Company.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration or application (or both) has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by The Empire District Electric Company ("Empire"), Ozark Utilities Company ("Ozark"), Lawrence County Water, Light & Cold Storage Company ("Lawrence County"), Benton County Utilities Corporation ("Benton"), and Cities Service Power & Light Company ("Power & Light"). Power & Light is a registered holding company and a subsidiary company of Cities Service Company, also a registered holding company. Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton are public utility subsidiary companies of Power & Light and of Cities Service Company.

All interested persons are referred to said document, which is on file in the office of this Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

I—Introductory

1. Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton have outstanding the following securities owned respectively by Power & Light and by others:

	Par value or principal amount
	Held by Power & Light	Held by others
Empire:
Common stock ($100 par)	$1,942,900	----------
6% Cumulative preferred stock ($100 par); arrears $19.50 per share	4,080,200	$3,251,800
First mortgage and refunding 5% bonds	1,559,100	10,044,900
Underlying bonds	----------	879,500
Ozark:
Common stock ($100 par)	150,000	----------
Income demand note	874,921	----------
Lawrence County:
Common stock ($100 par)	250,000	----------
8% Cumulative preferred stock (100 par)	100,000	----------
First mortgage bonds (6%)	60,000	----------
6% demand notes	417,384	----------
Open account debt	47,000	----------
Benton:
Common stock ($100 par)	30,000	----------
7% Cumulative preferred stock	7,500	----------
Income demand notes	368,120	----------

2. By orders dated respectively August 17, 1943 (Holding Company Act Release No. 4489) and March 14, 1944 (Holding Company Act Release No. 4944), Power & Light has been directed to dispose of its interests in Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton.

3. By order dated August 29, 1942 (Holding Company Act Release No. 3769), this Commission instituted a proceeding regarding Power & Light and certain of its subsidiaries which involves, among other matters, issues relating to the distribution of voting power among security holders of Empire and possible adjustments to the accounts of Empire.

II—Proposed Merger

4. It is proposed that Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton be merged into Empire as the continuing or surviving corporation, said merger to be effected under and pursuant to the statutes of the States of Kansas, Missouri and Arkansas. All the common and preferred stocks of Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton held by Power & Light, aggregating $6,560,600 par value, would be converted into $1,500,000 aggregate par value of common stock of the surviving corporation. All the debt securities of Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton held by Power & Light, aggregating $3,357,025 principal amount, would be surrendered by Power & Light to the surviving corporation in exchange for an additional $2,000,000 aggregate par value of its common stock. Thus, for all its holdings in Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County and Benton, aggregating $9,917,625 par value and principal amount, and all accumulated and unpaid dividends and interest on said securities (except interest on the bonds of Empire and of Lawrence County, which Power & Light would receive in cash), Power & Light would receive $3,500,000 par value of common stock of the surviving company, divided into 350,000 shares of $10 par value each.

5. Each of the 32,518 shares ($3,251,800 par value) of the 6% cumulative preferred stock of Empire held by others than Power & Light, less the holdings of such holders, if any, as would dissent from the merger and take such action as may be required by law to obtain payment of the fair value of their shares, would be converted into one share of the 5% cumulative preferred stock of the surviving company. An amount equal to all cumulative and unpaid dividends to the merger date on the shares of preferred stock of Empire so converted would be paid in cash, upon surrender to Empire of the certificates representing such shares.

6. Empire proposes to solicit proxies in favor of the merger agreement from the holders of its preferred stock other than Power & Light. If any holders of preferred stock of Empire dissent from the merger and take such action as may be required by law to obtain payment of the fair value of their shares, in lieu of accepting shares of the 5% cumulative perferred stock of the surviving corporation, Empire proposes, at its option, to issue and sell at not less than par and accrued dividends any or all of the shares of 5% cumulative preferred stock not accepted by such dissenting holders and to apply the proceeds of such sale to the payment of the amounts to which such dissenting holders would be entitled for their shares of Empire preferred stock.

III—Bond Refunding and Security Sales

7. As soon as the proposed merger becomes effective, and in addition to the sales that may be made pursuant to the provisions summarized in paragraph 6 hereof, the surviving corporation proposes to issue and sell $650,000 par value of 5% cumulative preferred stock at not less than par and accrued dividends, and $10,600,000 aggregate principal amount of first mortgage bonds 3½% series due 1969, at not less than principal amount and interest accrued to the date of payment of the purchase price. The net proceeds of the sale of said preferred stock and bonds would be applied to the redemption of all the outstanding bonds, held by others than Power & Light, secured by lien on property of Empire as follows:

Title of bonds	Principal amount	Redemption price
First Mortgage and Refunding Gold Bonds, 5¼% Series, Due 1962, of Empire	$10,044,000	$10,220,686
First Mortgage, Sinking Fund Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds of Ozark Power and Water Company	877,500	921,375
Town of Fairland, Oklahoma, 6% Electric Light Bonds of 1922, due serially to June 1, 1945	2,000	2,000
Total	$10,924,400	11,144,061

8. Simultaneously with the above sales of preferred stock and bonds by the surviving corporation, Power & Light proposes, subject to satisfactory market conditions, to sell all the 350,000 shares of common stock of the surviving corporation into and for which its interests in the constituent corporations will have been converted and exchanged. Power & Light will apply the net proceeds from the sale of said common stock to prepayment of its bank loan notes in accordance with the terms thereof.

IV—Accounting Adjustments

9. The conversion and exchange of securities of the constituent corporations held by Power & Light into and for $3,500,000 par value of common stock of the surviving corporation, as of February 29, 1944, would result in credits to capital surplus amounting to $6,484,387. The earned and capital surplus of the constituent corporations as of that date amounted to $2,395,659, making a total of $8,880,046 credits to surplus existing or to be created as of February 29, 1944. Against the surplus items making up said $8,880,046 would be charged the following:

Aggregate of the balances in Accounts 107 and 100.5 of Empire as reflected in the 2-D Statement filed with Federal Power Commission	$6,544,050
Balance in Account 100.5 of Benton	29,637
An amount equal to dividend arrears to be paid to holders (other than Power & Light) of preferred stock of Empire except those, if any, who do not participate in the merger	707,421
Unamortized bond discount and expense of constituent corporations	461,481
Estimated premium and duplicate interest on bonds of constituent corporations to be retired	856,191
Estimated total of balances in Account 100.5 of Lawrence County	72,612
Intangibles of Ozark	146,913
Organization expense of Lawrence County and Ozark	7,257
Total	8,825,562

leaving an estimated capital surplus on a pro forma basis as of February 29, 1944, of $554,484, and no earned surplus.

10. Following is a condensed pro forma balance sheet of the surviving corporation as of February 29, 1944, reflecting consummation of the proposed transactions summarized above:

ASSETS AND OTHER DEBITS

Utility Plant	$23,131,107
Investment and Fund Accounts	4,250

V—General

11. It is requested that the Commission issue an appropriate order and findings in connection with the proposed transactions, conforming to the requirements of sections 371 and 1808 of the Internal Revenue Code.

12. Empire requests the Commission to make a report on the plan of merger, to permit Empire to solicit proxies from the holders, other than Power & Light, of its preferred stock and to exempt Empire from the requirement of Rule U-62 that a declaration be filed on Form U-R-1 with respect to such solicitation.

13. It is requested that the Commission's order be entered not later than June 25, 1944.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matters, and that said declaration and application shall not be permitted to become effective or granted except pursuant to further order of the Commission; It is ordered, That a hearing on said matters under the applicable provisions of said act and the rules of this Commission thereunder be held on June 20, 1944, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., at the offices of this Commission, 18th & Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pa. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which said hearing will be held. At such hearing, cause shall be shown why such declarations shall be permitted to become effective and such applications granted.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearings on such matters. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues otherwise to be considered in the consolidated proceedings, particular attention will be directed at the hearings to the following matters and questions:

1. Whether the proposed transactions are fair and equitable to the security holders of Empire, Power & Light and Cities Service Company, and whether such transactions are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act.

2. Whether the proposed acquisitions by Empire of securities and assets will serve the public interest by tending toward the economical and efficient development of an integrated public-utility system.

3. Whether the preferred stock and bonds proposed to be issued and sold by Empire are reasonably adapted to the security structure and earning power of Empire, and whether the terms and conditions of said proposed issues and sales are detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

4. Whether the proposed sale by Power & Light of the common stock of Empire is in conformity with the applicable requirements and standards of section 12 (d) of the act and the applicable rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

5. Whether the proposed accounting entries to be recorded on the books of Empire in connection with the proposed transactions will be in conformity with the standards of section 15 of the act and the applicable rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

6. Whether Empire should be exempted from the filing of a statement on Form U-R-1 in connection with the proposed solicitation of holders of its preferred stock other than Power & Light.

7. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, what modifications should be required to be made therein and what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the statutory standards.

It is further ordered, That notice of said hearing is hereby given to Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County, Benton and Power & Light, to their security holders, and to all interested persons; said notice to be given to Empire, Ozark, Lawrence County, Benton and Power & Light by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of this Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

It is further ordered, That at least fifteen days prior to the date of said hearing, Empire shall mail a copy of this notice and order to each record holder of any of its preferred stock, addressed to them at their respective addresses shown on its stock books.

It is requested that any person desiring to be heard in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of this Commission on or before June 16, 1944, an appropriate request or application to be heard, as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

By the Commission.

INDIANA HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER CO., ET AL.

ORDER RELEASING JURISDICTION OVER LEGAL FEES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 1st day of June, 1944.

In the matter of Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company, Northern Indiana Public Service Company, File No. 70-793; Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company, File No. 54-64; Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company, Hugh M. Morris, trustee of the Estate of Midland United Company, File No. 59-60.

The Commission, by order dated May 4, 1944, having approved a plan under section 11 (e) for the merger of Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company into Northern Indiana Public Service Company; and having by said order reserved jurisdiction over the legal expenses of Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company in connection with the plan; and Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company having filed amendments with respect to such legal expenses consisting of $11,500 to be paid to Sidley, McPherson, Austin & Burgess, and $8,500 to be paid to Barnes, Hickam, Pantzer & Boyd, plus an amount not in excess of $5,000, as this Commission shall approve, in settlement of the claim of Robert S. Ashe as a preferred stockholder of Hydro for reimbursement for attorney fees and expenses incurred by him in connection with the proceedings herein; and it appearing to the Commission that the fees to be paid to counsel for Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company are not unreasonable, and that the sum of $5,000 is not unreasonable for services rendered by Robert S. Ashe and his counsel;

It is hereby ordered, That jurisdiction over the legal fees and expenses to be paid to Sidley, McPherson, Austin & Burgess and Barnes, Hickman, Pantzer & Boyd by Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company be and hereby is released.

It is further ordered, That Indiana Hydro-Electric Power Company be and hereby is permitted to pay to Robert S. Ashe a sum not exceeding $5,000.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SECURITIES DEALERS, INC.

ORDER FOR PROCEEDINGS AND NOTICE OF HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 1st day of June, A. D. 1944.

I. The Commission's official files disclose that:

1. The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. is a national securities association registered pursuant to the provisions of section 15A (a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 as amended.

2. The rules of such Association include a provision reading as follows:

A member, in the conduct of his business, shall observe high standards of commercial honor and just and equitable principles of trade.

being found in section 1 of Article III of the Rules of Fair Practice of said Association.

3. By letter dated October 25, 1943, the Board of Governors of said Association announced to its members, among other things, that it had approved the following interpretation of the meaning of the rule quoted in the preceding paragraph:

It shall be deemed conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade for a member to enter into any transaction with a customer in any security at any price not reasonably related to the current market price of the security.

4. Subsequently and on November 9, 1943, the Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Association and its Executive Director sent a letter to all of its District Business Conduct Committees containing the following, among other things:

The general import of this statement and the construction that should be placed upon it is that, when transactions show a mark-up of over 5% on the part of a member, it raises the question as to whether there is a violation of the Rule and interpretation. In such a situation, a duty is imposed upon the member to show to the satisfaction of the Business Conduct Committee that no violation has occurred.

5. Following the events recited in the preceding paragraphs, the New York Security Dealers Association adopted a resolution asserting that the Association's letter of October 25, 1943 has the practical effect of a rule and requesting the Commission to direct the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., "to submit said 'rule' to its membership as required in Article IV, section 2 of its by-laws," or in the alternative that the Commission "grant to the representatives of the New York Security Dealers Association an opportunity for a hearing to present its point of view."

6. Thereafter, Messrs. William S. Baren, Baron G. Helbig, and Benjamin S. Lichtenstein, as "representatives of a voluntary committee of the securities dealers known as 'Securities Dealers Committee'" filed a petition referring to the letters of October 25 and November 9, 1943 aforesaid, as a "rule" of the Association, asserting that the action taken was illegal upon various grounds stated in the petition, requesting a hearing upon their petition, and requesting "the rule herein referred to be cancelled, revoked and declared a nullity."

II. The Commission, having considered the aforesaid, deems it necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors that a hearing be held on the question whether the aforesaid letters of October 25 and November 9, 1943 constitute a rule or rules and, if so, whether the Commission should take any action pursuant to section 15A (k) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 as amended.

III. It is hereby ordered, That a hearing on such question be held before the Commission at 10:30 a. m. on Tuesday, June 13, 1944 at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

It is further ordered, That this order and notice be served on the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., the New York Security Dealers Association, and the "Securities Dealers Committee" personally or by registered mail not less than seven (7) days prior to the time of the hearing.

By the Commission.

CONSOLIDATED NATURAL GAS CO. AND NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY CO.

ORDER SETTING HEARING ON APPLICATIONS TO EXTEND UNLISTED TRADING PRIVILEGES

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 2d day of June, A. D. 1944.

In the matter of applications by the San Francisco Stock Exchange to extend unlisted trading privileges to: Consolidated Natural Gas Company, Capital Stock, $15 Par Value, File No. 7-735; Northern Pacific Railway Company, Capital Stock, $100 Par Value, File No. 7-736.

The San Francisco Stock Exchange, pursuant to section 12 (f) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and Rule X-12F-1 promulgated thereunder, having made application to the Commission to extend unlisted trading privileges to the above-mentioned securities;

The Commission deeming it necessary for the protection of investors that a hearing be held in this matter at which all interested persons be given an opportunity to be heard;

It is ordered, That the matter be set down for hearing at 10:00 a. m. on Wednesday, June 14, 1944, at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission 625 Market Street, San Francisco, California, and continue thereafter at such times and places as the Commission or its officer herein designated shall determine, and that general notice thereof be given; and

It is further ordered, That John G. Clarkson, or any other officer or officers of the Commission named by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing on such matter. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby empowered to administer oaths and affirmations, subpoena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memoranda or other records deemed relevant or material to the inquiry, and to perform all other duties in connection therewith authorized by law.

MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC RAILWAY & TRANSPORT CO. AND WISCONSIN ELECTRIC POWER CO.

ORDER APPROVING APPLICATION AND PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 2d day of June 1944.

The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Wisconsin Electric Power Company, and said Wisconsin Electric Power Company, a subsidiary of The North American Company, a registered holding company, having filed a joint declaration and application, and amendment thereto, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and the General Rules and Regulations promulgated thereunder, relating to the proposal of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company (a) to redeem on June 15, 1944 at par plus accrued interest $100,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage 4% Bonds owned by Wisconsin Electric Power Company and pledged as collateral to the latter company's Mortgage and Deed of Trust dated October 28, 1938 and (b) to purchase for cash at par for retirement 9,000 shares of its capital stock of the aggregate par value of $900,000 from Wisconsin Electric Power Company, and the proposal of Wisconsin Electric Power Company to surrender the bonds and the stock on the basis described; and

Said joint declaration and application having been filed on the 5th day of May 1944, and notice of said filing having been duly given in the manner and form prescribed by Rule U-23 under said act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said joint declaration and application, as amended, within the period specified in such notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon, and applicants having requested accelerated action upon said declaration and application, as amended; and

The Commission finding that the requirements of sections 10, 12 (c) and 12 (f) and Rules U-42 and U-43 are satisfied, that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, and that action upon said declaration and application should be accelerated, and the Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers to approve said amended application and to permit said amended declaration to become effective;

It is hereby ordered, That, pursuant to said Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of said act, said joint amended application be and the same is hereby approved and said joint amended declaration be and the same is hereby permitted to become effective forthwith, subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 of the general rules and regulations, and subject further to continuation of the condition imposed on The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Transport Company by the Commissions' order of June 29, 1943 (Release No. 4394) by the terms of which it is provided that if from time to time in the future additional common stock is retired by said company, its bonds will be retired to the extent necessary in order that the aggregate par amount of stock outstanding will at least equal two and one-half times the aggregate principal amount of the outstanding bonds.

By the Commission.

OGDEN CORPORATION AND SUBSIDIARY COMPANIES

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 2d day of June, A. D. 1944.

The Commission having entered its order herein on May 20, 1943 pursuant to section 11 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 directing, among other things, that:

(1) Ogden Corporation shall take such action as may be necessary to divest itself of all of its interests, held directly or indirectly, in holding and public utility companies and to cause its elimination as a public utility holding company; Provided, however, That in the cases of Central States Power & Light Corporation, Interstate Power Company, The Laclede Gas Light Company, Missouri Natural Gas Company and Missouri Electric Power Company, such divestments shall not be effected by means of disposition of securities prior to the recapitalization of such companies to the extent necessary to comply with section 11 (b) (2); and that in the case of Central States Utilities Corporation, Ogden shall not divest itself of the outstanding securities of such company;

(2) Central States Power & Light Corporation, Interstate Power Company, and The Laclede Gas Light Company shall take such steps as may be necessary to recapitalize so as to distribute voting power fairly and equitably among the security holders of such companies: Provided, That in the case of Central States Power & Light Corporation, such recapitalization need not be effected if the company is liquidated and dissolved within the statutory period provided by section 11 (c);

(3) Ogden Corporation and Central States Utilities Corporation shall take such action as may be necessary to cause the liquidation and dissolution of Central States Utilities Corporation;

(4) Ogden Corporation and its subsidiaries shall proceed with due diligence to take such steps as may be necessary or appropriate to effectuate this order, including the consummation of plans by Ogden Corporation, Central States Utilities Corporation, Central States Power & Light Corporation, Interstate Power Company, and The Laclede Gas Light Company to effect compliance with the foregoing order.

Notice is hereby given that on May 18, 1944 Ogden Corporation on behalf of itself and its subsidiary companies affected by the said order of May 20, 1943, filed an application requesting the entry of an order by this Commission under section 11 (c) of the act, extending for one year the time within which to comply with the aforesaid order of May 20, 1943.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the office of the Commission for full details concerning the application.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held for the purpose of considering said application and for other purposes;

It is ordered, That a hearing in this proceeding be held at the office of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., on the 13th day of June, 1944, in such room as may be designated on such day by the hearing room clerk.

All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate should notify the Commission in the manner provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice, on or before June 10, 1944.

It is further ordered, That Robert P. Reeder, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing above ordered. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a Trial Examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by such application, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to (1) whether the applicants have exercised due diligence to comply with the Commission's order of May 20, 1943, and (2) whether an extension of time of one year for compliance with said order is necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of this Commission shall serve notice of this order by mailing a copy thereof by registered mail to Ogden Corporation and that notice shall be given to all other persons by publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

COMMUNITY GAS AND POWER CO., ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 2d day of June A. D., 1944.

In the matter of Community Gas and Power Company, American Gas and Power Company, File No. 54-68; Community Gas and Power Company, American Gas and Power Company, and the subsidiary companies thereof, Respondents, File No. 59-55.

Notice is hereby given that Community Gas and Power Company ("Community"), a registered holding company, and American Gas and Power Company ("American"), a registered holding company and a subsidiary company of Community, have filed Amendment No. 7 to the plan heretofore submitted pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 for the purpose of effecting compliance with section 11 (b) of the act. All interested persons are referred to said Amendment No. 7 for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

I. Introductory

1. At December 31, 1943, American had outstanding, or held for issuance in accordance with the company's 1935 plan of reorganization consummated under the Bankruptcy Act, the following securities, in addition to certificates of indebtedness held by Minneapolis Gas Light Company and Jacksonville Gas Corporation:

Security	Principal amount or number of shares
6% secured debentures (fixed interest 3.6%)	$4,213,500
5% secured debentures (fixed interest 3%)	6,114,500
Total secured debentures	10,328,000
	Shares
Common stock, $1 par value	189,637.5
Warrants to subscribe to common stock at $5 per share for	40,000

2. By order dated July 3, 1943, the Commission ordered, among other things, that American change its capital structure into a capital structure consisting of common stock only. Thereafter, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act, Community and American filed an amended plan, and amendments thereto, for compliance with the provisions of section 11 (b). The proceeding on the amended plan (File No. 54-68) has been consolidated with the proceeding instituted by the Commission pursuant to section 11 (b) and other sections of the act (File No. 59-55).

II. Amendment No. 7

3. Amendment No. 7 proposes that American will issue shares of new common stock, which will be exchanged for debentures and presently outstanding common stock on the following bases:

(a) 64 shares of new common stock for each $1,000 principal amount of 6% (3.6%) secured debentures.

(b) 60 shares of new common stock for each $1,000 principal amount of 5% (3%) secured debentures.

(c) ½ of a share of new common stock for each share of American's common stock presently outstanding.

4. Holders of warrants for subscription at $5 per share to presently outstanding common stock of American would be entitled to subscribe to shares of new common stock, at the rate of $5 for ½ share of new common stock in respect of each warrant for subscription to one share of presently outstanding common stock. Such right to subscribe would expire December 31, 1944 and 20,000 shares of new common stock of American would be reserved against exercise of such warrants. As soon as practicable and convenient after December 31, 1944, the new common stock unsubscribed and remaining reserved for the warrants would be sold in the open market, and any proceeds in excess of $5 for each ½ share attributable to each then outstanding warrant would be held in a special account for the benefit of such warrant holders and paid to them upon presentation and surrender of their respective warrants.

5. The following tabulation shows the securities proposed to be issued in respect of the outstanding debentures, common stock and warrants of American, (a) under the terms of the amended plan contained in Amendment No. 1, (b) under the terms of Amendment No. 3, and (c) under the terms of Amendment No. 7:

	Per amendment No. 1		Per amendment No. 3		Per amendment No. 7
	Shares	Percent	Shares	Percent	Shares	Percent
6% (3.6%) debentures	198,034.5	37.60	198,034.5	32.69	209,664	35.89
5% (3%) debentures	281,267	53.40	281,267	46.44	366,870	48.83
	479,301.5	91.00	479,301.5	79.13	636,534	84.72
Common stock	47,409.375	9.00	126,425	20.87	94,819.75	12.62
Warrants plus $200,000					20,000	2.66
	526,710.875	100.00	605,726.5	100.00	751,353.75	100.00

6. Pursuant to Amendment No. 7, Community would receive 17,125 shares (2.28%) of the new common stock of American. Such stock would be sold by Community and the net proceeds distributed pro rata to the stockholders of Community, as of a date to be fixed by Community's Board of Directors, except that stockholders of Community would have the right to receive distribution in-kind of shares of American's new common stock, to the extent that distribution could be made of full shares.

7. Interest would cease to accrue or be payable on the secured debentures of American subsequent to the fixed and conditional interest payable August 1, 1944. Holders of secured debentures and of shares of preferred stock of American not presented or surrendered pursuant to American's 1935 plan of reorganization under the Bankruptcy Act would be entitled to receive shares of new common stock of American on the same basis as though such securities had been presented or surrendered under said 1935 plan and the holders thereof had received the amended or new certificates to which they were entitled under that plan.

8. Amendment No. 7 provides that non-interest bearing, non-dividend bearing and non-voting scrip (exchangeable in round amounts for full shares and to become void unless exchanged on or before December 31, 1946) would be initially issued in lieu of fractional shares of new common stock, but that no scrip certificates would be issued representing less than ¼ of a share of new common stock and no recognition given to interests less than that amount. As soon as practicable and convenient after December 31, 1946, American would sell in the open market the shares of new common stock then held in respect of outstanding scrip certificates, and the proceeds of sales would be held in a special account for the benefit of such scrip holders and paid to them upon presentation and surrender of their scrip certificates.

9. Upon the proposed merger of Minneapolis Gas Light Company into American Gas and Power Company, to be consummated after the proposed recapitalization of American and after sale of the other subsidiaries of American, the balance sheet of the merged corporation would reflect utility plant and reserve for depreciation after elimination of appraisal revaluations.

10. Except as specifically amended by the provisions of Amendment No. 7, the provisions of the plan as set forth in Amendments Nos. 1 and 3 (summarized in Holding Company Act Releases Nos. 4481 and 4665, respectively) are to continue in full force and effect.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the plan of Community and American as amended by said Amendment No. 7, and that said plan, as amended, should not be approved except pursuant to further order of this Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on such matters under the applicable provisions of the act and rules of this Commission thereunder be held on July 11, 1944, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., at the offices of the Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room where such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift, or any officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at the hearing in such matters. The officer so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented in the consolidated proceeding, particular attention will be directed at the hearings to the following matters and questions, in addition to those stated in the orders of this Commission dated respectively August 12, 1943 (Holding Company Act Release No. 4481), and November 8, 1943 (Holding Company Act Release No. 4665):

1. Whether the amended plan of Community and American, as heretofore or hereafter amended or modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and is fair and equitable to the persons affected.

2. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the Act and Rules thereunder, and, if not, what modifications should be required to be made therein and what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the statutory standards.

It is further ordered, That notice of said hearing is hereby given to Community, American Gas and their subsidiary companies and to all interested persons; said notice to be given to Community and American Gas by registered mail, and to all other persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of this Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

It is further ordered, That American shall give additional notice of said hearing to the registered holders of its Secured Debentures, by causing a copy of this notice and order to be mailed to them at their respective addresses, according to the records of The New York Trust Company, as Successor Trustee, as of a date not more than four weeks prior to the date of said hearing, and that Community and American shall give additional notice of said hearing to the record holders of their respective common stocks and warrants for subscription to common stock, as of a date not more than four weeks prior to the date of said hearing, said mailings to be made not less than fifteen days prior to the date of said hearing.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be and is hereby reserved to separate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues, questions or matters herein set forth or which may arise in these proceedings, to consolidate with these proceedings other filings or matters pertaining to said amended plan, and to take such other action as may appear conducive to an orderly, prompt, and economical disposition of the matters involved.

It is requested that any person desiring to be heard in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of this Commission on or before July 7, 1944, an appropriate request or application to be heard, as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

By the Commission.

UNITED STATES EMPLOYEES' COMPENSATION COMMISSION.

[A. O. 6, Amended]

CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES OF UNITED STATES

AUTHORIZATION OF LOCAL PAYMENT OF BENEFITS IN UNITED KINGDOM AND ELSEWHERE IN EUROPEAN THEATRE OF OPERATIONS

By virtue of the authority vested in the United States Employees' Compensation Commission by the Employees' Compensation Act of September 7, 1916, as amended, Foreign Claims Commission No. 16 (including such coordinate claims commissions as may be designated by the United States Employees' Compensation Commission or by its representative in the European Theatre of Operations, pursuant to the recommendation of the Chief of Claims of such Theatre), is authorized to process claims, to make initial payments of compensation, and to furnish other benefits initially, as provided by such act of September 7, 1916, as amended, and pursuant to the regulations of the Commission promulgated thereunder (20 C. F. R., Chapt. I, Subchapter A) and such supplementary instructions as may from time to time be issued by the Commission in cases of civilian employees of the United States who are injured while in the performance of their duties for the United States in employment in the United Kingdom and elsewhere within the European Theatre of Operations as defined by the War Department.

As used herein the phrase "to process claims" means (1) to receive, assemble, and file reports of injury, medical reports, reports of investigation, and other papers relating to cases of injury; (2) to make investigations and to secure necessary supplementary information in connection with cases or claims; (3) to obtain medical examinations; (4) to arrange for medical, surgical, and hospital services and supplies in the treatment and care of employees in disability cases; (5) to examine and adjudicate claims for compensation in injury cases, including making of findings of fact and award; (6) to prepare vouchers for local disbursement of benefits and local payment of medical and other expenses; (7) to review cases for readjustment of compensation.

As used herein the phrases "to make initial payments of compensation" and "to furnish other benefits initially" mean the payment of compensation in cases of injury, and the furnishing of any other benefits provided for by such act, except compensation for death, for a period not to exceed 180 days.

The action of the Foreign Claims Commission in any case, and the payments made under this authority, are subject to review and final decision by the representative of the United States Employees' Compensation Commission in the area to which this administrative order is applicable, and to readjustment if found necessary.

Order approved by the Commission January 6, 1944, as amended June 2, 1944.

WAR MANPOWER COMMISSION.

BOSTON, MASS. AREA

MINIMUM WARTIME WORKWEEK

Designation of the Boston, Massachusetts Labor Market Area as subject to Executive Order No. 9301.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Regional Manpower Director of Region No. I by § 903.2 of War Manpower Commission Regulation No. 3, "Minimum Wartime Workweek of 48 Hours," (8 F.R. 7225), and having found that such action will aid in alleviating labor shortages which are impeding the war effort, I hereby designate all less essential activities in the Boston, Massachusetts, Labor Market Area as subject to the provisions of Executive Order No. 9301.

I. For the purposes of this designation, the Boston, Massachusetts Labor Market Area shall include:

The cities of Cambridge, Everett, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Newton, Somerville, Waltham, Woburn and the towns of Acton, Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Burlington, Carlisle, Concord, Lexington, Lincoln, North Reading, Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Watertown, Wayland, Weston, Wilmington and Winchester all in Middlesex County;

The city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Brookline, Cohasset, Milton, Needham, Wellesley and Weymouth all in Norfolk County;

The towns of Hingham, Hull, Norwell and Scituate all in Plymouth County; and

The cities of Boston, Chelsea, Revere and the town of Winthrop all in Suffolk County.

II. The effective date of this designation is June 21, 1944.

III. Not later than the effective date, each employer in the Boston, Massachusetts, Labor Market Area shall, in accordance with War Manpower Commission Regulation No. 3:

(a) Extend to a minimum wartime workweek of 48 hours, the workweek of any of his workers whose workweek can be so extended without involving the release of any worker;

(b) If extension of the workweek of any of his workers to a minimum wartime workweek of 48 hours would involve the release of any workers, submit to the Area Manpower Director the number and occupational classification of the workers whose releases would be involved, together with proposed schedules for their releases, and thereafter extend such workweek when and as directed in schedules authorized by the War Manpower Commission;

(c) File an application for a minimum wartime workweek of less than 48 hours for those workers engaged in employment in which the employer claims that a workweek of 48 hours would be impracticable in view of the nature of the operations, would not contribute to the reduction of labor requirements, or would conflict with any Federal, State or local law or regulation limiting hours of work.

Date of issuance: May 23, 1944.

"HOPESTILL"

DETERMINATION OF VESSEL OWNERSHIP

Notice of determination by War Shipping Administrator pursuant to section 3 (b) of the act approved March 24, 1943 (Public Law 17, 78th Congress).

Whereas on June 11, 1943, title to the vessel Hopestill (213905) (including all spare parts, appurtenances and equipment), was requisitioned pursuant to section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended; and

Whereas section 3 (b) of the act approved March 24, 1943 (Public Law 17, 78th Congress), provides in part as follows:

(b) The Administrator, War Shipping Administration, may determine at any time prior to the payment in full or deposit in full with the Treasurer of the United States, or the payment or deposit of 75 per centum, or just compensation therefor, that the ownership of any vessel (the title to which has been requisitioned pursuant to section 902 of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, or the Act of June 6, 1941 (Public Law 101, Seventy-Seventh Congress), is not required by the United States, and after such determination has been made and notice thereof has been published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the use rather than the title to such vessel shall be deemed to have been requisitioned for all purposes as of the date of the original taking: Provided however, That no such determination shall be made with respect to any vessel after the date of delivery of such vessel pursuant to title requisition except with the consent of the owner. * * *;

and

Whereas no portion of just compensation for the said vessel has been paid or deposited with the Treasurer of the United States; and

Whereas the ownership of the said vessel, spare parts, appurtenances and equipment is not required by the United States; and

Whereas the former owner of the vessel has consented to this determination and to the return of the vessel and the conversion of the requisition of title therein to a requisition of use thereof in accordance with the above-quoted provision of law;

Now therefore, I, Emory S. Land, Administrator, War Shipping Administration, acting pursuant to the above-quoted provisions of law, do hereby determine that the ownership of said vessel, spare parts, appurtenances and equipment is not required by the United States, and that, from and after the date of publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the use rather than title thereto shall be deemed to have been requisitioned, for all purposes, as of the date of the original taking.

Dated: June 3, 1944.

(Sugar Regulations)

PART 802—SUGAR DETERMINATIONS

1944 WAGE RATES FOR FLORIDA SUGARCANE

Determination of fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production and cultivation of sugarcane in Florida during the calendar year 1944.

Pursuant to section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9322, issued March 26, 1943, as amended by Executive Order No. 9334, issued April 19, 1943, the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 802.24p Fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production and cultivation of sugarcane in Florida during the calendar year 1944. The requirements of section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, shall be deemed to have been met with respect to the production and cultivation of sugarcane in Florida during the period from January 1, 1944, to December 31, 1944, if all persons employed on the farm during that period in the production and cultivation of sugarcane shall have been paid in full for all such work and shall have been paid wages in cash therefor at the rates agreed upon between the producer and the laborer, but not less than the following:

(a) On a time basis.

	Cents per hour
All work except as otherwise specified:
Adult Males	30.0
Adult Females	25.0
Tractor drivers	37.5
Children between 14 and 16 years (Maximum employment per day is 8 hours)	25.0

(b) On a piece rate basis. For all classes of work performed on a piece rate basis the earnings per hour shall be not less than the applicable rate per hour specified under (a) above; Provided, however, That minimum earnings per hour shall not apply to prisoners of war but they shall be paid at the same piece rate as other laborers.

(c) General provisions. (1) The producer shall furnish to the laborer, without charge, the customary perquisites, such as a habitable house, a suitable garden plot with facilities for its cultivation, pasturage for livestock, medical attention, and similar incidentals.

(2) The producer shall not, through any subterfuge or device whatsoever, reduce the wage rates to laborers below those determined above.

(Sec. 301, 50 Stat. 909; 7 U.S.C. 1131; E.O. 9322, 9334, 8 F.R. 3807, 5423)

Such term shall, for the purposes of this order, include, but not be restricted to, (i) light cream, coffee cream, table cream, whipping cream, heavy cream, plastic cream, sour cream, aerated cream, and any other cream by whatever name known; and (ii) reconstituted cream made from butter and one or more of the following ingredients: milk, skim milk, evaporated milk, condensed milk, cream, dried whole milk, dried skim milk, dried cream, or water.

(5) "Cream product" means cream to which there has been added, or which has been blended or compounded with, a culture, stabilizer, or like agent or ingredient; or with sugar, salt, condiments, spices, flavoring, or similar ingredients; whether or not the resultant product is pasteurized, homogenized, or sterilized.

(6) "Filled cream" means any milk, cream, or skim milk, whether or not condensed, evaporated, concentrated, powdered, dried, or desiccated, to which there has been added, or with which there has been blended or compounded, any fat or oil other than milk fat, so that the resulting product is an imitation of cream or in semblance thereof, whether or not such resulting product contains any other ingredient.

(7) "Milk fat," sometimes known as "butterfat," means the fat of milk; the proportionate content of such milk fat in milk or cream to be determined by the method prescribed in "Official and Tentative Methods of Analysis of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists," Fifth Edition, 1940, page 287, under "Fat, Babcock Method—Official."

(8) "Director" means the Director of Distribution, War Food Administration.

(9) "State" means any of the forty-eight States of the United States, the District of Columbia, or any Territory or Possession of the United States.

(b) Restrictions. (1) No person shall sell or deliver, except to a handler, any cream or cream product having a milk fat content in excess of 19 percent: Provided, That any person may sell or deliver cream having a milk fat content not exceeding by more than 1 percent the minimum milk fat content required by State law or administrative regulation in effect on November 25, 1942, in the State where such delivery is made.

(2) No person shall sell or deliver, except to a handler, any cream or cream product which has been fortified with, or to which there has been added, or with which there has been blended or compounded, evaporated milk, condensed milk, dried whole milk, or dried skim milk.

(3) No person shall, after July 31, 1944, sell or deliver filled cream having a total content of all oil and fat, including milk fat, in excess of 19 percent, but this shall not be construed to permit the manufacture, sale, or delivery of filled cream in violation of the Filled Milk Act (21 U. S. C., 1940 ed., 61–64).

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of (b) (1) and (b) (2) hereof, any person may sell or deliver to any restaurant, hotel, or other public eating place any cream or cream product having a milk fat content in excess of that permitted by (b) (1) hereof or any cream or cream product of the type described in (b) (2) hereof, if the purchaser certifies in writing to the seller that such cream or cream product is to be used in the manufacture of frozen dairy foods in accordance with the provisions of War Food Order No. 8, issued by the War Food Administrator.

(5) No restaurant, hotel, or other public eating place shall use any cream or cream product having a milk fat content in excess of 19 percent, except in the manufacture of frozen dairy foods in accordance with the provisions of said War Food Order No. 8: Provided, That any such restaurant, hotel, or other public eating place may use for all purposes cream having a milk fat content not exceeding by more than 1 percent the minimum milk fat content required by State law or administrative regulation in effect on November 25, 1942, in the State where such use takes place.

(c) Exemptions. (1) Notwithstanding the provisions of (b) hereof, any person may sell or deliver to or for any patient, or to any establishment engaged in the care and treatment of the sick, cream of such milk fat content, and in such quantities, as may be necessary for supervised medical treatment of such patient or the patients of such establishment: Provided, That such person is supplied with a written statement from the patient's physician or, in the case of an establishment engaged in the care and treatment of the sick, from a responsible official thereof who is a practicing physician, and such written statement shall be valid for a period of not to exceed sixty days from the date of issuance and shall specify (i) the milk fat content of cream required for such use, (ii) the daily quantity of such cream, and (iii) with regard to the necessity of such cream for supervised medical treatment: Provided further, That such written statement shall not be valid for obtaining such cream after July 31, 1944, unless approved by the public health officer, or the secretary of the county medical society, of the municipality or county wherein such patient resides or such establishment is located.

(2) Upon application by one or more persons in any marketing area and after demonstration to the satisfaction of the Director that compliance with the provisions of (b) (1) hereof will not tend to conserve milk fat for war and essential civilian needs, the Director may grant an exemption from the provisions of (b) (1) hereof to any or all persons in such area.

(d) Audits and inspections. The Director shall be entitled to make such audit or inspection of the books, records and other writings, premises or stocks of cream, cream products, or filled cream of any person, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate, in the Director's discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

(e) Records and reports. (1) The Director shall be entitled to obtain such information from, and require such reports and the keeping of such records by, any person, as may be necessary or appropriate, in the Director's discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

(2) Every person subject to this order shall, for at least two years (or for such period of time as the Director may designate), maintain an accurate record of his transactions in cream, cream products, and filled cream.

(f) Petition for relief from hardship. Any person affected by this order, who considers that compliance herewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him, may file a petition for relief with the Regional Director of Distribution, War Food Administration, serving the area (8 F.R. 15764) in which such person resides or does business. Petitions for such relief shall be in writing and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought. The Regional Director may take any action with reference to such petition which is consistent with the authority delegated to him by the Director. If the petitioner is dissatisfied with the action taken by the Regional Director on the petition, he shall, by requesting the Regional Director therefor, obtain a review of such action by the Director. The Director may, after said review, take such action as he deems appropriate, and such action shall be final. The provisions of this paragraph (f) shall not be construed to deprive the Director of authority to consider originally any petition for relief from hardship submitted in accordance herewith. The Director may consider any such petition and take such action with reference thereto as he deems appropriate, and such action shall be final.

(g) Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this order may, in accordance with the applicable procedure, be prohibited from receiving, making any deliveries of, or using cream, cream products, and filled cream, or any other material subject to priority or allocation control by any governmental agency. In addition, any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order is guilty of a crime and may be prosecuted under any and all applicable laws. Further, civil action may be instituted to enforce any liability or duty created by, or to enjoin any violation of, any provision of this order.

(h) Delegation of authority. The administration of this order and the powers vested in the War Food Administrator, insofar as such powers relate to the administration of this order, are hereby delegated to the Director. The Director is authorized to redelegate to any employee of the United States Department of Agriculture any or all of the authority vested in him by this order.

(i) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the Regional Director of Distribution, War Food Administration, serving the area (8 F.R. 15764) in which the person affected by the order resides or does business.

(j) Territorial extent. This order shall apply to the forty-eight States of the United States, the District of Columbia, and the Territories and Possessions of the United States.

(k) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 12: 01 a. m., e. w. t., June 7, 1944. With respect to any violation of War Food Order No. 13, as amended, or rights accrued, liabilities incurred, or appeals taken under said order, as amended, prior to the effective date hereof, said War Food Order No. 13, as amended, shall be deemed to continue in full force and effect for the purpose of sustaining any proper suit, action, or other proceeding with respect to any such violation, right, liability, or appeal.

NOTE: All record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by, and subsequent reporting and record-keeping requirements will be subject to the approval of, Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1460—FATS AND OILS

INEDIBLE TALLOW OR GREASE

War Food Order 67, as amended (8 F.R. 15810; 9 F.R. 2255, 4319), § 1460.27, is amended as follows:

1. By deleting the provisions of paragraph (b) thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(b) Certification of orders for inedible tallow or grease which is not to be used for the production of soap. Any manufacturer who desires to obtain inedible tallow or grease from a producer or dealer in any calendar month, for the manufacture of any product other than soap, and who desires to avail himself of the provisions of paragraph (d) hereof, may, in the period of twenty days immediately prior to the tenth day of such month, deliver to such producer or dealer a written order for such inedible tallow or grease which has attached thereto, or included therein, a certificate properly filled out and signed by him, in the following form:

The undersigned hereby certifies to the War Food Administration and to ---------- (producer or dealer)
that this certificate constitutes a part of an order by him to said producer or dealer for ---------- pounds of inedible tallow or grease, to be delivered on or about ----------, and that all of the inedible tallow or grease which may be received by the undersigned pursuant to such order will be used by him in the manufacture of a product other than soap, and that such acceptance of delivery by him during any period when inventory restrictions are in effect will not cause his inventory of inedible tallow or grease to exceed the amount permitted under the terms of War Food Order 67, as amended.
(date)

(Purchaser)

By ---------- (Authorized Official)

(Date)

No person who receives inedible tallow or grease as a result of such a certified order shall use any of the inedible tallow or grease so received in the production of soap.

2. By deleting the provisions of paragraph (c) thereof.

3. By deleting the provisions of paragraph (d) thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(d) Restrictions on delivery in order to give certified orders preference. No producer or dealer shall deliver inedible tallow or grease during any month to any manufacturer, except pursuant to a specific authorization by the Director or an order certified in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) hereof, unless and until he has, before the end of such month, delivered, offered to deliver, or made provision to deliver all inedible tallow or grease for which, in the period of twenty days immediately prior to the tenth day of such month, he has received orders certified in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) hereof: Provided, however, That no dealer shall be required to deliver, offer to deliver, or make provision to deliver on such certified orders in the aggregate, in any month, more inedible tallow or grease than 30% of the total amount of inedible tallow or grease delivered by him in such month, and no producer shall be required in any month to deliver, offer to deliver, or make provision to deliver on such certified orders from any one plant operated by him more than 30% of the total deliveries of inedible tallow or grease made by him from such plant in such month, and no producer or dealer shall be required to make delivery of any quantity of inedible tallow or grease other than a commercial quantity, or in an amount less than the smallest commercial quantity of inedible tallow or grease delivered by him in the base period.

This amendment shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. w. t., July 1, 1944. However, certified orders may be delivered pursuant to paragraph (b) hereof after June 20, 1944, and such orders shall be deemed valid for the purposes of this amendment. With respect to violations of said War Food Order 67, as amended, or rights accrued, or liabilities incurred thereunder, prior to July 1, 1944, said War Food Order 67, as heretofore amended, shall be deemed to be in full force and effect for the purpose of sustaining any proper suit, action, or other proceeding with respect to any such violation, right, or liability.

Issued this 3d day of June 1944.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-500, Amdt. 1]

LOWELL SHOE CO., INC.

Lowell Shoe Company, Inc., 341 Middlesex Street, Lowell, Massachusetts, has appealed from the suspension order upon the ground that it would put the respondent permanently out of business. The Chief Compliance Commissioner has reviewed the case, and has concluded that the business of the respondent will be permanently affected unless the suspension order is modified. He, therefore, on June 3, 1944, directed that the suspension order be, and hereby is, amended by substituting in paragraph (a) "fifty thousand (50,000) pairs" for "thirty-five thousand (35,000) pairs".

In view of the foregoing:

It is hereby ordered, That § 1010.500, Suspension Order No. S-500, issued March 10, 1944, and effective March 17, 1944, be, and hereby is, amended by the substitution of the following paragraph (a) for the present paragraph (a):

(a) Lowell Shoe Company, Inc., its successors or assigns, shall not complete the manufacture of more than fifty thousand (50,000) pairs of civilian footwear during the effective period of this order. Such footwear shall be limited to Lowell Shoe Company's existing price lines, but may be divided among such lines as the company may determine under paragraph (i) (iv) of Conservation Order M-217 as amended January 12, 1944.

Issued this 3d day of June 1944.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-527, Reinstatement]

BLOOMFIELD MANUFACTURING CO.

The Bloomfield Manufacturing Company, of 3333 South Wells Street, Chicago, Illinois, which is a corporation engaged in the production of various war materials and metal kitchen equipment was suspended on May 2, 1944, by Suspension Order No. S-527. It appealed from the provisions of the suspension order and, pending determination of the appeal, the suspension order was stayed by the Chief Compliance Commissioner on May 2, 1944. The appeal has been considered by the Chief Compliance Commissioner, who has dismissed the appeal and directed that the stay be terminated and the suspension order reinstated.

In view of the foregoing:

It is hereby ordered, That: § 1010.527, Suspension Order No. S-527 issued April 25, 1944, and effective May 2, 1944, be and hereby is reinstated; the stay of execution directed by the Chief Compliance Commissioner on May 2, 1944, be and hereby is revoked; and paragraph (d) be and hereby is amended to read as follows:

(d) This order shall take effect on June 8, 1944, and shall expire on September 5, 1944.

and that the suspension order be and hereby is amended by inserting the following paragraph (c) after paragraph (b) and by relettering the present paragraphs (c) and (d) respectively (d) and (e):

(c) The Bloomfield Manufacturing Company, Chicago, Illinois, its successors and assigns, shall not directly or indirectly transfer to any person or persons or corporation, and no person or persons or corporation shall receive or use the facilities of the Bloomfield Manufacturing Company, Chicago, Illinois, to cut, shape, form, put in process, process or manufacture any metal as set forth in the lists attached to Priorities Regulation 13, to make any metal kitchen equipment in any of the shapes or forms as defined in or governed by any Order of the L-30 series, as each regulation and order may be amended from time to time, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

Issued this 3d day of June 1944.

PART 3291—CONSUMERS DURABLE GOODS

[General Limitation Order L-65, as Amended June 3, 1944]

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES

§ 3291.311 General Limitation Order L-65—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Electrical appliances" means only those appliances listed on Schedule A of this order which have as functional parts, electrical heating units (of any wattage), or which are powered by an electrical vibrator or electrical fractional horsepower motor.

(2) "Heating unit" means any electric heating unit designed primarily for use in an electrical appliance or in a domestic type electric range.

(3) "Electrical resistance material" means material in the form of ribbon or wire to be incorporated in heating units, in which either nickel or chromium or both, are used to create electrical resistance for the development of heat.

(4) "Manufacturer" means any person engaged in the business of manufacturing or assembling any heating units, electrical appliances or parts for such appliances, including a person who assembles parts of an electrical appliance for sale in knock-down form.

(5) "Distributor" means any person engaged in the business of transferring heating units, electrical appliances or parts for such appliances to his retail outlets or to other dealers.

(6) "Dealer" means any person engaged in the business of transferring or repairing heating units, electrical appliances or parts for such appliances to or for ultimate consumers.

Any person who acts in more than the single capacity of manufacturer, distributor or dealer as defined in paragraphs (a) (4), (a) (5) and (a) (6) of this order shall for the purposes of this order be deemed a manufacturer, distributor or dealer, depending upon the capacity in which he acts in each specific transaction.

(7) "Preferred order" means any purchase order, contract or subcontract for delivery to or for the account of the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration.

(8) "Repair or replacement part" means any heating unit for a domestic electric range or any heating unit or other part for an electrical appliance when such heating unit or part is not produced for use in the manufacture or assembly of any new electrical appliance or new domestic electric range.

(9) "Current-carrying parts" include only the following parts: Heating units, thermostats and temperature controls, relays, lead-in and connection wires, switches, terminals, fuses, receptacles and parts of motors which conduct electric current, but shall not include cord sets.

(b) General restrictions on production. (1) On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall produce any new electrical appliance (or parts therefor) other than repair or replacement parts, except:

(i) The following new electrical appliances (or parts therefor) may be produced in fulfillment of preferred orders: Coffee makers, flat irons, air heaters, water heaters, and commercial or heavy duty equipment of the following types: broilers, food choppers, food mixers, food grinders, food servers, food slicers, fry kettles, griddles, hotplates, juicers, ovens, ranges, toasters, urns and vegetable peelers.

(ii) During the period beginning June 17, 1943, and ending September 30, 1943, inclusive, and during each three months period thereafter, a manufacturer may produce for other than preferred orders as specified in paragraph (b) (1) (i) above, no more units of any of the following types of new electrical appliance (or parts therefor) than 10% of the number of units of that particular electrical appliance (or parts therefor) produced by him during 1940: Commercial or heavy duty equipment of the following types: broilers, food choppers, food mixers, food grinders, food servers, food slicers, fry kettles, griddles, hotplates, juicers, ovens, ranges, toasters, urns and vegetable peelers; Provided, that no manufacturer shall produce any units of any type of new electrical appliance (or parts therefor) listed in this paragraph (ii) if such production will result in an accumulation of inventory of that particular type of new electrical appliance (or parts therefor) greater than 15% of the number of units of that particular electrical appliance (or parts therefor) produced by him during 1940.

(2) On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall use copper or copper base alloys in the production of any new electrical appliances, or parts therefor (whether or not in fulfillment of preferred orders) specified in paragraph (b) (1) of this order, except for such minimum amounts as are necessary for the conduction of electric current or essential to the proper functioning of parts.

(c) Restrictions on transfer of new electrical appliances. On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall transfer the physical possession of or title to any new electrical appliance manufactured after that date, except

(1) In fulfillment of preferred orders.

(2) Pursuant to specific authorization of the War Production Board on Form WPB-1319 pursuant to an application filed on said Form. Form WPB-1319 should be filed with the nearest field office of the War Production Board for all orders except for export, and with the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: L-65, for export orders.

(d) Repair or replacement parts. (1) Except in fulfillment of preferred orders, on and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall use copper or copper base alloys in the production of any repair or replacement parts, other than the specific parts listed on the following table, or any part thereof:

Type of equipment	Repair or replacement parts for which copper or copper base alloys are permitted
Air heaters	Current-carrying parts.
Commercial permanent wave equipment and commercial hair driers.	Current-carrying parts, other than copper or copper base alloy disposable grids for permanent wave equipment.
Flat irons	Cord sets pursuant to paragraph (d) (3) of this order and current-carrying parts.
Commercial or heavy duty equipment of the following types: broilers, food choppers, food mixers, food grinders, food servers, food slicers, fry kettles, griddles, hotplates, juicers, ovens, ranges, toasters, urns and vegetable peelers.	Current-carrying parts and motor bearings where the use of other material is impracticable.
Heating units for domestic electric ranges	Current-carrying parts.
Hotplates and disc stoves	Current-carrying parts.
Roasters	Current-carrying parts.
Water heaters	Current-carrying parts and immersion units.

(2) On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall use copper or copper base alloys in the production of repair and replacement parts in fulfillment of preferred orders, except for such minimum amounts necessary for the conduction of electric current or essential to the proper functioning of parts.

(3) On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall produce any replacement cord sets except for flat irons. Replacement cord sets produced for flat irons shall conform to the following specifications: The cord shall be of a quality which tests 3,000 or more cycles in flexure and shall be not more than 6 feet in length; plugs and caps shall be so constructed that they can be readily dismantled and reassembled for repair purposes. During the period beginning June 17, 1943, and ending December 31, 1943, and during each six month period thereafter, no manufacturer shall produce more replacement cord sets for flat irons than 25% of the number of such replacement cord sets produced by him during the year 1940.

(4) On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall produce any repair or replacement parts (other than replacement cord sets for flat irons) if he has, or as a result of such production will have, more parts of such type in his inventory than the number of parts of such type which he sold during the preceding six calendar months.

(5) Except in fulfillment of preferred orders, on and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer or distributor shall transfer any repair or replacement parts unless a similar used part has been delivered to him in exchange therefor, or unless he has been informed that a similar used part is being held or will be secured by the dealer or distributor to whom the new part is being transferred, or has been disposed of in accordance with this paragraph. The used parts shall be held subject to disposition at the direction of the manufacturer or distributor who transferred the new part. If no such direction is given within 60 days, the person holding the used part shall promptly dispose of it through regular scrap channels.

(e) Restriction on use or transfer of electrical resistance material. On and after June 17, 1943, no manufacturer shall use in the production of heating units or transfer for any purpose whatsoever, any electrical resistance material reported by him in columns 4 and 8 of Form PD-370 prior to September 30, 1942, except pursuant to specific authorization of the War Production Board on Form WPB-1319. Application on that form should be filed with the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-65.

(1) [Deleted Feb. 19, 1944]

(2) [Deleted Feb. 19, 1944]

(f) Inventory restrictions. No manufacturer shall accumulate for use in the manufacture of electrical appliances, heating units, or repair or replacement parts, any inventories of raw materials, semi-processed materials or finished parts in quantities in excess of the minimum amount necessary to maintain production as permitted by this order.

(g) Applicability of other orders. In so far as any other order heretofore or hereafter issued by the Office of Production Management or the War Production Board limits the use of any material in the production of electrical appliances, heating units, or repair or replacement parts to a greater extent than the limits imposed by this order, the provisions of such other order shall govern unless otherwise specified therein.

(h) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(i) Reports. Every manufacturer affected by this order shall execute and file Form WPB-1600 (formerly PD-655) with the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-65, on or before the 10th day following the close of each calendar month.

(j) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order should be made on Form WPB-1477 (formerly PD-500).

(k) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 3d day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

SOLID FUELS SOLD AND DELIVERED BY DEALERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 is amended in the following respect:

Section 1340.256 (c) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) In the case of Pennsylvania anthracite, the amount per net ton for the sizes and for the time specified as follows:

Size	To and including June 10, 1944	On and after June 11, 1944 to and including June 30, 1944	On and after July 1, 1944
Egg, stove and nut	$1.25	$1.10	$0.55
Pea	1.20	1.05	.50
Buckwheat	1.05	.90	.45
Rice	.95	.85	.45
Barley	.70	.60	.35
Smaller than barley	.65	.50	.30

This amendment shall become effective June 5, 1944.

Issued this 5th day of June 1944.

POTATOES AND ONIONS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

In section 24, Table V is amended to read as follows:

TABLE V—1944 CROP WHITE FLESH POTATOES

(The following prices apply to all varieties of U. S. No. 1 grade white potatoes of the 1944 crop, harvested and sold during the 1944 marketing season, sacked and loaded on carrier, except those actually sold before May 22, 1944, and except those shipped from the country shipping point, whether sold or unsold, before May 18, 1944. The differentials set forth in section 25 are to be used in determining maximum prices for other grades, special sizes and special packs or packages. However, for the month of June, 1944, and with respect to all states other than California and Arizona, the terms "U. S. No. 1 grade" and "U. S. Commercial grade" wherever they appear in this table or in section 25, shall mean U. S. No. 1 grade or U. S. Commercial grade, as the case may be, of a minimum diameter of 1⅛ inches, and the provisions of section 25 with respect to U. S. Size B shall not be applicable.)

Period	Producing area	Maximum price per 100 pounds
May 16-31	Florida, area north of counties of Charlotte, Glades and Martin, and east of the Suwanee River.	$3.40
	California	2.60
	All other areas	3.25
June 1-15	California	2.40
	Arizona	3.05
	All other areas	3.25
June 16-30	California	2.40
	Arizona	2.90
	All other areas	3.10

This amendment shall become effective at 12:01 a. m. June 6, 1944.

Issued this 5th day of June 1944.

JAMES G. ROGERS, Jr.,
Acting Administrator.

Approved: June 3, 1944.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[MPR 539]

CUSTOM MILLING AND KILN DRYING OF WESTERN SOFTWOODS

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are, and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Orders 9250 and 9328. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.* Such specifications and standards as are used in this regulation were, prior to such use, in general use in the industry affected.

AUTHORITY: § 1499.2260 issued under 56 Stat. 23, 765; Pub. Law 151, 78th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871; E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681.

MAXIMUM PRICE REGULATION 539—CUSTOM MILLING AND KILN DRYING OF WESTERN SOFTWOODS

CONTENTS

Sec.
1. Higher than maximum prices prohibited.
2. What is Western softwood lumber.
3. What is "custom milling service".
4. What is a custom mill.
5. Invoicing and records.
6. Services not listed.
7. No quantity limitations.
8. Transportation and demurrage charges.
9. Enforcement.
10. Licensing.
11. Geographical applicability.
12. Maximum prices.

SECTION 1. Sales of custom milling or custom kiln drying services on Western softwood lumber at higher than maximum prices prohibited. (a) On and after June 5, 1944, no person shall sell or provide, and no person shall buy or receive in the course of trade or business, custom milling or kiln drying services on Western softwood lumber, at prices higher than the maximum prices set by this regulation; and no person shall agree, offer, or attempt to do any of these things.

(b) Prices lower than the maximum prices may, of course, be charged and paid.

SEC. 2. What is Western softwood lumber. "Western softwood lumber" under this regulation means any lumber which on sales by the sawmill is subject to RMPR 26[1] (Douglas Fir and other West Coast Lumber), MPR 94[2] (Western Pine and Associated Species of Lumber), MPR 253[3] (Redwood Lumber), MPR 290[4] (Sitka Spruce Lumber), or MPR 402[5] (Western Red Cedar Lumber).

SEC. 3. What is "custom milling service". Under this regulation "custom milling" means only the operations specifically included under Section 12 performed, as a service for others, upon lumber in which the person performing these services has no financial interest.

SEC. 4. What is a custom mill. Even though the services you perform may meet the definition of "custom milling" above, this regulation does not apply to you unless you qualify as a custom mill under this section.

(a) General. A custom mill is one which performs custom milling services upon lumber subject at mill level to RMPR 26, MPR 94, MPR 253, MPR 290, or MPR 402, and which:

(1) Does not operate as a "mill" under the definitions contained in RMPR 26, MPR 94, MPR 253, MPR 290, or MPR 402.

(2) Does not own or control, is not owned or controlled by and is not under common control with a "mill" producing the species covered by RMPR 26, MPR 94, MPR 253, MPR 290, or MPR 402, wherever located.

(b) Operation not qualifying under paragraph (a) may get special permission. If you do not qualify as a "custom mill" under paragraph (a) above, you may under certain special conditions get authority to operate under this regulation. The rules covering this are as follows:

(1) An application must be filed with the OPA Regional Office nearest the operation. This application must show:

(i) The location of the plant, with a description of the physical lay-out of operations in relation to any other activities relating to forest products carried on by the applicant wherever located.

(ii) The extent of ownership or control of or by any other operations relating to forest products, or of common ownership or control, giving name, location, and nature of the other operations.

(iii) Applicant's milling facilities, and the capacity thereof in MBM per day, together with a statement of total footage in rough boards and dimension and rough or surfaced plank and timbers, and green or partially dry lumber in these sizes, sold during the 30 day period preceding date of application.

(iv) Any other information the applicant may wish to submit.

(2) Special authorization under this paragraph (b) will be granted only where the application enables the Regional Office to make findings that the authorization:

(i) Will result in a greater production of surfaced boards or dimension or kiln dried lumber.

(ii) Will not encourage producing sawmills having remanufacturing and kiln drying facilities to ship their lumber green, partially dry, rough, or in thicknesses over 2".

(iii) Will provide necessary milling services which cannot reasonably be supplied by producing mills, or by custom mills qualifying under paragraph (a).

(iv) Will not result in unnecessarily increasing the cost of finished lumber to the ultimate consumer.

In granting the authority, the Regional Office may make such limitations and conditions as to duration of the authority, quantity of lumber to be milled, etc., as may be appropriate and consistent with the above findings. The authorization may be granted, or the application denied, by letter or telegram.

(c) Unless the operation qualifies, or is specially authorized, as a "custom mill" under paragraphs (a) or (b) above, its maximum prices for custom milling of Western softwood lumber are the charges set forth as additions for workings in the appropriate lumber price regulation.

(d) Special permissions heretofore granted under section 3 (b) of the former Supplemental Service Regulation 27, shall continue in full force and effect under this regulation according to the terms in which they were originally granted.

SEC. 5. Invoicing and records. Invoices must show the species, size, condition, and workings of the lumber before and after milling, with a detailed description of all services performed thereon for which a charge is made. Copies of invoices, or similar records, must be kept at the place where the custom milling is performed, available for examination by the Office of Price Administration. These records must be kept for two years.

SEC. 6. Services not listed. If a custom mill is required to perform a service for which prices are not specifically provided, these services are still under Maximum Price Regulation 165.

SEC. 7. No quantity limitations. The maximum prices set forth in this regulation apply to all transactions regardless of the quantity of lumber involved.

SEC. 8. Transportation and demurrage charges. No charge may be made by a custom mill for demurrage on railroad cars at its plant, nor for the arrangement of transportation of lumber or advancement of freight charges thereon.

SEC. 9. Enforcement. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for suspension of licenses provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

SEC. 10. Licensing. The provisions of Licensing Order No. 1[6] licensing all persons who make sales under price control, are applicable to all sellers subject to this regulation. A seller's license may be suspended for violations of the license or of one or more applicable price schedules or regulations. A person whose license is suspended may not, during the period of suspension, make any sale for which his license has been suspended.

SEC. 11. Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the 48 states and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 12. Maximum prices. The maximum prices per one thousand feet board measure for "custom milling" of lumber which on mill sales is subject to RMPR 26, MPR 94, MPR 253, MPR 290, or MPR 402 shall be as follows:

Custom kiln drying. Kiln drying including all handling (unloading from cars, handling through kilns and reloading cars, etc.)

Thinner than 10/4	$10.00
10/4 & 12/4 inc	12.00

General notes. 1. Charges for additional lines of both resawing and ripping are based on original size of piece ripped or resawn.

2. Where surfacing is done following resawing and/or ripping, surfacing charges shall be based on size or sizes of stock resulting from the resawing and/or ripping operation.

3. Fractional or odd thickness: use price of next thinner even size. Compute footage on actual rough measure.

4. Fractional or odd widths not listed: use price of next even width, either wider or narrower, whichever is lower. Compute footage on actual rough measure.

5. Where only one operation is performed on the lumber, for instance, surfaced only, or ripped or resawed one line only, add $1.00 per MBM.

6. Prices on combination milling, such as ripping and resawing, must be computed on the cheapest method of producing the end product from the particular sizes remanufactured, regardless of how the custom mill actually produces the end product.

7. For milling quantities of less than 1,000 feet board measure of any size or operation, the charge for 1,000 feet may be made.

8. The custom kiln drying charges cover only standard grades as described in the official grading rules covering the various Western softwoods subject to RMPR 26, MPR 94, MPR 258, MPR 290 or MPR 402, when dried to ordinary commercial standards. Prices on drying special grades, or drying to moisture content lower than standard will be given on application to the Office of Price Administration, Washington 25, D. C. The application must state the requested price, and contain a complete description of the item to be priced, including species, size and the maximum moisture content allowed.

9. Customer must furnish inbound piece tally on each shipment; otherwise custom mill may add $.50 per M for tallying.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective June 5, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 5th day of June 1944.

Chapter XIV—War Contracts Price Adjustment Board

Renegotiation Regulations

June 7, 1944.

On April 19, 1944, Parts 1601, 1602, 1607 and 1608 of the Renegotiation Regulations, as revised by Revision 1, were published in the Federal Register (9 F.R. 4135).

There are herewith published in this issue the additions and amendments to the Renegotiation Regulations through Revision 6, consisting of Parts 1603, 1604, 1605, and 1606 and changes and additions to Parts 1601, 1602, 1607 and 1608.

Subsequent changes and additions to these regulations will also be published in the Federal Register from time to time as directed by the War Contracts Board.

[SEAL] JAMES S. FEIGHT,
Lt., U. S. N. R.,
Secretary.

Part 1601—Authority and Organization for Renegotiation [1]

Subpart A—Summary of Renegotiation Act of 1943 and Related Statutes

Sections 1601.103 to 1601.112 are amended by the insertion of cross references, so that the text thereof, as amended, will read as follows.

§ 1601.103 Coverage. (a) In general the 1943 act applies to amounts received or accrued in fiscal years ending after June 30, 1943 under all contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, with the exceptions stated under § 1601.104 (subsection (c) (6) discussed in § 1603.348).

(b) Subcontracts include purchase orders or agreements to perform all or any part of the work, or to make or furnish any article, required for the performance of any other contract or subcontract but do not include any purchase order or agreement to furnish office supplies. A contract or arrangement to procure a contract with a Department is also a subcontract. Subcontracts are not limited to those made by a prime contractor but include those made by a subcontractor or sub-subcontractor down through the various tiers (subsection (a) (5), discussed in § 1603.333).

(c) The coverage of the 1943 act is discussed in detail in Part 1603. [RR 103]

§ 1601.104 Exclusions and exemptions—(a) Mandatory. The 1943 act does not apply to:

(1) Contracts between the Departments and other Governmental agencies (subsection (i) (1) (A), discussed in § 1603.343);

(2) Contracts or subcontracts for certain raw materials (subsection (i) (1) (B), discussed in § 1603.344);

(3) Contracts or subcontracts for agricultural commodities in a certain form or state, (subsection (i) (1) (C), discussed in § 1603.342 (b));

(4) Contracts or subcontracts with tax exempt charitable, religious or educational institutions (subsection (i) (1) (D), discussed in § 1603.345);

(5) Construction contracts with a Department let under competitive bidding (subsection (i) (1) (E), discussed in § 1603.346); or

(6) Subcontracts under prime contracts or other subcontracts of the types listed above which are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (subsection (i) (1) (F), discussed in § 1603.347). [RR 104.1]

(b) Permissive. The War Contracts Board may, in its discretion, exempt from any or all of the provisions of the 1943 act:

(1) Any contract or subcontract:

(i) To be performed outside of the continental United States or in Alaska (subsection (i) (4) (A), discussed in § 1603.351);

(ii) Under which the profits can be determined with reasonable certainty when the contract price is established (subsection (i) (4) (B), discussed in § 1603.352);

(iii) During a specified period or periods, to the extent that the contract provisions are adequate to prevent excessive profits (subsection (i) (4) (C), discussed in § 1603.353);

(iv) For a standard commercial article if competitive conditions are such as will reasonably protect the Government (subsection (i) (4) (D), discussed in § 1603.354);

(v) If competitive conditions affecting the making of such contract or subcontract are likely to result in effective competition with respect to the contract price (subsection (i) (4) (E), discussed in § 1603.355); or

(2) Any subcontract or group of subcontracts, if it is not administratively feasible to segregate the renegotiable from the non-renegotiable business (subsection (i) (4) (F), discussed in § 1603.356).

The Board may make such exemptions by individual contracts or by general classes or types of contracts (subsection (i) (4), discussed in § 1603.357). [RR 104.2]

(c) Exemption measured by volume of business. Subsection (c) (6) provides that renegotiation shall not apply to any contractor or subcontractor unless the aggregate of the amounts received or accrued by the contractor or subcontractor (and all persons under the control of or controlling or under common control with the contractor or subcontractor) under contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, not including subcontracts for procuring contracts or subcontracts, exceed $500,000 (discussed in § 1603.348). In the case of subcontracts for the procuring of contracts or subcontracts, this figure is $25,000 (discussed in § 1603.348). [RR 104.3]

(d) Profits from increment in value of excess inventories. The 1943 act excludes from renegotiation that portion of the profits derived from contracts with the Departments and subcontracts attributable to the increment in value of excess inventories of certain raw materials and agricultural commodities (subsection (i) (3), discussed in § 1603.344 (d)). [RR 104.4]

§ 1601.105 Renegotiation clauses in contracts. (a) The 1943 act directs each Secretary to insert in each contract made by his Department, involving more than $100,000, terms under which the contractor agrees (1) to renegotiation, (2) to the withholding or recovery of excessive profits by the United States and (3) that he will insert like terms in all subcontracts made by him involving more than $100,000, and will require the subcontractor to insert like terms in contracts entered into by him. In the case of subcontracts for procuring contracts with the Departments these terms are to be placed in all such subcontracts for more than $25,000 (subsection (b), discussed in § 1603.331).

(b) The 1943 act permits these terms to be incorporated in contracts and subcontracts by reference and each contract or subcontract is made subject to such terms whether or not they are incorporated either physically or by reference. [RR 105]

§ 1601.106 Determination of excessive profits—(a) Costs. In determining the profits from renegotiable business, the 1943 act requires the War Contracts Board to allow costs determined in accordance with the method of cost accounting regularly employed by the contractor or if such method does not properly reflect such costs, the Board is authorized to prescribe the method under which such costs shall be determined. No item of cost shall be allowed which is unreasonable or which is not properly chargeable to the contract or subcontract. Notwithstanding these provisions, all items estimated to be allowable as deductions or exclusions for income tax purposes to the extent they are allocable to renegotiable business, are to be allowed in determining excessive profits. State income taxes, to the extent they are attributable to the portion of the contractor's profits determined to be excessive, however, are not allowable (subsection (a) (4) (B), discussed in § 1603.389). [RR 106.1]

(b) Unused amortization deduction. The 1943 act provides for the repayment by the United States to a contractor or subcontractor, without interest, of the amount of the net renegotiation rebate determined in accordance with procedures and principles set forth in the 1943 act in the event of a recomputation of the amortization deduction provided for in section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code (subsections (a) (4) (C) and (D), discussed in § 1603.383 (b)). [RR 106.2]

(c) Fair cost allowance in the exempted state for raw materials and agricultural commodities in the case of integrated producers. In order to provide for equitable treatment of the integrated producer, the 1943 act provides for the allowance of a fair amount of cost in the exempted state for certain raw materials and agricultural commodities in the case of integrated producers who produce or acquire such materials or commodities below such state and process them up to and beyond such state (subsection (i) (3), discussed in § 1603.344 (c)). In this connection attention is also directed to § 1604.104 (d) supra, which in effect gives the contractor or subcontractor who acquires the exempted raw materials and agricultural commodities at the exempt stage the benefit of a similar special cost allowance to the extent that such products constitute excess inventory of such a contractor or subcontractor. [RR 106.3]

(d) Factors in determining excessive profits. The 1943 act defines excessive profits to be the portion of the profits from the renegotiable business of the contractor or subcontractor which in the light of a list of factors set out in subsection (a) (4) (A) of the act is determined to be excessive. These factors cover such matters as efficiency, costs, capital, risk, contribution to the war effort, character of business, and such other factors as the public interest and fair and equitable dealing may require (discussed fully in § 1604.406 and following). [RR 106.4]

§ 1601.107 Renegotiation by fiscal years. The 1943 act applies to fiscal years ending after June 30, 1943, and requires that renegotiation be conducted on an over-all fiscal year basis. Renegotiation may relate to any period other than a full fiscal year only with the consent of the contractor or subcontractor. The 1943 act requires that renegotiation must relate to the aggregate of the contractor's war business for the year unless the contractor consents to the renegotiation of separate contracts (subsection (c) (1), discussed in § 1603.303). [RR 107]

§ 1601.108 Renegotiation procedure—(a) Mandatory filing of statement. The 1943 act requires every contractor or subcontractor not specifically exempted from renegotiation to file with the Board on or before the first day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year, or after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, whichever is the later, a statement containing such information as the Board may by regulations prescribe (subsection (c) (5) (A), discussed in § 1602.220 and following). In addition to this statement, which is considered to be the statement for the purposes of the beginning of the statute of limitations, the War Contracts Board may require from the contractor or subcontractor any other data, information or records deemed desirable. [RR 108.1]

(b) Commencement of renegotiation proceedings. The contractor or subcontractor will be given reasonable notice of the time and place for a conference with respect to renegotiation. The mailing of such notice by registered mail to the contractor or subcontractor constitutes the commencement of the renegotiation proceedings (subsection (c) (1), discussed in § 1602.241). [RR 108.2]

(c) Statute of limitations. Renegotiation proceedings must be commenced within twelve months from the close of the fiscal year or within twelve months of the date of the filing of the statement referred to in paragraph (a) of this section, whichever is the later. If such proceedings are not completed or if an agreement or order determining the amount of excessive profits is not made within one year from the commencement of the renegotiation proceedings, the liability of the contractor or subcontractor under the 1943 act will be discharged. However, this one year period may be extended by mutual agreement (subsection (c) (3), discussed in §§ 1603.363 and 1603.363). [RR 108.3]

(d) Agreement or order determining excessive profits. Upon the mailing of the notice and the commencement of the renegotiation, the Board will endeavor to make a final or other agreement with the contractor or subcontractor with respect to the elimination of excessive profits. If such an agreement is not made, the act authorizes the Board to issue an order determining the amount of the excessive profits (subsection (c) (1), discussed in § 1606.620 and following). [RR 108.4]

(e) Statement to the contractor or subcontractor. Whenever a determination is made as to the amount of excessive profits, whether by order or by agreement, the Board or its authorized agency, at the request of the contractor or subcontractor, will furnish a statement setting out the determination of excessive profits made in his case, the facts used as a basis therefor, and the reasons for such determination (subsection (c) (1), discussed in § 1605.520 and following). [RR 108.5]

(f) Eliminating excessive profits. When the excessive profits have been determined either by agreement or order, the War Contracts Board shall forthwith direct the Secretaries to eliminate such excessive profits (1) by reductions in price and other contract revisions; (2) by withholding from amounts otherwise due the contractor or subcontractor; (3) by directing a contractor to withhold from amounts otherwise due to a subcontractor; (4) by recovery from the contractor by repayment, credit or suit; or (5) by any combination of these methods. In eliminating such excessive profits there is allowed a credit for Federal income and excess profits taxes in accordance with section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code (subsection (c) (2), discussed in § 1604.440 and following). [RR 108.6]

§ 1601.109 Delegation and review—(a) Delegation. The War Contracts Board may delegate in whole or in part any of its powers, functions or duties to the Secretary of a Department and such Secretary may, in turn, redelegate such powers, functions or duties to such officers or agencies of the United States as he may designate. He may authorize successive redelegations (subsection (d) (4), discussed in § 1601.131 (c)). [RR 109.1]

(b) Review by the War Contracts Board. The determination by any person or agency exercising the delegated powers of the War Contracts Board may be reviewed by the Board either upon its own motion, or, in its discretion, at the request of the contractor or subcontractor. The Board's determination may be less than, equal to, or greater than the determination reviewed. Unless the War Contracts Board upon its own motion initiates a review of the prior determination within sixty days from the date of such determination, or at the request of the contractor or subcontractor made within sixty days from the date of such determination initiates a review of such determination within sixty days from the date of such request, such determination becomes the determination of the War Contracts Board (subsection (d) (5), discussed in §§ 1606.624 and 1606.625. [RR 109.2]

§ 1601.110 Redetermination of excessive profits by The Tax Court of the United States. The Renegotiation Act provides that any contractor or subcontractor aggrieved by a unilateral determination of excessive profits by the War Contracts Board (under the Renegotiation Act of 1943), or by the Secretary of a Department (under the Renegotiation Act of 1942), may petition The Tax Court of the United States for a redetermination of such excessive profits. Proceedings before the Tax Court are de novo. The Court may find an amount of excessive profits less than, equal to, or greater than the amount found by the Board. The petition for a redetermination must be made to the Tax Court within ninety days after the entry of the order or the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943 (February 25, 1944), whichever is the later (subsection (e), discussed in § 1606.630 and following). [RR 110]

§ 1601.111 Applicability—(a) Applicability of the 1943 act in general. In general, the provisions of the 1943 act apply to all fiscal years ending after June 30, 1943. Prior fiscal years are covered by the Renegotiation Act of 1942 (section 701 (d) of the Revenue Act of 1943 cited in §§ 1608.801 and 1601.122 (j) and (k)). [RR 111.1]

(b) Applicability in special cases. There are several exceptions to the general rule set forth in paragraph (a).

(1) Provisions of the 1943 act made retroactive:

(i) Subsections (a) (4) (C) and (a) (4) (D) relating to the adjustment of excessive profits for any year on account of the recomputation of the amortization deduction (discussed in § 1603.383 (b));

(ii) Subsection (i) (3) which provides for a fair cost allowance in the exempted state for certain raw materials and agricultural commodities in the case of integrated producers and which excludes from renegotiation the profits realized because of the increment in value of excess inventories of raw materials and agricultural products acquired in the exempted state (discussed in § 1603.344 (c) and (d));

(iii) Subsection (i) (1) (C) which exempts from renegotiation contracts or subcontracts for certain agricultural commodities (discussed in § 1603.344 (b));

(iv) Subsection (i) (1) (D) which exempts contracts or subcontracts with tax exempt charitable, religious or educational organizations (discussed in § 1603.345);

(v) Subsection (i) (1) (F) which exempts subcontracts under prime contracts or other subcontracts exempted by subsection (i) (1) (discussed in § 1603.347); and

(vi) Subsection (l) which provides a short title (see § 1601.122 (l)).

(2) Provisions of the 1943 act made effective from the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, February 25, 1944:

(i) Subsection (d) which creates the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board and sets out its organization, powers, and duties (discussed in § 1601.131);

(ii) Subsection (e) (2) which provides for the redetermination of excessive profits by the Tax Court in the case of unilateral determinations by the Secretaries under the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1942. [RR 111.2]

(c) Termination of renegotiation. The 1943 act provides that amounts received or accrued after December 31, 1944, will not be subject to renegotiation unless the President finds and proclaims before December 1, 1944, that competitive conditions have not been restored; in which case renegotiation would extend to amounts received or accrued up to any date specified in such proclamation which is not later than June 30, 1945. The 1943 act also provides that in case the President finds and proclaims on or before June 30, 1945, that competitive conditions have been restored as of any date within 6 months prior to such proclamation, renegotiation will not apply to amounts received or accrued after such termination of the statute. A special provision is made in the case of long term contracts which are begun before and completed after the termination date (subsection (h), discussed in § 1603.371). [RR 111.3]

§ 1601.112 Applicable and related statutes—(a) Renegotiation Act of 1943. The full text of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 is cited in § 1608.801 of these regulations. [RR 112.1]

(b) Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code, referred to in subsection (a) (4) (D) and subsection (c) (2) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943, is cited in § 1608.802. Under that section the amount of Federal income and excess profits taxes assessed with respect to any excessive profits for a prior taxable year is credited against the amount of such profits in computing the amount to be refunded by the contractor or otherwise recovered. The effect of section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code and of the Current Tax Payment Act of 1943 is discussed in § 1604.440 and following. [RR 112.2]

(c) Title XIII of Second War Powers Act. Under subsection (c) (5) (B), the War Contracts Board is given the powers of inspection and audit of an agency designated by the President to exercise powers under Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act, 1942. For convenience, Title XIII is cited in § 1608.803 of these regulations. The authority to make such inspections and audits is discussed in § 1606.601 and following. [RR 112.3]

(d) Repricing of war contracts. Title VIII of the Revenue Act of 1943 provides that in cases in which the Secretary of a Department considers the price of any article or service required by his Department, to be unreasonable or unfair he may fix by agreement, if possible, a fair and reasonable price therefor. If no agreement can be reached, the Secretary is authorized to fix, by order, a fair and reasonable price for deliveries after the date of such order and to prescribe the period during which such price shall be effective and such other terms and conditions as he deems appropriate. Contractors or subcontractors aggrieved by such an order may sue the United States for fair and just compensation. Repricing under Title VIII applies to both prime and subcontractors and applies without exemption or restriction until the end of the war. The statutory provisions relating to repricing are cited in § 1608.804. [RR 112.4]

SUBPART B—PRELIMINARY MATERIAL

1. Section 1601.121 is amended by the addition of paragraph (b), as follows:

§ 1601.121 Applicability of Renegotiation Regulations. • • •

(b) Rescission of prior instructions. (1) These regulations supersede all outstanding instructions of the War Contracts Board.

(2) Regulations of general application will be issued by the War Contracts Board only through amendments or additions to these Renegotiation Regulations.

(3) The revocation of prior instructions shall not affect the validity of any action taken in conformity with them before their revocation. [RR 121.2]

2. Section 1601.122 (k) is corrected to read as follows:

§ 1601.122 Definition of terms. • • •

(k) "Renegotiation Act of 1942", "1942 act". The terms "Renegotiation Act of 1942", and "1942 act", mean section 403 of the Sixth Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942 (Public 528, 77th Congress, approved April 28, 1942), as amended by section 801 of the Revenue Act of 1942 (Public 753, 77th Congress, approved October 21, 1942), by section 1 of the Military Appropriations Act, 1944 (Public 108, 78th Congress, approved July 1, 1943), and by Public 149 (78th Congress, approved July 14, 1943), and as further amended by section 701 (b) of the Revenue Act of 1943 (Public 235, 78th Congress, enacted February 25, 1944) to the extent that section 701 (d) of the Revenue Act of 1943 makes the amendments made by section 701 (b) effective as if they had been a part of section 403 of the Sixth Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, on the date of its enactment, April 28, 1942. [RR 122.11]

3. Sections 1601.124, 1601.126, and 1601.127 are amended, and § 1601.128 is added, as set forth below.

§ 1601.124 Amendments and additions. (a) When amendments or additions to these regulations are adopted by the War Contracts Board, they will become effective at once unless otherwise specified, but will not affect the validity of any determination theretofore made in accordance with prior regulations.

(b) All changes in these regulations and all additions to them will be issued in the form of additional or revised pages for this document. These regulations in loose-leaf form will be placed in the hands of interested personnel in the Departments. New and revised pages will be sent from time to time to the Departments for distribution to holders of the Renegotiation Regulations within the Departments. [RR-124]

§ 1601.126 Federal Register. These regulations are being published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Changes and additions will be so published from time to time as directed by the War Contracts Board. [RR 126]

§ 1601.127 Official copies. Official copies of the statutes referred to herein may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. Official copies of Executive Orders cited herein are set out in the FEDERAL REGISTER, which may also be procured from the Superintendent of Documents. [RR 127]

§ 1601.128 Copies of Renegotiation Regulations. It is anticipated that the original Renegotiation Regulations, along with twelve monthly supplements embodying additions and amendments thereto published during the preceding month in the FEDERAL REGISTER, will be available in loose-leaf form for a subscription price of $2.00 from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. [RR 128]

SUBPART C—ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS OF THE PRICE ADJUSTMENT BOARDS AND SECTIONS

Section 1601.133 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1601.133 Navy Department organization—(a) Navy Price Adjustment Board. The Secretary of the Navy has established the Navy Price Adjustment Board to conduct renegotiation under the supervision of the Chairman of the Board. The Board has four divisions located in Washington, New York, Chicago and San Francisco, respectively. [RR 133.1]

(b) Services and Sales Renegotiation Section. In the Procurement Legal Division, Office of the Under Secretary of the Navy, there has been established a Services and Sales Renegotiation Section which specializes in the renegotiation of sales agents and brokers. This section has its headquarters in Washington and divisional offices in Washington, New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. [RR 133.2]

SUBPART D—RELATION OF RENEGOTIATION ACT AND ROYALTY ADJUSTMENT ACT CONCERNING PATENTS

Sections 1601.142 and 1601.143 are amended by the insertion of cross references, so that the text thereof, as amended, will read as follows.

§ 1601.142 Patent licenses subject to renegotiation. Patent licenses granted to the United States and those granted to Departmental contractors or subcontractors are subject to renegotiation. (See §§ 1603.334 (c) and 1603.388 (a)). [RR 142]

§ 1601.143 Allowance of royalties as costs. The allowance of royalties under patent licenses as costs in renegotiation and the effect given to determinations under the Royalty Adjustment Act are discussed in § 1603.388 (a). [RR 143]

PART 1602—PROCEDURE FOR RENEGOTIATION [1]

SUBPART B—PRELIMINARY INFORMATION REQUIRED OF CONTRACTORS

Section 1602.222 is amended in the following respects: Subparagraph (4) is added to that portion of the text preceding paragraph (a); paragraph (a) is amended by redesignating the text thereof as paragraph (a) (1), and by adding subparagraph (2); paragraph (f) is added.

§ 1602.222 Filing of mandatory financial statements. • • •

(4) There is hereby prescribed as the form of mandatory financial statement required to be filed by public utilities (including but not limited to those furnishing gas, electric power, rail, air or water transportation, telegraph, telephone, cable or radio communication) and by steamship operating companies, a statement containing the following:

Name and address of contractor.
Names of companies, if any, under the control of, or controlling, or under common control with the contractor.
Nature of principal business.
Date of expiration of fiscal year.
Balance Sheet, Profit and Loss Statement and Surplus Statement of the contractor for latest completed fiscal year.
Declaration by the contractor that it will furnish such further and additional information as may be required by or on behalf of the War Contracts Board.

Such statement shall be executed on behalf of the contractor by his duly authorized representative and shall contain a certificate that the representations thereby submitted are true and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief. [RR 222]

(a) Sufficiency of contents. (1) Except as hereinafter stated, the forms of "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" are required to be prepared in duplicate in accordance with the instructions which relate to them respectively and which appear in § 1607.701 (b), (d), and (f). The Reports are required to comprise all the information and exhibits specified by the forms and the instructions. However, if all the information called for by the appropriate "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" has been furnished by the contractor to an Agency authorized to conduct renegotiation proceedings under the 1943 act, the contractor may complete the "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" by incorporating by reference the information so furnished and making a specific statement of the time and place of such filing. In such case, the fact that the information has been received will be certified to by the renegotiating Agency on the copy of the "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" which it will forward to the War Contracts Board within sixty days after the date of receipt of the Report by such Agency. A "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" so prepared and filed will be deemed to constitute a sufficient compliance with the mandatory filing requirements of this section in the absence of a notice of insufficiency sent to the contractor within 90 days after the Report has been filed.

(2) Where a Department to which a contractor has been assigned for renegotiation or the Assignments and Statistics Branch determines that it is not feasible for a contractor to furnish all of the information provided for in the Standard Form of Contractor's Report on or before the date specified in the 1943 act, such contractor may file such report containing such information as he can feasibly supply, which in all cases shall include at least the contractor's balance sheet, profit and loss statement and surplus statement for his latest completed fiscal year and shall state in such report that the information not contained therein or such other information as the Department or such Branch may require, will be furnished within such period as the Department or such Branch may designate. In any such case the filing of such a statement on or before the date specified in the act and its acceptance by such Department or such Branch shall constitute compliance by the contractor with the provisions of subsection (c) (5) (A). [RR 222.1]

• • • • •

(f) Filing of mandatory financial statements by parent and subsidiary corporations on a consolidated basis. Parent and subsidiary corporations which constitute an "affiliated group" as defined in subsection (d) of section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code may satisfy the requirements for filing of mandatory financial statements under the first sentence of subsection (c) (5) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 by filing a "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" on a consolidated basis. When such a consolidated "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" is filed there shall also be filed a "Standard Form of Contractor's Report" for each subsidiary corporation (except as noted below) but any such subsidiary corporation report may be completed by writing thereon a statement that a consolidated report has been filed by the parent company. Where any such subsidiary corporation has not received or accrued during the applicable period any amount whatever under renegotiable contracts with the Departments and subcontracts (i. e., contracts or subcontracts not exempt from renegotiation by contractual provision pursuant to subsection (i) or contracts or subcontracts which are not exempted under subsection (i) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943), no report need be filed by it. [RR 222.6]

SUBPART D—CONDUCT OF RENEGOTIATION

Section 1602.243 is added as set forth below.

§ 1602.243 Process of renegotiation. The general principles applicable to the conduct of renegotiation and the process of arriving at a renegotiation determination are discussed in § 1604.402 (c). [RR 243]

SUBPART E—COMPLETION OF RENEGOTIATION

Subpart E is added, as set forth below.

Sec.
1602.250 Scope of subpart.
1602.251 Preparation of agreement.
1602.252 Preparation of statement to contractor.
1602.253 Administration of agreements.
1602.254 Progress reports.
1602.255 Control of documents.

SUBPART E—COMPLETION OF RENEGOTIATION

§ 1602.250 Scope of subpart. This subpart refers to the steps taken upon the completion of a renegotiation resulting in a voluntary agreement, to the administration of agreements and unilateral determinations, and to progress reports. [RR 250]

§ 1602.251 Preparation of agreement. When a tentative settlement has been agreed upon, the Department conducting the renegotiation will promptly prepare a form of agreement (see Subpart A of Part 1605). [RR 251]

§ 1602.252 Preparation of statement to contractor. In Subpart B of Part 1605, the furnishing of a statement to the contractor is dealt with. [RR 252]

§ 1602.253 Administration of agreements. Administration of voluntary agreements or of unilateral determinations by the Department to whom the contractor was assigned for renegotiation is referred to in § 1605.509. [RR 253]

§ 1602.254 Progress reports. (a) The organization designated as the Assignments and Statistics Branch of the War Department Price Adjustment Board will be regarded by the War Contracts Board as the official source of information as to the Government's over-all progress of renegotiation. This Branch will in effect actually serve the War Contracts Board although constituted in the Renegotiation Division, Army Service Forces.

(b) The several Departmental Boards and services will prepare and furnish to the Assignments and Statistics Branch as at the close of business each Friday the appropriate Weekly Progress Report (Form SPRA-O in the case of Departments, see § 1607.751 (a) and (b), and Form SPRA I in the case of Services, § 1607.751 (c) and (d)). On the basis of the information supplied in the Weekly Progress Reports of the several Departments, the Assignments and Statistics Branch will prepare bi-weekly Status of Renegotiation Reports (Form SPRA I–BB) and Operations Reports (Form SPRA I-CC) and will furnish the same to the War Contracts Board and the Departmental Boards (see § 1607.751 (f) and (h)). On the basis of the information supplied in the Weekly Progress Reports of the Services, the Assignments and Statistics Branch will prepare bi-weekly Status of Renegotiation Reports (Form SPRA I-B, set forth in § 1607.751 (e) and Operations Reports (Form SPRA I-C, set forth in § 1607.751 (g)). [RR 254]

§ 1602.255 Control of documents. (a) Renegotiation Agreements, Reports of Renegotiation, records, files, correspondence, memoranda and all other documents containing financial and business information pertaining to renegotiation with specific contractors are the property of the Government of the United States.

(b) Such documents are not to be distributed, nor their contents revealed, to any person having no legitimate right thereto.

(c) Upon transfer or separation from employment in renegotiation, or any other employment in which possession or custody of such documents is authorized, all personnel will return such documents to a responsible official. [RR 255]

PART 1603—DETERMINATION OF RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS AND COSTS

Part 1603 governing determination of renegotiable business and costs is added, as set forth below.

SUBPART A—OVER-ALL BASIS FOR RENEGOTIATION AND EXCEPTIONS

Sec.
1603.301 Over-all basis for renegotiation.
(a) Statutory provisions.
(b) Use of over-all basis.
1603.302 Differing accounting methods.
1603.303 Renegotiation on an individual or group contract basis.
1603.304 Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.
(a) Separate consideration.
1603.305 Joint venture contracts.
1603.306 Treatment of contracts with fixed profit limitations.
(a) Included in renegotiation.
(b) Method of renegotiation in such cases.
1603.307 Treatment of contracts with price adjustment provisions.
(a) Subject to renegotiation.
(b) Method of renegotiation.
(c) Certain shipbuilding contracts.
1603.308 Treatment of other contract claims.
1603.309 Renegotiation of parent and subsidiaries on consolidated basis.
(a) When authorized.
(b) Definition of "affiliated group".
1603.310 Consolidated basis in cases of common ownership.
(a) When authorized.
1603.311 Allocation of excessive profits in cases of consolidated renegotiation.
1603.312 Where consolidated basis not used.

SUBPART B—METHODS FOR SEGREGATING SALES BETWEEN RENEGOTIABLE AND NON-RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

1603.320 Scope of subpart.
1603.321 Responsibility for segregation.
(a) Making of segregation.
(b) Suggested methods.
1603.322 Methods of segregating sales.
(a) General approach.
(b) Specific segregation.
(c) Sales not susceptible of specific segregation.
(d) Types of classification for general segregation.
(e) Applicable basis for percentages of allocation.
(f) Use of reports to Government.
1603.323 Segregation with respect to contracts with RFC subsidiaries.

SUBPART C—CONTRACTS AND SUBCONTRACTS WITHIN THE SCOPE OF THE 1943 ACT

1603.330 Scope of subpart.
1603.331 General coverage of 1943 act.
(a) Statutory provision.
(b) Contracts without renegotiation clauses.
(c) Exemptions and exclusions.
1603.332 Contracts with the Departments.
(a) General.
(b) Treasury procurement schedule of supplies.
(c) Lend-lease contracts.
(d) Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts.
(e) Management fee contracts.
(f) Army Post Exchange and Army Exchange Service contracts.
(g) Navy ship's service stores contracts.
(h) Panama Canal contracts.
(i) Panama Railroad Company contracts.
1603.333 General interpretation of subcontracts.
(a) Statutory definitions.
(b) Interpretation of definition.
(c) When machinery, equipment or materials "used in processing".
(d) General effect of interpretation.
(e) Allocation of sales.
1603.334 Specific interpretations of "subcontract".
(a) Standard commercial articles.
(b) OPA price ceilings.
(c) Patent licenses as subcontracts.
(d) Subcontracts for office supplies.
1603.335 Contracts and subcontracts involving real property.
(a) Contracts and subcontracts for existing real property.
(b) Agreements for fixtures, construction and improvements on real property.
1603.336 Brokers, manufacturers' agents, and dealers; subcontracts.

SUBPART D—MANDATORY EXEMPTIONS AND EXCLUSIONS FROM RENEGOTIATION

1603.340 Scope of subpart.
1603.341 The mandatory exemptions.
1603.342 Authority to interpret.
(a) Statutory provision.
(b) Scope of authority.
1603.343 Contracts and subcontracts with other Governmental agencies.
(a) Statutory exemption.
(b) Interpretation and application of exemption.
1603.344 Contracts and subcontracts for certain raw materials and agricultural commodities.
(a) Raw materials.
(b) Agricultural commodities.
(c) Cost allowance for raw materials and agricultural commodities in the case of integrated producers.
(d) Profits from increment in value of excess inventories.
1603.345 Contracts or subcontracts with tax-exempt charitable, religious and educational institutions.
(a) Statutory exemption.
(b) Internal Revenue Code.
1603.346 Construction contracts awarded as a result of competitive bidding.
(a) Statutory exemption.
(b) Interpretation and application of exemption.
1603.347 Subcontracts under exempt contracts and subcontracts.
(a) Statutory exemption.
(b) Interpretation and application of exemption.
1603.348 Annual receipts under statutory minimum.
(a) Statutory provision.
(b) Computation of aggregate receipts and accruals.
(c) No reduction by refund below exemption.
(d) Tests of "control".
(e) Subcontracts under contracts exempt under the statutory minimum.

SUBPART E—PERMISSIVE EXEMPTIONS FROM RENEGOTIATION

1603.350 Scope of subpart.
1603.351 Contracts and subcontracts to be performed outside of the United States.
(a) Statutory authority.
(b) Exemption.
1603.353 Contracts and subcontracts where profits determinable when price established.
(a) Statutory authority.
(b) Exemption.
1603.353 When contract provisions adequate to prevent excessive profits.
(a) Statutory authority.
1603.354 Contracts and subcontracts for standard commercial articles.
(a) Statutory authority.
(b) Interpretation and application.
1603.355 Contracts and subcontracts when effective competition is likely to exist.
(a) Statutory authority.
(b) General interpretation of exemption.
(c) Application of exemption to construction contracts.
1603.356 Subcontracts as to which it is not administratively feasible to determine and segregate profits.
(a) Statutory authority.
(b) Exemption.
1603.357 Delegation of authority to make permissive exemptions.
1603.358 Requests for exemption.

SUBPART F—LIMITATIONS ON COMMENCEMENT AND COMPLETION OF RENEGOTIATION

1603.360 Scope of subpart.
1603.361 Statutory provision.
1603.362 Commencement of renegotiation proceedings.
1603.363 Completion of renegotiation proceedings.

SUBPART G—TERMINATION OF RENEGOTIATION

1603.370 Scope of subpart.
1603.371 Statutory provision.

SUBPART H—COSTS ALLOCABLE AND ALLOWABLE AGAINST RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

1603.380 Scope of subpart.
1603.381 Statutory provisions and general regulations.
(a) Determination of costs.
(b) "Recomputation" of amortization deduction prior to renegotiation; carry-overs and carry-backs.
(c) Renegotiation rebate where "recomputation" of amortization deduction follows renegotiation.
(d) Profit, cost allocation and allowance; general.
1603.382 Salaries, wages and other compensation.
(a) Allocation.
(b) Allowances.
(c) Wage and salary stabilization.
(d) Application of stabilization orders in renegotiation.
(e) Brokers' commissions.
(f) Pension, annuity, stock bonus and profit sharing plans.
1603.383 Amortization and depreciation.
(a) Allocation.
(b) Accelerated amortization and renegotiation rebate.
(c) Depreciation.
1603.384 Conversion to war production.
1603.385 Losses.
(a) Costs or losses on non-war ventures.
(b) War losses.
(c) Losses from prior or subsequent years.
1603.386 Interest.
(a) Allocation.
(b) Allowance.
1603.387 Advertising expenses.
(a) Allocation.
(b) Allowance.
1603.388 Other costs, expenses and reserves.
(a) Patent royalties.
(b) Corporate charitable contributions.
(c) Cost allowance in connection with raw materials.
1603.389 State income taxes.
(a) In general.
(b) Adjustment for State tax imposed at a "flat rate".
(c) Adjustment for graduated State tax.
(d) Multiple State income taxes.
(e) State income tax measured by income for preceding year.
(f) Adjustment for State income tax of contractor operating as a partnership or sole proprietorship.

SUBPART A—OVER-ALL BASIS FOR RENEGOTIATION AND EXCEPTIONS

§ 1603.301 Over-all basis for renegotiation—(a) Statutory provisions. Subsection (c) (1) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides in part:

> • • • The Board shall exercise its powers with respect to the aggregate of the amounts received or accrued during the fiscal year (or such other period as may be fixed by mutual agreement) by a contractor or subcontractor under contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, and not separately with respect to amounts received or accrued under separate contracts with the Departments or subcontracts, except that the Board may exercise such powers separately with respect to amounts received or accrued by the contractor or subcontractor under any one or more separate contracts with the Departments or subcontracts at the request of the contractor or subcontractor.

(b) Use of over-all basis. (1) This provision requires the War Contracts Board to renegotiate on a fiscal year basis (or such other period as may be fixed by mutual agreement). It also requires that renegotiation be conducted upon an over-all basis unless the contractor or subcontractor requests, and the Board agrees, that such renegotiation be conducted with respect to his contracts and subcontracts separately or as two or more groups.

(2) Generally, renegotiation will be conducted on the basis of the amounts received or accrued by a contractor from his renegotiable contracts and subcontracts for a past fiscal year. Under this method excessive profits are determined by examining the contractor's financial position and the profits from such contracts and subcontracts taken as a whole for a particular fiscal year rather than by separate analysis of each contract or subcontract. This avoids problems of allocation of costs and profits, as between each contract and subcontract, allows the contractor to offset the results of one contract against another and simplifies administration. [RR 301.2]

§ 1603.302 Differing accounting methods. Should there be employed a method of computing profit in a renegotiation under the 1943 act which is different from that employed in renegotiation for a past fiscal year, the Department conducting the renegotiation under the 1943 act must see that the interest of the Government with respect to renegotiation for the past fiscal year is adequately protected against renegotiable business escaping renegotiation because of the change. The interest of the Government in connection with renegotiation for future years must also be protected. These principles apply to renegotiation conducted with respect to a fiscal year, to a period other than a fiscal year or on a single or group contract basis. [RR 302]

§ 1603.303 Renegotiation on an individual or group contract basis. (a) At the request of the contractor or subcontractor renegotiation may be conducted "separately with respect to amounts received or accrued by the contractor or subcontractor under any one or more separate contracts with the Departments or subcontracts. • • •" Some contractors in construction, shipbuilding or other industries account for profits on contracts only in the fiscal year in which such contracts are completed rather than currently in proportion to the percentage of work completed, percentage of estimated cost incurred, or otherwise. In view of the difficulties of accurately apportioning the profits on contracts of some types to specific fiscal years, contractors may request that contracts be renegotiated on a completed contract basis, although some other basis may be used for Federal income tax purposes. Such request may be granted by the Department to which the contractor is assigned for renegotiation and will ordinarily be granted, provided (1) the contractor agrees to include in the renegotiation all such contracts and subcontracts completed up to the end of the latest completed fiscal year which is under renegotiation and (2) the contractor's accounting procedures are such as to establish or provide an accurate basis for the determination of costs and profits under such contracts and subcontracts. The contracts and subcontracts renegotiated on this basis may be renegotiated individually or when practicable as a group subject to such separate treatment as may be required because of the different types of contracts involved (such as fixed-price, cost-plus-fixed-fee, price minus contracts, contracts subject to contractual or statutory fixed-profit limitations and contracts providing for redetermination or revision of the contract price during the life of the contract). In this connection, attention is directed to §§ 1603.306 and 1603.307.

(b) In the event that contracts to be renegotiated on a completed contract basis are uncompleted at the termination date of the 1943 act, the Department to which the contractor is assigned for renegotiation will be guided by the provisions of § 1603.302 as well as by the principles of subsection (h) of the 1943 act (see § 1603.370 and following). [RR 303]

§ 1603.304 Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts—(a) Separate consideration. The financial and other data upon which the renegotiation is based must clearly reflect the financial results of performance of cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts and subcontracts separately from the financial results of performance of other contracts and subcontracts. Accordingly, the amounts received or accrued and costs paid or incurred on such cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts must be segregated from such amounts relating to other renegotiable contracts and subcontracts, so that an appropriate appraisal of the profits from such cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts and subcontracts can be made. [RR 304.1]

§ 1603.305 Joint venture contracts. Where two or more parties enter into an arrangement for the performance jointly of one or more projects, the combination resulting from such arrangement is commonly referred to as a "joint venture." Such a joint venture is regarded as an entity which, with respect to its contracts or subcontracts within the scope of the Renegotiation Act of 1943, is a "contractor" or "subcontractor" within the meaning of the act. Therefore, the joint venture is renegotiated with respect to its renegotiable contracts and subcontracts without regard to other contracts or subcontracts which may be held by the members of the joint venture. [RR 305]

§ 1603.306 Treatment of contracts with fixed profit limitations—(a) Included in renegotiation. Certain contracts with various Departments, particularly the Navy Department, Maritime Commission, and War Shipping Administration, are subject to provisions limiting the contractor's profit thereunder to a fixed percentage of the total sales or contract prices or costs within the scope of such limitation. Such contracts will be included in renegotiation but the agreement made therein shall reserve to the Department having this independent duty, the corresponding right to determine and collect profits, if any, in excess of such limitation. [RR 306.1]

(b) Method of renegotiation in such cases. The contractor's sales or contract prices and costs under contracts subject to such profit limitation shall be included with the sales or contract prices and costs of his other renegotiable business, unless segregation shall be deemed necessary by a Department. Where the contract has not been finally audited the contractor shall be allowed to set up and shall be required to maintain an actual reserve to cover his liability in connection with such profit limitation in an amount by which the contractor's profit within the scope of such limitation is estimated to exceed the maximum allowable profit thereunder. The provision for the establishment of the reserve will be treated as a reduction in net profits rather than an increase in costs or a reduction of sales. This reserve should be allowed on the condition that the contractor will report to the Department conducting the renegotiation and will pay to the United States as excessive profits in renegotiation so much of such reserve as he is not required to repay under such profit limitation and as shall be required to be so paid by such Department. [RR 306.2]

§ 1603.307 Treatment of contracts with price adjustment provisions—(a) Subject to renegotiation. Certain contracts provide for escalation, redetermination or revision of the contract price during the life of the contract. These contracts are subject to renegotiation unless otherwise exempted, but their provisions necessitate special treatment. Except for certain shipbuilding contracts referred to in paragraph (c), the method of handling certain situations arising in connection with such contracts on renegotiation is discussed in paragraph (b). [RR 307.1]

(b) Method of renegotiation. (1) Upon over-all renegotiation involving such contracts, if the price for the period under review is expected to be retroactively reduced after the completion of the renegotiation proceedings, then in determining excessive profits the contractor should be permitted to set up a reasonable reserve to cover the estimated refund under the contract for the period under review. Similarly, if the contract clause is expected to result in a retroactive upward revision of the price for the period under review, an allowance therefor should be made on the basis of reasonable estimates and included in the renegotiable income of the contractor.

(2) In making such estimates the contracting officer should be consulted. Whenever the retroactive adjustment under such clauses will substantially affect the contractor's over-all profits for the period covered by renegotiation, production experience will generally be sufficient to permit a reasonable estimate of the amount of the probable refund or additional payment.

(3) Where the retroactive effect of the price adjustment clause would materially affect the basis of the settlement, but cannot be reasonably estimated, the matter may in certain instances be handled by disregarding the operation of the clause in over-all renegotiation and by amending the contract provision to make any retroactive adjustment inapplicable to the period covered by renegotiation, as is the case under the more recent forms of such price adjustment clauses.

(4) This paragraph does not cover the method of handling certain shipbuilding contracts referred to in paragraph (c) below. [RR 307.2]

(c) Certain shipbuilding contracts. Certain shipbuilding contracts with the Navy Department and Maritime Commission provide for escalation, price savings and for redetermination or revision of the contract price during the life of the contract and the Department with which the contract is made is charged with the duty of auditing and determining the amount to be paid the contractor for work performed under such contracts. Furthermore, under regulations of the Maritime Commission when two or more vessels are constructed under separate contracts as a single undertaking the profit or loss resulting from performance of the single undertaking may be allocated equally to each vessel. Such contracts are subject to renegotiation unless otherwise exempt, but their provisions necessitate special treatment with respect to which the Department with which the contracts are made should be consulted. [RR 307.3]

§ 1603.308 Treatment of other contract claims. If a contractor has claims other than of the kind discussed in §§ 1603.306 and 1603.307 which may affect his profits from renegotiable business for the period under review, such claims should be revealed in the financial or other data upon which the renegotiation is based. [RR 308]

§ 1603.309 Renegotiation of parent and subsidiaries on consolidated basis—(a) When authorized. Renegotiation of parent and subsidiary companies may, in the discretion of the Department conducting the renegotiation, be conducted on a consolidated basis whether or not the parent and subsidiaries constitute an "affiliated group" as defined in subsection (d) of section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code. [RR 309.1]

(b) Definition of "affiliated group". Section 141 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code is as follows:

(d) Definition of "affiliated group." As used in this section, an "affiliated group" means one or more chains of includible corporations connected through stock ownership with a common parent corporation which is an includible corporation if—

(1) Stock possessing at least 95 per centum of the voting power of all classes of stock and at least 95 per centum of each class of the nonvoting stock of each of the includible corporations (except the common parent corporations) is owned directly by one or more of the other includible corporations; and

(2) The common parent corporation owns directly stock possessing at least 95 per centum of the voting power of all classes of stock and at least 95 per centum of each class of the nonvoting stock of at least one of the other includible corporations.

As used in this subsection, the term "stock" does not include nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends.

[RR 309.2]

§ 1603.310 Consolidated basis in cases of common ownership—(a) When authorized. If two or more business enterprises are under common control as a result of common ownership, rather than as a result of parent-subsidiary relationship, renegotiation on a consolidated basis may be appropriate if:

(1) Such consolidation is reasonably necessary for the protection of the interests of the Government. This is especially likely if one or more of such enterprises is a subcontractor of another of the enterprises commonly owned; and

(2) The extent of the common ownership is such that consolidation for renegotiation purposes is not, in the opinion of the Department conducting the renegotiation, inequitable to minority interests in one or more of the enterprises.

It is not essential that the interests of the common owners be identical in extent or nature in each of the enterprises commonly owned. [RR 310.1]

§ 1603.311 Allocation of excessive profits in cases of consolidated renegotiation. (a) In renegotiation on a consolidated basis, careful scrutiny will be given to the methods employed in segregating costs as well as income as between the corporations or enterprises included in the consolidated repegotiation, particularly where the type of business conducted by one is different and distinct from the type of business conducted by the others in the consolidated group.

(b) Excessive profits must be allocated among the corporations or enterprises included in the renegotiation, and the renegotiation agreement must disclose the allocation. If excessive profits have been realized and the renegotiation agreement merely imposes liability generally on the entire consolidated group for the profits found to be excessive, without fixing the separate liability, then the members of the group may not be allowed a deduction from their income for Federal tax purposes for the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated under the agreement, or a tax credit under section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. The excessive profits must be so allocated even though some or all of the members of the consolidated group participate in filing a consolidated Federal tax return.

(c) In case the group consists only of parent and subsidiaries, only the parent need sign the renegotiation agreement, unless the renegotiation agency requires otherwise. (See § 1605.502 (l).) In other cases one agreement will suffice but it must be executed by all members of the group.

(d) To make such allocations of the excessive profits, a review of the unconsolidated financial statements of each member of the group must be made, and the record must show a proper basis for the allocation. [RR 311]

§ 1603.312 Where consolidated basis not used. Whenever parent and subsidiary companies are renegotiated not on a consolidated basis but separately, renegotiations with the individual members of the controlled group should be conducted concurrently if possible. [RR 312]

SUBPART B—METHODS FOR SEGREGATING SALES BETWEEN RENEGOTIABLE AND NON-RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

§ 1603.320 Scope of subpart. The Renegotiation Act prescribes what types of contracts are subject to renegotiation. In practice, the difficulty of tracing and identifying all sales with exactness, especially under lower tier subcontracts, often necessitates the use of general methods of segregating renegotiable and non-renegotiable business and expenses. This subpart deals with such methods of segregation, and Subparts C, D, and E discuss in detail the principles for determining whether particular contracts are subject to the act or exempt. [RR 320]

§ 1603.321 Responsibility for segregation—(a) Making of segregation. The contractor should in all cases make the segregation of sales and the allocation of costs and expenses between renegotiable business and non-renegotiable business. The contractor should submit a signed statement of this segregation and allocation, explaining and justifying the methods used. The segregation and allocation must be satisfactory to the Department conducting the renegotiation. [RR 321.1]

(b) Suggested methods. The following section outlines general principles which may aid in determining an equitable method of segregation. [RR 321.2]

§ 1603.322 Methods of segregating sales—(a) General approach. (1) Often, there is more than one method available for segregating sales between renegotiable business and non-renegotiable business. In such cases the methods available for equitably allocating the cost of sales should be carefully considered before a final determination is made as to the method to be used in segregating sales.

(2) In determining whether specific contracts or subcontracts are subject to renegotiation, the principles stated in Subparts C, D, and E will be followed.

(3) Where specific segregation is possible, this should be done in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section. Where this is not feasible, the methods discussed in paragraphs (c) to (f) of this section should be used. [RR 322.1]

(b) Specific segregation. (1) Certain sales can be specifically classified as subject to renegotiation, such as sales known to be under:

(i) Prime contracts which are not exempt.

(ii) Non-exempt subcontracts under specific non-exempt prime contracts.

(iii) Non-exempt subcontracts for specific products, the end use of which is known to be within the scope of the Renegotiation Act, such as tank parts, cartridge disks, etc.

(2) Other sales can be specifically classified as not subject to renegotiation, such as sales known to be under:

(i) Prime contracts which by their terms or the application of an exemption provided by or established pursuant to subsection (i) of the Renegotiation Act are exempt or have been exempted.

(ii) Subcontracts known to be under prime contracts or subcontracts to which, in either case, a mandatory exemption provided by subsection (i) (1) of the Renegotiation Act is applicable.

(iii) Subcontracts to which a mandatory exemption or a discretionary exemption provided by or established pursuant to subsection (i) of the Renegotiation Act is applicable.

(iv) Agreements and purchase orders for products, the end use of which is known to be outside the scope of the Renegotiation Act. For example, the sale of safety clothing to a steel mill for the use of its employees (see § 1603.333 (d) (2)) or the sale of building material to a contractor for use in the construction of a privately owned home (see § 1603.335 (b) (4)).

(3) The contractor should indicate the basis of classification used and should state the principles applied thereto. (See paragraph (a) (2) of this section.) [RR 322.2]

(c) Sales not susceptible of specific segregation. (1) The contractor may not be able specifically to identify all or part of his sales as subject or not subject to renegotiation. Such sales may include sales to retailers, wholesalers, jobbers, fabricators, assemblers and others selling for both war and commercial use. The identity of the original product may be lost in processing. The contractor's sales and cost of sales records may be in such form that specific segregation cannot be made.

(2) These types of sales should be classified in such a manner as to permit the application to them of certain principles, percentages, etc., calculated to provide a reasonable and equitable division between renegotiable business and non-renegotiable business. (See § 1603.333 (e).) [RR 322.3]

(d) Types of classification for general segregation. For the purpose of making a general segregation of sales, they may commonly be classified by:

(1) Industry, customer or customer group.

(2) Product or group of products.

(3) End use classification as shown on reports to the WPB.

(4) Division, department or plant, where the extent to which each division is devoted to business subject to renegotiation can be determined.

(5) Periods of the year, where the percent of business subject to renegotiation varies with the period. [RR 322.4]

(e) Applicable basis for percentages of allocation. When sales have been classified according to paragraph (d) of this section such sales may be segregated by applying ratios or percentages based upon general or specific factors such as:

(1) The recognized or estimated extent to which certain products are being used for war purposes as shown by governmental, trade association or other reports.

(2) The recognized or estimated extent to which certain industries (to whom the contractor sells) may be engaged in war business.

(3) Percentages developed through spot check of the end use of the products for one or more months of the year. The selection of the month or months should be made only after a thorough review of the equity of the choice by the Departments and by the contractor. [RR 322.5]

(f) Use of reports to Government. (1) The great majority of companies to be renegotiated for the year 1943 used one or more of the so-called "controlled materials" (steel, copper, and aluminum in various types and shapes) as primary raw materials, secondary materials, or in the form of component parts.

(2) Because the war demand for these materials greatly exceeded the supply, their distribution was closely regulated and they could be obtained only with proper authorization by the War Production Board:

(i) During the fourth quarter 1942, under the Production Requirements Plan ("PRP").

(ii) During the first quarter 1943, under "PRP".

(iii) During the second quarter 1943, under either "PRP" or the Controlled Materials Plan ("CMP").

(iv) During the third and fourth quarters 1943, under "CMP".

(3) In order to secure the necessary authorization, all companies (except those using customer-furnished materials) were required to file with the War Production Board applications showing, among other things, shipments and orders analyzed by preference ratings and by end use or claimant agencies (Army, Navy, Aircraft, Maritime, Lend-Lease, etc.). Inasmuch as section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, 18 U.S.C. 80, makes it a criminal offense to make a willfully false statement or representation to any department or agency of the United States as to any matter within its jurisdiction, the data contained in these applications can be considered reliable. Material deviations from representations in WPB reports in sales segregations for renegotiation purposes should be accepted only when extraordinary circumstances exist, and such circumstances must be explained fully in renegotiation reports to the department or agency conducting the renegotiation.

(4) Names of "claimant agencies" and their symbols are set forth in the WPB pamphlet "Controlled Materials Plan Major Identification Symbols" dated January 3, 1944. Copies of this pamphlet can be obtained by writing War Production Board, Controller Division, Washington 25, D. C.

(5) "CMP" applications and reports to the WPB provide a ready basis for segregating 1943 sales for purposes of renegotiation.

(i) For manufacturers of Class A products (military items such as aircraft, ammunition, artillery, tanks, ships, electronic, etc., and their major component parts), section A of WPB Form 732 shows analysis of shipments by claimant agencies.

4th Q 1943	WPB732 Budget Bureau No. 12-RO27.10
1st Q 1944	WPB732 Budget Bureau No. 12-RO27.11

NOTE: Separate reports usually were filed for each plant or division. To avoid omission of part of the company's operations, all WPB732 forms should be scrutinized.

Because of the character of products manufactured, Class A producers will in almost every instance be found to be fully renegotiable. In rare cases, however, certain sales by Class A producers will prove to be exempt from renegotiation because ultimate payment was not made by one of the nine "Departments" specified in the Renegotiation Act.

(ii) For manufacturers of Class B products (minor military items such as bulldozers, component parts such as pumps included in a number of military items, and non-military items), forms CMP-4B and WPB732 show analyses of shipments by claimant agencies.

NOTE: A separate CMP–4B form was made out for each B product. Separate WPB732 forms also were prepared for each plant or division. The CMP–4B and WPB732 forms contain, for renegotiation purposes, essentially the same information; therefore, use whichever is the later.

With possible rare exceptions, shipments classified as follows should be treated as renegotiable:

Claimant	Symbol
Aircraft	C
Army	W, O
Navy	N
Maritime	M
Lend-Lease	L

Careful analysis of shipments classified as follows will be necessary to ascertain that ultimate payment was made by one of the nine "Departments" specified in the Renegotiation Act.

	Probable classification
	Predominantly Renegotiable	Predominantly Exempt
Office of Economic Warfare		E
Canadian Division		D
War Food Administration		A
National Housing Agency		H
Petroleum Administration for War		P
Office of Defense Transportation		T
Office of War Utilities		U
Office of Rubber Director	R, F
WPB Office of Operations Vice Chairman	B, G, J, K
WPB Facilities Bureau	F
WPB Office of Civilian Requirements	S	V
Special Purpose	AM, FC, PX, X-1 MRO	WH, RO, SO

The most expeditious method of classifying shipments of these types would appear to be through an analysis of purchase orders, either by customers or by typical months, on the basis of "major program identification symbols". (See pages 1 to 4 of WPB pamphlet referred to in subparagraph (4) above.) The same type of analysis is also suggested for companies using customer-furnished materials inasmuch as orders received by them are required to carry the "major program identification symbol".

(6) The segregation of sales for manufacturers of wood products, textiles, chemicals, foods, tobacco products, and printing and publishing items usually can be accomplished most easily through an analysis in terms of end-use orders by customers. PD25A applications to the WPB will provide information useful for this purpose. End-use symbols are still used by companies not operating under "CMP". [RR 322.6]

§ 1603.323 Segregation with respect to contracts with RFC subsidiaries. In connection with prime contracts between a contractor and Defense Plant Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation or Rubber Reserve Company, a segregation of sales and allocation of costs is necessary in order that excessive profits, if any, attributable to such contracts may be computed. (See § 1605.502 (e) and note to article 4 of the Standard Form of Agreement, Form I § 1607.741 (a) requiring repayment of such profits to the RFC Price Adjustment Board.) [RR 323]

§ 1603.330 Scope of subpart. This and the following Subparts D and E deal with the contracts and subcontracts subject to renegotiation. This subpart discusses the kinds of prime contracts and subcontracts which are within the 1943 act, aside from exemptions, and the following subparts cover the exemptions (mandatory and permissive, respectively) from renegotiation. [RR 330]

§ 1603.331 General coverage of 1943 act—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (c) of the 1943 act confers the basic authority to renegotiate, and paragraph (6) of subsection (c), which deals with its application, provides that, with certain exceptions, it shall apply "to all contracts and subcontracts, to the extent of amounts received or accrued thereunder in any fiscal year ending after June 30, 1943, whether such contracts or subcontracts were made on, prior to, or after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, and whether or not such contracts or subcontracts contain the provisions required under subsection (b)." [RR 331.1]

(b) Contracts without renegotiation clauses. Subsection (b) of the 1943 act requires the insertion of renegotiation provisions in certain contracts and subcontracts and provides that these provisions may be incorporated by reference to such subsection. However, both subsections (b) and (c) provide that renegotiation under subsection (c) applies whether or not the contract or subcontract contains such provisions unless such contract or subcontract is specifically excluded or exempted. [RR 331.2]

(c) Exemptions and exclusions. Subsections (c) (6) and (1) of the 1943 act provide for various exclusions and exemptions of contracts and subcontracts from renegotiation. These are discussed in detail in Subparts D and E. [RR 331.3]

§ 1603.332 Contracts with the Departments—(a) General. Subject to the exemptions contained in the 1943 act, all contracts made by the War and Navy Departments, the Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration, Defense Plant Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Rubber Reserve Company, and Metals Reserve Company are subject to renegotiation. Contracts of the Treasury Department subject to renegotiation include:

(1) Contracts placed under section 201 of Title II of the First War Powers Act, 1941, 55 Stat. 839. These are principally lend-lease contracts which may be identified by the symbols "DA-TPS" preceding the contract number.

(2) Contracts for strategic and critical materials placed under the authority of the Act of June 7, 1939, 53 Stat. 811. Such contracts made after March 1, 1943 may be identified by the symbols "SCM-TPS" preceding the contract number.

(3) Contracts for supplies for refugee relief under the Red Cross program, placed under the authority contained in Title II of the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, 55 Stat. 817, or in section 40 of the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act, fiscal year 1941, 54 Stat. 627, and Title I of the Second Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1942, approved July 2, 1942. Such contracts may be identified by the symbols "TRR" preceding the contract number. [RR 332.1]

(b) Treasury procurement schedule of supplies. Contracts of the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department of the type regularly made by it in the ordinary course of business prior to the war period, as such, are not subject to renegotiation unless negotiated under authority contained in Title II of the First War Powers Act, 1941. However, purchase orders, issued by other Departments under General Schedule of Supplies Contracts, which are entered into by the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department on behalf of all departments and establishments of the Government, are considered as subject to the provisions of the 1943 act. Purchase orders issued by the Treasury Department itself under such contracts are also considered as subject to the provisions of the 1943 act if such purchases are for lend-lease or for the Red Cross program. [RR 332.2]

(c) Lend-lease contracts. All so-called lend-lease contracts entered into by any of the Departments having renegotiation authority are subject to the provisions of the 1943 act. However, lend-lease contracts entered into by any other department or agency of the Government are not subject to renegotiation under existing law. [RR 332.3]

(d) Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts. Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts are subject to renegotiation unless otherwise exempt. The treatment of such contracts in renegotiation is discussed in § 1603.304. [RR 332.4]

(e) Management fee contracts. Contracts providing for a management fee are subject to renegotiation. [RR 332.5]

(f) Army Post Exchange and Army Exchange Service contracts. Contracts with Army Exchanges for the sale of items carried by such exchanges for resale are not subject to statutory renegotiation. Contracts entered into by the Army Exchange Service (through the intermediary of the Quartermaster General but without involving the use of appropriated funds) are not subject to statutory renegotiation. These conclusions are based on opinions of the Judge Advocate General of the War Department respectively dated February 20, 1943, and August 13, 1943, relating to the 1942 act. [RR 332.6]

(g) Navy ship's service stores contracts. Ship's service activities, including ship's service stores, are conducted by Navy personnel but their operations do not involve Navy Department funds. Their contracts are not Navy Department contracts and are not subject to renegotiation. Ship's stores, as distinguished from ship's service stores, are operated with Navy Department funds. Their contracts are Navy Department contracts and are subject to renegotiation. [RR 332.7]

(h) Panama Canal contracts. Contracts with the Panama Canal Zone are subject to statutory renegotiation. Under the Panama Canal Act (48 U.S.C. 1306), the President in time of war may designate an Army officer to assume exclusive authority and jurisdiction over the Panama Canal and the government of the Canal Zone and, by Executive Order 8232 (September 5, 1939), the President has done so. Contracts made by the Canal Zone are therefore treated as contracts with the War Department. Reference to the Panama Canal Zone includes the Panama Canal. [RR 332.8]

(i) Panama Railroad Company contracts. Contracts made by the Panama Railroad Company, a New York corporation whose stock is owned by the United States, are not subject to renegotiation. [RR 332.9]

§ 1603.333 General interpretation of subcontracts—(a) Statutory definitions. (1) Subsection (a) (5) and (6) of the 1943 act provide:

(5) The term "subcontract" means

(A) Any purchase order or agreement to perform all or any part of the work, or to make or furnish any article, required for the performance of any other contract or subcontract, but such term does not include any purchase order or agreement to furnish office supplies; or

(B) Any contract or arrangement other than a contract or arrangement between two contracting parties, one of which parties is found by the Board to be a bona fide executive officer, partner, or full-time employee of the other contracting party, (i) any amount payable under which is contingent upon the procurement of a contract or contracts with a Department or of a subcontract or subcontracts, or determined with reference to the amount of such a contract or subcontract or such contracts or subcontracts, or (ii) under which any part of the services performed or to be performed consists of the soliciting, attempting to procure, or procuring a contract or contracts with a Department or a subcontract or subcontracts: Provided, That nothing in this sentence shall be construed (1) to affect in any way the validity or construction of provisions in any contract with a Department or any subcontract, heretofore at any time or hereafter made, prohibiting the payment of contingent fees or commissions; or (2) to restrict in any way the authority of the Secretary or the Board to determine the nature or amount of selling expenses under subcontracts as defined in this subparagraph, as a proper element of the contract price or as a reimbursable item of cost, under a contract with a Department or a subcontract.

(6) The term "article" includes any material, part, assembly, machinery, equipment, or other personal property.

[RR 333.1]

(b) Interpretation of definition. By this definition of "subcontract", profits on the production and sale of articles required for the performance of another contract or subcontract are subject to renegotiation, as well as profits on the production or sale of all materials incorporated into the end product, down to and including raw materials, except certain specified raw materials and agricultural commodities exempted under subsection (1) of the 1943 act. This definition is interpreted to include contracts not only with prime contractors but also with other subcontractors, if such contracts are:

(1) For the sale or processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein,

(2) For the sale, furnishing or installation of machinery, equipment or materials used in the processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein,

(3) For the sale, furnishing or installation of machinery used in the processing of other machinery to be used in the processing of an end product or of an article incorporated therein,

(4) For the sale, furnishing or installation of component parts of or subassemblies for machinery included in (3) above and machinery, equipment and materials included in (2) above, and

(5) For the performance of services directly required for the performance of contracts or subcontracts included in (1), (2), (3) and (4) above.

The term "component part" as used in this paragraph shall be deemed to include materials and ingredients. [RR 333.2]

(c) When machinery, equipment or materials "used in processing". Under this interpretation machinery, equipment or materials will be deemed to be used in the processing of an end product or an article incorporated in an end product in all cases where such machinery, equipment or materials are used:

(1) To produce or otherwise operate directly on an end product or an article incorporated in an end product by chemical, physical or mechanical methods; such, for example, as shaping, cutting, constructing, combining, refining, assembling, testing, inspecting or (in the case of end products) packaging. Examples of this category include not only such machinery as rolling mills and machine tools, but also gauges and other measuring instruments, torches and chemicals or other materials consumed in the course of the manufacturing process, such for example as hydrogen, oxygen, coke and acetylene;

(2) To transport within the contractor's plant an end product or an article incorporated in an end product or other articles used in connection with the production thereof. Examples of this category include tote boxes, tractors, trucks and traveling cranes;

(3) In connection with the repair, maintenance, equipping, or operation in the contractor's plant of machinery or equipment there used in the production of an end product, or an article incorporated in an end product. Examples of this category include spare parts, auxiliary tools, abrasives, wrenches, screwdrivers, other hand tools, lubricating oil, cutting oil and dry ice; also machine tools or equipment located in the tool room of a contractor's plant and special equipment used for the manufacture, preparation or maintenance of tools, dies, jigs, fixtures, equipment or machinery. [RR 333.3]

(d) General effect of interpretation. (1) In general it is intended to include as subject to statutory renegotiation the sale of all machinery, equipment, materials and other articles which contribute directly to the actual production of an end item or an article incorporated therein, in connection with the physical handling of the item from the time of entry of the component materials to departure of the item from the plant in question and to include all machinery which similarly contributed directly to the actual production of other machinery so used.

(2) It is intended to exclude the sale of articles which contribute only indirectly to the actual manufacturing process, such as products used for general plant maintenance, including fuel and equipment to produce light, heat and general power requirements and such as equipment needed for general office maintenance, including all types of office machinery and supplies, and such as safety equipment and clothing.

(3) It is not intended to exclude from renegotiation any articles sold to a contractor when the items are to be ultimately resold to a Department either as end products or as component parts included therein. However, subcontracts to furnish office supplies are specifically excluded from the definition of subcontract. Therefore, subcontracts for office supplies, although such office supplies are ultimately sold to a Department, are not subject to renegotiation. Office supplies are interpreted to include paper, ink, typewriter ribbons, binders, covers, blotters, paper clips, staples and other items of consumable character, as well as related items of relatively short life and minor cost, such as pens, pen holders, pencils, blotter pads and calendars; they do not include office furniture, machinery and equipment, such as desks, chairs, lamps, rugs, waste baskets, filing cases, typewriters and calculating, recording, reproducing and dictating machines. [RR 333.4]

(e) Allocation of sales. Sales of such machinery and equipment are allocated on the basis of the use thereof (i.e., for renegotiable or non-renegotiable production); and when the extent of the use can not be readily established, such sales are considered renegotiable in substantially the same proportion as the production of the purchasers of such machinery and equipment is subject to renegotiation. (See Subpart B, including § 1603.322 (c).) [RR 333.5]

§ 1603.334 Specific interpretations of "subcontract"—(a) Standard commercial articles. The term "standard commercial article" is defined by subsection (a) (7) of the 1943 act which provides in subsection (i) that agreements for such articles may be exempted by the War Contracts Board under certain conditions. (See § 1603.354.) Unless agreements for standard commercial articles are exempted pursuant to such subsection, their renegotiability will be determined by the same tests applied to agreements for equipment specially fabricated for war uses or purposes. [RR 334.1]

(b) OPA price ceilings. The fact that articles are sold under price ceilings fixed by the Office of Price Administration does not exclude the sale of such articles from renegotiation. Excessive profits have been realized within OPA price ceilings. Such ceilings do not prevent some producers from realizing excessive profits. The increase in volume of sales of such articles may lower costs to such extent that excessive profits are realized. [RR 334.2]

(c) Patent licenses as subcontracts. Patent licenses for processes or inventions required in performing contracts with the Departments and subcontracts are subcontracts as defined in subsection (a) (5) (A) of the 1943 act subject to statutory renegotiation (unless exempted), whether or not the licensor furnishes or agrees to furnish any technical or other service to the licensee and without regard to the time that the license agreement was made. Such patent licenses are not subcontracts under subsection (a) (5) (B) of the 1943 act. [RR 334.3]

(d) Subcontracts for office supplies. The definition of "subcontract" as contained in subsection (a) (5) (A) of the 1943 act specifically excludes therefrom agreements or purchase orders for office supplies. (Also see § 1603.333 (d).) [RR 334.4]

§ 1603.335 Contracts and subcontracts involving real property—(a) Contracts and subcontracts for existing real property. (1) Action taken with respect to exempting contracts and subcontracts for certain interests in real property is referred to in § 1603.352 (b).

(2) Moreover, aside from such exemption, the statutory definition of "subcontract" is construed to exclude agreements for the purchase of real property by contractors and subcontractors. Since it refers to the making or furnishing of any "article" which in turn is defined to mean any "material • • • or other personal property", the definition implies that agreements for the acquisition of real property are not subcontracts.

(3) The exemptions and exclusions discussed in this paragraph govern agreements for existing real property, but do not apply to agreements for fixtures or for improvements to or construction of real property which are discussed in the following paragraph. [RR 335.1]

(b) Agreements for fixtures, construction and improvements on real property. (1) Where an agreement is for work or articles which become real property in the course of its performance, as distinguished from existing real property, the principles stated in this paragraph govern.

(2) Where an agreement to sell, furnish or install machinery, equipment, materials or other personal property would otherwise constitute a renegotiable contract or subcontract, the fact that such property is to be installed in a building or otherwise affixed to real estate and will be treated as real property for some purposes does not exclude the agreement from renegotiation.

(3) Where a contract for the construction of a building or improvements on or to real property is made by a Department, or if not made by a Department the Government acting through a Department is to obtain title to such property either immediately or ultimately (such as contracts for plant and facilities), then such contract is renegotiable unless exempted. Likewise all subcontracts under such a renegotiable contract for furnishing services, or articles, such as building materials and structural steel, which are personal property when furnished, but which became real property during the course of construction, are renegotiable unless exempted, and so are subcontracts for furnishing any machinery and equipment installed in the building.

(4) Where, however, an agreement is for the construction of a building or improvement on or to real property for a contractor or subcontractor for the purpose of performing a renegotiable contract or subcontract and the Government acting through a Department is not to acquire title thereto, either immediately or ultimately, then except as provided in (2) above, such agreement and subcontracts thereunder are not subject to renegotiation even though the improvements may be covered by Certificates of Necessity.

(5) In determining whether a subcontract for an item is renegotiable under subparagraph (2) or not renegotiable under subparagraph (4), it is helpful to consider its character at the time of installation. If the item is one which has a predominantly prefabricated character at the time of installation or assembly, it should be classified as machinery or equipment and the subcontract for its sale is therefore subject to renegotiation. A subcontract for an item is not considered subject to renegotiation if the item has no substantial existence as such until its construction from materials at the time of installation, i. e., where the principal component parts did not have a prior existence as machinery or equipment (in the ordinary sense) off the premises but result from construction on the premises.

(6) Attention is directed to the mandatory and discretionary exemption of contracts or subcontracts for the construction of buildings, structures, improvements or other similar facilities and the regulations relating thereto. (See §§ 1603.346 and 1603.355 (c).) [RR 335.2]

§ 1603.336 Brokers, manufacturers' agents, and dealers; subcontracts. (1) The definition of subcontract in subsection (a) (5) of the 1943 act includes any contract or arrangement (i) which makes the compensation thereunder depend on procuring one or more contracts with a Department or subcontracts or on their amount, or (ii) under which any part of the services performed or to be performed consists of the soliciting or attempting to procure or procuring one or more such contracts or subcontracts. This provision subjects such agreements to renegotiation under the 1943 act to the same extent as other subcontracts. It does not, of course, validate any such agreement if otherwise illegal, or affect the allowance or disallowance of amounts paid under such contracts as items of cost.

(2) In addition, even when not within (1) above, contracts between manufacturers and their representatives are subject to renegotiation as subcontracts if the representative is performing, or agrees to make available on request, engineering, mechanical, or other services related to the performance of one or more prime contracts with the Departments or subcontracts, including assistance in obtaining priority certificates and in other matters required in connection with performance of the contract. For example, manufacturers' agents in the machine tool industry customarily hold themselves ready to furnish engineering advice, mechanical service, and advice on training in the use of tools. By contract or custom the manufacturer usually pays the commissions of the agent whether or not these services are used, and charges the amount into the cost of the tool. These activities comprise "part of the work • • • required for the performance of any other contract or subcontract" within the definition of subcontract in subsection (a) (5) (A) of the 1943 act. (See § 1602.203 (d).)

(3) When a manufacturer's representative also acts as dealer, he is in substantially the same position as a jobber and his sales of articles to one of the Departments or to a contractor with a Department or a subcontractor are subject to renegotiation, whether the articles are delivered from his own inventory or shipped direct by the manufacturer. The fact that the prices on articles handled by manufacturers' representatives and jobbers are regulated under Office of Price Administration ceilings does not affect the result. (See § 1603.334 (b).) [RR 336]

§ 1603.340 Scope of subpart. The preceding subpart deals with the general interpretation of the coverage of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 and with the meaning of the terms "contract" and "subcontract" as used in the act. The act contains various specific exemptions and exclusions of mandatory character, which are found in subsections (i) and (e) (6) of the act. These exemptions and exclusions will be outlined in this subpart. Permissive exemptions are covered by the succeeding Subpart E. [RR 340]

§ 1603.341 The mandatory exemptions. (1) Contracts and subcontracts with other Governmental agencies are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (A). (See § 1603.343.)

(2) Contracts and subcontracts for certain raw materials are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (B). See § 1603.344.)

(3) Contracts and subcontracts for agricultural commodities are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (C). (See § 1603.344 (b).)

(4) Contracts or subcontracts with tax-exempt charitable, religious and educational institutions are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (D). (See § 1603.345.)

(5) Construction contracts awarded as a result of competitive bidding are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (E). (See § 1603.346.)

(6) Subcontracts under exempt contracts and subcontracts are exempted by subsection (i) (1) (F). (See § 1603.347.) [RR 341]

§ 1603.342 Authority to interpret—(a) Statutory provisions. Subsection (i) (2) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides:

> (2) The Board is authorized by regulation to interpret and apply the exemptions provided for in paragraph (1) (A), (B), (C), (E), and (F) • • •

[RR 342.1]

(b) Scope of authority. The authority to interpret covers all of the mandatory exemptions except the exemption of tax-exempt charitable, religious and educational institutions. (Subparagraph (i) (1) (D) of the 1943 act; § 1603.345.) [RR 342.2]

§ 1603.343 Contracts and subcontracts with other governmental agencies—(a) Statutory exemption. Subsection (i) (1) (A) of the 1943 act provides that it shall not apply to:

> (A) any contract by a Department with any other department, bureau, agency, or governmental corporation of the United States or with any Territory, possession, or State, or any agency thereof or with any foreign government or any agency thereof;

[RR 343.1]

(b) Interpretation and application of exemption. The War Contracts Board has adopted the following interpretation:

(1) Under this provision of the act no contract between one of the Departments and any other federal, local or foreign government agency is subject to renegotiation. A municipal corporation, whether acting in a proprietary or governmental capacity, is considered to be an agency of a State for the purposes of this exemption.

(2) Contracts between such other agencies or governmental corporations and private contractors, and subcontracts thereunder, are likewise not subject to renegotiation, except in those instances where the agency or governmental corporation is acting as a direct agent for a Department. In these instances, the contract is deemed to be with the Department for which the agency or governmental corporation is acting as direct agent, and not with the agency or governmental corporation, and accordingly, if otherwise subject to renegotiation, is not exempted.

(3) Certain of the agencies and governmental corporations referred to sometimes place orders called "pool" orders. Under this type of order the agency or corporation orders large quantities of a particular item from a manufacturer. Before delivery under this order the manufacturer may sell all or a portion of the items to a Department or to a Departmental contractor or subcontractor and the order of the governmental corporation or agency is reduced to the extent of these purchases by others. In such cases the sales by the manufacturer to a Department or to a Departmental contractor or subcontractor are not exempt from renegotiation. [RR 343.2]

§ 1603.344 Contracts and subcontracts for certain raw materials and agricultural commodities—(a) Raw materials—(1) Statutory exemption. Subsection (i) (1) (B) of the 1943 act provides that it shall not apply to:

> (B) any contract or subcontract for the product of a mine, oil or gas well, or other mineral or natural deposit, or timber, which has not been processed, refined, or treated beyond the first form or state suitable for industrial use;

(2) Interpretation and application of exemption. In determining whether or not a particular product is an "exempted product" under the exemption in subsection (i) (1) (B) of the act, the following principles shall govern:

(i) Exempted products: The phrase "other mineral or natural deposit" shall be interpreted to include only mineral or natural deposits of a wasting or depletable character similar to products "of a mine, oil or gas well". Accordingly, water, sea water and air, and products derived therefrom, are not considered to be other mineral or natural deposits within the meaning of the act, and contracts or subcontracts therefor, or for products derived therefrom, shall be subject to renegotiation.

(ii) State at which exemption terminates: In general a product will be considered to be an exempted product until it has arrived at its dispersal point, i. e., the point at which a substantial proportion of the product is used by the ultimate consumer, or by industries other than the industry of origin. The industry of origin includes not only the primary industry of extraction or severance, but also any processing, refining or treatment directly supplementing its extraction or severance or to produce one or more of the chemical elements or compounds present in it in the state in which it may be found in abundance in nature; but excludes other processing, refining or treatment to produce various end products for the ultimate consumer, or a substantial variety of products which vary materially in size, shape or content from the original product.

(iii) Combination of several materials: Where substantial quantities of two or more materials or ingredients are combined to produce a product for industrial use, the product resulting from such combination is considered to be non-exempt, unless the other material or materials are used as a catalyst, carrying agent or in some other subordinate capacity in connection with processing, refining or treatment of the principal product which is in the course of preparation for its first industrial use.

(iv) Different processes: Where a product is made in substantial quantities by two or more different processes, one of which would result in the exemption of the product under the above tests and the other would result in its inclusion, such a product will be considered to be renegotiable only where made by a process which would result in its inclusion.

(v) Byproducts: Where a process for making a product or material subject to renegotiation under the above tests also produces byproducts, such byproducts shall be treated as subject to renegotiation since any benefits resulting from use or sale of such byproducts operate in substance to reduce the cost of the principal product. The principle of the preceding sentence is inapplicable to byproducts which would otherwise be exempt under this subparagraph (2). In the case of byproducts resulting from processes principally designed to produce an "exempted product" under the above tests, such byproducts shall be treated as "exempted products" if they are not further processed, refined or treated. If further processing, refining or treatment of such byproducts takes place, the status of the ultimate product resulting will be determined in accordance with the general principles set forth above.

(3) A list of products which, subject to the foregoing interpretation are considered exempt, is set forth in § 1608.841. [RR 344.1]

(b) Agricultural commodities—(1) Statutory exemption. Subsection (i) (1) (C) of the 1943 act provides that it shall not apply to:

> (C) any contract or subcontract for an agricultural commodity in its raw or natural state, or if the commodity is not customarily sold or has not an established market in its raw or natural state, in the first form or state, beyond the raw or natural state, in which it is customarily sold or in which it has an established market. The term "agricultural commodity" as used herein shall include but shall not be limited to—
> (i) commodities resulting from the cultivation of the soil such as grains of all kinds, fruits, nuts, vegetables, hay, straw, cotton, tobacco, sugar cane, and sugar beets;
> (ii) natural resins, saps and gums of trees;
> (iii) animals such as cattle, hogs, poultry, and sheep, fish and other marine life, and the produce of live animals, such as wool, eggs, milk and cream;

(2) Interpretation and application of exemption. (i) Applicability: The provision exempting agricultural commodities under subsection (i) (3) of the 1943 act is retroactive as if it were a part of the Renegotiation Act on the date of its enactment, April 28, 1942.

(c) Cost allowance for raw materials and agricultural commodities in the case of integrated producers—(1) Statutory provision. Subsection (i) (3) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides, in part, as follows:

(3) In the case of a contractor or subcontractor who produces or acquires the product of a mine, oil or gas well, or other mineral or natural deposit, or timber, and processes, refines, or treats such a product to and beyond the first form or state suitable for industrial use, or who produces or acquires an agricultural product and processes, refines, or treats such a product to and beyond the first form or state in which it is customarily sold or in which it has an established market, the Board shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary to give such contractor or subcontractor a cost allowance substantially equivalent to the amount which would have been realized by such contractor or subcontractor if he had sold such product at such first form or state.

(2) Interpretation and application. Where a contractor (i) processes, refines, or treats a product of a mine, oil or gas well, or other mineral or natural deposit, or timber, to the first form or state suitable for industrial use, and further refines, processes or treats such product beyond the first form or state suitable for industrial use in order to perform his contract, or (ii) produces or acquires an agricultural product and processes, refines or treats such agricultural product to and beyond the first form or state in which it is customarily sold or in which it has an established market, then in such cases for the purposes of statutory renegotiation the product will be treated as an item of cost of the performance of such contract in such amount as, in the opinion of the Board, fairly represents a properly applicable allowance. In determining the proper allowance, due consideration shall be given to the established sale or market price where there is a representative market for the product in the exempt state, and to such other factors as may be necessary to reflect the purpose and intent of the statutory exemption. In general it is the purpose and intent of this provision to allow to the contractor engaged in an integrated process of the type described, an item of cost substantially equivalent to that granted by the statute to others who sell an exempt product, namely what he could have realized if he had sold the exempt product at the intermediate stage. [RR 344.3]

(d) Profits from increment in value of excess inventories—(1) Statutory exclusion. Subsection (i) (3) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943, insofar as it relates to the exclusion of profits from the increment in value of excess inventories provides:

(3) • • • Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section there shall be excluded from consideration in determining whether or not a contractor or subcontractor has received or accrued excessive profits that portion of the profits, derived from contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, attributable to the increment in value of the excess inventory. For the purposes of this paragraph the term "excess inventory" means inventory of products, hereinbefore described in this paragraph, acquired by the contractor or subcontractor, in the form or at the state in which contracts for such products on hand and on contract would be exempted from this section by subsection (i) (1) (B) or (C), which is in excess of the inventory reasonably necessary to fulfill existing contracts or orders. That portion of the profits, derived from contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, attributable to the increment in value of the excess inventory, and the method of excluding such portion of profits from consideration in determining whether or not the contractor or subcontractor has received or accrued excessive profits, shall be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Board. In the case of a renegotiation with respect to a fiscal year ending prior to July 1, 1943, the portion of the profits, derived from contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, attributable to the increment in value of the excess inventory shall (to the extent such portion does not exceed the excessive profits determined) be credited or refunded to the contractor or subcontractor, and in case the determination of excessive profits was made prior to the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, such credit or refund shall be made notwithstanding such determination is embodied in an agreement with the contractor or subcontractor, but in either case such credit or refund shall be made only if the contractor or subcontractor, within ninety days after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, files a claim therefor with the Secretary concerned.

(2) Interpretation and application—(i) Statement of general principles by the Committee of Conference. The basic principles of this exclusion are set forth in the following excerpt from the Statement of the Managers of the Committee of Conference on the Revenue Act of 1943.

The profits realized by a contractor or subcontractor by reason of the increment in value of his excess inventory of the materials described in subsection (i) (1) (B) or (i) (1) (C), in the form or state in which contracts therefor are exempted under such subsections, to the extent that such profits are applicable to contracts with the departments or subcontracts, shall be excluded from consideration in determining excessive profits. The test as to whether or not any contractor or subcontractor has an excess inventory of such materials turns upon whether or not the contractor or subcontractor has in inventory quantities of such materials in excess of the amount reasonably necessary to fulfill existing contracts or orders. The method of determining the portion of the profits applicable to contracts with the departments or subcontracts realized by reason of the increment in value of an excess inventory and the method of excluding such portion of such profits from renegotiation will be set out in regulations prescribed by the Board. In the case of a renegotiation with respect to a fiscal year ending prior to July 1, 1943, the portion of the excess inventory (to the extent it does not exceed the excessive profits determined) shall be credited or refunded to the contractor or subcontractor. Where the determination of the excessive profits was made prior to the date of the Revenue Act of 1943, such credit or refund shall be made whether or not the determination is embodied in an agreement with the contractor or subcontractor. In all such cases the credit or refund will be made only if the contractor or subcontractor within 90 days after the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, files claim therefor with the secretary concerned.

The following example will show how the amendment operates. A has, through the purchase of long cotton, 600,000 pounds of cotton on hand on a particular date, which has a book cost of ten cents a pound. On this date, A has future orders which will consume only 100,000 pounds of such cotton. A thus has a long position of 500,000 pounds of cotton. The next contract that A takes is for Government goods and requires the use of 500,000 pounds of such cotton. On the day A takes the Government contract, the current market price of such cotton is 15 cents a pound. In such a situation A has placed himself in a position to realise an inventory profit of $25,000. This inventory profit, if realized, is not a manufacturing profit, but is in the nature of an investment or speculative profit which could be realized. It has no relationship to the profits to be derived from the Government contract, and, therefore, represents a profit from an excess inventory, which is excluded from renegotiation under the amendment.

The same situation might also apply in the case of a tobacco and cigarette manufacturer. Suppose for example, when the tobacco markets opened in the fall of 1942 A had on hand 20,000,000 pounds of tobacco of the 1940 crop, 20,000,000 pounds of the 1941 crops, and A then went into the market and bought some 20,000,000 pounds of 1942 grown tobacco, although his existing orders would not cause him to expect to manufacture more than 20,000,000 pounds into cigarettes. He thus has an excess inventory of 40,000,000 pounds of tobacco, and his case would fall within the amendment.

(ii) Definitions. For the purposes of this paragraph the following definitions shall apply:

(a) Materials: Materials are products described in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section (of the grade, class and type to be used by the contractor or subcontractor in fulfilling contracts with a Department or subcontracts for processed or finished goods under which the amounts received or accrued are subject to renegotiation) acquired by the contractor or subcontractor in the last form or state in which contracts therefor are exempt under the provisions set forth in those paragraphs.

(b) Inventory: Inventory is the quantity of materials on hand or under contract for purchase (including the quantity of such materials, adjusted for waste, contained in the work in process inventory and the inventory of uninvoiced finished goods) reduced by the quantity of materials under contract for sale. It should be noted that profits or losses from the sale of materials are excluded from renegotiation under the raw material and agricultural commodity exemptions and that such transactions must be considered separately in the application of these regulations. A contract for purchase or a contract for sale is a contract under the terms of which (1) the quantity, the delivery of which the buyer is committed to accept, is certain, (2) the time limits in which such fixed quantity is to be delivered are certain, and (3) the price is certain or is to be made certain solely by factors existing at a time specified in the contract. Special or unusual contractual arrangements with respect to the acquisition or disposition of materials or finished or processed goods will be given special consideration in accordance with the facts in the individual case.

(c) Existing contracts or orders: Existing contracts or orders, at any time, are the uninvoiced portions of those contracts or orders for processed or finished goods, the fulfillment of which requires the use of the materials in inventory.

(d) Excess inventory: Excess inventory is the inventory of materials which is in excess of the quantity reasonably necessary to fulfill existing contracts or orders.

(e) Replacement value: Replacement value of excess inventory is the value of such excess inventory calculated by determining as of the date on which the contractor or subcontractor enters into a contract with a Department or subcontract, under which the amounts received or accrued are subject to renegotiation, the market value of the materials of the grade, of the quality, and in the quantities to be used by the contractor or subcontractor in fulfilling the contract or subcontract. Where no quotations for the particular grade or quality of material are available as of the date the contract or subcontract is entered into, any factors tending to establish a fair market value may be taken into consideration.

(f) Increment in value: Increment in value is the amount by which the replacement value of the portion of the excess inventory, allocated to the fulfillment of any contract or subcontract, exceeds the cost of such portion of the excess inventory as determined by the method of inventory accounting regularly employed by the contractor or subcontractor.

(iii) Time for determining excess inventory. Accounting for the purposes of determining excess inventory will commence as of the beginning of the month, four weeks period, or other similar period of inventory accounting employed by the contractor or subcontractor, in which the contractor or subcontractor entered into the first contract with a Department or subcontract under which any part of the amounts received or accrued were subject to renegotiation. Subsequently, excess inventory will be determined as of the beginning of each month, four weeks period, or other similar accounting period in which the contractor or subcontractor enters into contracts with a Department or subcontracts under which the amounts received or accrued are subject to renegotiation. If any excess inventory is found to exist at the beginning of any month, it shall be deemed to exist throughout that month; if no excess inventory is found to exist at the beginning of a month, it shall be deemed that none existed throughout that month. In the absence of adequate records, the amount of materials contained in any inventory category at the beginning of each month shall be deemed to be one-half of the quantity contained in the combined opening and closing inventories of materials in such category for the shortest inventory accounting period for which such information is available, and during which the determination of excess inventory is applicable.

(iv) Treatment of excess inventory. Upon the establishment of the existence of the excess inventory, such inventory is deemed to be the inventory first used by the contractor or subcontractor thereafter and shall be allocated pro-rata to the processing under contracts with Departments and subcontracts, under which the amounts received or accrued are subject to renegotiation, in chronological order, and other processing carried on by the contractor or subcontractor up to the end of the month in which such excess inventory is exhausted.

(v) Exclusion of profits attributable to increment in value of excess inventory. In any case in which it appears that profits attributable to the increment in value of the excess inventory may exist, a tentative determination of excessive profits, will be made without regard to this provision. The tentative excessive profits, so determined, will then be reduced by the portion of the profits attributable to the increment in value of the excess inventory. For the purposes of determining the portion of the profits attributable to the increment in value of the excess inventory which is to be so excluded, replacement value shall be allowed only to that portion of the excess inventory allocated to each such contract or subcontract and the profits to be so excluded attributable to such contracts shall be limited to the portion of such profits received or accrued under such contract or subcontract during the fiscal year. If, for the fiscal year, profits derived from contracts with the Departments or subcontracts under which the amounts received or accrued are subject to renegotiation, attributable to increment in value of the excess inventory, exceed losses derived from such contracts or subcontracts attributable to decreases in value of the excess inventory, such excess of profits over losses will be excluded in determining excessive profits. [RR 344.4]

§ 1603.345 Contracts or subcontracts with tax-exempt charitable, religious and educational institutions—(a) Statutory exemption. Subsection (i) (1) (D) of the 1943 act provides that it shall not apply to:

(D) any contract or subcontract with an organization exempt from taxation under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(b) Internal Revenue Code. Section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code exempts from taxation:

(6) Corporations, and any community chest, fund, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation.

[RR 345.2]

§ 1603.346 Construction contracts awarded as a result of competitive bidding—(a) Statutory exemption. Subsection (i) (1) (E) of the 1943 act provides that it shall not apply to:

(E) any contract with a Department, awarded as a result of competitive bidding, for the construction of any building, structure, improvement, or facility.

[RR 346.1]

(b) Interpretation and application of exemption. (1) The exclusion from renegotiation of construction contracts with a Department awarded as a result of competitive bidding applies only to contracts for the construction of buildings, structures, improvements and other similar facilities let to the lowest qualified bidder and which were entered into after advertisement and for which bids have been received from two or more independent, responsible and qualified contractors in actual competition with each other. (See § 1603.355 (c).)

(i) As used herein "advertisement" shall be interpreted as meaning published advertising or such other solicitation for bids as will open the bidding to all probable bidders under the circumstances of the particular case.

(ii) In any case in which it is claimed that a contract is excluded from renegotiation by reason of the application of this subparagraph (1) and such contract was not entered into after published advertising, the Department conducting the renegotiation may deny such claim but shall not approve the same without submitting the matter, together with all relevant information in the possession of such Department, to the War Contracts Board for a final determination.

(2) This section of the act is applicable only to amounts received or accrued under such contracts for fiscal years ending after June 30, 1943, and applies regardless of the date when the contracts were made.

(3) Contracts for the furnishing of materials or supplies or for the lease, sale or manufacture of machinery or equipment are not within the scope of this exemption. In determining whether a particular contract or subcontract constitutes a contract for the construction of a building, structure, improvement or other similar facility or constitutes a contract for the lease, sale or manufacture of machinery or equipment, the essential character of the performance under the contract will control. In those cases where the items to be furnished under the contract have a predominantly prefabricated character at the time of installation or assembly, the contract will ordinarily be regarded as one of sale or manufacture rather than of "construction". This question arises most frequently in connection with contracts for the sale and installation of machinery or equipment where both the furnishing of the machinery or equipment and its installation are embraced within a single contract. In cases of this character an undertaking to furnish the article may be severed from an agreement to install and an appropriate finding made as to that portion of the contract undertaking which might properly be exempted. On the other hand, where an item to be furnished under a contract has no substantial existence as such until its construction from materials at the site and time of installation so that the contract in its essence is one of construction as distinguished from manufacture or sale, the exemption will be applicable. The essential distinction does not depend upon whether the item involved does or does not become part of the real estate, but depends rather on whether the contract is essentially one for "construction" as distinguished from a contract for manufacture or sale. (See § 1603.335 (b)). [RR 346.2]

§ 1603.347 Subcontracts under exempt contracts and subcontracts—(a) Statutory exemption. Subsection (i) (1) (F) of the 1943 act provides that it shall not apply to:

(F) any subcontract, directly or indirectly under a contract or subcontract to which this section does not apply by reason of this paragraph,

[RR 347.1]

(b) Interpretation and application of exemption. It should be noted that the exemption applies only where the subcontract is under a contract or subcontract exempted by paragraph (1) of subsection (i) of the 1943 act. Thus, subcontracts under prime contracts or subcontracts exempted under the discretionary exemptions authorized by subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act, the exemption measured by renegotiable volume under subsection (c) (6), or any other exemption or exclusion contained in the 1943 act, are not exempted by this provision. (See § 1603.348 (e).) [RR 347.2]

§ 1603.348 Annual receipts under statutory minimum—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (c) (6) of the 1943 act provides

(6) This subsection shall be applicable to all contracts and subcontracts * * * unless (A) the contract or subcontract provides otherwise pursuant to subsection (i) or is exempted under subsection (i) or (B) the aggregate of the amounts received or accrued in such fiscal year by the contractor or subcontractor and all persons under the control of or controlling or under common control with the contractor or subcontractor, under contracts with the Departments and subcontracts (including those described in Clause (A), but excluding subcontracts described in subsection (a) (5) (B)) do not exceed $500,000 and under subcontracts described in subsection (a) (5) (B) do not exceed $25,000 for such fiscal year. If such fiscal year is a fractional part of twelve months, the $500,000 amount and the $25,000 amount shall be reduced to the same fractional part thereof for the purposes of this paragraph.

(b) Computation of aggregate receipts and accruals. (1) In order to qualify for this exemption a contractor must meet two conditions:

(i) The gross receipts or accruals of the contractor and his affiliates for his fiscal year from subcontracts within the scope of subsection (a) (5) (B) of the 1943 act (that is, for services in procuring contracts or subcontracts) must not exceed $25,000; and

(ii) The gross receipts or accruals of the contractor and his affiliates for his fiscal year from all contracts with the Departments and from all subcontracts within the scope of subsection (a) (5) (A) of the 1943 act, including contracts and subcontracts exempt from renegotiation under subsection (i) of the 1943 act but excluding subcontracts covered in (1) above, must not exceed $500,000.

(2) Affiliate is used in this section to refer to a person who controls or is controlled by or under common control with the contractor. Total receipts or total billings under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts are included in gross receipts or accruals in computing the limits referred to in this section.

(3) When the fiscal years of the respective members of the affiliated group differ, the test will be whether, during the twelve months period (or fraction thereof) which is the fiscal year of the member of the group being considered for renegotiation, the group had gross receipts or accruals in excess of the statutory minimum.

(4) If the contractor meets one of the conditions referred to in subdivision (1) hereof but not the other, renegotiation will be conducted only with respect to his contracts and subcontracts as defined in subsection (a) (5) (A) of the 1943 act or with respect to his subcontracts as defined in subsection (a) (5) (B) of the 1943 act, as the case may be, as to which the condition is not met. [RR 348.2]

(c) No reduction by refund below exemption. (1) In connection with the renegotiation of contracts and subcontracts (other than subcontracts referred to in subsection (a) (5) (B) of the 1943 act), no determination of excessive profits shall be made in an amount greater than that which, when deducted from the aggregate amount of gross receipts or accruals referred to in paragraph (b) (1) (ii) of this section will reduce them below $500,000.

(2) In connection with the renegotiation of subcontracts referred to in subsection (a) (5) (B) of the 1943 act, no determination of excessive profits shall be made in an amount greater than that which, when deducted from the aggregate amount of gross receipts or accruals referred to in paragraph (b) (1) (i) of this section will reduce them below $25,000.

(3) In the case of a fiscal year of less than twelve months, ending after June 30, 1943, these rules are applied on a prorated basis.

(4) In the renegotiation of contractors who are subject to renegotiation by reason of the common control provisions of the 1943 act (see paragraph (a) of this section) the aggregate of the recoveries from such contractors must not reduce the combined adjusted sales of the contractors below the minimum referred to in this paragraph. [RR 348.3]

(d) Tests of "control". In determining whether the contractor controls or is controlled by or under common control with another person, the following principles should be followed:

(1) Corporate control: A parent corporation which owns more than 50% of the voting stock of another corporation controls such other corporation and also controls all corporations controlled by such other corporation.

(2) Individual control: An individual who owns more than 50% of the voting stock of a corporation controls the corporation and also controls all corporations controlled by the corporation.

(3) Partnership control: A general partner who is entitled to more than 50% of the profits of a partnership controls the partnership.

(4) Joint Venture control: A joint venturer who is entitled to more than 50% of the profits of a joint venture controls the joint venture.

(5) Other cases: Actual control is a question of fact. Whenever it is believed that actual control exists even though the foregoing conditions are not fulfilled, the matter may be determined by the Department or Service conducting the renegotiation. [RR 348.4]

(e) Subcontracts under contracts exempt under the statutory minimum. Sales under subcontracts are not exempt solely because the purchaser is a contractor who is exempt because his annual receipts and accruals are under the statutory minimum, since the exemption of subsection (i) (1) (F) of the 1943 act is limited to subcontracts under contracts and subcontracts exempt by reason of subparagraph (1) of paragraph (i) of the 1943 act. (See § 1603.347 (b).) [RR 348.5]

SUBPART E—PERMISSIVE EXEMPTIONS FROM RENEGOTIATION

§ 1603.350 Scope of subpart. The preceding subpart deals with mandatory exemptions and exclusions from the operation of the Renegotiation Act of 1943. The act contains certain provisions authorizing the War Contracts Board, or persons to whom its authority shall be delegated, to exempt other contracts and subcontracts from the operation of the act. This subpart will deal with these permissive exemptions. [RR 350]

§ 1603.351 Contracts and subcontracts to be performed outside of the United States—(a) Statutory authority. Subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act authorizes the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, in its discretion, to exempt from some or all of the provisions of the act

(A) any contract or subcontract to be performed outside of the territorial limits of the continental United States or in Alaska.

[RR 351.1]

(b) Exemption. (1) Each contract or subcontract to be performed outside the territorial limits of the continental United States, outside the territories of Alaska and Hawaii, outside the Panama Canal Zone, and outside the other territories and island possessions of the United States shall be exempt from the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 unless it shall be determined by the War Contracts Board or by any authority to whom power to exempt individual contracts under subsection (i) (4) (A) of the 1943 act has been or may be delegated or redelegated;

(i) That administrative difficulties do not make impracticable the renegotiation of such contract or subcontract,

(ii) That the procurement program of the United States in foreign countries will not be adversely affected by such renegotiation, and

(iii) That such renegotiation will not otherwise be contrary to the interests of the United States.

(2) In determining whether the procurement program of the United States in foreign countries or the interests of the United States generally will be adversely affected by such renegotiations, it is considered desirable that representatives of the Department of State of the United States be consulted, if practicable; such consultation shall not, however, be essential to the valid renegotiation of any contractor or subcontractor.

(3) Such determination may be made at any time whether before or after the execution of the contract or subcontract and whether or not it contains a renegotiation clause. [RR 351.2]

§ 1603.352 Contracts and subcontracts where profits determinable when price established—(a) Statutory authority. Subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act authorizes the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, in its discretion, to exempt from some or all of the provisions of the act

(B) any contracts or subcontracts under which, in the opinion of the Board, the profits can be determined with reasonable certainty when the contract price is established, such as certain classes of agreements for personal services, for the purchase of real property, perishable goods, or commodities the minimum price for the sale of which has been fixed by a public regulatory body, of leases and license agreements, and of agreements where the period of performance under such contract or subcontract will not be in excess of thirty days;

[RR 352.1]

(b) Exemption. In the opinion of the War Contracts Board the profits from contracts and subcontracts for the purchase or lease of any interest in real estate can be determined with reasonable certainty when the contract price is established, and such contracts and subcontracts are accordingly exempted from the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943. (See § 1603.336 (a)). For an exemption relating to certain contracts and subcontracts involving electric power, gas, transportation by railroad, motor vehicle, or air, and communications and subcontracts thereunder, see § 1608.842. [RR 352.2]

§ 1603.353 When contract provisions adequate to prevent excessive profits—(a) Statutory authority. Subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act authorizes the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, in its discretion, to exempt from some or all of the provisions of the act

(C) any contract or subcontract or performance thereunder during a specified period or periods, if in the opinion of the Board, the provisions of the contract are otherwise adequate to prevent excessive profits.

[RR 353.1]

§ 1603.354 Contracts and subcontracts for standard commercial articles—(a) Statutory authority. (1) Subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act authorizes the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, in its discretion, to exempt from some or all of the provisions of the act

(D) any contract or subcontract for the making or furnishing of a standard commercial article, if, in the opinion of the Board, competitive conditions affecting the sale of such article are such as will reasonably protect the Government against excessive prices;

(2) Subsection (a) (7) of the 1943 act provides

(7) The term "standard commercial article" means an article—

(A) which is identical in every material respect with an article which was manufactured and sold, and in general civilian, industrial, or commercial use prior to January 1, 1940,

(B) which is identical in every material respect with an article which is manufactured and sold, as a competitive product, by more than one manufacturer, or which is an article of the same kind and having the same use or uses as an article manufactured and sold, as a competitive product, by more than one manufacturer, and

(C) for which a maximum price has been established and is in effect under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or under the Act of October 2, 1942, entitled "An Act to amend the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, to aid in preventing inflation, and for other purposes", or which is sold at a price not in excess of the January 1, 1941, selling price.

An article made in whole or in part of substitute materials but otherwise identical in every material respect with the article with which it is compared under subparagraphs (A) and (B) shall be considered as identical in every material respect with such article with which it is so compared.

(3) Subsection (i) (2) of the 1943 act provides

(2) The Board is authorized by regulation * * * to interpret and apply the definition contained in subsection (a) (7).

[RR 354.1]

(b) Interpretation and application. (1) Exemption of standard commercial articles will be made on the basis of "articles" by types or classes and not on the basis of individual contracts or individual contractors. Exemptions will be effective with respect to such date as may be specified in the exemption and will apply to amounts received or accrued or to contracts entered into after the specified date.

(2) Studies made with respect to the existence of excessive profits in the standard commercial article field in connection with the Congressional hearings on the amendments to the Renegotiation Act indicated that the production of standard commercial articles purchased in substantial volume for war purposes had generally resulted in excessive profits on renegotiable business both in 1942 and in 1943. The Congress rejected the suggestion that a basis for exemption existed by reason of the fact a particular article constituted a standard commercial article or was sold under OPA ceiling prices. Furthermore, it is to be noted that the fact that an individual contractor may not be making excessive profits on such an article is of little significance. The status of the individual contractor is more readily dealt with through renegotiation where he can be given a clearance if after examination it is found that no excessive profits exist in the particular case. Accordingly, in order that useless requests for exemption may be avoided, it should be noted that exemptions under section 403 (i) (4) (D) can only be made where competitive conditions have been such as reasonably to protect the Government against excessive prices and on the basis of broad national conditions and considerations and after complete research and development of the factual and legal questions involved. [RR 354.2]

§ 1603.355 Contracts and subcontracts when effective competition is likely to exist—(a) Statutory authority. Subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act authorizes the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, in its discretion, to exempt from some or all of the provisions of the act

(E) any contract or subcontract, if, in the opinion of the Board, competitive conditions affecting the making of such contract or subcontract are such as are likely to result in effective competition with respect to the contract or subcontract price.

(b) General interpretation of exemption. The War Contracts Board will make exemptions under this provision only as to classes or types of contracts on the basis of the subject matter with which the contract or subcontract is concerned. Exemptions by the Board will be based upon broad national conditions and considerations and will be limited to those fields where, in the opinion of the Board, not only do competitive conditions exist, but the competition is such that it may be presumed to be effective in the sense of producing fair and reasonable prices for the Government and in generally eliminating excessive profits. [RR 355.2]

(c) Application of exemption to construction contracts. The Board has found that competitive conditions affecting the making of construction contracts and subcontracts entered into subsequent to June 30, 1943, were such as to result in effective competition with respect to the contract or subcontract price where all of the following conditions exist:

(1) The contract or subcontract is one for the construction of buildings, structures, improvements or other similar facilities. Contracts or subcontracts for the furnishing of materials or supplies or for the lease or sale of machinery or equipment are not within the scope of this exemption. Also see § 1603.346 (b) for interpretation of mandatory exemption relating to such construction and see § 1603.335 (b).

(2) The contract was entered into subsequent to June 30, 1943, and did not constitute a substitute for or a revision or extension of an existing contract entered into on or before June 30, 1943.

(3) The work covered by the contract was substantially the same as the work for which the bids were requested.

(4) Bids were received from two or more responsible and qualified contractors, who were independent of each other and were in actual competition with each other for the work for which bids were requested.

(5) The contract price was not in excess of the low bid received. [RR 355.3]

§ 1603.356 Subcontracts as to which it is not administratively feasible to determine and segregate profits—(a) Stat- utory authority. Subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act authorizes the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, in its discretion, to exempt from some or all of the provisions of the Act

(F) any subcontract or group of subcontracts not otherwise exempt from the provisions of this section, if, in the opinion of the Board, it is not administratively feasible in the case of such subcontract or in the case of such group of subcontracts to determine and segregate the profits attributable to such subcontract or group of subcontracts from the profits attributable to activities not subject to renegotiation.

(b) Exemption. For an exemption relating to subcontracts under certain contracts and subcontracts involving electric power, gas, transportation by railroad, motor vehicle, or air, and communications, see § 1608.842. [RR 356.2]

§ 1603.357 Delegation of authority to make permissive exemptions. The authority to make exemptions of contracts or subcontracts under subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act by general classes or types has not been delegated by the War Contracts Board. The War Contracts Board has, however, delegated to each Secretary authority to make exemptions under this subsection of individual contracts or subcontracts under such contracts entered into pursuant to the authority of such Secretary. Such delegation of authority, however, must be exercised in accordance with interpretations of the act and regulations relating thereto issued by the War Contracts Board. Also, subject to interpretations and regulations of the War Contracts Board, the Secretary to whom an assignment for renegotiation is made has authority to interpret and apply exemptions under subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act. The Secretaries have been given full power to redelegate this authority and to authorize further redelegation within their respective Departments. (See § 1608.821 (a).) [RR 357]

§ 1603.358 Requests for exemption. All requests or petitions for the exemption by general classes or types of contracts and subcontracts for a standard commercial article or of contracts or subcontracts where it is claimed there is "effective competition" or of other general classes or types of contracts under subsection (i) (4) of the 1943 act should be made in writing in quintuplicate and addressed to the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board at the address specified in § 1607.791 (e), and should be supported by a full statement of facts setting forth the basis for the requested exemption. [RR 358]

SUBPART F—LIMITATIONS ON COMMENCEMENT AND COMPLETION OF RENEGOTIATION

§ 1603.360 Scope of subpart. The Renegotiation Act of 1943 contains certain limitations on the commencement of renegotiation proceedings and their completion, which will be outlined in this subpart. The related subject of termination of all renegotiation under the act is covered by the succeeding subpart. [RR 360]

§ 1603.361 Statutory provision. Subsection (c) (3) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides:

(3) No proceeding to determine the amount of excessive profits shall be commenced more than one year after the close of the fiscal year in which such excessive profits were received or accrued, or more than one year after the statement required under paragraph (5) is filed with the Board, whichever is the later, and if such proceeding is not so commenced, then upon the expiration of one year following the close of such fiscal year, or one year following the date upon which such statement is so filed, whichever is the later, all liabilities of the contractor or subcontractor for excessive profits received or accrued during such fiscal year shall thereupon be discharged. If an agreement or order determining the amount of excessive profits is not made within one year following the commencement of the renegotiation proceeding, then upon the expiration of such one year all liabilities of the contractor or subcontractor for excessive profits with respect to which such proceeding was commenced shall thereupon be discharged, except that (A) if an order is made within such one year by the Secretary (or an officer or agency designated by the Secretary) pursuant to a delegation of authority under subsection (d) (4), such one-year limitation shall not apply to review of such order by the Board, and (B) such one-year period may be extended by mutual agreement.

§ 1603.362 Commencement of renegotiation proceedings. Unless renegotiation proceedings are commenced either (1) within one year after the close of the fiscal year in which the excessive profits were received or accrued, or (2) within one year after the statement required under subsection (c) (5) of the 1943 act is filed with the War Contracts Board, whichever is later, the liability of the contractor or subcontractor for the fiscal year involved will be discharged. Under subsection (c) (1) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 the mailing of notice by registered mail of the time and place of a conference to be held with respect to the determination of excessive profits constitutes the commencement of the renegotiation proceeding. [RR 362]

§ 1603.363 Completion of renegotiation proceedings. Renegotiation must be completed by the making of an agreement or the entry of an order within one year following the commencement of the renegotiation proceeding, or the liability of the contractor or subcontractor for the fiscal year involved will be discharged. The one year period of limitation on completion of renegotiation proceedings does not apply, however, to the review by the War Contracts Board of an order made by a Secretary of a Department or any officer or agency to whom his authority in this respect has been redelegated. Also, the one year period may be extended by mutual agreement. [RR 363]

§ 1603.370 Scope of subpart. This subpart deals with termination of renegotiation in general under the provisions of subsection (h) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943. [RR 370]

§ 1603.371 Statutory provision. (a) Subsection (h) of the 1943 act provides that the act shall apply only with respect to profits which are attributable to performance prior to the termination date, and for the determination of such profits, as follows:

(A) in the case of any contract or subcontract the performance of which requires more than twelve months, or in the case of any contract, or subcontract with respect to which the powers of the Board are exercised separately pursuant to subsection (c) (1) rather than on a fiscal-year basis, the portion of the profits so derived which is determined by the Board to be equal to the same percentage of the total profits so derived as the percentage of completion of the contract prior to the termination date; and

(B) in all other cases, the profits so derived which are received or accrued prior to the termination date;

(b) Subsection (h) (2) of the 1943 act defines the "termination date" as follows:

(A) December 31, 1944; or

(B) If the President not later than December 1, 1944, finds and by proclamation declares that competitive conditions have not been restored, such date not later than June 30, 1945, as may be specified by the President in such proclamation as the termination date; or

(C) If the President, not later than June 30, 1945, finds and by proclamation declares that competitive conditions have been restored as of any date within six months prior to the issuance of such proclamation, the date as of which the President in such proclamation declares that competitive conditions have been restored; except that in no event shall the termination date extend beyond the date proclaimed by the President as the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war, or the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress as the date of such termination, whichever is the earlier.

[RR 371]

SUBPART H—COSTS ALLOCABLE AND ALLOWABLE AGAINST RENEGOTIABLE BUSINESS

§ 1603.380 Scope of subpart. When the amount of the contractor's business subject to renegotiation has been determined, it is necessary to determine the costs properly chargeable against the business in order to find the amount of profits derived therefrom. This subpart discusses the principles for determining the allocation and allowance of such costs. [RR 380]

§ 1603.381 Statutory provisions and general regulations—(a) Determination of costs. Subsection (a) (4) (B) of the 1943 act provides:

(B) The term "profits derived from contracts with the Departments and subcontracts" means the excess of the amount received or accrued under such contracts and subcontracts over the costs paid or incurred with respect thereto. Such costs shall be determined in accordance with the method of cost accounting regularly employed by the contractor in keeping his books, but if no such method of cost accounting has been employed, or if the method so employed does not, in the opinion of the Board or, upon redetermination, in the opinion of The Tax Court of the United States properly reflect such costs, such costs shall be determined in accordance with such method as in the opinion of the Board or, upon redetermination, in the opinion of The Tax Court of the United States does properly reflect such costs. Irrespective of the method employed or prescribed for determining such costs, no item of cost shall be charged to any contract with a Department or subcontract or used in any manner for the purpose of determining such cost, to the extent that in the opinion of the Board or, upon redetermination, in the opinion of The Tax Court of the United States, such item is unreasonable or not properly chargeable to such contract or subcontract. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, all items estimated to be allowable as deductions and exclusions under Chapters 1 and 2 E of the Internal Revenue Code (excluding taxes measured by income) shall, to the extent allocable to such contracts and subcontracts (or, in the case of the recomputation of the amortization deduction, allocable to contracts with the Departments and subcontracts), be allowed as items of cost, but in determining the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated proper adjustment shall be made on account of the taxes so excluded, other than Federal taxes, which are attributable to the portion of the profits which are not excessive.

(b) "Recomputation" of amortization deduction prior to renegotiation; carry-overs and carry-backs. Subsection (a) (4) (C) of the 1943 act provides:

(C) Notwithstanding any of the provisions of this section to the contrary, no amount shall be allowed as an item of cost (i) by reason of a recomputation of the amortization deduction pursuant to section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code until after such recomputation has been made in connection with a determination of the taxes imposed by Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D, and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code for the fiscal year to which the excessive profits determined by the renegotiation are attributable or (ii) by reason of the application of a carry-over or carry-back under any circumstances. The absence of such a recomputation of the amortization deductions referred to in clause (i) above shall not constitute a cause for postponing the making of an agreement, or the entry of an order, determining the amount of excessive profits, or for staying the elimination thereof.

(c) Renegotiation rebate where "recomputation" of amortization deduction follows renegotiation. Subsection (a) (4) (D) of the 1943 act provides:

(D) Notwithstanding any of the provisions of subsection (c) (4) of this section to the contrary, in the case of a renegotiation which is made prior to such recomputation, there shall be repaid by the United States (without interest) to the contractor or subcontractor after such recomputation the amount of a net renegotiation rebate computed in the following described manner. There shall first be ascertained the portion of the excessive profits determined by the renegotiation which is attributable to the fiscal year with respect to which a net renegotiation rebate is claimed by the contractor or subcontractor (hereinafter referred to as "renegotiated year"). There shall then be ascertained the amount of the gross renegotiation rebate for the renegotiated year, which amount shall be an allocable part of the additional amortization deduction which is allowed for the renegotiated year upon the recomputation made pursuant to section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code in connection with the determination of the taxes for such year and which is attributable to contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, except that the amount of the gross renegotiation rebate shall not exceed the amount of excessive profits eliminated for the renegotiated year pursuant to the renegotiation. The allocation of the additional amortization deduction attributable to contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, and the allocation of the additional amortization deduction to the renegotiated year shall be determined in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Board. There shall then be ascertained the amount of the contractor's or subcontractor's Federal tax benefit from the renegotiation for the renegotiated year. Such Federal tax benefit shall be the amount by which the taxes for the renegotiated year under Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D, and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code were decreased by reason of omitting from gross income (or by reason of the application of the provisions of section 3806 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to) that portion of the excessive profits for the renegotiated year which is equal to the amount of the gross renegotiation rebate. The amount by which the gross renegotiation rebate for the renegotiated year exceeds the amount of the contractor's or subcontractor's Federal tax benefit from the renegotiation for such year shall be the amount of the net renegotiation rebate for such year.

(d) Profit, cost allocation and allowance; general—(1) Profit. The term "profits derived from contracts with the departments and subcontracts" is defined by the act as the excess of the amount received or accrued under contracts and subcontracts over the costs paid or incurred with respect thereto. The term "costs" includes selling, general and administrative expenses. Such profits will be determined with respect to the aggregate of the amounts received or accrued under all contracts and subcontracts for the taxable year of the contractor on either the cash or the accrual basis, according to the method by which the contractor keeps his books, and will not be determined on a contract-by-contract basis unless the contractor so requests and the Department conducting the renegotiation consents.

(2) Allocation of cost. In general the costs paid or incurred with respect to renegotiable contracts will be those costs allocated thereto by the contractor's established cost accounting method if that method reflects recognized accounting principles and practices. If, in the opinion of the War Contracts Board there is no adequate or effective cost accounting method in use, or if the method employed does not properly reflect such costs because there are unjustified or improper allocations of items of cost in the accounting records or in the reports or statements filed for the purpose of renegotiation, costs shall be determined in accordance with such method as in the opinion of the Board properly reflects such costs. No item of cost shall be charged to any contract or subcontract or used in any manner in determining costs to the extent that such item is not properly chargeable to such contracts or subcontracts.

(3) Tax deductions. Costs allocable to renegotiable business shall be determined in accordance with the principles set forth above. Where the full amount of an item of cost is allocable to renegotiable business, it shall be allowed in the amount estimated by the War Contracts Board, or any agency to which its functions are delegated, to be allowable as a deduction or exclusion under Chapters 1 and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code. No such item of cost shall be allowed in an amount less than or in excess of that which is estimated to be deductible or excludible from income under the Internal Revenue Code. Where only a portion of an item of cost is allocable to renegotiable business, the War Contracts Board, or any agency to which its functions have been delegated, shall estimate the total amount allowable to the contractor, as a deduction or exclusion under Chapters 1 and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code and the portion of this estimated amount which is allocable to renegotiable business in accordance with the principles set forth above shall be allowed as a cost of renegotiable business. Where it is clear that a contractor's deductions and exclusions under the Internal Revenue Code result in allowable costs of renegotiable business which are either high or low on a comparative basis, this circumstance shall be considered in connection with the factor of the "reasonableness of costs" of the contractor and the determination of the amount of the profit adjustment to be required of the contractor. [RR 381.4]

§ 1603.382 Salaries, wages and other compensation—(a) Allocation. Salaries, wages and other compensation should be allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business according to principles established in § 1603.381 (d). [RR 382.1]

(b) Allowances. (1) Under section 23 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code, salaries or other compensation for personal services are allowed to the extent found "reasonable". In determining whether any salaries or other compensation paid by a contractor to its officers or employees are unreasonable, consideration shall be given to the nature of the work, extent of responsibility, experience and effectiveness of the officer or employee, and increases in compensation since January 1, 1941. Comparison shall be made where possible with the compensation of officers or employees in similar positions in other companies within the particular industry. Reasonableness of compensation may be determined only within broad limits, and weight shall be given to the determination by the contractor of the worth to it of the services of an officer or employee.

(2) Whether or not the profit and loss statement of a partnership includes salaries or drawing accounts for partners as an expense, a so-called "salary allowance" may be made for reasonable salaries for such partners as are active in the business in determining the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated.

(3) Reasonable salaries paid to employees who are absent on military or naval service or who are serving the Government in other ways at a nominal compensation but who intend to return at the conclusion of the emergency will be allowed as a cost if such salaries are paid under some standard arrangement adopted by the contractor for general application, and are properly allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business. [RR 382.2]

(c) Wage and salary stabilization. (1) The renegotiating agency, in considering wages and salaries as costs, will observe the provisions of the Stabilization Act of 1942, approved October 2, 1942, as amended, and all Executive Orders and regulations issued pursuant to said act.

(2) The Director of Economic Stabilization has issued regulations effective October 27, 1942 and amended regulations effective August 27, 1943.

(3) The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued regulations covering that portion of salary stabilization which is administered by the Commissioner.

(4) The National War Labor Board has issued directives setting forth its policies with respect to that portion of the wage and salary stabilization which is administered by such Board.

(5) In any case in which the renegotiating agency determines that there may have been a violation of any applicable stabilization law, executive order or regulation, the renegotiating agency will promptly submit all of the pertinent facts to the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board for a decision as to the proper procedure to be followed.

(6) Full compliance with the Stabilization Act does not preclude the disallowance as a deduction under the Internal Revenue Code of wage and salary payments in excess of "a reasonable allowance". No part of any amount estimated to be not allowable under the Internal Revenue Code will be allowed as a cost against renegotiable business. [RR 382.3]

(d) Application of stabilization orders in renegotiation. For fiscal years ending after October 27, 1942, the only limitation on salaries other than the usual test of reasonableness, is the prohibition (with exceptions) of increases in salary rate of over $5,000 annually, existing on October 3, 1942, and in salary rate of $5,000 or less annually, existing on October 27, 1942, without prior approval of governmental authorities. The exceptions referred to are cited in § 1608.851. They first appeared in § 4001.6 of the stabilization regulations and later in substantially similar form in § 4001.10 of the amended stabilization regulations referred to in paragraph (b) (2). As cited in § 1608.851, they appear in the form contained in the amended stabilization regulations. [RR 382.4]

(e) Brokers' commissions. Commissions paid or payable to brokers or agents in connection with the procurement or performance of war contracts pursuant to a legally binding arrangement made in good faith prior to the fiscal year covered by the renegotiation will be allowed as a cost in the absence of special circumstances. Such special circumstances might exist where the broker or agent was a partner, officer or director of the contractor; or where any partner, officer or director of the contractor participated in the commissions paid to the broker or agent; or where the original arrangement between the contractor and the broker or agent was not made at arm's length. If it appears that the payment of the commissions might violate the provision in the contracts of any Department against contingent fees other than those paid to "bona fide established commission or selling agencies maintained by the contractor for the purpose of securing business", the question ordinarily will be taken up with the Purchases Division, Army Service Forces, the Procurement Legal Division of the Navy Department, or the appropriate division of the other Departments, and, subject to the provisions of § 1603.381 (d) (2), the commissions may be disallowed. Whenever the payment of commissions is allowed to the contractor, consideration will be given to the prompt renegotiation of the broker or agent if the services he performed bring him within the definition of "subcontractor". (See §§ 1602.203 (d) and 1603.336.) [RR 382.5]

(f) Pension, annuity, stock bonus and profit sharing plans. The policy set out below will be followed in connection with the allowance as an item of cost against renegotiable business of payments made by a contractor on account of any employee pension, annuity, stock bonus, or profit sharing plan (hereinafter referred to as "the plan").

(1) The deductibility for Federal income tax purposes of payments pursuant to the plan is governed by sections 23 (a), 23 (p) and 165 of the Internal Revenue Code. If the Bureau of Internal Revenue has determined that payments (including payments to bring annuities up to date) on account of the plan of the particular contractor concerned are deductible, such payments shall be allowed as an item of cost in renegotiation to the extent allocable to renegotiable business.

(2) If the Bureau of Internal Revenue has not finally determined the deductibility of such payments, the renegotiating Department must estimate the amount of such payments which is allowable as a deduction under sections 23 (a), 23 (p) and 165 of the Internal Revenue Code. The Department will be guided by the following general principles:

(i) The employer's payment into the plan, when added to other compensation paid the employee, cannot exceed reasonable compensation for services rendered by the employee beneficiary of the plan.

(ii) The employees' rights under the plan must be nonforfeitable at the time the employer's payment is made or the plan must qualify under the provisions of section 165 of the Internal Revenue Code. In determining whether it does so qualify, the renegotiating agency should consult section 165 and the appropriate Treasury Regulations for the exact requirements for qualification. In general, the following requirements must be met: (a) the plan must imply a permanent as distinguished from a temporary program; (b) it must not be a subterfuge for distribution of profits; (c) it must be for the exclusive benefit of employees; (d) it must be impossible, under the trust, to divert the trust property or income to purposes other than the employees' benefit; (e) it must cover a sufficient number of employees so as to be non-discriminatory; and (f) in operation, the plan must not discriminate in favor of employees who are officers, stockholders or highly compensated employees. A plan which qualifies under the foregoing is not disqualified by the fact that the employer may be entitled to receive back amounts which result from erroneous actuarial computations.

(iii) In any event, the payments on account of the plan, to be allowed as deductions for Federal income tax purposes, must actually have been paid within the taxable year or, if the taxpayer is on an accrual basis, within 60 days after the close of such taxable year.

(3) Payments made pursuant to any plan, like any other expense, should be allowed only to the extent allocable to renegotiable business, such amount to be determined in accordance with the principles applicable to the allocation of expenses generally. [RR 382.6]

§ 1603.383 Amortization and depreciation—(a) Allocation. (1) General depreciation, maintenance and other such charges should be allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business according to the principles established in § 1603.381 (d).

(2) Where stand-by facilities are customary or necessary to a particular type of business, the cost of depreciation, maintenance, etc. should be allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business according to the principles established in § 1603.381 (d).

(3) Statutory amortization on facilities covered by certificates of necessity should be allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business according to the principles established in § 1603.381 (d), giving consideration, however, to the basis of original issuance of such certificates where the facilities are not in active use.

(4) Depreciation and maintenance charges on properties which are not in use but which are being maintained in an idle status pursuant to written request of an authorized official of a Department may be allocated as a charge against renegotiable business. [RR 383.1]

(b) Accelerated amortization and renegotiation rebate. (1) Under section 124 of the Internal Revenue Code, a contractor who has acquired or constructed with his own funds facilities especially adapted for use in war production may, upon securing a Certificate of Necessity, amortize their cost over a five-year period, at the rate of 20 per cent per year. Prior to December 17, 1943, the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy were by such statute authorized to act upon applications for Certificates of Necessity. Under Executive Order No. 9406, dated December 17, 1943, as amended by Executive Order No. 9429, dated March 2, 1944, this authority (except with reference to certain pending applications) was transferred to the War Production Board. The Facilities Bureau of the War Production Board will pass upon requests for such certificates made after December 17, 1943.

(2) Amortization so allowed at the rate of 20 percent per year under section 124 of the Internal Revenue Code shall be allowed as an item of cost for purposes of renegotiation, to the extent it is properly allocable to renegotiable business.

(3) If the emergency is terminated during the five-year period; or if the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy certifies pursuant to regulations issued by the President, that an emergency facility ceases to be necessary for national defense, the amortization period may for Federal tax purposes be shortened accordingly, and the contractor will be entitled to adjust his taxes for prior years, on the conditions stated in the Internal Revenue Code, to give effect to the corresponding increase in the deduction taken in each such year.

(4) Under subsection (a) (4) (C) of the 1943 act, no allowance as an item of cost in renegotiation shall be made on account of the increased amortization deduction referred to in the preceding subparagraph (3) unless the computation thereof is made by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, in connection with an adjustment of taxes pursuant to section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code, before the renegotiation is concluded. The Department shall not, however, permit the absence of such a recomputation of the amortization deduction to be a cause for postponing closing a renegotiation agreement.

(5) Subsection (a) (4) (D) of the 1943 act provides for payment of a renegotiation rebate to the contractor in those cases where the increased amortization deduction for a prior tax year is so computed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue after the determination of excessive profits has been made by agreement or order. However, no computation of the increased amortization deduction incident to the tax adjustment above referred to can be made until regulations have been prescribed for the issuance by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy of a certificate that an emergency facility has ceased to be necessary for national defense. It is contemplated that upon the issuance of such regulations, instructions will be issued hereunder for the computation and granting of the renegotiation rebate. [RR 383.2]

(c) Depreciation. (1) War facilities not covered by Certificates of Necessity, representing permanent capital additions for the manufacture of war products or materials, are depreciated in accordance with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and will be depreciated in renegotiation, at the ordinary rates of depreciation for corresponding property.

(2) A Department conducting a renegotiation may allow depreciation on machinery and equipment at higher than ordinary rates when, because of its use for extraordinary consecutive periods of day and night shifts, or other circumstances, it is concluded that such higher rates would be allowable under the Internal Revenue Code. [RR 383.3]

§ 1603.384 Conversion to war production. The full amount of costs of converting facilities to war production which do not represent permanent additions, such as rearrangement of machinery, is allowed by the Bureau, and will be allowed in renegotiation, for the year in which it is incurred to the extent allocable to renegotiable business. This does not include losses on commercial inventory which has become unsalable as a result of wartime regulations or loss of market, for such losses are not properly allocable to renegotiable business. [RR 384]

§ 1603.385 Losses—(a) Costs or losses on non-war ventures. Losses and costs incurred in connection with business activities or ventures not connected with renegotiable business will be charged against such business activities or ventures and not to renegotiable business. [RR 385.1]

(b) War losses. Section 127 of the Internal Revenue Code provides that the amount of the loss on account of property destroyed or seized on or after December 7, 1941, in the course of military or naval operations by the United States or any other country engaged in the present war may be allowed as a deduction from income in the year in which such destruction or seizure occurs. The fact that the property has been destroyed or seized in the course of the war does not of itself, however, establish that the loss is properly allocable to renegotiable business. Such a loss may be recognized in renegotiation only to the extent that on appropriate cost accounting principles such loss is chargeable against the performance of renegotiable contracts or subcontracts. [RR 385.2]

(c) Losses from prior or subsequent years. Subsection (a) (4) (C) of the 1943 act prohibits the allowance of any amount as an item of cost by reason of the application of a carry-over or carry-back. Therefore, notwithstanding that section 122 of the Internal Revenue Code authorizes a taxpayer, under certain prescribed rules, to take a deduction for a taxable-year by a "carry-over" or "carry-back" of net operating losses for certain preceding or subsequent taxable years, no such deduction shall be allowable in renegotiation as an item of cost or as a deduction or exclusion from excessive profits. [RR 385.3]

§ 1603.386 Interest—(a) Allocation. (1) All interest on borrowed funds should be allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business according to the principles established in § 1603.381 (d).

(2) Where a contractor has incurred obligations obviously disproportionate to the current volume of business, careful study should be made to ascertain the total amount of interest to be distributed in accordance with the above procedure. [RR 386.1]

(b) Allowance. Interest on borrowed capital is deductible under the Internal Revenue Code and will, therefore, be allowed in renegotiation to the extent allocable to renegotiable business. [RR 386.2]

§ 1603.387 Advertising expenses—(a) Allocation. Advertising costs should be allocated between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business according to the principles established in § 1603.381 (d). [RR 387.1]

(b) Allowance. (1) In estimating the amount allowable under the Internal Revenue Code as a deduction for advertising expenses, consideration will be given to the following statement issued by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on September 29, 1942:

To be deductible, advertising expenditures must be ordinary and necessary and bear a reasonable relation to the business activities in which the enterprise is engaged. The Bureau recognizes that advertising is a necessary and legitimate business expense so long as it is not carried to an unreasonable extent or does not become an attempt to avoid proper tax payments.

The Bureau realizes that it may be necessary for taxpayers now engaged in war production to maintain through advertising, their trade names and the knowledge of the quality of their products and good will built up over past years, so that when they return to peacetime production their names and the quality of their products will be known to the public.

In determining whether such expenditures are allowable, cognizance will be taken of (1) the size of the business, (2) the amount of prior advertising budgets, (3) the public patronage reasonably to be expected in the future, (4) the increased cost of the elements entering into the total of advertising expenditures, (5) the introduction of new products and added lines, and (6) buying habits necessitated by war restrictions by priorities, and by the unavailability of many of the raw materials formerly fabricated into the advertised products.

Reasonable expenses incurred by companies in advertising and advertising technique to speed the war effort among their own employees, and to cut down accidents and unnecessary absences and inefficiency, will be allowed as deductions. Also reasonable expenditures for advertisements, including the promotion of Government objectives in wartime, such as conservation, salvage, or the sale of War Bonds, which are signed by the advertiser, will be deductible provided they are reasonable and are not made in an attempt to avoid proper taxation.

(2) Expenditures for advertising which does not identify the particular company or product but which is solely for the purpose of aiding the war effort may, subject to certain limitations, be deductible as contributions for public purposes under section 23 (o) or 23 (q) of the Internal Revenue Code (see special ruling by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on this question, dated November 10, 1942).

(3) Advertising of specific products of a character different from those furnished under renegotiable contracts or subcontracts should not ordinarily be allocated as a cost against renegotiable business. However, where a normal volume of peacetime products have been wholly or partly replaced by war products, an amount of product advertising not inconsistent with the past practice of the business may be considered as essentially institutional advertising designed to keep an advertiser's name or the identity of his peacetime products before the public and so subject to allocation against renegotiable as well as non-renegotiable business. In considering advertising expenditures in connection with the determination of the "reasonableness of costs" of the contractor's business, the relationship between advertising costs and sales in present and past periods should be considered and a determination made as to whether or not the total advertising costs are reasonable and proper under the circumstances. [RR 387.2]

§ 1603.388 Other costs, expenses and reserves—(a) Patent royalties. (1) When in renegotiation, a contractor has included substantial amounts in costs for royalties, paid or payable under patent licenses, the Departments will determine whether any action has been taken, or is pending or contemplated under the Royalty Adjustment Act (see § 1601.141), and will be guided by the principles set out below.

(2) An order under the Royalty Adjustment Act fixing the rates and amounts of royalties to be paid under a license agreement has no legal effect retroactively. The order applies only to royalties payable to the licensor after the effective date of the notice under the statute, whether or not accruing before or after the date, and does not and cannot require the refund of any royalties which have been paid prior thereto.

(3) In determining excessive profits of a licensee upon renegotiation for a period in which royalty accruals are subject to an order under the Royalty Adjustment Act, the Departments will give full effect to the rates or amounts of royalties fixed in the Royalty Adjustment Act order as fair and just under the conditions of wartime production. No allowance will be made in renegotiation for royalties paid or accruing during that period in excess of the rates or amounts fixed in the order.

(4) In renegotiation with a license for a period prior to that in which royalty accruals are subject to an order under the Royalty Adjustment Act, no weight will normally be given to the determination made in a later order as to what rates and amounts of royalties are fair and just. In such a case as well as in one where no action under the Royalty Adjustment Act is involved, the renegotiating Department will estimate the amount of the royalties allowable as a deduction for Federal income tax purposes. Ordinarily the licensee will be allowed to include in his costs royalties properly allocable to renegotiable business provided they are actually paid to the licensor prior to the service of a notice in any royalty adjustment proceedings. However, an amount paid pursuant to an arrangement not entered into at arm's length or without a full disclosure of interest, or in bad faith, should be disallowed as an item of cost if it is not an "ordinary and necessary" business expense within the meaning of section 23 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code. Particular attention should be given to any relationship or affiliation to the licensor; for example where the licensor was a partner, officer or director of the licensee; or where any partner, officer or director of the licensee participated in the royalties paid to the licensor.

(5) In determining excessive profits of a licensor under the renegotiation statute, where the licensor sells the patented article in competition with like articles sold by others under license from the licensor, the licensor will not include in his costs any development charges except such amortization and development expenses as, it is estimated, are allowable as deductions under the Internal Revenue Code, even though the obligation to pay the royalties requires his licensees to charge a higher price for the competing product.

(6) No royalties paid or incurred by a licensee and no amortization or development expense charged by a licensor will be allocated as a cost in determining excessive profits under the renegotiation statute, whether or not allowable as a deduction under the Internal Revenue Code, unless such payments or charges are allocable to the sales made under contracts subject to renegotiation. In deciding this question as to any particular patent, the Departments should consider the extent to which the products sold involve the use of the invention or inventions covered by the patent, and as a general rule it should appear that the patent has not expired, that no final adjudication has been made by a court of competent jurisdiction holding the patent invalid, and that it is not in fact the property of the licensee. [RR 388.1]

(b) Corporate charitable contributions. Contributions of the character described in section 23 (q) of the Internal Revenue Code by a corporation will, to the extent allocable, be allowed as an expense against renegotiable business if such contributions are allowable as deductions in the fiscal year concerned for Federal income tax purposes under section 23 (q). [RR 388.2]

(c) Cost allowance in connection with raw materials. Reference is made to § 1603.344 (c) and (d) for a discussion of the non-renegotiable nature of certain excess raw material inventory and the allowance to be made for the value of exempt raw materials. [RR 388.3]

§ 1603.389 State income taxes—(a) In general. Under subsection (a) (4) (B) of the 1943 act, taxes measured by income cannot be allowed as items of cost for purposes of renegotiation. However, this subsection provides specifically that in determining the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated, proper adjustment shall be made on account of the taxes measured by income (other than Federal taxes) so excluded, which are attributable to non-excessive renegotiable profits. The amount of any such adjustment will in no case exceed that part of such taxes actually payable which is payable because of the inclusion in income of the non-excessive renegotiable profits. Such taxes are herein referred to generally as "State income taxes" although actually they may not be called "income taxes" and although they may be imposed by a political subdivision other than a State. [RR 388.1]

(b) Adjustment for State tax imposed at a "flat rate". (1) The amount of unadjusted excessive profits, without consideration of any State income tax, is first determined. This amount is then deducted from renegotiable profits to obtain the amount of non-excessive renegotiable profits. The State income tax attributable to such non-excessive renegotiable profits is computed and this amount is deducted from the unadjusted excessive profits. The remainder constitutes the excessive profits to be eliminated, subject of course to any Federal tax credit to which the contractor may be entitled under section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. (See § 1604.440 and following.) If the contractor has a loss on non-renegotiable business, the unadjusted excessive profits will be deducted from the total profits (including renegotiable and non-renegotiable business) to obtain the tentative retained profits. The tax attributable to the non-excessive renegotiable profits will then be the amount of tax computed on such tentative retained profits.

(2) The general method of calculation is illustrated by the example set forth in the reports of the House Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Finance in dealing with subsection (a) (4) (B) of the 1943 act:

For example, if the amount due on a contract is $1,000 and the cost is $800, the profit before adjustment for such tax is $200. Suppose that of the $200 profit, $90 is considered excessive before adjustment for the State tax. If in such case the State income tax on the remaining $110 is $11, then the $11 is to be applied against the $90, reducing to $79 the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated.

(3) The amount of unadjusted excessive profits (i. e. before the adjustment for State income tax) will be a "rounded" figure, but after the tax attributable to the non-excessive renegotiable profits has been ascertained, there will be no "rounding-off" in deducting such amount from the unadjusted excessive profits to obtain the final amount of excessive profits to be eliminated. [RR 389.2]

(c) Adjustment for graduated State tax. If the State income tax is imposed at graduated rates as distinguished from a "flat rate", the adjustment is to be made as follows:

(1) The contractor's total profits subject to the State tax, including non-renegotiable and renegotiable profits, is determined. The unadjusted excessive profits are deducted from such total profits to obtain the contractor's tentative retained profits. The unadjusted excessive profits are also deducted from the renegotiable profits to obtain the non-excessive renegotiable profits.

(2) The State tax on the tentative retained profits is computed as though such profits were the only profits of the contractor.

(3) The tax attributable to the non-excessive renegotiable profits will then be the amount which bears the same ratio to the tax computed in subparagraph (2) above as the amount of non-excessive renegotiable profits bears to the tentative retained profits.

(4) The tax attributable to the non-excessive renegotiable profits computed in subparagraph (3) is deducted from the unadjusted excessive profits to obtain the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated.

(5) If the contractor has a loss on non-renegotiable business, the tax attributable to the non-excessive renegotiable profits will be the amount of tax computed on the tentative retained profits determined as provided in subparagraph (1) above. [RR 389.3]

(d) Multiple State income taxes. If the contractor is doing business in more than one State, he may be subject to more than one income tax. In such event, the adjustment should be made by an accurate determination of the tax attributable to the non-excessive renegotiable profits imposed by each State, if such a computation is feasible. If an exact computation is not feasible, the adjustment should be made upon the best estimate of the renegotiating agency and the contractor, made in good faith and with reasonable care. This estimate may take the form of a pro-rata application to each State of the non-excessive renegotiable profits based upon the profits before renegotiation attributable to each State, if no more accurate method is available. If all such taxes are imposed at flat rates, a composite rate may be obtained by dividing total State income taxes by total profits, and this composite rate may be applied to the non-excessive renegotiable profits. [RR 389.4]

(e) State income tax measured by income for preceding year. In some States, the tax is measured by the income for the year subject to renegotiation but is a liability of the contractor not for such year but for the next succeeding year. In this event, the adjustment for such tax will be made as though such tax measured by the income subject to renegotiation were in fact a liability for the year subject to renegotiation. [RR 389.5]

(f) Adjustment for State income tax of contractor operating as a partnership or sole proprietorship. (1) A contractor doing business as a partnership or sole proprietorship is entitled to an adjustment for State income tax based upon the tax liability of the individual partners or of the proprietor. In general, the same procedure will be followed as stated above. Thus, in the case of a partnership, adjustment will be made for the aggregate of the state taxes attributable to each partner's share of non-excessive renegotiable profits.

(2) Normally the State income tax is imposed upon individuals on a graduated basis. Reference is therefore made to paragraph (c) of this section.

(3) If a contractor is a partnership or sole proprietorship and is subjected to an unincorporated business tax measured by income, adjustment must be made therefor as well as for the State income taxes of the partners or the proprietor.

(4) If a so-called "salary allowance" is made in renegotiation for the services of partners or proprietors, the amount of such "salary" allowed to each partner or to the proprietor will be deducted from the partner's or proprietor's share of the non-excessive renegotiable profits before calculation of the State income tax attributable to such non-excessive renegotiable profits. Such "salary allowance" will also be deducted before calculating any such unincorporated business tax adjustment. [RR 389.6]

PART 1604—DETERMINATION AND ELIMINATION OF EXCESSIVE PROFITS

Part 1604 governing determination and elimination of excessive profits is added, as set forth below.

SUBPART A—PRINCIPLES AND FACTORS IN DETERMINING EXCESSIVE PROFIT

§ 1604.401 Scope of subpart. This subpart deals with general principles to be applied and certain factors which are specified in the act to be considered in the determination of excessive profits under the terms of the act. [RR 401]

§ 1604.402 General considerations—(a) General approach. (1) Under war conditions the Government is the nation's principal buyer. Its purchases are paid for by taxation and borrowing. The lower the costs of production and the prices paid directly or indirectly by the Government, the less will be the financial burden on the people of the country. War materials are essential to the life of a nation at war. The Government as buyer must acquire these products and the producers of them, as a group, are the only sources of supply. Renegotiation protects the Government and the public on the cost of war goods purchased and against excessive profits arising from the prices paid for them. Control of price and profit through renegotiation is a general substitute for the pressure of competition on prices and profits in peacetime, which is largely eliminated in a war economy when the demand for war goods greatly exceeds the available supply.

(2) Sound pricing in many instances was difficult or impossible under the complications of such a vast and diversified volume of purchasing in terms of individual contracts. Renegotiation is intended to insure that prices charged for war products include only a reasonable profit after full consideration of all the pertinent facts and factors of a contractor's business over a full fiscal year's operations and after the actual costs and profits for the period have been established.

(3) Renegotiation is in effect an overall repricing, in which the contractor has the advantage of combining, in the fiscal year, prices, costs and profits on all elements of his production after actual production experience. Prices are composed of costs and profits. Where the prices have been so high as to produce excessive profits, the adjustment of prices is accomplished primarily through an adjustment of the profits included in the prices.

(4) An important goal of renegotiation is to bring sufficient pressure on excessive prices to induce constructive action toward reductions in unit costs and subsequent reductions in prices.

(5) The Renegotiation Act contemplates the elimination of excessive profits from war production primarily through voluntary agreements between the contractor and the Government. It is intended that a just and reasonable wartime profit be allowed. It is not intended to reduce profits to the narrowest possible margin but to eliminate profits considered excessive and allow the contractor to retain a profit, computed before Federal taxes on income, in an amount that will represent reasonable compensation for war production in the light of the contractor's peacetime experience, expanded volume of production, efficiency, invested capital, risks assumed and other contributions to the prosecution of the war. However, it should be recognized that the weapons and war goods which the nation needs should be produced at a modest profit. [RR 402.1]

(b) General objectives. The general objectives in renegotiation are briefly as follows:

(1) To eliminate profits which may be considered excessive after careful review of the circumstances of a contractor's business.

(2) To maintain or provide a substitute for competitive pressures on prices and costs.

(3) To induce reductions in prices and costs.

(4) To reward efficiency and stimulate production.

(5) To encourage prompt adjustment to a reasonable price basis when production experience indicates the original price basis was unreasonably high. [RR 402.2]

(c) Process of renegotiation. In making renegotiation determinations, the Departments and their representatives shall apply the following general principles:

(1) All of the information necessary to a sound and supportable determination shall be obtained.

(2) The contractor shall be given an opportunity to develop and present whatever information is available to him which he may consider pertinent to the determination.

(3) Requests for additional information and the number of meetings held with the contractor or his representatives shall be held to a minimum.

(4) Financial and factual information is to be reviewed with the contractor and his agreement to its accuracy obtained whenever possible.

(5) The contractor is to be given every possible assistance and all necessary information with respect to the technical requirements of renegotiation, the Renegotiation Act and the Renegotiation Regulations.

(6) The facts and conclusions with respect to the contractor's business are to be fully developed before a determination of excessive profits.

(7) Determinations, either proposed or final, are to be carefully considered and are to weigh all the facts and factors of the contractor's business as presented and established. [RR 402.3]

§ 1604.403 Specific considerations—(a) Profits before taxes. In renegotiation the amount of excessive profits is to be determined before provision for Federal taxes on income. Profit margins on war contracts should not be increased or maintained at a high level in order to offset higher taxes. To permit such a practice would nullify the intent of Congress as expressed in the Revenue Act. [RR 403.1]

(b) Separation of fixed-price and other special fee contracts. Cost-plus-fixed-fee and other special fee contracts of a contractor are to be treated separately from fixed-price contracts. It is necessary to set forth separately the amount of renegotiable business done on cost-plus-fixed-fee or other special fee contracts. (See § 1604.407.) [RR 403.2]

(c) Comparisons. In evaluating a contractor's performance, comparisons should be made with the prices, costs and profits of other contractors engaged in the production of the same or similar products or using the same or similar processes. [RR 403.3]

(d) Factors considered. The factors required to be given consideration are stated in §§ 1604.408 through 1604.416. [RR 403.4]

(e) Significance of settlements for prior years. (1) Notwithstanding the existence of a renegotiation settlement for a previous fiscal year, all the facts applicable to a contractor's business for the year being renegotiated are to be examined and considered. The previous basis of determination is not a controlling precedent and the renegotiation of a succeeding fiscal year shall be predicated solely on the facts and circumstances of that period.

(2) Loss of 1942 exempt volume of sales should not be compensated for by an increase in the profit margin on renegotiable sales. [RR 403.5]

(f) Reserves against possible renegotiation refunds. It is recognized that sound accounting principles may make it desirable for contractors to establish reserves against possible renegotiation refunds, but that the amount of reserves established in individual situations will vary widely depending upon the policy of the particular contractor concerned. Neither the existence nor the amount of such reserves is to be considered directly or indirectly in connection with the determination of excessive profits to be eliminated in renegotiation. The renegotiating agencies will recognize that conservative practice may result in setting up such reserves in excess of the anticipated liability and will not directly or indirectly penalize a contractor for such action. [RR 403.6]

§ 1604.404 Computing margins of profit. In computing the margin of profit a contractor receives on his renegotiable business or sales after making a refund, the amount of the refund is always deducted from the renegotiable business or sales as well as from the profit thereon. [RR 404]

§ 1604.405 Overextended contractors. It is not the function of renegotiation to provide contractors with capital funds from excessive profits created by the prices of war goods. The contractor's right to a reasonable profit and his need for working capital should be distinguished. A contractor should not be allowed to retain excessive profits on war contracts because he lacks adequate working capital in relation to a greatly increased volume of business. Other measures may be availed of to provide adequate financing. In certain cases the payment of the refund may be deferred but only for a reasonable period and under circumstances which justify such deferment. This policy is explained in § 1604.422. [RR 405]

§ 1604.406 Minimum refund. No refund of excessive profits should, in the absence of unusual circumstances, be required in an amount less than $10,000 after credit for the adjustment for State income taxes (see § 1603.389). [RR 406]

§ 1604.407 Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts—(a) Policy. Cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts are to be considered separately from fixed-price contracts. Paragraphs (b), (c) and (d) of this section refer to supply contracts. [RR 407.1]

(b) Procedure. In renegotiating cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts, the contractor should set forth the actual and prospective costs as well as the fees, stated separately, for each individual contract. The following information should be obtained:

(1) Comparison of the actual and prospective costs of each contract should be made with the estimated cost upon which the fee was based.

(2) The dates, amounts and fees of each contract should be assembled in chronological order. Note whether the fixed fee decreased as the volume of the same product to be produced on successive contracts increased.

(3) The proportion of the sales, costs and profits attributable to the fiscal year under renegotiation should be set forth.

(4) The factors referred to in § 1604.408 and following should be considered. [RR 407.2]

(c) Treatment of disallowed costs and adjustment of fees. (1) Disallowances of costs under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts made in accordance with the terms of the contracts will, except as noted below, be deducted from the fee. If, however, any part of the amounts so disallowed are determinable business expenses which would otherwise necessarily have been incurred for the continued operation of the business as an enterprise and, if such amounts are deductions of the character permitted under the applicable provision of the Internal Revenue Code and the contractor has fixed-price business, the amount of such disallowances may be allocated to fixed-price renegotiable and non-renegotiable business in proper proportions.

(2) The resultant net fee in terms of percent of costs will be related to the percent fee provided for under the contract or contracts.

(3) Actual product costs will be related to the prices specified in the contract or contracts on which the fee is based.

(4) The resultant dollar fee will be related to the work done under the contract or contracts, the performance results, and the volume of business resulting from the contract or contracts.

(5) The elements stated in subparagraphs (1), (2), (3) and (4) above should be reviewed, when appropriate, with the procurement officers responsible for the placing and supervision of the cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts for the purpose of determining whether or not the fee result is consistent with that intended when the contract or contracts were entered into. [RR 407.3]

(d) Profit margins. (1) The margin of profit on cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts should be less than that on fixed-price contracts for the same volume of the same product under similar circumstances.

(2) If there has been a reduction of costs below the estimated costs on which the fee was based and it is clearly demonstrated that such reduction of costs is attributable to the contractor's own efforts, the fee should not be reduced merely because of this reduction in costs. The fees received under a cost-plus-fixed-fee contract should have a reasonable relationship to the services performed by the contractor. [RR 407.4]

§ 1604.408 Factors requiring consideration. The Renegotiation Act of 1943 specifies factors which must be taken into consideration in determining excessive profits and requires the consideration of additional factors when published in the regulations of the War Contracts Board. [RR 408]

§ 1604.409 General policy. Reasonable profits in every case should be determined with reference to the particular factors present without limitation or restriction by any fixed formula with respect to rate of profit, or otherwise. Renegotiation should not result in a margin of profit based on the principle of a percentage cost as profit. Contractors who sell at lower prices and produce at lower costs through good management, improved methods of production, close control of expenditures and careful purchasing should receive a relatively more favorable determination than those who do not. Mere claims of the contractor, in the above terms, for favorable consideration cannot be recognized. They must be supported by established facts, analyses and appropriate comparisons which clearly demonstrate their validity. [RR 409]

§ 1604.410 Efficiency of contractor—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excessive profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(i) efficiency of contractor, with particular regard to attainment of quantity and quality production, reduction of costs and economy in the use of materials, facilities, and manpower.

[RR 410.1]

(b) Comment. Consideration is to be given to the contractor's record for efficiency or lack of efficiency in operations with particular attention to the following:

(1) The quantity of production; for example, in relation to available physical facilities; the meeting of production schedules; the expansion of facilities; the maximum use of available production facilities.

(2) The quality of production; for example, the record of maintenance of standards of quality; the rejection record; reported mechanical or other difficulties in the use or installation of the product.

(3) The reduction of costs; for example, the decrease in costs per unit of production or per unit of sales as between fiscal years and as compared with other contractors producing the same or similar products where the operations are reasonably comparable; the decrease in administrative, selling or other general and controllable expenses; the decrease in prices paid vendors on purchased materials and subcontracted items or units. (See § 1604.411 (b) (1) to (b) (3), inclusive.)

(4) The economy in the use of materials, facilities and manpower; for example, the decrease in quantity of materials used in relation to production and the number of employees in relation to production; the substitution of non-critical materials for critical materials; the reduction of waste. [RR 410.2]

§ 1604.411 Reasonableness of costs and profits—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excessive profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(ii) reasonableness of costs and profits, with particular regard to volume of production, normal pre-war earnings, and comparison of war and peacetime products.

(b) Comment. (1) Consideration is to be given to the reasonableness or the excessiveness of costs and profits of the contractor. Comparisons should be made with the contractor's own costs and profits in previous years and with current costs and profits of other contractors, if the information is available. In comparisons, uncontrollable variations in labor, material or other costs should be taken into account. Particular attention should be given to relative changes in controllable costs such as selling, advertising and general administrative expenses. Low costs with relation to other contractors and lowered costs with relation to the prior fiscal year, where clearly established and shown to be the result of efficiency in management, are especially significant and should receive favorable consideration.

(2) Consideration should be given to the corresponding profits in pre-war base years of the contractor and for the industry, especially in cases where the war products are substantially like pre-war products. In the absence of exceptional circumstances, the years 1936–39 will be used as a base period. In making comparisons with the base period, consideration should be given to any fundamental changes in the contractor's business, including the difference in character between war and peacetime products. The contractor's peacetime profits will be of greater significance where there is little change in the product or manufacturing process since the base years. The rate of profit made on peacetime business is not of itself a basis for profits to be made on war contracts. It should not be assumed that under war conditions a contractor is entitled to as great a margin of profit as that obtained under competitive conditions in normal times.

(3) Consideration is to be given to the effect of volume on costs and profits. Increased volume usually serves to reduce average unit costs and increase profits accordingly. Where the volume has been created by Government purchasing, the Government should receive the principal benefit from the decreased costs and increased profits resulting therefrom. In general, the margin of profit on expanded war sales should be reduced in reasonable relationship to the expanded volume.

(4) Where a contractor is engaged in more than one class or type of business, the varying characteristics of the several classes of business should be taken into consideration. [RR 411.2]

§ 1604.412 Capital employed—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excessive profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(iii) amount and source of public and private capital employed and net worth.

[RR 412.1]

(b) Comment. Consideration is to be given to the amount and source of capital employed: This should include establishing and considering the proportion of plant or equipment or materials supplied by Government agencies or other contractors; the amount of production from plant and equipment furnished by the Government or others; the amount and proportion of investment covered by Certificates of Necessity; the amount of private capital at the beginning of the year; the extent and source of additional investment during the year in fixed assets; and loans, advances or Government guarantees. The relationship of the profit realized before and after renegotiation from the use of capital to the value thereof at the beginning of the year should be used as a check to determine the return being realized on such investment. A contractor using his own capital is generally entitled to more favorable consideration than a contractor largely dependent upon Government financing or Government furnished facilities. Where a large part of the capital or facilities is supplied by the Government, the contractor's contribution tends to become one of management only and the profit margin should be considered accordingly. [RR 412.2]

§ 1604.413 Extent of risk assumed—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excessive profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(iv) extent of risk assumed, including the risk incident to reasonable pricing policies.

(b) Comment. (1) Consideration is to be given to the extent of risk assumed by the contractor; for example, possible increase in the cost of materials and wages; delays from inability to obtain materials; "cutbacks" in quantities; guarantees of quality and performance of the product; and such other risks as may be clearly determined.

(2) Particular consideration should be given to the risks assumed incident to reasonable pricing policies. The pricing policy of the contractor is more clearly indicated by the reasonableness of his billing prices and the reasonableness of the profit margin included in billing prices than by his final profit position. Voluntary refunds establishing a lower profit margin for the fiscal year are significant only when having the effect of consistently adjusting prices and profits throughout the period. The contractor whose pricing policy results in comparatively reasonable original profit margins on renegotiable business from original billing prices should receive more favorable consideration than a contractor whose pricing policy results in substantially excessive profits. The contractor who maintains low cost and only a reasonable margin of profit is subjected to the risks normally incident to the performance of a fixed-price contract secured under competitive conditions, while the contractor who overprices usually has taken few, if any, of such risks. In the latter case, the profit margin of the contractor should be adjusted in the direction of the fee that might have been allowed under a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract for the production of similar articles. Since many contractors have now had sufficient experience in production of contracted materials to eliminate or reduce the risks that may have justified liberal prices earlier, renegotiation agencies are to emphasize pricing policy by giving less favorable consideration to contractors who have not followed a reasonably close pricing policy. (See subparagraph (5) of this paragraph.)

(3) The record of the contractor, during the fiscal year being renegotiated, in reducing prices to reflect reductions in costs and to avoid the accumulation of excessive profits should be taken into account. The record in fulfilling or not fulfilling, in the year under consideration, price reduction commitments in a renegotiation agreement made in the previous year should be given substantial weight.

(4) Price comparisons should be made with other contractors making the same or essentially similar products.

(5) While prices which are actually lower than those of competitors are a favorable fact, it should be recognized that a low profit margin may be the result of comparatively low prices being coupled with comparatively high costs in which event neither the low prices nor the low profit margin should receive full consideration as favorable facts.

(6) Where the entry of a contractor into war business involved physical and other adjustments which will create substantial problems in a reconversion to pre-war business such as possible loss on capital investments made for war production purposes, loss or saturation of markets or other similar problems, the increased risk incident to such contractor's entry into war business as compared with other contractors who do not have similar risks is to be given consideration. [RR 413.2]

§ 1604.414 Contribution to the war effort—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excess profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(v) nature and extent of contribution to the war effort, including inventive and developmental contribution and cooperation with the Government and other contractors in supplying technical assistance.

[RR 414.1]

(b) Comment. Consideration is to be given to the nature and extent of the contractor's contribution to the war effort. Favorable consideration for unusual contributions should begin at a high level of performance. Experimental and developmental work of high value to the war effort, and new inventions, techniques and processes of unusual merit are examples of special contributions. The extent to which a contractor cooperates with the Government and with other contractors in developing and supplying technical assistance to alternative or competitive sources of supply is a fact which should be given favorable consideration and the effect of such sharing of knowledge on the contractor's future peacetime business should also be taken into account. [RR 414.2]

§ 1604.415 Character of business—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excessive profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(vi) character of business, including complexity of manufacturing technique, character and extent of subcontracting, and rate of turn-over.

(b) Comment. (1) Consideration is to be given to the character of the business of the contractor. The manufacturing contribution will vary with the nature of the product and the degree of skill and precision required in the work performed by the contractor. A contractor who performs a large proportion of the work under his contract directly contributes a greater part of the ultimate value of his product and generally has a lower turnover than companies acting primarily in an assembly capacity. The work done by a contractor who subcontracts a substantial portion of the manufacturing process differs from the work done by a contractor who makes the end product through all or most of its production stages. The ratio of labor and burden (overhead) to materials included in costs is usually significant. The relative complexity of the manufacturing technique and the relative integration of the manufacturing process are the basic considerations in evaluating this factor.

(2) Maximum war production and the policy of Congress require that subcontracting be used to the maximum extent practicable. A contractor who, through subcontracting, materially increased the volume of war production in addition to making full use of his own plant and facilities, has shown ingenuity and resourcefulness in making use of the facilities of small plants, has assisted with engineering and production advice and has devoted time and managerial ability to such subcontractors should be considered as having made a greater contribution than one who has merely subcontracted certain parts of his production requirements. The contribution made by a contractor with respect to organizing the volume of his business produced by subcontractors varies substantially and must be evaluated in each instance.

(3) Rate of turnover will indicate the use of plant, materials and net worth. Low rate of turnover may indicate more complete integration in production or be related to the type of product and nature of the manufacturing process. High rate of turnover may indicate relatively smaller manufacturing contribution or by comparison with other manufacturers of similar products a relatively greater efficiency. [RR 415.2]

§ 1604.416 Additional factors—(a) Statutory provision. Subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides that in determining excessive profits there shall be taken into consideration the following factor:

(vii) such other factors the consideration of which the public interest and fair and equitable dealing may require, which factors shall be published in the regulations of the Board from time to time as adopted.

[RR 416.1]

(b) Factors provided by regulations. No additional factors have been adopted by the War Contracts Board as, in its opinion, the statutory factors are broad enough to provide a basis for consideration of any element of a contractor's business necessary to be considered in renegotiation. [RR 416.2]

SUBPART D—RECOVERY OF EXCESSIVE PROFITS ALREADY REALIZED

§ 1604.420 Scope of subpart. This subpart deals with the repayment of excessive profits already realized. Subpart C deals with the elimination of excessive profits through voluntary agreement to reduce prices on deliveries to be made in the future. Subpart D deals with the allowance of the tax credit to which the contractor is entitled under section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. [RR 420]

§ 1604.421 Statutory provision. Subsection (c) (2) of the 1943 act provides:

Upon the making of an agreement, or the entry of an order, under paragraph (1) by the Board, or the entry of an order under subsection (e) by The Tax Court of the United States, determining excessive profits, the Board shall forthwith authorize and direct the Secretaries or any of them to eliminate such excessive profits (A) by reductions in the amounts otherwise payable to the contractor under contracts with the departments, or by other revision of their terms; or (B) by withholding from amounts otherwise due to the contractor any amount of such excessive profits; or (C) by directing a contractor to withhold for the account of the United States, from amounts otherwise due to a subcontractor, any amount of such excessive profits of such subcontractor; or (D) by recovery from the contractor, through repayment, credit, or suit any amount of such excessive profits actually paid to him; or (E) by any combination of these methods, as is deemed desirable. Actions on behalf of the United States may be brought in the appropriate courts of the United States to recover from the contractor any amount of such excessive profits actually paid to him and not withheld or eliminated by some other method under this subsection. The surety under a contract or subcontract shall not be liable for the repayment of any excessive profits thereon. Each contractor and subcontractor is hereby indemnified by the United States against all claims by any subcontractor on account of amounts withheld from such subcontractor pursuant to this paragraph. All money recovered in respect of amounts paid to the contractor from appropriations from the Treasury by way of repayment or suit under this subsection shall be covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. Upon the withholding of any amount of excessive profits or the crediting of any amount of excessive profits against amounts otherwise due a contractor, the Secretary shall certify the amount thereof to the Treasury and the appropriations of his Department shall be reduced by an amount equal to the amount so withheld or credited. The amount of such reductions shall be transferred to the surplus fund of the Treasury. In eliminating excessive profits the Secretary shall allow the contractor or subcontractor credit for Federal income and excess profits taxes as provided in section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. For the purposes of this paragraph the term "contractor" includes a subcontractor.

[RR 421]

§ 1604.422 Recovery by voluntary repayment—(a) In general. In renegotiation with respect to a completed fiscal period, the elimination of excessive profits will ordinarily be effected pursuant to an agreement providing for a refund. This refund may be made by the contractor in a single payment or in installments as the agreement may provide. [RR 422.1]

(b) Time of repayment; general rule. (1) Generally, when excessive profits are eliminated by installment payments, the final installment must be paid not later than the end of the fiscal year following that to which the renegotiation relates, or within 30 days after the execution and delivery of the agreement, whichever is later.

(2) If, in the opinion of the Department conducting the renegotiation, the application of the policy stated in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph will result in undue hardship to a contractor, then the renegotiation agreement may provide for further extensions of the time of payment for such period or periods, not extending beyond two years after the close of the fiscal year to which renegotiation relates, as may be approved by such Department.

(3) Installments must be arranged so that there is no contravention of principle stated in paragraph (c) with respect to income tax payments. [RR 422.2]

(c) Relation to income tax payments. In any case where the excessive profits have been or may be excluded from income for Federal income and excess profits tax purposes for the year to which renegotiation relates, the installments in which the renegotiation refund is to be paid must be so arranged that the total cash payments required on or before each payment date for Federal income and excess profits taxes upon income for such year are at least equal to the Federal income and excess profits taxes the contractor would have had to pay by each such date upon the excessive profits eliminated. [RR 422.3]

(d) Interest. No renegotiation agreement when originally made shall require the payment of interest on installments of the refund which are not in default thereunder and which are provided to be payable within the time prescribed in paragraph (b). [RR 422.4]

(e) Repayment by credit memoranda. The elimination of excessive profits may, but only if the renegotiation agreement so provides, be effected by reductions in the amounts otherwise payable to the contractor under contracts with the Departments or by other revision of their terms. This may be accomplished in whole or in part by the issuance by the contractor of credit memoranda to a Department or Departments applicable against specified existing prime contracts in a sum not in excess of the amounts then unpaid thereon. [RR 422.5]

(f) Tax anticipation notes not acceptable. Tax anticipation notes cannot be accepted in discharge of an obligation to eliminate excessive profits. However, the Treasury Department has informed all Federal Reserve Banks that they are authorized to redeem currently Series B or Series C tax notes if the proceeds of the notes are to be used in payment of sums due as a result of renegotiation. [RR 422.6]

(g) Authority to enforce payment. The authority to enforce payment is dealt with in §§ 1604.421, 1606.626 (a), and 1608.321, (a). See also § 1604.423 below.) [RR 422.7]

§ 1604.423 Withholding as a method of recovery. (a) In a proper case, excessive profits may be eliminated by the withholding of the amount of excessive profits from amounts otherwise due to a contractor or by directing a contractor to withhold for the account of the United States amounts otherwise due to a subcontractor.

(b) Withholding on subcontracts will be effected by a contractor or subcontractor upon a direction issued by a Secretary of a Department or pursuant to his authority. The contractor should make payment to his subcontractor in accordance with the terms of the subcontract until otherwise so directed. The 1943 act indemnifies any contractor or subcontractor against all claims under any subcontractor for an amount withheld pursuant to such a direction. Any amount so withheld by a contractor or subcontractor shall be held by him for the account of the United States and shall be paid over to a Department upon a direction issued by or pursuant to the authority of a Secretary of a Department.

(c) Action to withhold under contracts and subcontracts may be taken upon default in the elimination of excessive profits determined by agreement, as well as in cases of determinations of excessive profits made by unilateral order. [RR 423]

SUBPART C—PRICE REDUCTIONS FOR FUTURE DELIVERIES

§ 1604.430 Scope of subpart. This subpart deals with future repricing and its relationship to renegotiation. [RR 430]

§ 1604.431 Statutory references. (a) The Renegotiation Act of 1943 gives the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board no authority to compel price reductions for future deliveries, section 403 (c) (1) of the 1943 act conferring the power to renegotiate only with respect to "amounts received or accrued." This section in the 1942 act dealt with "profits realized or likely to be realized."

(b) The 1943 act does contain, however, permissive language with respect to forward pricing, section 403 (c) (1) providing that any renegotiation agreement may, "with the consent of the contractor or subcontractor, also include provisions with respect to the elimination of excessive profits likely to be received or accrued."

(c) The authority to compel repricing of war contracts is now contained in Title VIII, section 801 of the Revenue Act of 1943. Thereunder, when the Secretary of a Department deems prices unreasonable or unfair, whether under existing agreements or with respect to prospective procurement, he may by order fix the price to be paid and other terms. Any person aggrieved may, within six months after the date of the order, sue in an appropriate court for the difference between the price fixed by the order and what he claims to be fair and just compensation. Should any person willfully refuse or fail to furnish any articles or services at the price so fixed, the President has power to take over and operate any plant of such person under section 9 of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended. (For citation of the repricing statute see § 1608.804.) [RR 431]

§ 1604.432 Necessity for future pricing in renegotiation. (a) Compulsory repricing of contracts with respect to future deliveries will be separately administered by the Secretaries of the several Departments, and is not by statute an obligatory part of renegotiation.

(b) In every case where there has been a determination of excessive profits and it appears excessive profits may be realized in the future from current prices, an attempt should be made to include in the renegotiation agreement a provision for reduction of prices on future deliveries. If the contractor is unwilling to adjust future prices, his failure so to do will be taken into consideration in the next renegotiation. In such case, a report shall be made to the procurement officials having authority to reprice under Title VIII. [RR 432]

§ 1604.433 General policy on price reductions for future deliveries. (a) The reduction of excessive prices for future deliveries is especially vital to the cost of the war production program. A contractor maintaining a high margin of profit, but refunding part of these profits at the time of renegotiation will not have the same need to control or curtail costs as a contractor who is operating with a reasonable current margin of profit.

(b) The contractor who maintains an excessive profit margin on current sales has eliminated risks to almost the same extent as a cost-plus-fixed-fee contractor. On subsequent over-all renegotiation such a contractor will receive less favorable consideration than a contractor who has operated throughout the year on prices which include only a reasonable profit. (See § 1604.411.) [RR 433]

§ 1604.434 Determination of amounts of price reduction. In general an attempt should be made to reduce the prices for future deliveries sufficiently to avoid the future realization by a contractor of excessive profits under his contracts and subcontracts. The actual reductions indicated as necessary should be determined from the financial and other information obtained on renegotiation for the preceding period and from available current cost and price data. [RR 434]

§ 1604.435 Reductions not final. The provision for reduction should clearly state that any reduced prices or price reductions for the succeeding period, provided in the agreement, are not a final determination under the act and do not operate as a clearance for those prices or for the succeeding period. [RR 435]

§ 1604.436 Performance of agreement to reduce prices. The contractor's record in fulfillment of his agreement to reduce prices made in renegotiation for a previous year will be given substantial weight in the renegotiation determination of the current year. [RR 436]

SUBPART D—RENEGOTIATION AND TAXES

§ 1604.441 Statutory provisions—(a) Subsection (c) (2) of the 1943 act. Subsection (c) (2) of the 1943 act provides in part as follows:

In eliminating excessive profits the Secretary shall allow the contractor or subcontractor credit for Federal income and excess profits taxes as provided in section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code.

[RR 441.1]

(b) Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code is set forth in § 1608.802. This section requires, as a general rule, that the amount of a contractor's Federal income and excess profits taxes, which have been assessed for a prior taxable year in respect of excessive profits realized in such year, be allowed as a credit against the total excessive profits to be eliminated. By reason of the amendments to section 3806 made by section 701 (c) of the Revenue Act of 1943, it also provides special rules covering the allowance of tax credits against excessive profits to be eliminated for taxable years beginning in 1942 in cases involving individuals who are subject to the Current Tax Payment Act of 1943. [RR 441.2]

§ 1604.442 Renegotiation after filing of Federal tax returns—(a) Allowance of credit for Federal taxes. (1) The allowance of a credit for Federal taxes is provided by section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code for the purpose of relieving contractors from double payments of excessive profits to the Treasury, once in the form of taxes and again as excessive profits, and to avoid the necessity for tax refunds by the Treasury.

(2) Where excessive profits are determined for a taxable year for which complete Federal income and excess profits tax returns, as distinguished from tentative returns, have been filed, the difference between the amount of Federal income and excess profits taxes assessed in respect of the contractor's income for the period (including the excessive profits) and the amount of Federal income and excess profits taxes which would have been assessed if the excessive profits had been excluded from the returns, is allowed as a credit against the excessive profits determined.

(3) The amount of the credit is based upon the amount of taxes assessed prior to the credit computation. If the assessment based upon the return filed has not been revised by the Bureau of Internal Revenue then the credit is computed upon the basis of such assessment. If such assessment has been revised, then the credit is computed upon the basis of the revised assessment.

(4) Adjustments of a contractor's returns to reflect the reduction of taxable gross and net income and the amounts of tax and postwar credit are made by the Bureau of Internal Revenue after tax credits have been allowed. Any subsequent changes in the contractor's net income or tax liabilities are based upon these adjusted figures. Amended returns are not to be filed. When the tax credit is computed and applied it will not be revised thereafter.

(5) The effect of this credit provision is to require precisely the same aggregate amount of payments to the Government (as taxes and excessive profits) where renegotiation occurs after the filing of Federal tax returns, as would have been required if the gross amount of the excessive profits had been repaid to the Government prior to the filing of the Federal tax returns and no Federal taxes had been assessed thereon. [RR 442.1]

(b) Computation of credit for Federal taxes. (1) The Bureau of Internal Revenue computes the credit allowable under section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code for Federal income and excess profits taxes assessed for a prior taxable year. The contractor should submit written requests for such determinations directly to the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge of the Division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue where the contractor filed its tax return for the fiscal year involved. Forms for requesting computation of the credit appear at §§ 1607.731, 1607.732 and 1607.733. The requests should not be sent to the Collector of Internal Revenue.

(2) Where the original returns have been filed so recently that they are not available to the office of the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge, he will compute the amount of the tax credit from the contractor's retained copies of the returns. It usually requires at least six months after filing, for a return to reach the office of the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge. In such cases, photostat or certified copies of the returns should accompany the request to the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge. In the case of corporations, copies of pages one and two of the corporation forms 1120 and 1121 will ordinarily suffice.

(3) A copy of the contractor's request to the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge should be mailed to the Department handling the renegotiation. [RR 442.2]

(c) Federal tax credit of individuals under Current Tax Payment Act. (1) Under the Current Tax Payment Act of 1943, there is only one tax liability with respect to the income of individuals for 1942 and 1943, and this tax liability is determined on the basis of the return for 1943. Accordingly, the tax credit allowable to individuals in such cases will not be the decrease in the tax for the particular year which is renegotiated, but the decrease in the total tax for 1943 which results from the elimination of excessive profits realized in 1942 or in 1943.

(2) The amount of an individual's total tax for 1943 which is to be decreased by the elimination of excessive profits is either his tax liability for 1943, as shown on his return for 1943, or his total payments on account of his tax for 1942 and 1943, whichever amount is the larger.

(3) Where excessive profits determined for 1942 or 1943 were included by the contractor in the computation of his tax liability as shown on his 1943 return, the tax credit computation should be requested in accordance with the form appearing at § 1607.732.

(4) Where excessive profits determined for 1942 or 1943 were included by the individual in computing his estimated tax for 1943 but such excessive profits were omitted in computing his tax liability as shown on his return for 1943, the tax credit computation should be requested in accordance with the form appearing at § 1607.733.

(5) Where, before renegotiation, the excessive profits were included in the tax computation as described in subparagraph (3) or (4), the amount of the credit is the excess of (i) the amount of the tax which is to be decreased, described under subparagraph (2), over (ii) the tax as computed after the excessive profits have been eliminated from income.

(6) Under the Current Tax Payment Act, a 1942 taxable year of an individual is any taxable year which began in 1942. Such a 1942 taxable year may, therefore, be a fiscal year ended at any time in 1943 prior to December 31, 1943.

(7) In no case will a tax credit be computed by the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge, or allowed in renegotiation, prior to the filing of the return for 1943. [RR 442.3]

(d) Determination of Federal tax credit for partnerships. (1) Since a partnership files only an information return and the Federal tax is imposed on the individual incomes of the partners, the tax credit to which a partnership is entitled under section 3806 for a prior taxable year is the aggregate amount of the separate credits to which the individual partners are entitled because their shares of the partnership's income are reduced by the elimination of the excessive partnership profit. A request for a credit computation should be made for each partner on the form set forth at §§ 1607.732 or 1607.733, whichever is appropriate under the circumstances.

(2) For example, if A and B are partners with 60% and 40% interests respectively, and the partnership has realized excessive profits of $1,000,000 for a prior taxable year, then the elimination of $1,000,000 excessive profits of the partnership will reduce A's taxable income for the year by $600,000 and B's by $400,000. Upon request for a determination of the credit under section 3806, the Internal Revenue Agent in Charge will determine the amount by which the elimination of these excessive profits would reduce A's and B's individual income tax for the year. The aggregate amount of such reductions in A's and B's individual Federal income tax will represent the credit to be allowed under section 3806 against the partnership's obligation to refund excessive profits of $1,000,000. [RR 442.4]

§ 1604.443 Renegotiation prior to filing of Federal tax returns—(a) Exclusion of excessive profits from returns. (1) When, as a result of renegotiation, the amount of excessive profits is determined for a period for which Federal income and excess profits tax returns have not been filed, such amount of excessive profits may be excluded from the contractor's returns for the period.

(2) The amount of excessive profits eliminated for a particular taxable year may not be deducted or excluded from taxable income for any other taxable year.

(3) The tax effect of renegotiation for periods for which Federal income and excess profits tax returns have not been filed is more fully set forth in IT 3577 and IT 3611 at §§ 1608.852 (b) and (c). [RR 443.1]

(b) Effect of tentative tax return. When a contractor has filed a tentative return for the year involved and has been granted an extension of time for filing his completed return, the provisions of IT 3577 and IT 3611 as outlined above will apply if the renegotiation takes place before the filing of the complete return. [RR 443.2]

§ 1604.444 Special allocations of excessive profits elimination required for Federal tax purposes. (a) Where a renegotiation is conducted on a consolidated basis, excessive profits to be eliminated must be allocated between the entities so consolidated (see (§ 1603.311).

(b) Where a renegotiation is conducted on a contract by contract basis and the profits from such contracts are taxed on a percentage of completion basis, excessive profits to be eliminated must be allocated among the taxable years in which such profits were subject to Federal income and excess profits taxes.

(c) Special allocations of excessive profits to be eliminated under (a) and (b) above should appear in the renegotiation agreement or in the order determining excessive profits and also in any request to an Internal Revenue Agent in Charge for tax credit computations. [RR 444]

SUBPART A—AGREEMENTS AND CLEARANCES

§ 1605.501 General—(a) Statutory authority. (1) Subsection (c) (4) of the 1943 act provides as follows:

For the purposes of this section the Board may make final or other agreements with a contractor or subcontractor for the elimination of excessive profits and for the discharge of any liability for excessive profits under this section. Such agreements may contain such terms and conditions as the Board deems advisable. Any such agreement shall be conclusive according to its terms; and except upon a showing of fraud or malfeasance or a willful misrepresentation of a material fact, (A) such agreement shall not for the purposes of this section be reopened as to the matters agreed upon, and shall not be modified by any officer, employee, or agent of the United States, and (B) such agreement and any determination made in accordance therewith shall not be annulled, modified, set aside, or disregarded in any suit, action, or proceeding.

(2) Subsection (c) (1) of the 1943 act provides, in part, as follows:

Any such agreement, if made, may, with the consent of the contractor or subcontractor, also include provisions with respect to the elimination of excessive profits likely to be received or accrued.

[RR 501.1]

(b) Uses of agreements and clearances. The following types of instruments are used in connection with renegotiation:

(1) Renegotiation agreements. These are to be used when, upon conclusion of the renegotiation proceedings, a final agreement is reached between the contractor and the renegotiation officials of the Government that a certain amount of excessive profits is to be eliminated. A form of such agreement is set forth in § 1607.741 (a).

(2) Clearances. These are to be used where, upon a review of the financial and other data submitted by the contractor, it is formally determined that there are no excessive profits for the fiscal year under review. (See § 1607.742.) [RR 501.2]

sult of renegotiation, an agreement has been reached with a contractor for the elimination of excessive profits, such agreement will ordinarily be evidenced by the execution of the standard form of renegotiation agreement, which is set forth in § 1607.741 (a) of these regulations. The provisions of the standard form of agreement are discussed in the succeeding paragraphs. [RR 502.1]

(b) Article 1: Profits to be eliminated. The agreed dollar amount of excessive profits to be eliminated, after giving effect, in accordance with subsection (a) (4) (B) of the 1943 act, to any adjustment for taxes, other than Federal taxes, measured by income, will be set forth in Article 1. Ordinarily such amount will be the excessive profits determined to have been received or accrued during a particular fiscal year under all of the contractor's contracts and subcontracts subject to renegotiation. When the renegotiation covers only contracts and subcontracts completed during a fiscal year or has been conducted only with respect to certain contracts and subcontracts, the language used in Article 1 should be modified accordingly. [RR 502.2]

(c) Article 2: Warranty: Exhibit A: Exhibit B. Renegotiation is, in large measure, conducted upon the basis of information and data submitted by the contractor, particularly financial data. Since such material is accepted in good faith by the Government as the basis for conducting the renegotiation, it is appropriate that the contractor warrant its correctness. Article 2 contains such a warranty, which extends to and includes the summarized data set forth in Exhibit A (see § 1605.503) which is to be annexed to the agreement. If the renegotiation includes subsidiaries of the contractor and has been conducted on a consolidated basis, a list of the subsidiaries will be set forth on an Exhibit B to be annexed to the agreement, the correctness of which the contractor will also warrant (see § 1605.504). An appropriate modification will be made in Article 2 when Exhibit B is used. (See § 1607.741 (b) (2).) [RR 502.3]

(d) Article 3: Tax credit under section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. (1) In most instances the contractor will have been assessed Federal income or income and excess profits taxes on the profits to be eliminated. A credit equal to the amount of such taxes is required by the Renegotiation Act to be allowed against the refund to be made in accordance with section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. The provisions of Article 3 cover the contractor's representation that the profits to be eliminated were included in income in his tax return for the fiscal period involved and his agreement to procure a computation by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the amount by which his taxes for that fiscal period are decreased by reason of the elimination of such profits from income. The procedure for procuring such computation is set forth in § 1604.442 of these regulations. [RR 502.4]

(2) If the renegotiation is concluded before the contractor has filed his Federal income or income and excess profits tax returns for the fiscal period involved, the contractor will ordinarily exclude from income as reported in such returns the amount of profits to be eliminated. In such case no tax credit will be allowable and the agreement should, in lieu of the provisions of Article 3 of the standard form, contain the provisions set forth in § 1607.741 (b) (3) (i) of these regulations.

(3) In some instances less than all of the profits to be eliminated may have been included in the income for the fiscal period upon which Federal income or income and excess profits taxes have been assessed. In such circumstance, a tax credit under section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code will be allowable only as against the part of the profits to be eliminated upon which such Federal taxes have been assessed. A clause covering this type of situation is set out in § 1607.741 (b) (3) of these regulations. [RR 502.4]

(e) Article 4: Terms of payment. (1) The schedule of the payments to be made will be set forth in Article 4. A suggested form of such schedule is set forth in § 1607.741 (b) (5) of these regulations. The Department or Service which has conducted the renegotiation will also provide, in this article, for the place of payment. In the event that the profits agreed in Article 1 to be eliminated are derived in part from prime contracts with Defense Plant Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation and Rubber Reserve Company or any of such corporations, the payment provision, in accordance with the footnote to Article 4 on the standard form will require payment of the amount thereof to the RFC Price Adjustment Board.

(2) If a portion of the refund is to be made to the RFC Price Adjustment Board, any such tax credit should be apportioned ratably between the portion of the refund payable to the RFC Price Adjustment Board and the portion payable to the Treasurer of the United States.

(3) Specially detailed terms for elimination of excessive profits may be set forth on an Exhibit C and incorporated by reference in Article 4 (see § 1605.505). If no subsidiaries are involved and there is, therefore, no Exhibit B referring to such subsidiaries, this exhibit setting forth the terms of payment should, of course, be designated "Exhibit B," instead of "Exhibit C."

(4) Limitations upon the period of time beyond which the schedule of payments must not extend are set forth in § 1604.422 of these regulations. [RR 502.5]

(f) Article 5: Article requiring elimination of additional excessive profits. The provision set forth in § 1607.741 (a) of these regulations is designed to protect the interest of the Government if by reason of reduction of certain costs shown as paid or incurred, in the financial data submitted by the contractor, the profits of the contractor for the period covered by the renegotiation from contracts or subcontracts subject to the Renegotiation Act of 1943 are increased. [RR 502.6]

(g) Article 6: Covenant against contingent fees. This article contains the provisions required by Executive Order 9001 to be included in certain types of Government contracts. [RR 502.7]

(h) Article 7: Officials not to benefit. This article is also a standard provision in most Government contracts, required by Revised Statutes, section 3741, as amended (41 U.S.C. sec. 22). [RR 502.8]

(i) Article 8: Discharge of liability. In consideration of performance by the contractor of the terms of the agreement he is granted a discharge of liability in accordance with subsection (c) (4) of the Renegotiation Act. When the renegotiation covers only contracts and subcontracts completed during the fiscal year or has been conducted only with respect to certain contracts or subcontracts, care should be taken that Article 8, when read in connection with Article 1 (see paragraph (b)) discharges the liability of the contractor only with respect to the contracts and subcontracts actually renegotiated. [RR 502.9]

(j) Article 9: Renegotiation rebate. This article specifically reserves to the contractor his rights under subsection (a) (4) (D) of the Renegotiation Act in the event that a recomputation of his amortization deduction under section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code should entitle him to a rebate. [RR 502.10]

(k) Article 10: Execution of the agreement. The persons executing the agreement on behalf of the contractor and on behalf of the Government state that they do so upon proper authority. [RR 502.11]

(l) Formalities of execution. (1) If the contractor is a corporation, the agreement must be accompanied by a certified resolution of the Board of Directors of the contractor (or the equivalent committee or other body). The form of the resolution, the adoption of the resolution, and the execution of the certificate must all be in accordance with the formalities required by the particular state laws involved. The resolution itself should state:

(i) That the agreement is being entered into pursuant to the Renegotiation Act;

(ii) The amount of profits to be eliminated—and the fiscal year for which they are to be eliminated;

(iii) The title of the corporate officer who is being authorized to execute the agreement on behalf of the corporation; and

(iv) The title of the corporate officer authorized to affix and attest the corporate seal thereon.

The certificate, certifying the adoption of the resolution should state:

(i) The name and capacity of the officer signing the certificate;

(ii) The body adopting the resolution (normally this will be the Board of Directors, but may, in a particular case, be an Executive Committee or similar body);

(iii) The date of the meeting;

(iv) The fact that a quorum of the Board (or other body) was present throughout the meeting;

(v) That the resolution was duly adopted;

(vi) If the particular agreement is specifically referred to in the resolution, that the agreement to which the certified resolution is attached is the same as that referred to in the resolution; and

(vii) That the resolution has not been modified or rescinded and that it is in full force and effect.

If the resolution is adopted by an Executive Committee or similar body (other than the Board of Directors) the certificate must also include satisfactory evidence of the body's authority to act.

(2) If subsidiaries of the contractor are included with the contractor in a consolidated renegotiation, execution by the contractor alone will be sufficient unless the renegotiating agency requires otherwise. (See § 1603.311.)

(3) If the contractor is a partnership, all general partners therein should execute the agreement.

(4) If the contractor is a joint venture, each participant should execute the agreement.

(5) The Department conducting the renegotiation has authority to depart from the requirements of this paragraph in its discretion. [RR 502.12]

§ 1605.503 Exhibit A. There shall be attached to every renegotiation agreement providing for the elimination of excessive profits an exhibit designated "Exhibit A," which shall contain as a minimum, the financial data and information referred to in § 1607.741 (c). In the discretion of the Department conducting the renegotiation, any additional financial data or information may be included in Exhibit A. [RR 503]

§ 1605.504 Exhibit B. When the contractor has subsidiaries, there shall be attached to the renegotiation agreement a list of such subsidiaries in detail. Such list shall be designated as "Exhibit B." Ordinarily, all of such subsidiaries will have been consolidated with the parent company for purposes of the renegotiation agreement, and if any has not been so consolidated, that fact should be specially noted on Exhibit B. The amount of excessive profits, if any, allocated to each subsidiary must be shown on such exhibit. A form of clause referring to Exhibit B for insertion in the renegotiation agreement and a form of Exhibit B are set out in § 1607.741 (b) (2). (See also § 1607.741 (d).) [RR 504]

§ 1605.505 Exhibit C. If the provisions for payment of the cash refund or for other method of elimination of excessive profits are such as cannot be readily set out in Article 4 of the standard form of agreement, such provisions may be set out in an additional exhibit to the agreement, designated "Exhibit C" which should be attached to the agreement and incorporated therein by a reference thereto in Article 4 of the agreement. [RR 505]

§ 1605.506 Additional provisions: Variations—(a) In general. The basic provisions of the standard form of agreement set forth in § 1607.741 (a) of these regulations are to be used in all cases except as otherwise noted in this section. Additional provisions may be added when required to fit particular situations. Section 1607.741 (b) of these regulations contains forms of clauses which, when appropriate, should be used to meet certain of these special situations. Variations in language are permissible where necessary, but unless otherwise noted in this section in no event may any such change be made, or any provision be added to the agreement, when the effect would be to alter or modify the substance or intent of the basic provisions. The conclusion of the official signing the agreement on behalf of the Government pursuant to duly delegated authority that the agreement meets the requirments of this regulation shall be evidenced by the fact of execution and shall be conclusive. (See § 1608.821 (a).) [RR 506.1]

(b) Forward pricing clause. The Renegotiation Act of 1943 specifically authorizes provision in the renegotiation agreement, by agreement with the contractor, for the elimination of excessive profits likely to be received or accrued in the future. When agreement cannot be reached upon specific price reductions, use may be made in the renegotiation contract of the article set forth at § 1607.741 (b) (1). In this connection reference is made to § 1604.430 and following. [RR 506.2]

(c) Anti-discrimination clause. (1) Executive Order No. 9346 dated May 27, 1943 requires "all contracts hereafter negotiated or renegotiated" to contain an article of the type set forth in § 1607.741 (b) (4) of these regulations.

(2) Whenever a renegotiation agreement, executed under the act, expressly purports to modify the terms of specified existing prime contracts with any of the Departments with respect to future deliveries, and the contract or contracts to be modified do not contain an anti-discrimination clause, then the renegotiation agreement shall include the provision set forth in § 1607.741 (b) (4) of these regulations. Except in such cases the requirements stated in (1) above do not apply to renegotiation agreements.

(3) If the renegotiation agreement is to be followed by a supplemental agreement or agreements modifying the terms of existing contracts with respect to future deliveries, each such supplemental agreement will provide for the inclusion in the contracts so modified, of the anti-discrimination clause. [RR 506.3]

(d) Other special provisions. Examples of additional special clauses are set out in the supplement to the standard form of agreement (§ 1607.741 (b)). It is recognized that these provisions are not exclusive and that many circumstances will be encountered requiring other clauses and provisions. The form and substance of such provisions will be within the discretion of the Department conducting the renegotiation, subject to the limitation indicated in paragraph (a) of this section. [RR 506.4]

§ 1605.507 Prohibited provisions—(a) Reservations impairing finality of agreement. No renegotiation agreement is acceptable if it or any authorizing resolution or letter of transmittal contains any reservation which might be interpreted as permitting the contractor to reopen the agreement if the Renegotiation Act is amended or declared unconstitutional, or interpretations of the act are changed, or new exemptions are established or for any similar reason. [RR 507.1]

(b) Provision for refund by the Government. Other than recognition of the right to a renegotiation rebate in accordance with subsection (a) (4) (D) of the 1943 act by reason of a future recomputation of the amortization deduction pursuant to section 124 (d) of the Internal Revenue Code (see § 1605.502 (j)), no provision shall be made in any renegotiation agreement which would have the effect of requiring the Government under any circumstances to repay all or any part of any payment made to it thereunder. [RR 507.2]

(c) Periodic refunds of future excessive profits. Final agreements in renegotiation should not contain provisions for the current or periodic elimination through refunds of excessive profits to be subsequently realized. [RR 507.3]

§ 1605.508 Clearances — (a) When given. If, as a result of renegotiation, it is found that no excessive profits have been received by or accrued to the contractor during the fiscal year under consideration, the contractor should be given a clearance for such year. [RR 508.1]

(b) Use and form of clearance notice. (1) The form of clearance notice set forth in paragraph § 1607.742 should be used in all cases unless the contractor requests a formal clearance agreement.

(2) If any subsidiaries of the contractor are to be included in the clearance notice, appropriate modification may be made in the form. [RR 508.2]

(c) Use and form of clearance agreement. Upon request of the contractor, a clearance agreement executed by the contractor and the Government may be used in place of the clearance notice. Such agreement should follow the general structure of the standard form of renegotiation agreement (see § 1605.506 and § 1607.741 (a)) except that Articles 3, 4, 5 and 9 of the standard agreement should be omitted. The articles used shall be renumbered consecutively. The first article should be substantially the same as that contained in the standard form, except that the finding and agreement should be that no profits should be refunded pursuant to the act. [RR 508.3]

§ 1605.509 Administration of determinations by agreement or order. It is the practice of the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board to have the Department to which the contractor was assigned for renegotiation also administer the resulting renegotiation agreement or unilateral determination. This practice results in such Department being responsible for the collection of any amounts due, the supervision of any forward pricing provisions in an agreement, and other matters involved in such administration. [RR 509]

§ 1605.510 Agreements for periods involving different acts. Should a contractor conclude renegotiation at the same time relating to a fiscal year ended on or prior to June 30, 1943 and a fiscal year ended subsequent to June 30, 1943, it will ordinarily be desirable to prepare separate agreements for each fiscal period. The first period is governed by the 1942 act and the second period is governed by the 1943 act. In the discretion of the Department conducting the renegotiation, one agreement may be used provided that in its form and execution the requirements of the Renegotiation Act of 1942 to the extent applicable and the requirements of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 to the extent applicable are observed. Such discretion may be exercised in the case of renegotiation on a contract basis of a long term contract or in such other cases as the Department conducting the renegotiation may deem suitable. [RR 510]

SUBPART B—STATEMENTS TO CONTRACTORS

§ 1605.520 Scope of subpart. This subpart describes, in general, the statement to be furnished the contractor pursuant to subsection (c) (1) of the 1943 act, the manner in which the contractor may request the statement and the time at which the statement is furnished. It also generally describes the statement furnished where statutory determination has not yet been made. The form of the statements, the material to be included and the instructions for their preparation are set forth in § 1607.752 and following of these regulations. [RR 520]

§ 1605.521 Statutory provision. Subsection (c) (1) of the Renegotiation Act provides, in part, as follows:

Whenever the Board makes a determination with respect to the amount of excessive profits, whether such determination is made by order or is embodied in an agreement with the contractor or subcontractor, it shall, at the request of the contractor or subcontractor, as the case may be, prepare and furnish such contractor or subcontractor with a statement of such determination, of the facts used as a basis therefor, and of its reasons for such determination. Such statement shall not be used in The Tax Court of the United States as proof of the facts or conclusions stated therein.

[RR 521]

§ 1605.522 Request for statement. A request for the statutory statement shall be made in writing by the contractor and addressed to the agency conducting the renegotiation not later than thirty (30) days after receipt by the contractor of an executed copy of the agreement, if the determination of excessive profits is embodied in an agreement, or within thirty (30) days after receipt of a determination made by order. The request for a statement need not be a formal document. [RR 522]

§ 1605.523 Contents of statement. (a) The statement will contain:

(1) The determination of excessive profits.

(2) A summary of the facts upon which the determination is based.

(3) The reasons for the determination.

(b) The following data or material will not be included in the statement:

(1) Information, the furnishing of which would be contrary to regulations for military security.

(2) Information with respect to the operations of other contractors which is of confidential character or the disclosure of which would not be in the interest of the war effort. [RR 523]

§ 1605.524 Statement prior to final determination.—(a) Where statutory determination has not yet been made. When all of the facts relating to the renegotiation have been assembled and considered and the contractor has been advised by the renegotiating agency as to the amount which, in the opinion of such agency, represents the excessive profits which should be eliminated, there shall be submitted to the contractor, upon the latter's request, a written summary of the facts and reasons upon which such opinion is based. Such statement shall be prepared and furnished only upon the request in writing of the contractor including a statement that he has submitted all the evidence which he believes to be relevant to the renegotiation. The purpose of such statement will be to assist the contractor in determining whether or not he will enter into an agreement providing for the elimination of such excessive profits. The contents of such statement shall be prepared in accordance with the instructions set forth in § 1607.752 (b) with respect to the statutory statement, but in lieu of the paragraphs set forth in § 1607.752 (b) (1) and (2) it shall conform to the paragraphs in § 1607.752 (c) (1) and (2). By agreement with the contractor, detailed information submitted by the contractor which is not necessary to the contractor's understanding of the opinion reached, may be omitted. [RR 524.1]

(b) Where determination is by order which may not be final. Whenever the determination is made by the entry of an order, the statutory statement will be furnished to the contractor if requested within the time prescribed in § 1605.522 of these regulations. Such statement accompanying and determination by order which, pursuant to subsection (d) (5) of the Renegotiation Act, is subject to review by and approval of the War Contracts Board, will contain the following clause:

This statement is final only in the event that the determination to which it relates is final.

PART 1606—IMPASSE PROCEDURE

Part 1606 governing impasse procedure is added, as set forth below.

SUBPART A—PROCEDURE UPON REFUSAL OF INFORMATION

Sec.
1606.601 Scope of subpart.
1606.602 Authority to obtain data.

(a) Statement of the War Contracts Board.
(b) Determination of costs.
(c) Factors to be considered by the Tax Court.
1606.637 Enforcement of redetermination made by the Tax Court.

SUBPART A—PROCEDURE UPON REFUSAL OF INFORMATION

§ 1606.601 Scope of subpart. In some cases the contractor may refuse to submit information required in the conduct of renegotiation. This subpart describes the authority to obtain information and the procedure to be followed in such cases. [RR 601]

§ 1606.602 Authority to obtain data.—(a) Renegotiation Act of 1943. Subsection (c) (5) of the 1943 act provides as follows:

(5) (A) Every contractor and subcontractor who holds contracts or subcontracts, to which the provisions of this subsection are applicable, shall, in such form and detail as the Board may by regulations prescribe, file with the Board on or before the first day of the fourth month following the close of the fiscal year (or if such fiscal year has closed on the date of the enactment of the Revenue Act of 1943, on or before the first day of the fourth month following the month in which such date of enactment falls), a financial statement setting forth such information as the Board may by regulations prescribe as necessary to carry out this section. In addition to the statement required under the preceding sentence, every such contractor or subcontractor shall, at such time or times and in such form and detail as the Board may by regulations prescribe, furnish the Board any information, records, or data which is determined by the Board to be necessary to carry out this section. Any person who willfully fails or refuses to furnish any statement, information, records, or data required of them under this subsection, or who knowingly furnishes any such statement, information, records, or data containing information which is false or misleading in any material respect, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

(B) For the purposes of this section the Board shall have the same powers with respect to any such contractor or subcontractor that any agency designated by the President to exercise the powers conferred by Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act, 1942, has with respect to any contractor to whom such title is applicable. In the interest of economy and the avoidance of duplication of inspection and audit, the services of the Bureau of Internal Revenue shall, upon request of the Board and the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, be made available to the extent determined by the Secretary of the Treasury for the purpose of making examinations and audits under this section.

The similar provisions of subsection (e) of the 1942 act relating to false information were invoked in United States v. Joseph Decker and Gustav Kann, 51 Fed. Supp. 20 (D. C., Dist. of Md., July 24, 1943). The court ruled that the defendant, an officer of the corporate contractor, violated the provisions of subsection (e) of the 1942 act by referring the representative of the Navy Department, who had made written demand for statements of actual costs of production, to the contractor's books which the defendant knew contained false and misleading information. [RR 602.1]

(b) Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act, 1942. (1) This statute gives the Government the right to inspect and audit the books of any contractor holding a contract, subcontract, or order placed in furtherance of the war effort. (See § 1608.803) The inspection and audit may be made by the War Contracts Board. (See paragraph (a) of this section.)

(2) Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act further provides that such inspection and audit may be made by any Governmental agency or official designated by the President or by the Chairman of the War Production Board. By Executive Order No. 9127 issued April 10, 1942 (see § 1608.803 (c)), the President designated the War Production Board, the War Department, the Navy Department, the Treasury Department, the United States Maritime Commission and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to exercise the authority contained in the statute. As to the power of the War Shipping Administration to act under Executive Order No. 9127, reference is made to paragraph 2.i. of Executive Order 9054 as amended by Executive Order 9244 (see § 1608.805). [RR 602.2]

(c) Title 10, U. S. Code. Section 310 (1) of Title 10, Chapter 18, U. S. Code authorizes the War and Navy Departments to obtain information by audit and inspection from any aircraft contractor. (See § 1608.803 (b).) [RR 602.3]

§ 1606.603 Procedure under Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act, 1942.—(a) Departmental authority under Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act, 1942. The Departments referred to in § 1606.602 (b) have authority to act under Title XIII of the Second War Powers Act, 1942, and Executive Order No. 9127, quite independently of any authority given the War Contracts Board by the 1943 act. [RR 603.1]

(b) Preliminary steps. (1) No audit is to be made by any of the Departments pursuant to Executive Order No. 9127 (see § 1608.803 (c)) without first advising the War Production Board. Communications on this subject should be addressed to Chief, Contract Review Branch, Procurement Policy Division, War Production Board, 4th & Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C. It is the intent of this notification to prevent conflict and duplication of audit with other Departments. Approval from the War Production Board should therefore be obtained before proceeding with an audit. This preliminary step is directed in the interest of orderly administration, but no failure to take such step will invalidate action under such act. [RR 603.2]

§ 1606.604 Reports of criminal conduct in connection with war contracts. (1) There has been set up in the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice a special unit whose duty it is to take appropriate action as expeditiously as possible in all cases in which criminal conduct is shown to exist in connection with contracts entered into by the Government with business concerns in connection with the war program.

(2) Reports of any instances of criminal conduct in such cases should contain a full statement of the facts indicating criminal conduct. Such reports should be transmitted through appropriate channels to the Department of Justice. [RR 604]

SUBPART B—FAILURE TO AGREE

§ 1606.620 Scope of subpart. This subpart deals with procedure on impasses in renegotiation up to the stage of court review. Court review is dealt with in Subpart C. [RR 620]

§ 1606.621 Statutory provisions. The Renegotiation Act of 1943 provides as follows:

Sec. 403 (a):

(3) The terms "renegotiate" and "renegotiation" include a determination by agreement or order under this section of the amount of any excessive profits.

Sec. 403 (c):

(1) Whenever, in the opinion of the Board, the amounts received or accrued under contracts with the Departments and subcontracts may reflect excessive profits, the Board shall give to the contractor or subcontractor, as the case may be, reasonable notice of the time and place of a conference to be held with respect thereto. The mailing of such notice by registered mail to the contractor or subcontractor shall constitute the commencement of the renegotiation proceeding. At the conference, which may be adjourned from time to time, the Board shall endeavor to make a final or other agreement with the contractor or subcontractor with respect to the elimination of excessive profits received or accrued, and with respect to such other matters relating thereto as the Board deems advisable. Any such agreement, if made, may, with the consent of the contractor or subcontractor, also include provisions with respect to the elimination of excessive profits likely to be received or accrued. If the Board does not make an agreement with respect to the elimination of excessive profits received or accrued, it shall issue and enter an order determining the amount, if any, of such excessive profits, and forthwith give notice thereof by registered mail to the contractor or subcontractor. In the absence of the filing of a petition with The Tax Court of the United States under the provisions of and within the time limit prescribed in subsection (e) (1), such order shall be final and conclusive and shall not be subject to review or redetermination by any court or other agency. The Board shall exercise its powers with respect to the aggregate of the amounts received or accrued during the fiscal year (or such other period as may be fixed by mutual agreement) by a contractor or subcontractor under contracts with the Departments and subcontracts, and not separately with respect to amounts received or accrued under separate contracts with the Departments or subcontracts, except that the Board may exercise such powers separately with respect to amounts received or accrued by the contractor or subcontractor under any one or more separate contracts with the Departments or subcontracts at the request of the contractor or subcontractor. Whenever the Board makes a determination with respect to the amount of excessive profits, whether such determination is made by order or is embodied in an agreement with the contractor or subcontractor, it shall, at the request of the contractor or subcontractor, as the case may be, prepare and furnish such contractor or subcontractor with a statement of such determination, of the facts used as a basis therefor, and of its reasons for such determination. Such statements shall not be used in The Tax Court of the United States as proof of the facts or conclusions stated therein.

Sec. 403 (d) (4) and (5):

(4) The Board may delegate in whole or in part any power, function, or duty to the Secretary of a Department, and any power, function, or duty so delegated may be delegated in whole or in part by the Secretary to such officers or agencies of the United States as he may designate, and he may authorize successive redelegations of such powers, functions, and duties.

(5) The chairman of the Board may from time to time divide the Board into divisions of one or more members, assign the members of the Board thereto, and in case of a division of more than one member, designate the chief thereof. The Board may also, by regulations or otherwise, determine the character of cases to be conducted initially by the Board through an officer or officers of, or utilized by, the Board; the character of cases to be conducted initially by the various officers and agencies authorized to exercise powers of the Board pursuant to paragraph (4), the character of cases to be conducted initially by the various divisions of the Board, and the character of cases to be conducted initially by the Board itself. The Board may review any determination by any such officer, agency, or division on its own motion, or in its discretion at the request of any contractor or subcontractor aggrieved thereby. Unless the Board upon its own motion initiates a review of such determination within 60 days from the date of such determination, or at the request of the contractor or subcontractor made within 60 days from the date of such determination initiates a review of such determination within 60 days from the date of such request, such determination shall be deemed the determination of the Board. Upon any review by the Board the Board may determine as the amount of excessive profits an amount either less than, equal to, or greater than that determined by the officer, agency, or division whose action is so reviewed.

§ 1606.622 Departmental procedures with respect to impasse cases. The organization of the renegotiating agencies in the various Departments and the extent to which authority within each such Department has been delegated, differ materially. Accordingly, the procedures applicable to an impasse case up to and including the entry of an order determining excessive profits will differ in each Department. [RR 622]

§ 1606.623 Authority of Departments to make unilateral determinations. The War Contracts Board has delegated to each Secretary the authority to issue and enter an order determining the amount of the excessive profits of a contractor who has not entered into an agreement to eliminate the same. (See § 1608.821 (a).) Successive redelegations of such authority are authorized and have been made. Any such order entered pursuant to such delegated authority is, however, subject to review by the War Contracts Board. Upon the entry of such an order notice will be given forthwith by registered mail to the contractor and a copy of such order and notice shall be sent to the Secretary of the War Contracts Board at the address specified in § 1607.791 (e). Such order will become final (that is, be deemed the determination of the War Contracts Board) when and as prescribed in subsection d (5) of the 1943 act. (See §§ 1606.621 and 1606.625.) [RR 623]

§ 1606.624 Procedure for review by the War Contracts Board—(a) Review on request by the contractor. A contractor who desires review by the War Contracts Board of a unilateral determination made under delegated authority should, promptly after notice of the order, and in any event within sixty days from the date of such determination, file a request for review. Such request should be addressed to the Secretary of War Contracts Price Adjustment Board at the address specified in § 1607.791 (e). Such request need not be in any particular form but should set forth:

(1) The name of the contractor.

(2) The fiscal period with respect to which the renegotiation has been conducted (or in the case of a renegotiation on a contract by contract basis, a description of such contracts and subcontracts).

(3) A brief summary of the issues involved. [RR 624.1]

(b) Review by the War Contracts Board on its own motion. Any order determining excessive profits made by delegated authority may be reviewed by the War Contracts Board on its own motion within sixty days from the date of such order. [RR 624.2]

(c) Discretion of the War Contracts Board. Review by the War Contracts Board is not a matter of right but may be granted by the War Contracts Board in its discretion on timely request of the contractor or on its own motion. [RR 624.3]

(d) Nature of review by the War Contracts Board. The War Contracts Board may review an order determining excessive profits made pursuant to its delegated authority on the basis of the record theretofore made. In the event that the Board determines that a further conference is desirable, notice thereof will be given to the contractor. [RR 624.4]

§ 1606.625 Finality of orders determining excessive profits—(a) Orders made by delegated authority. The War Contracts Board has reserved the right to review any order entered pursuant to any delegated authority determining excessive profits. Accordingly, no such order becomes final (that is, is deemed the determination of the War Contracts Board) until the earliest of the following:

(1) Sixty days after the order has been entered, if review is neither requested by the contractor concerned nor intiated by the War Contracts Board within that period; or

(2) Denial of review and adoption of the order by the War Contracts Board after timely request for review by the contractor (see paragraph (b)); or

(3) Sixty days after the date of a timely request for review if such review is not granted by the War Contracts Board within that period. [RR 625.1]

(b) Orders entered by the War Contracts Board. Upon any review by the War Contracts Board whether pursuant to request by the contractor or initiated by the Board on its own motion, the Board will enter an order determining as the amount of excessive profits an amount either less than, equal to, or greater than that determined by the order which has been reviewed. Such order of the War Contracts Board is final immediately upon its entry. [RR 625.2]

(c) Notice of final order to be given to the contractor. When an order determining excessive profits made by delegated authority has become final or an order is entered by the War Contracts Board determining excessive profits (which, as stated in paragraph (b), is final upon entry), notice thereof will be given forthwith by registered mail to the contractor. [RR 625.3]

(d) Time to appeal to Tax Court. The ninety day period for filing a petition for redetermination in The Tax Court will run from the date of the mailing of the notice referred to in paragraph (c) in either of the cases referred to therein. [RR 625.4]

§ 1606.626 Elimination of excessive profits determined by order—(a) Authorization to Secretaries to eliminate excessive profits. (1) All of the powers, functions and duties conferred upon the War Contracts Board by subsection (c) (2) of the 1943 act have been delegated by the Board under the date of February 26, 1944 to each Secretary with right of successive redelegation (see §§ 1608.801 and 1608.821 (a)). Among the methods available to each Secretary to eliminate excessive profits are reductions in amounts otherwise payable to the contractor under contracts with the Departments, withholding of amounts otherwise due the contractor, directing a contractor to withhold amounts otherwise due to a subcontractor, recovering through repayment, credit or suit, or any combination of the methods specified in such subsection as is deemed desirable.

(2) The power of each of the Secretaries to eliminate excessive profits by any of the methods or any combination of the methods referred to in subsection (c) (2) of the 1943 act, including clauses (A), (B), (C), (D) and (E) thereof, may be exercised by each Secretary in his discretion (or by such person or persons as may have authorization to act by delegation, subdelegation or otherwise) immediately upon the making of an agreement by or on behalf of the War Contracts Board, or the entry of an order which is, or which is deemed to be the determination of the War Contracts Board, or the entry of an order under subsection (e) by The Tax Court of the United States. Such power may be so exercised without further action by the War Contracts Board.

(3) The delegation dated February 26, 1944 by the War Contracts Board delegated all the authority referred to in this paragraph. (See §1608.821 (a).) [RR 626.1]

(b) No delay in elimination of excessive profits determined by order. (1) Under a renegotiation agreement, provision is frequently made for the elimination of the excessive profits over a period of time by refunds in installments or by other provisions. But if excessive profits are determined by order, no provision will be contained in such order for deferment of the obligation thereby created or any part thereof. The collection of the amount called for by such an order will be effected in accordance with the general principles governing the enforcement and collection of obligations owing to the United States as supplemented by the special powers and procedures contained in the Renegotiation Act.

(2) The filing of a petition in The Tax Court of the United States for a redetermination does not operate to stay the execution of the order determining excessive profits (see subsection (e) (1) of the 1943 act). [RR 626.2]

(c) Elimination of excessive profits determined by the Tax Court. Any excessive profits determined by order of the Tax Court in proceedings for redetermination and which have not theretofore been eliminated will also be eliminated by appropriate action. (See § 1606.637.) [RR 626.3]

SUBPART C—PROCEEDINGS IN THE TAX COURT

§ 1606.630 Scope of subpart. The 1943 act provides that certain contractors and subcontractors may institute proceedings in The Tax Court of the United States for a redetermination of the amount of excessive profits received or accrued by them. This subpart is devoted to a considcration of the provisions of the act applicable to such proceedings with respect to fiscal years ending after June 30, 1943. [RR 630]

§ 1606.631 Statutory provisions. Portions of section (c) (1) and the whole of section (e) (1) of the 1943 act are set out below:

(c) (1) • • • If the Board does not make an agreement with respect to the elimination of excessive profits received or accrued, it shall issue and enter an order determining the amount, if any, of such excessive profits, and forthwith give notice thereof by registered mail to the contractor or subcontractor. In the absence of the filing of a petition with The Tax Court of the United States under the provisions of and within the time limit prescribed in subsection (e) (1), such order shall be final and conclusive and shall not be subject to review or redetermination by any court or other agency. • • • Whenever the Board makes a determination with respect to the amount of excessive profits, whether such determination is made by order or is embodied in an agreement with the contractor or subcontractor, it shall, at the request of the contractor or subcontractor, as the case may be, prepare and furnish such contractor or subcontractor with a statement of such determination, of the facts used as a basis therefor, and of its reasons for such determination. Such statement shall not be used in The Tax Court of the United States as proof of the facts or conclusions stated therein.

• • • • •

(e) (1) Any contractor or subcontractor aggrieved by an order of the Board determining the amount of excessive profits received or accrued by such contractor or subcontractor may, within ninety days (not counting Sunday or a legal holiday in the District of Columbia as the last day) after the mailing of the notice of such order under subsection (c) (1), file a petition with The Tax Court of the United States for a redetermination thereof. Upon such filing such court shall have exclusive jurisdiction, by order, to finally determine the amount, if any, of such excessive profits received or accrued by the contractor or subcontractor, and such determination shall not be reviewed or redetermined by any court or agency. The court may determine as the amount of excessive profits an amount either less than, equal to, or greater than that determined by the Board. A proceeding before the Tax Court to finally determine the amount, if any, of excessive profits shall not be treated as a proceeding to review the determination of the Board, but shall be treated as a proceeding de novo. For the purposes of this subsection the court shall have the same powers and duties, insofar as applicable, in respect of the contractor, the subcontractor, the Board and the Secretary, and in respect of the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, notice of hearings, hearings before divisions, review by the Tax Court of decisions of divisions, stenographic reporting, and reports of proceedings, as such court has under sections 1110, 1111, 1113, 1114, 1115 (a), 1116, 1117 (a), 1118, 1120, and 1121 of the Internal Revenue Code in the case of a proceeding to redetermine a deficiency. In the case of any witness for the Board or Secretary, the fees and mileage, and the expenses of taking any deposition shall be paid out of appropriations of the Board or Department available for that purpose, and in the case of any other witnesses, shall be paid, subject to rules prescribed by the court, by the party at whose instance the witness appears or the deposition is taken. The filing of a petition under this subsection shall not operate to stay the execution of the order of the Board under subsection (c) (2).

§ 1606.632 Right to institute proceedings in the Tax Court—(a) Forum for redetermination. Subsection (e) (1) of the 1943 act confers exclusive jurisdiction upon The Tax Court of the United States to entertain proceedings "to finally determine the amount" of excessive profits received or accrued by contractors or subcontractors who are authorized to institute proceedings for a redetermination. [RR 632.1]

(b) Statutory authority. Subsection (e) (1) of the 1943 act grants the right to institute proceedings before the Tax Court only to contractors or subcontractors (including subcontractors described in subsection (a) (5) (B)—i.e., war contracts brokers), aggrieved by an order of the War Contracts Board determining the amount of excessive profits. (Note: As to the rights of a contractor or subcontractor aggrieved by a determination of a Secretary with respect to a fiscal year ending before July 1, 1943, see subsection (e) (2).) [RR 632.2]

(c) Determinations embodied in agreements. A contractor or subcontractor who has entered into an agreement with respect to the elimination of excessive profits is granted no right to institute proceedings for a redetermination. [RR 632.3]

§ 1606.633 Nature of the proceeding in the Tax Court. Subsection (e) (1) of the 1943 act expressly provides that the proceeding before the Tax Court "shall not be treated as a proceeding to review the determination of the Board, but shall be treated as a proceeding de novo." Thus, the 1943 act contemplates that the redetermination to be made by the Tax Court shall not be made upon the basis of the record of the prior determination made by the War Contracts Board, but shall be arrived at by the Tax Court on the basis of the record made before it. The redetermination proceeding in the Tax Court is apparently intended to be de novo in the same sense as the redetermination of a tax deficiency in the same court. In such proceeding neither the aggrieved party nor the Government is restricted by or limited to the issues, facts or legal theories presented in the renegotiation proceeding. [RR 633]

§ 1606.634 Power of the Tax Court—(a) As to the determination of excessive profits. The Tax Court has statutory power to determine as the amount of excessive profits an amount either less than, equal to, or greater than, that determined by the War Contracts Board. [RR 634.1]

(b) Finality of determination. The 1943 act, in conferring jurisdiction upon the Tax Court, provides that upon the filing of a petition within the prescribed time the court shall "have exclusive jurisdiction by order, to finally determine the amount, if any, of such excessive profits received or accrued by the contractor or subcontractor, and such determination shall not be reviewed or redetermined by any court or agency." (See also subsection (c) (1) of the 1943 act in § 1606.631.) [RR 634.2]

§ 1606.635 Proceedings before the Tax Court—(a) Institution of proceeding. A proceeding for a redetermination in the Tax Court is instituted by the filing of a petition by the contractor or subcontractor. [RR 635.1]

(b) Rules of the Tax Court. The rules of the Tax Court with respect to proceedings before it under the 1943 act are cited in § 1608.806. [RR 635.2]

(d) Effect of petition. The filing of a petition does not operate to stay the execution of the order of the War Contracts Board. (See § 1606.626 (b) (2).) [RR 635.4]

(e) Conduct of proceedings before the Tax Court. Subsection (e) (1) of the 1943 act provides that the Tax Court shall have the same powers and duties insofar as applicable in respect of the contractor, the subcontractor, and the War Contracts Board, and in respect of the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, notice of hearings, hearings before divisions, review by the Tax Court of decisions of divisions, stenographic reporting and reports of proceedings, as the Tax Court has under sections 1110, 1111, 1113, 1114, 1115 (a), 1116, 1117 (a), 1118, 1120 and 1121 of the Internal Revenue Code in the case of a proceeding to redetermine a deficiency. [RR 635.5]

§ 1606.636 Determination of excessive profits by the Tax Court—(a) Statement of the War Contracts Board. Under the provisions of subsection (c) (1) of the 1943 act, the War Contracts Board is required, at the request of the contractor or subcontractor, to prepare and furnish a statement of its determination, of the facts used as the basis therefor, and of its reasons for such determination. It is expressly provided that "such statement shall not be used in The Tax Court of the United States as proof of the facts or conclusions stated therein." Under the rules of the Tax Court, however, a copy of such statement is to be appended to the contractor's petition. (See § 1608.806.) [RR 636.1] shall be determined in accordance with the method of cost accounting regularly employed by him in keeping his books, but further provides that if no such method of cost accounting has been employed, or if, in the opinion of the Tax Court, such method does not properly reflect such costs, such costs shall be determined in accordance with such method as in the opinion of the Tax Court does properly reflect such costs.

(2) The Tax Court under this subsection is also required to disallow as a cost any item of cost which is unreasonable or not properly chargeable to the contracts or subcontracts involved in the proceeding before it. The Tax Court must allow as items of cost, to the extent allocable to such contracts and subcontracts, all items estimated to be allowable as deductions and exclusions under Chapters 1 and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code (excluding taxes measured by income) and to adjust the amount of excessive profits to be eliminated to the extent of taxes measured by income (other than Federal taxes) which are attributable to the portion of the profits which are not excessive.

(3) Unless there has been an agreement or stipulation with respect to the proper segregation of renegotiable and non-renegotiable business, the proceeding in the Tax Court necessarily will involve a determination by the Tax Court with respect to such segregation. [RR 636.2]

(c) Factors to be considered by the Tax Court. Subsection (a) (4) (A) provides that the factors set forth therein shall be taken into consideration in determining "excessive profits." Inasmuch as the Tax Court is charged with the duty of determining the amount of excessive profits, it, as well as the War Contracts Board, must take into consideration such factors. [RR 636.3]

§ 1606.637 Enforcement of redetermination made by the Tax Court. As subsection (e) (1) of the 1943 act provides that the filing of a petition thereunder shall not operate to stay the execution of the order of the Board under subsection (c) (2), it is likely that excessive profits will have been partially or wholly eliminated prior to a redetermination of excessive profits by the Tax Court. To the extent that such profits are not so eliminated prior to the decision of the Tax Court, action will be taken to eliminate them thereafter. In this connection reference is made to § 1606.626 (c). [RR 637]

§ 1607.733 Letter from individual to Internal Revenue Agent in Charge relating to a taxable year not beginning in 1941 (overpayment of 1943 tax liability).

Internal Revenue Agent in Charge,
_____,
_____.

Dear Sir:

The Price Adjustment Board of the _____ requests your advice as to the amount of the credit as defined by Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to a proposed elimination of excessive profits by _____ (taxpayer's name and address)
in the amount of $_____ for the taxable year ended _____, 194__. These excessive profits were included in the taxpayer's income and excess profits tax returns for said fiscal year and that the Contractor has applied or will promptly apply for a computation by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, based upon the assessments made to the date of such computation, of the amount by which the taxes of the Contractor for said fiscal year payable under Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D, and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code are decreased by reason of the application of Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. The amount, if any, so computed will be allowed as a credit against the amount of profits agreed in Article 1 to be eliminated.

4. Terms of payment. The Contractor agrees to pay to the Government the sum of _____ Dollars ($_____), being the amount determined in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated, as follows:

Payment shall be made by check to the order of the Treasurer of the United States and forwarded _____
_____ All unpaid installments hereunder may at the option of the Government be declared, and thereupon shall become, immediately due and payable, in the event of a default in the payment of any installment continuing for twenty days.

5. Additional profits to be eliminated. If, as a result of the elimination of the amount of profits determined pursuant to Article 1 hereof, the Contractor shall either receive a refund (whether by repayment or credit) or shall recognize a reduction in its liability (by giving effect thereto on its books) in respect of any item which was allowed as an item of cost in the determination of such profits, then promptly thereafter, the Contractor shall pay to the Government, as additional profits which should be eliminated a sum equal to the amount of such refund or reduction in liability, by the delivery to _____ of a check payable to the order of the Treasurer of the United States in such amount.

In the elimination of said additional profits the Contractor shall be allowed the tax credit, if any, provided by Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code.

6. Covenant against contingent fees. The Contractor warrants that it has not employed any person to solicit or secure this agreement upon any agreement for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee. Breach of this warranty shall give the Government the right to annul this agreement.

7. Officials not to benefit. No member of or delegate to Congress or resident commissioner or any other person in the employ or service of the United States shall be admitted to any share or part of this agreement or to any benefit that may arise therefrom, but this provision shall not be construed to extend to this agreement if made with a corporation for its general benefit.

8. Discharge of liability. This agreement shall be final and conclusive according to its terms, and performance by the Contractor in accordance herewith shall be in full discharge of all liability of the Contractor under the Renegotiation Act for excessive profits received or accrued under said contracts and subcontracts for the fiscal year covered hereby and, except upon a showing of fraud or malfeasance or a willful misrepresentation of a material fact, this agreement shall not for the purposes of the Renegotiation Act be reopened as to the matters agreed upon, and shall not be modified by any officer, employee, or agent of the United States, and this agreement and any determination made in accordance herewith shall not be annulled, modified, set aside, or disregarded in any suit, action or proceeding.

*Delete inapplicable language.

If any part of the profits to be eliminated were derived from prime contracts with Defense-Plant Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Defense Supplies Corporation or Rubber Reserve Company, insert here: "to the extent of $_____ and by check to the order of and delivered to the RFC Price Adjustment Board, 811 Vermont Avenue, Washington 25, D. C., to the extent of $_____."

9. Renegotiation rebate. Nothing contained in this agreement shall prejudice any right which the Contractor may have to recover a renegotiation rebate pursuant to subsection (a) (4) (D) of the Renegotiation Act.

10. Execution of agreement. This agreement has been duly executed by or on behalf of the Contractor pursuant to proper authority and by or on behalf of the Government by the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board by its duly authorized representative to whom authority to execute this agreement has been delegated by the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board pursuant to subsection (d) (4) of the Renegotiation Act.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have executed this agreement in_____ counterparts as of the day and year above written.

(b) Variations in the standard form—(1) Forward pricing. When agreement cannot be reached upon specific price reductions, use may be made of the following clause:

The Contractor agrees that so long as it shall have contracts and subcontracts which are by law subject to renegotiation, it will from time to time adjust its prices under such contracts and subcontracts to eliminate the accumulation of profits thereunder regarded by the Contractor as excessive. Within twenty days after the close of that quarter of the Contractor's current fiscal year in which the Contractor has received a fully executed counterpart of this agreement, the Contractor agrees to file with _____ a report setting forth the price reductions, if any, made during all then expired quarters of such current fiscal year applicable to its contracts and subcontracts subject to renegotiation. The Contractor further agrees to file a similar report within twenty days following each subsequent quarter of its current fiscal year setting forth its price reductions, if any, made during such quarter. Each such report may be in such general terms or in such detail as the Contractor deems necessary to an intelligent appraisal thereof, but shall set forth, if feasible, the unit prices before and after each such reduction, and shall set forth an estimate of the aggregate reduction effected thereby during such fiscal year under contracts and subcontracts subject to renegotiation; and shall include, if available, a summary profit and loss statement for the period covered by the report. It is understood and agreed that price reductions will be taken into consideration in any renegotiation which may hereafter be conducted with the Contractor with respect to its current fiscal year, but that, with respect to periods subsequent to the date of this agreement, the obligations of the Contractor under this article will not be deemed to be satisfied by refunds or retroactive price reductions.

Failure on the part of the Contractor to comply fully with this article shall not constitute grounds for reopening this agreement or for setting aside the discharge provided for in Article 6 hereof.

(2) Variations in Article 2 of the standard form. When the renegotiation covers a parent and subsidiaries the following clause should be added to Article 2 of the standard form of agreement by insertion after the first paragraph of Article 2:

Exhibit B annexed hereto and made a part hereof contains a complete list, as represented by the Contractor, of its subsidiaries, all of which are consolidated with the Contractor for the purposes hereof, except such, if any, as may be expressly excluded from such consolidation, as indicated by proper notation on said Exhibit B. Also noted on Exhibit B is the part, if any, of the profits to be eliminated which is allocated to each subsidiary so consolidated with the Contractor. The part unallocated to subsidiaries is allocated to the Contractor.

Such exhibit may take the following form:

EXHIBIT B—LIST OF, AND ALLOCATION OF, PROFITS TO BE ELIMINATED AMONG SUBSIDIARIES OF CONTRACTOR INCLUDED IN THE RENEGOTIATION

Subsidiaries (1)	Allocation of Profits to be Eliminated (2)

NOTES

(1) Give State of incorporation of each subsidiary.

(2) Allocation of profits should be in dollar amounts.

(3) Variations in Article 3 of the standard form. (i) If the contractor has not filed his Federal income or income and excess profits tax returns, or has filed the return but has not included in income as reported therein the profits to be eliminated, the following provisions should be used in lieu of the provisions of Article 3 as contained in the standard form of agreement:

3. Tax Credit Under Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code: The amount of profit agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated has not been included in income in the Contractor's Federal income tax return (or income and excess profits tax returns) for said fiscal year and, accordingly no tax credit under Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code is allowed against the amount of such profits to be eliminated. In the event, however, that Federal income or excess profits taxes shall be assessed upon the amount of profits agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated, or any part thereof, there will be allowed to the Contractor the credit, if any, to which it is entitled under Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to such profits.

(ii) In some instances, a contractor will have included in income as reported in his tax returns less than all of the profits to be eliminated. In such a case Article 3 should be modified to read as follows:

3. Tax Credit Under Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. The Contractor represents that of the profits agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated $_____ were included in income in the Contractor's Federal income tax return (or income and excess profits tax returns) for said fiscal year and that the Contractor has applied or will promptly apply for a computation by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, based upon the assessments made to the date of such computation, of the amount by which the taxes of the Contractor for said fiscal year payable under Chapters 1, 2A, 2B, 2D, and 2E of the Internal Revenue Code are decreased by reason of the application of Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. The amount, if any, so computed will be allowed as a credit against the amount of profits agreed in Article 1 to be eliminated. In the event, however, that Federal income or excess profits taxes shall be assessed upon the amount of the profits agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated and which were excluded from income in the Contractor's income tax return (or income and excess profits tax returns) for said fiscal year, there will be allowed to the Contractor the credit, if any, to which it is entitled under Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code with respect to such profits.

(iii) In the case of a partnership, the tax credit applicable against the amount of the profits to be eliminated is the aggregate of the credits to which each of the partners is entitled. Accordingly, in such a case Article 3 may be modified to read as follows:

3. Tax Credit Under Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. Each of the partners comprising the Contractor represents that his proportionate share of the profits, the amount of which is agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated, was included in his income for his taxable year in which said fiscal year ended in computing his total tax in his Federal income tax return for said taxable year. Each of such partners has applied or will promptly apply for a computation by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, based upon the assessments made to the date of such computation, of the amount by which his taxes for such taxable year under Chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code are decreased by reason of the application of Section 3806 of the Internal Revenue Code. The aggregate of the amounts, if any, so computed will be allowed as a credit against the amount of profits agreed in Article 1 to be eliminated.

(4) Anti-discrimination clause. Whenever a renegotiation agreement executed under the Act expressly purports to modify the terms of specified existing prime contracts with any of the Departments with respect to future deliveries, and the contract or contracts to be modified do not contain an anti-discrimination clause then the agreement shall include the following provision:

Anti-discrimination. (a) The Contractor, in performing the work required by this contract, shall not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, creed, color, or national origin.

(b) The Contractor agrees that the provision of paragraph (a) above will also be inserted in all of its subcontracts. For the purpose of this article, a subcontract is defined as any contract entered into by the Contractor with any individual partnership, association, corporation, estate, or trust, or other business enterprise or other legal entity, for a specific part of the work, to be performed in connection with the supplies or services furnished under this contract: Provided, however, That a contract for the furnishing of standard or commercial articles or raw material shall not be considered as a subcontract.

(5) Variations in Article 4 of the standard form—(i) If the profits to be eliminated are to be paid in installments, and the amount of the tax credit has not been ascertained, Article 4 may be drafted to read as follows:

4. Terms of Payments. The Contractor agrees to pay to the Government the amount agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated, less the tax credit, if any, applicable thereto pursuant to Article 3, as follows:

(a) $_____, less the pro rata proportion of the tax credit applicable thereto, within ten days after the Contractor shall have received a fully executed counterpart of this agreement or written notice of the amount of the tax credit, whichever is later; and

(b) $_____, less the pro rata proportion of the tax credit applicable thereto, on or before _____ or the due date of the first schedule payment, whichever shall be later.

Payment shall be made by check to the order of the Treasurer of the United States and forwarded _____ _____.*

All unpaid installments hereunder may at the option of the Government be declared, and thereupon shall become, immediately due and payable, in the event of a default in the payment of any installment continuing for twenty days.

(ii) If the amount of the tax credit has been ascertained before the agreement is drawn, Article 4 may be drafted to read as follows:

4. Terms of Payment. The Contractor agrees to pay to the Government the sum of _____ ($_____), being the difference between the amount agreed in Article 1 hereof to be eliminated and the amount of the tax credit referred to in Article 3 which has been determined to be applicable thereto, as follows:

$_____ within ten days after the Contractor shall have received a fully executed counterpart of this agreement, and

$_____ on or before _____; and

$_____ on or before_____.

Payment shall be made by check to the order of the Treasurer of the United States and forwarded _____ _____.*

All unpaid installments hereunder may at the option of the Government be declared, and thereupon shall become, immediately due and payable, in the event of a default in the payment of any installment continuing for twenty days.

[RR 741.2]

(c) Contents of Exhibit A to the Standard Form of Agreement. Exhibit A referred to in the Standard Form of Agreement shall contain, as a minimum, the following financial data and information:

(1) The amount of net sales under fixed price contracts in the aggregate and segregated as between renegotiable and non-renegotiable business.

(2) The net profit on each such amount of fixed price business before Federal taxes on income.

(3) The aggregate amount of billings under cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts subject to renegotiation (i. e., costs plus gross fees).

(4) The net fees earned under renegotiable cost-plus-fixed-fee contracts before Federal taxes on income.

(5) The amount of adjustment in the profits to be eliminated on account of taxes other than Federal taxes measured by income.

(6) The amount of profits to be eliminated shown separately as to fixed price and cost-plus-fixed-fee business. If any part of the profits to be eliminated were derived from prime contracts with RFC subsidiaries, such part of such profits shall be indicated.

The form of the exhibit and the manner in which such financial data and information shall be shown shall be within the discretion of the Department which has conducted the renegotiation. In the discretion of such Department, any additional financial data or information may be included in Exhibit A. [RR 741.3]

_____, 194__

To:

As a result of renegotiation pursuant to the Renegotiation Act, between the United States of America (hereinafter referred to as "the Government") and _____ _____ _____ (If not a corporation, insert proper description)

corporation having its principal office at _____ in the City of _____ State of _____ (hereinafter referred to as "the Contractor"), it has been determined that no excessive profits have been received by or accrued to the Contractor during the contractor's fiscal year ended _____ (hereinafter referred to as "said fiscal year"), from contracts and subcontracts of the Contractor which are subject to renegotiation pursuant to the Renegotiation Act and which were included as renegotiable business in the financial and other data upon which this determination is based (hereinafter referred to as "said contracts and subcontracts").

The determination and discharge herein are based upon data submitted by the Contractor including a statement of income and other financial data for said fiscal year.

This instrument shall constitute a final determination that no excessive profits have been received by or accrued to the Contractor during said fiscal year from said contracts and subcontracts and shall finally discharge the Contractor of any liability under the Renegotiation Act for excessive profits derived during said fiscal year from said contracts and subcontracts, subject, however, to the right of the Government, or it duly authorized representative, to reopen this renegotiation and modify or annul the determination and discharge herein upon a showing of fraud or malfeasance or a willful misrepresentation of a material fact, including a willful omission by the Contractor to state a material fact required to make any representation of the Contractor not misleading.

This determination and discharge shall not be effective with respect to any amounts heretofore or hereafter received by the Contractor under any of the contracts or subcontracts of the Contractor which are subject to renegotiation unless such amounts were reflected in income for said fiscal year in the financial data submitted by the Contractor and upon which the determination and discharge herein are based.

This determination and discharge are made upon the conditions that (a) no member of or delegate to Congress or resident commissioner, or any other person in the employ or service of the United States, shall be admitted to any share or part of this instrument or to any benefit that may arise therefrom, but this provision shall not be construed to extend to this instrument if made with a corporation for its general benefit, and (b) the Contractor has not employed any person to solicit or secure this instrument upon any agreement for a commission, percentage, brokerage or contingent fee; and (c) the Contractor will notify the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board promptly of the receipt of any amounts paid to the Contractor under any of the contracts or subcontracts referred to above, which amounts are applicable to said fiscal year and which were not reflected in income for said fiscal year in the financial data submitted by the Contractor. Breach of any of the foregoing conditions will give the Government the right to annul this determination.

§ 1607.752 Statement to be furnished contractor—(a) General instructions. (1) Subsection (c) (1) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 requires that whenever the War Contracts Board makes a determination by agreement or order, there must be furnished to the contractor, at his request, a statement showing the determination of excessive profits, the facts used as a basis therefor and the reasons for such determination.

(2) The manner in which and the time at which the statement will be given to the contractor are described in § 1605.520 and following, of these regulations.

(3) The statement cannot be used in The Tax Court of the United States as proof of the facts or conclusions stated therein.

(4) The statement is divided into four principal parts:

(i) Designation of the contractor and the fiscal year under review.

(ii) Determination of excessive profits.

(iii) Summary of the relevant facts upon which the determination is based.

(iv) Reasons for the determination.

[RR 752]

(b) Form of statement and specific instructions as to its preparation (statutory)—(1) Designation of the contractor and fiscal period.

To: _____
(Contractor's name and address)

Fiscal Year _____

In accordance with the provisions of subsection (c) (1) of the Renegotiation Act, you are hereby furnished a statement showing, for your fiscal year above set forth, the determination of excessive profits for said fiscal year and the facts and reasons upon which the determination is based.

If the determination is by order other than an order of the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board, the following clause will be inserted at this point:

This statement is final only in the event that the determination by order to which it relates is final.

(2) Determination of excessive profits.

Pursuant to the provisions of the Renegotiation Act, it has been determined by _____ (order)

_____, dated _____

that, of the profits received by or accrued to you during said fiscal year under contracts or subcontracts subject to renegotiation, the amount of $_____ constitutes profits which should be eliminated.

(3) Summary of the relevant facts—(i) Financial comparisons. There shall be made part of this statement comparative financial statements of the contractor which may be in the form of exhibits attached to the statement. If exhibits are used, they should be described and referred to in this part of the statement.

Comparative balance sheets prepared from those furnished by the contractor, as of the end of the fiscal year 1936 and of each fiscal year thereafter, including the fiscal year under review, shall be included.

Comparative income statements for the same fiscal periods shall be included.

In the case of a statement furnished after a determination by agreement, documentary information furnished by the contractor and properly identified, relating to the financial comparisons above referred to in this subparagraph (3) (i), may be incorporated by reference. In the case of a statement furnished after a determination by agreement or order, such financial comparisons may be omitted to the extent information therefor is not made available by the contractor.

The statements shall be supplemented by such statistical data related to the fiscal periods as may be deemed pertinent to the renegotiation.

Any disallowance (or additional allowance) as compared with costs shown on the contractor's books shall be indicated.

(ii) Other facts related to the determination. The statutory factors required to be taken into consideration by subsection (a) (4) (A) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 must receive consideration and the basic facts related thereto set forth, whether favorable or unfavorable to the contractor. The basic facts will be those resulting from consideration of the data submitted or assembled for the purpose of the renegotiation. Any other facts considered and pertinent to the consideration of the determination shall also be set forth.

(4) Reasons for the determination. A statement shall be made of the reasons for the determination in the light of all of the facts and factors referred to in the foregoing portions of the statement, indicating generally the relative significance and importance of such facts and factors. [RR 752.2]

(c) Substitute paragraphs for the statement where statutory determination has not yet been made. (1) Designation of the contractor and purpose of statement.

To _____
(Contractor's name and address)

Fiscal Year _____

You are hereby furnished with a statement of the facts and reasons upon which the opinion of (name of Board or Section) as to the amount of excessive profits for your fiscal year above set forth was based. Such statement is furnished for the purpose of assisting you in determining whether or not you wish to enter into an agreement providing for the elimination of such excessive profits. It is not a statutory statement as provided in subsection (c) (1) of the Renegotiation Act.

(2) Statement of opinion of excessive profits.

In the opinion of (name of Board or Section) the amount of excessive profits received or accrued by you during such fiscal year under contracts or subcontracts subject to renegotiation is $_____

PART 1608—STATUTES, ORDERS, JOINT REGULATIONS AND DIRECTIVES[1]

SUBPART A—STATUTES, EXECUTIVE ORDERS AND TAX COURT RULES

Section 1608.806 is added, as follows:

§ 1608.806 Tax Court rule governing renegotiation of war contracts cases. (See 9 F.R. 3286) [RR 806]

[1] 9 F.R. 4156.

SUBPART D—EXEMPTIONS

Subpart D is added, as set forth below:

Sec.
1608.841 Raw material exemption.
1608.842 Public utility exemptions.
(a) Electric power.
(b) Gas.
(c) Transportation.
(d) Communications.
(e) Subcontracts.
(f) Scope of exemptions.
1608.843 List of exempted foods.

§ 1608.841 Raw material exemption. Pursuant to subsection (i) (2) of the 1943 act the War Contracts Board has issued the following regulation concerning the exemption of contracts and subcontracts for certain products of the kind described in subsection (i) (1) (B) of the 1943 act.

(a) The term "exempted products", as used in this regulation, shall mean any of the following products:

Aggregates including such items as washed or screened sand, gravel or crushed stone.
Alumina; aluminum sulfate; aluminum ingots and pigs.
Asphalt, natural.
Antimony ore, crude; antimony ore, concentrated; antimony metal; antimony oxide; antimony sulfide.
Arsenic, crude; arsenic powder; arsenious oxide (white arsenic).
Asbestos rock; asbestos fibre.
Bauxite, crude; calcined or dried bauxite; bauxite abrasive grains.
Beryl ore and concentrates; beryllium oxide; beryllium metal; beryllium master alloys.
Bismuth metal.
Borax.
Cadmium flue dust; cadmium oxide; cadmium balls and slabs.
China clay; kaolin; fire clay; brick and tile made from clays other than kaolin, china and fire clay.
Chromium ore and ferrochrome; chromite not processed beyond the form or state suitable for use as a refractory; bichromates.
Coal, prepared; run-of-mine coal.
Cobalt oxide; cobalt anodes, shot and rondelles.
Columbium ore and concentrates; columbium oxide; ferrocolumbium.
Copper ore, crude; copper ore, concentrated; copper matte; blister copper; copper billets, cathodes, cakes, ingots, ingot bars, powder, slabs and wirebars.
Corundum ore and concentrates; corundum grain.
Cryolite ore and concentrates.
Diaspore; diaspore brick.
Diatomaceous silica, lump, block, brick and powder.
Feldspar, crude and ground.
Ferrosilicon.
Fluorspar ore; fluorspar fluxing gravel; lump ceramic ground fluorspar; acid grades of fluorspar.
Gas, natural, not processed or treated further than the processing or treating customarily occurring at or near the well.
Graphite ore and concentrates; flake graphite; graphite fines, lump and chip; graphite powder.
Gypsum, crude; calcined gypsum.
Indium metal.
Industrial diamonds.
Iridium metal, including ingot and powder.
Iron ore, crude; pig iron.
Kyanite ore and concentrates; kyanite brick.
Lead ore; refined lead bars, ingots and pigs; antimonial lead bars, ingots and pigs.
Limestone; crushed limestone.
Magnesite; dead burned magnesite.

Magnesium-bearing minerals, including brucite; magnesium oxide; magnesium chloride; metallic magnesium, pigs and ingots.
Mercury ore; mercury metal.
Manganese ore; ferromanganese, including spiegeleisen; silicomanganese.
Mica, crude, hand-cobbed; block mica; sheet mica, including splittings; wet or dry ground mica.
Molybdenum ore and concentrates; molybdenum oxide; calcium molybdate; ferromolybdenum.
Nickel ore and concentrates; nickel matte; nickel oxide; nickel ingots, cathodes and shot.
Oil, crude, not processed or treated further than the processing or treating customarily occurring at or near the well.
Osmium metal, including ingot and powder.
Palladium metal, including ingot and powder.
Phosphate rock; elemental phosphorus; ferrophosphorus; phosphorus pentoxide and phosphoric acid derived directly by treatment of phosphate rock; superphosphate.
Platinum ore and concentrates; platinum metal, including ingot and powder.
Pumice, lump.
Radium bromide; radium sulfate; radium gas.
Rhodium metal, including ingot and powder.
Ruthenium metal, including ingot and powder.
Salt, rock; evaporated salt; soda ash, ammonia and electrolytic caustic soda and bicarbonate of soda when derived directly by treatment of brine.
Sea shells; oyster shells; clam and reef shells.
Selenium metal.
Silver, refined, including bars, shot, powder and grains.
Stone, rough dimension.
Sulfur, crude.
Sulfuric acid; oleum (other than sulfuric acid or oleum produced from crude sulfur or any other product having an industrial use).
Standing timber, logs, logs sawed into length, and logs with or without bark.
Talc, crude, ground and sawed.
Tantalum ore and concentrates; tantalum double fluoride.
Tellurium metal.
Tin ore and concentrates; refined pig tin.
Titanium-bearing ores and concentrates, including ilmenite and rutile; titanium oxide; ferrotitanium.
Tungsten ore and concentrates; sodium tungstate; ferrotungsten; tungsten metal, including powder; tungstic oxide.
Uranium ores and concentrates; uranium oxide.
Vanadium ores and concentrates; sodium vanadate; vanadium pentoxide; ferrovanadium.
Whiting; chalk lump.
Zinc ores and concentrates; zinc anodes, bars, oxide, powder and slabs.
Zirconium ores and concentrates.

(b) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (c) hereof, it is determined that each of the exempted products is "the product of a mine, oil or gas well, or other mineral or natural deposit, or timber, which has not been processed, refined, or treated beyond the first form or state suitable for industrial use" within subsection (i) (1) (B) of the Renegotiation Act. The provisions of such act shall not apply to contracts and subcontracts for any of the exempted products.

(c) This determination is made under the principles set forth in § 1603.344 (a) of this chapter, including subdivision (2) (iv) thereof. The products listed under paragraph (a) of this section are exempt only when they represent products of a mine, oil or gas well, or other mineral or natural deposit, which have not been processed, refined or treated beyond the first form or state suitable for industrial use and are not exempt if manufactured from raw materials which do not fall within the above description or which have at some prior stage been processed, refined or treated beyond such first form or state suitable for industrial use. For example, magnesium products derived from sea water, products manufactured from the atmosphere, secondary aluminum pigs and ingots, and other similar products are not considered exempted products.

(d) This determination applies to fiscal years ending after June 30, 1943.

(e) This section may be amended from time to time, revising, amending or supplementing the list of exempted products contained in paragraph (a) hereof. [RR 841]

§ 1608.842 Public utility exemptions—(a) Electric power. (1) Pursuant to subsection (i) (4) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 (including subsection (i) (4) (B) and (i) (4) (F)) the following classes and types of contracts and subcontracts are exempt to the extent provided in this paragraph from all of the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943:

(i) Any contract or subcontract with a public utility for the delivery of electric power of less than 1,000 kilowatts of contractual demand, except that if the actual demand was 1,000 kilowatts or more at any time during any particular fiscal year, amounts received or accrued under such contract or subcontract for such fiscal year shall not be exempt from renegotiation by reason of this subdivision (i).

(ii) Any subcontract with a public utility for the delivery of electric power without regard to the contractual or actual demand, except that:

(a) If such subcontract for electric power is with a contractor having a contract with a Department providing for the reimbursement by a Department of costs of the contractor incurred under such subcontract for electric power, or

(b) If a Department has contracted to pay or guarantee the payment of amounts payable under such subcontract for electric power, then in either such case such subcontract for electric power shall not be exempt from renegotiation by reason of this subdivision (ii).

(2) Amounts received or accrued under any contract or subcontract with a public utility with respect to the construction or installation of facilities for the generation, transmission or distributon of electric power shall not be exempt from renegotiation by reason of this paragraph (a) even though such contract or subcontract also calls for the delivery of electric power. [RR 842.1]

(b) Gas. (1) Pursuant to subsection (i) (4) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 (including subsection (i) (4) (B) and (i) (4) (F)) the following classes and types of contracts and subcontracts are exempt to the extent provided in this paragraph from all of the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943:

(i) Any contract or subcontract with a public utility for the delivery of gas, except that if the amounts received or accrued under any such contract or subcontract during any particular fiscal year were $50,000. or more, amounts received or accrued under such contract or subcontract for such fiscal year shall not be exempt from renegotiation by reason of this subdivision (i). (If such fiscal year is a fractional part of twelve months, the $50,000. amount shall be reduced to the same fractional part thereof for the purposes of this subdivision.

(ii) Any subcontract with a public utility for the delivery of gas without regard to the amounts received or accrued thereunder during any fiscal year, except that:

(a) If such subcontract for gas is with a contractor having a contract with a Department providing for the reimbursement by a Department of costs of the contractor incurred under such subcontract for gas, or

(b) If a Department has contracted to pay or guarantee the payment of amounts payable under such subcontract for gas, then in either such case such subcontract for gas shall not be exempt from renegotiation by reason of this subdivision (ii).

(2) Amounts received or accrued under any contract or subcontract with a public utility with respect to the construction or installation of facilities for the generation, transmission or distribution of gas shall not be exempt from renegotiation by reason of this paragraph (b) even though such contract or subcontract also calls for the delivery of gas. [RR 842.2]

(c) Transportation. Pursuant to subsection (i) (4) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 (including subsection (i) (4) (B) and (i) (4) (F)) the following classes and types of contracts and subcontracts are exempt from all of the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943:

(1) Contracts and subcontracts with common carriers to furnish transportation by railroad, motor vehicle or air, when made at published rates or charges, fixed, approved or subject to regulation as to the reasonableness thereof by a public regulatory body, or when made at rates or charges which the Department conducting the renegotiation in its discretion shall determine to be no higher than such published rates or charges for transportation of a comparable character. [RR 842.3]

(d) Communications. Pursuant to subsection (i) (4) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 (including subsection (i) (4) (B) and (i) (4) (F)) the following classes and types of contracts and subcontracts are exempt from all of the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943:

(1) Contracts and subcontracts with telephone, telegraph, cable and radio companies to furnish the service of transmitting messages, when made at published rates or charges, fixed, approved or subject to regulation as to the reasonableness thereof by a public regulatory body, or when made at rates or charges which the Department conducting the renegotiation in its discretion shall determine to be no higher than such published rates or charges for service of a comparable character. [RR 842.4]

(e) Subcontracts. Pursuant to subsection (i) (4) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943 (including subsection (i) (4) (B) and (i) (4) (F)) the following classes and types of contracts and subcontracts are exempt from all of the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943.

(1) Subcontracts under any contracts or subcontracts exempted pursuant to paragraphs (a) through (d) inclusive, of this section. [RR 842.5]

(f) Scope of exemptions. All of the exemptions made under paragraphs (a) through (e) inclusive, apply to contracts and subcontracts of the specified classes and types, whether heretofore or hereafter made or performed, and whether or not they contain renegotiation provisions. [RR 842.6]

§ 1608.843 List of exempted foods. Determination of the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board of the exemption from renegotiation of contracts and subcontracts for perishable foods under section 403 (i) (4) (B) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943.

Pursuant to the authority conferred upon the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board by section 403 (i) (4) (B) of the Renegotiation Act of 1943, concerning the exemption of contracts and subcontracts for certain perishable goods from renegotiation under the Renegotiation Act of 1943, the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board hereby determines that the foods set forth in the list attached hereto and designated as Exhibit 1 are perishable; and that, in the opinion of the Board, the profits under contracts and subcontracts for the purchase of such foods can be determined with reasonable certainty when the contract price is established; and that contracts and subcontracts, heretofore or hereafter made, for the purchase of such foods are hereby declared to be exempt from all of the provisions of the Renegotiation Act of 1943.

[Public Land Order 231]

COLORADO

REVOCATION OF PUBLIC LAND WITHDRAWAL

Revoking Public Land Order No. 86 of February 3, 1943, withdrawing public lands for use in connection with the prosecution of the war. Colorado.

By virtue of the authority vested in the President, and pursuant to Executive Order No. 9337 of April 24, 1943, it is ordered as follows:

Public Land Order No. 86 of February 3, 1943, withdrawing certain public lands in the Montezuma and San Juan National Forests and lands withdrawn for reclamation purposes in the State of Colorado, from sale, location, selection and entry under the public land laws of the United States, including the mining laws, and from leasing under the mineral leasing laws, and reserving the minerals in such lands under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior for use in connection with the prosecution of the war is hereby revoked.

This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of the lands until 10:00 o'clock a. m. of the sixty-third day from the date on which it is signed, whereupon the lands shall, subject to valid existing rights, become subject to such application, petition, location, or selection as may be authorized by the public land laws in accordance with the provisions of 43 CFR 295.8 (Circ. 324, May 22, 1914, 43 L.D. 254) and 43 CFR, Part 296, to the extent that these regulations are applicable.

PART 310—MERCHANT MARINE TRAINING

APPOINTMENT AND TRAINING OF CADETS IN U. S. MERCHANT MARINE CADET CORPS

War Shipping Administration emergency regulations governing the appointment and training of cadets in the United States Merchant Marine Cadet Corps.

Effective May 1, 1944, General Order 24 is amended as follows:

1. Section 310.47 General requirements, as amended (Supp. 2), is amended by striking out paragraphs (b), (c), and (d), and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(b) A candidate must be not less than seventeen years of age nor more than twenty-three years of age on the date the application is approved.

(c) A candidate may be admitted to a basic school or the Academy for preliminary training at an age of not less than seventeen years and after satisfactory completion of such training may be assigned to a merchant vessel or a training ship for sea training. In event a candidate fails to report to a basic school or the Academy and execute oath as cadet-midshipman within six months of date of approval of application his name shall be removed from the eligible list.

(d) No waivers for under age or over age shall be granted.

2. Section 310.56 Course of training is amended by revoking paragraph (f) (3), and by striking out paragraph (a) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(a) For the duration of the emergency the courses for cadet-midshipmen shall be, in general, four months at Basic Schools or the Academy for preliminary training followed by not less than six months aboard merchant or training vessels and nine or twelve months, as determined by the Supervisor with the approval of the Assistant Deputy Administrator for Training, at the Academy for advanced study.

OFFICE OF DEFENSE TRANSPORTATION.

[Supplementary Order ODT 3, Revised-342]

COMMON CARRIERS

COORDINATED OPERATIONS BETWEEN POINTS IN KANSAS

Upon consideration of a plan for joint action filed with the Office of Defense Transportation by the persons named in Appendix 1 hereof to facilitate compliance with the requirements and purposes of General Order ODT 3, Revised, as amended (7 F.R. 5445, 6689, 7694; 8 F.R. 4660, 14582; 9 F.R. 2703, 3264, 3357), a copy of which plan is attached hereto as Appendix 2,[1] and

It appearing that the proposed coordination of operations is necessary in order to assure maximum utilization of the facilities, services, and equipment, and to conserve and providently utilize vital equipment, materials, and supplies, of the carriers, and to provide for the prompt and continuous movement of necessary traffic, the attainment of which purposes is essential to the successful prosecution of the war, It is hereby ordered, That:

1. The plan for joint action above referred to is hereby approved and the carriers are directed to put the plan in operation forthwith, subject to the following provisions, which shall supersede any provisions of such plan that are in conflict therewith.

2. Each of the carriers forthwith shall file a copy of this order with the appropriate regulatory body or bodies having jurisdiction over any operations affected by this order, and likewise shall file, and publish in accordance with law, and continue in effect until further order, tariffs or supplements to filed tariffs, setting forth any changes in rates, charges, operations, rules, regulations, and practices of the carrier which may be necessary to accord with the provisions of this order and of such plan; and forthwith shall apply to such regulatory body or bodies for special permission for such tariffs or supplements to become effective on the shortest notice lawfully permissible, but not prior to the effective date of this order.

3. Whenever transportation service is performed by one carrier in lieu of service by another carrier, by reason of a diversion, exchange, pooling, or similar act made or performed pursuant to the plan for joint action hereby approved, the rates, charges, rules, and regulations governing such service shall be those that would have applied except for such diversion, exchange, pooling, or other act.

4. The provisions of this order shall not be so construed or applied as to require any carrier subject hereto to perform any service beyond its transportation capacity, or to authorize or require any act or omission which is in violation of any law or regulation, or to permit any carrier to alter its legal liability to any shipper. In the event that compliance with any term of this order, or effectuation of any provision of such plan, would conflict with, or would not be authorized under, the existing interstate or intrastate operating authority of any carrier subject hereto, such carrier forthwith shall apply to the appropriate regulatory body or bodies for the granting of such operating authority as may be requisite to compliance with the terms of this order, and shall prosecute such application with all possible diligence. The coordination of operations directed by this order shall be subject to the carriers' possessing or obtaining the requisite operating authority.

5. All records of the carriers pertaining to any transportation performed pursuant to this order and to the provisions of such plan shall be kept available for examination and inspection at all reasonable times by accredited representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation.

6. Withdrawal of a carrier from participation in the plan for joint action hereby approved shall not be made without prior approval of the Office of Defense Transportation.

7. The provisions of this order shall be binding upon any successor in interest to any carrier named in this order. Upon a transfer of any operation involved in this order, the successor in interest and the other carriers named in this order forthwith shall notify, in writing, the Office of Defense Transportation of the transfer and, unless and until otherwise ordered, the successor in interest shall perform the functions of his predecessor in accordance with the provisions of this order.

8. The plan for joint action hereby approved and all contractual arrangements made by the carriers to effectuate the plan shall not continue in operation beyond the effective period of this order.

9. Communications concerning this order should refer to it by the supplementary order number which appears in the caption hereof, and, unless otherwise directed, should be addressed to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C.

This order shall become effective June 10, 1944, and shall remain in full force and effect until the termination of the present war shall have been duly proclaimed, or until such earlier time as the Office of Defense Transportation by further order may designate.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 6th day of June 1944.

Chapter XI—War Food Administration (Distribution Orders)

[WFO 78, Amdt. 1]

PART 1599—PROCEDURAL REGULATIONS

ISSUANCE OF ORDERS RESULTING FROM VIOLATIONS OF PRIORITY OR ALLOCATION ORDERS

War Food Order No. 78, 9 F.R. 4321, 4319 (formerly known as Procedural Regulation 1, issued December 4, 1943, 8 F.R. 16497), is hereby amended to read as follows:

The following regulations are prescribed with respect to the issuance of orders necessitated by violations of priority or allocation orders or regulations administered by the Office of Distribution:

§ 1599.1 Definitions. When used in these regulations, unless otherwise distinctly expressed or manifestly incompatible with the intent thereof:

(a) The term "Director" means the Director of Distribution, War Food Administration.

(b) The term "compliance officer" means the official in charge of the field office of the Compliance Branch, Office of Distribution, War Food Administration, serving the area in which a respondent resides or does business.

(c) The term "respondent" means any person against whom a proceeding is instituted in accordance with these regulations.

(d) The term "person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

§ 1599.2 Meaning of words. Words in these regulations in the singular form shall be deemed to import the plural, and, vice versa, as the case may demand.

§ 1599.3 Institution of proceeding. A proceeding under these regulations shall be instituted by the service of a notice upon the respondent by the compliance officer. The notice shall include a statement of the factual basis for, and the purpose of the proceeding.

§ 1599.4 Filing of answer and request for hearing. The respondent may, within five days after service of the notice upon him, file a written answer with the compliance officer setting forth his position with respect to the matters contained in the notice and, if he so desires, the respondent may, as a part of his answer, request an opportunity to be heard. The answer need not be in any particular form. The failure of respondent to file an answer shall constitute a waiver of any objection to the taking of such action as is deemed warranted.

§ 1599.5 When a request for a hearing is not filed. When the respondent fails to file an answer, or files an answer but does not request an opportunity to be heard, the compliance officer shall, on the basis of the information before him, including that contained in the answer, if such be filed, proceed as follows:

(a) When, for any reason, the compliance officer determines that the issues should be resolved in favor of respondent, he shall issue and cause to be served upon respondent, an order dismissing the proceeding;

(b) When, in the opinion of the compliance officer, the facts disclose that the proceeding should be terminated by the issuance of a warning letter, he may dispose of the proceeding by serving a warning letter upon the respondent; or

(c) When the compliance officer determines that an order (including, but not limited to, an order suspending, revoking, or withdrawing, in any manner, any quota, license, or authorization) should be issued against the respondent, the compliance officer shall cause an order to be prepared for the signature of the Director and transmit the proposed order, together with the docket containing all of the papers in the proceeding, to the Director.

§ 1599.6 When a request for hearing is filed. When, in connection with his answer, a respondent files with the compliance officer a request for a hearing, a notice fixing the time and place of the hearing shall be served on the respondent as hereinafter prescribed in these regulations: Provided, That, if the compliance officer determines that the information contained in the answer should result in resolving the issues in favor of the respondent, or if, for any other appropriate reason, the compliance officer determines to settle the issues in favor of the respondent, the compliance officer may, without a hearing, issue and serve upon the respondent such order, including a warning letter, as the compliance officer deems advisable in finally disposing of the matter.

§ 1597.7 Designation of presiding officer. The hearing shall be conducted by a presiding officer designated, by the Solicitor or his representative, from among those persons authorized to hold hearings. No person who has any pecuniary interest in the outcome of the proceeding; who has participated in any investigation preceding the institution of the proceedings; or who is related to any of the parties to the proceeding shall be designated to serve as presiding officer. In case of the absence, illness, resignation, or death of the presiding officer who has been assigned to a proceeding or, in case the Solicitor or his representative determines that, for other good cause, the presiding officer should not act, the powers and duties to be performed by him in connection with the proceeding may be assigned to any other person authorized to hold hearings.

§ 1599.8 Powers of presiding officer. In any proceeding assigned to him, the presiding officer shall have power to:

(a) Rule upon motions and requests (all motions shall be in writing except that those made during the hearing may be stated orally);

(b) Adjourn the hearing from time to time and change the place of hearing (this power includes the right, for good cause shown, to continue the hearing so as to give the respondent a chance to appear where he has failed to appear at the designated time and place of hearing);

(c) Administer oaths or affirmations and take affidavits;

(d) Admit or exclude evidence;

(e) Issue subpenas requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, papers, and other documentary evidence;

(f) Authorize, take, or order the taking of depositions;

(g) Hear oral arguments on facts or law;

(h) Consolidate hearings where he deems such consolidation appropriate;

(i) Issue notices of hearings; and

(j) Do all acts and take all measures necessary for the maintenance of order at the hearing and the efficient conduct of the proceeding.

§ 1599.9 Notice of hearing. The presiding officer, upon being designated, shall immediately prepare and have served upon the respondent a notice of hearing, requiring the respondent to appear before him at a designated time and place. The notice shall state that if the respondent does not appear as directed, his nonappearance shall be deemed a waiver of any objection to the taking of such action as is deemed warranted. The notice of hearing, fixing a date for a hearing, shall be issued within a reasonable time after the filing with the compliance officer of a request for hearing by the respondent.

§ 1599.10 Prehearing conferences. In any proceeding in which it appears that such procedure will expedite the proceeding, the presiding officer may, at any time, request the parties or their counsel to confer with him to consider: (a) the simplification of the issues, (b) the possibility of obtaining stipulations of fact and agreements with respect to documents which may avoid unnecessary proof and examination of witnesses; and (c) such other matters as may expedite and aid in the disposition of the proceeding. No transcript of such conference shall be made but there shall be prepared and filed for the record a copy of any stipulations or agreements made as a result of the conference.

§ 1599.11 Appearances. Parties may appear at a hearing in person or by counsel.

§ 1599.12 Contemptuous conduct. Contemptuous conduct by any person at a hearing shall be ground for exclusion of the person from the hearing.

§ 1599.13 Transcript or summary of evidence. No written transcript of the hearing is required unless requested on behalf of the War Food Administration or the respondent. If the respondent requests a transcript, he must provide for the making thereof and for the payment of expenses therefor. Where a transcript is made, two legible copies thereof shall be furnished to the presiding officer without charge within such time after completion of the taking of testimony as he shall direct. No transcript shall be made or considered part of the record until approved and certified by the presiding officer. In the event that no stenographic transcript of the testimony is taken, the presiding officer shall provide for the taking of such notes at the time of the hearing as will enable him to make a written summary of the relevant evidence received at the hearing.

§ 1599.14 Fees and mileage. Witnesses who are subpenaed and who appear in the proceeding, including witnesses whose depositions are taken, shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States, and persons before whom depositions are taken shall be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States, to be paid by the party at whose request the deposition is taken. Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witnesses appear, and claims therefor, as to witnesses subpenaed on behalf of the War Food Administration, shall be proved before the presiding officer and, as to witnesses subpenaed on behalf of any other party, shall be presented to such party.

§ 1599.15 Depositions. Upon the application of a party to the proceeding, the presiding officer may, at any time, order the taking of testimony by deposition. Applications for such an order shall be in writing. The presiding officer's order for the taking of a deposition shall be served upon the parties and shall state: (a) The time and place of the examination; (b) the name of the officer before whom the examination is to be made; and (c) the name of the deponent. The deposition shall be taken before the presiding officer, or before an officer authorized by the law of the United States or by the law of the place of the examination to administer oaths, or before a person authorized by the War Food Administrator to administer oaths. The deponent shall be examined under oath or affirmation and shall be subject to cross-examination. The testimony of the deponent shall be recorded by the officer or by some person under his direction and in his presence. The officer shall certify on the deposition that the deponent was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the deponent's testimony. He shall then securely seal the deposition, together with two copies thereof, in an envelope, and mail the same to the presiding officer, where the deposition is not taken before the presiding officer. A deposition ordered and taken in accordance with the provisions of this section may be placed in evidence by any of the parties to the proceeding if the presiding officer finds that the use thereof will expedite the proceeding.

§ 1599.16 Defaults and admissions. (a) The failure of a respondent to appear at a hearing shall be deemed a waiver by him of the right to an opportunity to be heard and of any objection by him to the taking of such action as is deemed warranted by the facts. On such failure of the respondent to appear, the presiding officer shall prepare a certification as to the non-appearance of the respondent for the record and forward it, together with the docket, to the compliance officer. The compliance officer may take such action as is prescribed by § 1599.5 of these regulations.

(b) Upon the admission at the hearing by the respondent of the facts alleged in the notice served upon him, the presiding officer shall prepare a formal statement of such admission for the record. The presiding officer may, in his discretion, permit the introduction of evidence with respect to mitigating circumstances and conditions which will tend to assist in the determination of the nature of the final action to be taken. The presiding officer shall then forward the docket containing the record of the proceeding to the compliance officer. The compliance officer may thereupon take such action as is prescribed by § 1599.25 of these regulations.

§ 1599.17 Evidence. The testimony of witnesses at a hearing shall be upon oath or affirmation and subject to cross-examination. Any witness may, at the discretion of the presiding officer, be examined separately and apart from all other witnesses except those who are parties to the proceeding. The rules of evidence prevailing in courts of law and equity shall not be controlling. The test of admissibility shall be the reliability, relevancy, and probative force of the evidence offered. Remote hearsay and unreliable evidence, which would not be convincing to the ordinary man, should not be received. Likewise, purely cumulative evidence should be avoided whenever possible. The grounds of any objection to the admission or rejection of any evidence may be briefly stated. The transcript, if any, shall not include argument except as permitted by the presiding officer. The ruling of the presiding officer shall be a part of the transcript, if any. Evidence may be offered in written form where the parties agree. The presiding officer shall mark all of the exhibits received in evidence. Whenever practicable, an exhibit should be submitted with three copies. The refusal of a witness at a hearing to answer any question which has been ruled to be proper shall, in the discretion of the presiding officer, be ground for striking out all testimony previously given by such witness as to all matters. If a party to a proceeding or a witness refuses to testify on the ground of his privilege against self-incrimination, he shall not be compelled to testify unless directed by the presiding officer, with the consent of the representative of the War Food Administration, to testify pursuant to Public Law 507, 77th Congress, approved March 27, 1942 (Second War Powers Act). Affidavits may be received at the discretion of the presiding officer if the evidence is otherwise admissible.

§ 1599.18 Order of proceeding. The presiding officer shall open the hearing with such statement of the purpose of the hearing and the procedure that will be followed as he may deem appropriate. A representative of the War Food Administration, if present, shall then proceed to introduce either through an investigator or otherwise such data and information as is deemed appropriate in explanation and clarification of the position of the War Food Administration. Thereafter the respondent shall present such data and information in support of his position as he or his counsel deems appropriate and the presiding officer deems relevant. This presentation by the person affected may be in narrative form or in response to questions and may be presented through the respondent or other persons familiar with the relevant facts. At the close of the hearing the presiding officer may allow a short period for the presentation of oral argument or for a summary of the facts disclosed at the hearing and if he deems it advisable may allow briefs to be filed within a period prescribed by him not to exceed five days. Where practicable, three copies of briefs shall be filed.

§ 1599.19 Manner of service. Service of all documents required by these regulations to be served shall be made by personal service or registered mail.

§ 1599.20 Personal service. Personal service shall be made upon an individual other than an infant by delivering a copy of the document to him personally or by leaving a copy thereof at his dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein, or by leaving a copy thereof with his agent or a responsible individual at his usual place of business, or by delivering a copy of such papers to an agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process. Personal service shall be made upon an infant by serving such papers in the manner prescribed by the law of the State in which service is made for the service of summons or other like process upon any such person in an action brought in the courts of general jurisdiction of that State. Personal service shall be made upon a domestic or foreign corporation or upon a partnership or other unincorporated association which is subject to suit under a common name by delivering a copy of such papers to an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process and, if the agent is one authorized by statute to receive service and the statute so requires, by also mailing a copy to such person.

§ 1599.21 Registered mail. Documents shall be served by registered mail by causing to be registered and mailed a copy addressed to the individual, partnership, corporation, organization, or association, who is the respondent, at his or its last known residence, principal office, or place of business.

§ 1599.22 Proof of service. When service has been effected, the person making such service shall prepare the proof of service as follows: (a) In case of personal service, he shall execute a certificate showing the date, time, and place where service was effected, and the person upon whom service was effected, and the nature of the document served; and (b) in the case of service by registered mail, he shall execute a certificate showing the date, time, and place at which the document was mailed, and to whom addressed, and the nature of the document mailed, and shall attach thereto the registered mail receipt. The certificate in both cases shall disclose that the person was not a party to the proceeding and was over 18 years of age.

§ 1599.23 When answer or request for hearing shall be deemed filed. An answer or a request for hearing shall be deemed to have been filed on the date of mailing, as evidenced by the post mark at the place of mailing, or, if otherwise delivered to the office of the compliance officer, on the date of such delivery, as evidenced by the time it is marked "filed" in such office.

§ 1599.24 Record. (a) As soon as practicable after the close of the hearing, the presiding officer shall certify to the compliance officer an original and, where practicable, one copy of the record of the proceeding which shall contain the following:

(1) The procedural documents, including the initiating notice, the notice of hearing, and the certifications of service;

(2) The evidence received at the hearing, either stenographically transcribed or summarized by the presiding officer, including exhibits, stipulations, or other documents which have been received by the presiding officer; and

(3) Briefs, if any, received by the presiding officer.

(b) Where a summary statement of the evidence is made by the presiding officer, he shall, at the time of transmitting the record to the compliance officer, also submit copies of the summary statement of the evidence to the parties to the proceeding or to their representatives.

§ 1599.25 Action by compliance officer upon receipt of docket from presiding officer. Upon receipt of the docket containing the record from the presiding officer, the compliance officer shall, on the basis of the information before him, proceed as follows:

(a) When the compliance officer determines that the proceeding should be dismissed, he may issue and serve upon the respondent such order, including a warning letter, as the compliance officer deems advisable in finally disposing of the matter.

(b) When the compliance officer does not decide to terminate the proceeding as described in § 1599.25 (a) of these regulations, he shall transmit the docket, together with his recommended order, to the Director for final action.

§ 1599.26 Issuance and service of orders by the Director. The Director, upon receipt of a docket containing all of the papers in the proceeding, may issue an order as recommended by the compliance officer or, where the Director does not follow the recommendation of the compliance officer, he may prepare and issue such other order as may be required to effectuate the disposition of the proceeding in the manner determined by him. The final order of the Director shall be served upon the respondent.

§ 1599.27 Reconsideration. The respondent may, within five days after a final order of the Director is served on him, apply in writing to the Director for reconsideration. The filing of such an application shall not stay the operation of the order unless it is otherwise directed. Facts or arguments bearing on the merits of the policy embodied in the priority or allocation order or regulation violated will not be considered.

§ 1599.28 Modification or revocation of orders. The Director may, upon a determination that an order issued pursuant to these regulations tends to interfere with the maintenance of an adequate supply and efficient distribution of food to meet war and essential civilian needs, modify or revoke such order. This action may be taken upon his own initiative or upon application made by persons affected by the operation of the order.

§ 1599.29 Delegation of authority to Deputy Director of Distribution. Any Deputy Director of Distribution, designated from time to time by the Director, may exercise the functions, duties, powers, authority, and discretion of the Director as set forth in these regulations.

Effective date. This order shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. w. t., on June 5, 1944. Unless the Director shall otherwise order, all proceedings pending on the effective date hereof shall be concluded in accordance with this amendment.

PART 1405—FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

GEORGIA PEACHES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States will result in a shortage in the supply of peaches produced in the State of Georgia, for defense and private account, and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1405.43 Restrictions relative to the shipment of peaches.—(a) Definitions. (1) "Peaches" means any and all peaches in fresh form, grown and located in the State of Georgia.

(2) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, corporation, business trust, or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

(3) "Ship" means to ship peaches by private carrier or common carrier from a point within Georgia to a point outside of Georgia.

(4) "U. S. No. 2 grade" means U. S. No. 2 grade as defined in "U. S. Standards For Peaches (1933)," issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on April 22, 1933, and reissued by the War Food Administration on June 22, 1943, as in effect at the time peaches subject hereto are shipped.

(5) "Director" means the Director of Distribution, War Food Administration.

(b) Restrictions. (1) No person shall ship peaches which fail to meet the requirements of U. S. No. 2 grade with respect to decay, maturity, worms, and worm holes, but in any bulk lot of peaches or in any lot of packages of peaches not more than an average of 10%, by count, of the peaches may fail to meet such requirements, but no more than an average of 1/10 of this tolerance (1%) shall be allowed for decay: Provided, That not more than 15%, by count, of the peaches in an individual package in any lot shipped may fail to meet the requirements with respect to maturity, decay, worms, and worm holes, but of this tolerance, not more than 3/15 (2%) shall be allowed for decay. The peaches may fail to meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 grade other than for maturity, decay, worms, and worm holes.

(2) No person shall ship peaches unless such peaches have been inspected by an authorized representative of the Federal-State inspection service, and each shipper of peaches shall submit promptly, to the Director, Office of Distribution, 305 Grand Bldg., Macon, Georgia, the Federal-State shipping point inspection certificate with respect to each shipment of peaches by such person. Such certificate shall set forth whether the peaches, contained in such shipment, comply with or meet the minimum requirements set forth in (b) (1) hereof. Peaches once inspected pursuant hereto may be shipped without further inspection if such peaches meet the requirements of (b) (1) hereof.

(3) The restrictions hereof shall be observed by each person affected by this order without regard to the rights of creditors, existing contracts, or payments made.

(4) The Director may release from the provisions of this order any lot of peaches for use in the production for sale of any product containing 7 percent, or more, of alcohol, by volume, if such use of the lot of peaches has been authorized pursuant to WFO 60, as amended, 9 F.R. 4321, 4319 (formerly designated as Food Distribution Order No. 69, as amended, 8 F.R. 10477, 9 F.R. 4321, 4319, 4528).

(c) Audits and inspections. The Director shall be entitled to make such audit or inspection of the books, records and other writings, premises or stocks of peaches of any person, and to make such investigations, as may be necessary or appropriate, in the Director's discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

(d) Records and reports. (1) The Director shall be entitled to obtain such information from, and require such reports and the keeping of such records by, any person, as may be necessary or appropriate, in the Director's discretion, to the enforcement or administration of the provisions of this order.

(2) Every person who ships peaches shall, for at least two years (or for such period of time as the Director may designate), maintain an accurate record of his transactions in peaches.

(e) Petition for relief from hardship. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance herewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship on him may apply in writing for relief to the Director, setting forth in such petition all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought. The Director may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate, which action shall be final.

(f) Violations. Any person who violates any provision of this order may, in accordance with the applicable procedure, be prohibited from receiving, making any deliveries of, or using peaches, or any other material subject to priority or allocation control by any governmental agency. In addition, any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order is guilty of a crime and may be prosecuted under any and all applicable laws. Further, civil action may be instituted to enforce any liability or duty created by, or to enjoin any violation of, any provision of this order.

(g) Delegation of authority. The administration of this order and the powers vested in the War Food Administrator, insofar as such powers relate to the administration of this order, are hereby delegated to the Director. The Director is authorized to redelegate to any employee of the United States Department of Agriculture any or all of the authority vested in him by this order.

(h) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications, other than those required to be submitted pursuant to (b) (2) hereof, concerning this order shall, unless instructions to the contrary are issued by the Director, be addressed to the Director of Distribution, War Food Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. WFO 102.

(i) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. w. t., June 9, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by, and subsequent reporting and record-keeping requirements will be subject to the approval of, Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

TITLE 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

[Docket No. 4482]

PART 3—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

SCIENTIFIC MANUFACTURING COMPANY, ET AL.

§ 3.6 (t) Advertising falsely or misleadingly, qualities of properties of product or service. In connection with offer, etc., of respondent's medicinal preparations designated "Pheno-Isolin", "Pheno-Isolin Ointment", and "Dialin", or any other similar preparation, disseminating, etc., any advertisements by means of the United States mails, or in commerce, or by any means, to induce, etc., directly or indirectly, purchase in commerce, etc., of respondent's preparations which advertisements represent, directly or through inference, (1) that respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment is a powerful germicide or antiseptic or that its use will prevent infection or destroy bacteria; (2) that the germicidal and antiseptic properties of respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or Pheno-Isolin Ointment are sufficient to be of value in surgery or as surgical dressings or that said preparations have any therapeutic value in the treatment of peritonitis, gangrene, or ulcerated cancer; or that respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment has any therapeutic value in the treatment of (3) ankylosis, or stiffening of the joints; (4) coughs, colds, sore throat, sinus conditions, influenza, or other respiratory diseases; (5) diphtheria or septic sore throat; (6) infections or infectious conditions, such as ulcers, sores, boils, carbuncles, or abscesses; (7) athlete's foot or that its use will relieve the burning and itching inflammation caused by such conditions or help heal the irritated tissues; or which advertisements represent, as aforesaid; (8) that respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment constitute a competent or effective treatment of skin infections, eczema, or burns; or that (9) respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin has any therapeutic value in the treatment of hemorrhoids or piles; or that (10) respondent's preparation Dialin constitutes a competent or effective treatment for diabetes or has any therapeutic value in the treatment of diabetes, and that the use thereof will assist the pancreas to produce insulin, correct abnormal conditions of the body caused by diabetes, or eliminate the necessity for the use of insulin where the condition of diabetes exists; prohibited. (Sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended by sec. 3, 52 Stat. 112; 15 U.S.C., sec. 45b) [Cease and desist order, Scientific Manufacturing Company, Inc., et al., Docket 4482, May 11, 1944]

At a regular session of the Federal Trade Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 11th day of May, A. D. 1944.

In the Matter of Scientific Manufacturing Company, Inc., a Corporation, and Howard J. Force, Lawson H. Force, and Lillian S. Force, Individually and as Copartners Trading as The Force Company

This proceeding having been heard by the Federal Trade Commission upon the complaint and amended and supplemental complaint of the Commission, answers of the respondents filed thereto, testimony and other evidence in support of and in opposition to the allegations of said complaint and amended and supplemental complaint taken before a trial examiner of the Commission theretofore duly designated by it, report of the trial examiner upon the evidence, briefs filed in support of the complaint and amended and supplemental complaint and in opposition thereto, and stipulation as to the facts entered into between counsel for the Commission and counsel for the respondents dated October 30, 1943; and the Commission having made its findings as to the facts and its conclusion that respondent Howard J. Force has violated the provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act:

It is ordered, That the respondent Howard J. Force, an individual, and his representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of his medicinal preparations designated "Pheno-Isolin," "Pheno-Isolin Ointment," and "Dialin," or any other preparation of substantially similar composition or possessing substantially similar properties, whether sold under the same names or under any other names, do forthwith cease and desist from directly or indirectly:

1. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated any advertisement by means of the United States mails or by any means in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act which advertisement represents directly or through inference:

a. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment is a powerful germicide or antiseptic or that its use will prevent infection or destroy bacteria.

b. That the germicidal and antiseptic properties of respondent's preparations Pheno-Isolin or Pheno-Isolin Ointment are sufficient to be of value in surgery or as surgical dressings or that said preparations have any therapeutic value in the treatment of peritonitis, gangrene, or ulcerated cancer.

c. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment has any therapeutic value in the treatment of ankylosis, or stiffening of the joints.

d. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment has any therapeutic value in the treatment of coughs, colds, sore throat, sinus conditions, influenza, or other respiratory diseases.

e. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment has any therapeutic value in the treatment of diphtheria or septic sore throat.

f. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment has any therapeutic value in the treatment of infections or infectious conditions, such as ulcers, sores, boils, carbuncles, or abscesses.

g. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment has any therapeutic value in the treatment of athlete's foot or that its use will relieve the burning and itching inflammation caused by such condition or help heal the irritated tissues.

h. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin or his preparation Pheno-Isolin Ointment constitutes a competent or effective treatment of skin infections, eczema, or burns.

i. That respondent's preparation Pheno-Isolin has any therapeutic value in the treatment of hemorrhoids or piles.

j. That respondent's preparation Dialin constitutes a competent or effective treatment for diabetes or has any therapeutic value in the treatment of diabetes.

k. That the use of respondent's preparation Dialin will assist the pancreas to produce insulin, correct abnormal conditions of the body caused by diabetes, or eliminate the necessity for the use of insulin where the condition of diabetes exists.

2. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated any advertisement by any means for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act of respondent's preparations, which advertisement contains any of the representations prohibited in paragraph 1 hereof and the respective subdivisions thereof.

It is further ordered, That this matter be, and the same hereby is, closed as to the corporate respondent Scientific Manufacturing Company, Inc., and the individual respondents Lilliam S. Force and Lawson H. Force, without prejudice to the right of the Commission, should the facts so warrant, to reopen the same and resume trial thereof in accordance with its regular procedure.

It is further ordered, That the respondent Howard J. Force shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which he has complied with this order.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] OTIS B. JOHNSON,
Secretary.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter VI—Selective Service System

[Amdt. 206]

PART 653—WORK OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE UNDER CIVILIAN DIRECTION

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to authority contained in the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940, as amended, Selective Service Regulations, Second Edition, are hereby amended in the following respect:

1. Amend paragraph (c) of § 653.1 to read as follows:

§ 653.1 Work projects. • • •

(c) The responsibility and authority for supervision and control over all projects is vested in the Director of Selective Service.

2. Amend paragraph (b) of § 653.2 to read as follows:

§ 653.2 Camps. • • •

(b) Government-operated camps may be established in which the work of national importance and camp operations will both be under the civilian direction of a technical agency using funds provided by the Selective Service System and operating under such camp rules as may be prescribed by the Director of Selective Service.

3. Amend paragraphs (a), (e), and (f) of § 653.3 to read as follows:

§ 653.3 Property and finance. (a) The Director of Selective Service will make available for each technical agency having supervision over a work project such funds as he may determine are required for the operation of camps under the civilian direction of such technical agencies. Such funds will be made available and accounted for in the manner administratively provided by the Director of Selective Service.

• • • • •

(e) The Director of Selective Service is authorized to provide, without expense to assignees in Government-operated camps, subsistence, proper clothing for the performance of their duties, and such personal supplies or equipment as he deems necessary for such assignees. In lieu of providing such items, the Director of Selective Service is authorized to pay to assignees in Government-operated camps such cash allowances as he deems necessary.

(f) Except when otherwise specifically authorized for a particular purpose by the Director of Selective Service, the purchase and procurement of food, supplies, clothing, and equipment; the maintenance and repair of buildings and equipment; the pay of administrative personnel; the payment of allowances to assignees; and any and all other transactions involving the obligation and expenditure of selective service funds in connection with Government-operated camps shall be in accordance with the laws, rules, and regulations governing such transactions within the Selective Service System.

4. Amend paragraph (a) of § 653.4 to read as follows:

§ 653.4 Special provisions concerning travel and subsistence expenses. (a) Unless necessary transportation, meals and lodgings are provided at no expense to the Selective Service System, Government Requests for Transportation (Standard Form No. 1030) and Government Request for Meals or Lodgings for Civilian Registrants (Form 256) shall be supplied by the Director of Selective Service to the National Service Board for Religious Objectors or to the technical agency operating the camp, which in turn shall supply camp directors with such requests as are necessary. Upon receiving from the Director of Selective Service an order of transfer of an assignee, the camp director shall issue requests to the assignee to provide for necessary transportation, meals and lodgings between the place where the assignee is and the place to which he is being transferred. Upon receiving from the Director of Selective Service a Certificate of Release (Form 45) or an Interim Certificate (Form 46) for an assignee, the camp director shall issue requests to the assignee to provide for necessary transportation, meals and lodgings between the camp (or other place of release) and (1) the local board from which the assignee was assigned; or (2) the assignee's home, if the distance thereto is equal to or less than the distance to the local board of assignment; or (3) any other place chosen by the assignee if the distance thereto is equal to or less than the distance to the local board of assignment; provided that if an assignee has been transferred to the camp (or other place of release) for the convenience of the assignee, he shall not be provided with requests in excess of the requests that would have been required had such transfer not taken place. Government Requests for Transportation (Standard Form No. 1030) and Government Request for Meals or Lodgings for Civilian Registrants (Form 256) shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of §§ 608.44 and 608.45.

5. Amend paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) and add paragraph (e) to § 653.11 to read as follows:

(b) As soon as possible after the assignee has reported to camp, the camp physician shall give him a physical examination and shall determine whether there has been any change in the assignee's physical or mental condition since his preinduction physical examination. If a camp physician is not available, the camp director, to the extent that he is capable of doing so, shall, by observing and questioning the assignee, make such determination. The camp physician or the camp director, as the case may be, shall, on the bottom of page 4 of the original and first copy of the Report of Physical Examination and Induction (Form 221), make a record of such determination.

(c) Irrespective of the determination which is made as a result of the examination of an assignee made under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the camp director shall, on the bottom of page 4 of the original and first copy of the Report of Physical Examination and Induction (Form 221), place a statement that a registrant is accepted for work of national importance at the civilian public service camp to which the registrant has been assigned. The statement shall specify the date and place of such acceptance and shall be signed by the camp director who shall retain the first copy of the Report of Physical Examination and Induction (Form 221) and shall forward the original to the Director of Selective Service.

(d) Upon receiving notice that a registrant has been accepted for work of national importance, the local board shall not change his classification but shall note the fact of his aceptance for such work in the Classification Record (Form 100).

(e) In the event an assignee does not report to the camp at the time prescribed in his Order to Report for Work of National Importance (Form 50) or pursuant to the instructions of the local board, the camp director will report such fact to the Director of Selective Service.

6. Amend paragraph (d) of § 653.15 to read as follows:

§ 653.15 Release for induction into the land or naval forces. • • •

(d) An assignee's application to volunteer for induction into the land or naval forces either for combatant or noncombatant service shall be submitted to the Director of Selective Service through his camp director. Such application need not be in any particular form but shall contain the following information: The assignee's name, residence address at the time of assignment, order number, local board number and location, a request for immediate induction, and the name of the camp to which he is assigned. The camp director is not required to approve or disapprove such request, but if he sees fit, he may submit a report concerning the assignee to the Director of Selective Service. Such assignee shall retain his status as an assignee and will remain in camp until released by the Director of Selective Service.

The foregoing amendments to the Selective Service regulations shall be effective within the continental United States immediately upon the filing hereof with the Division of the Federal Register and shall be effective outside the continental limits of the United States on the 30th day after the date of filing hereof with the Division of the Federal Register.

LEWIS B. HERSHEY,
Director.

TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter IX—War Production Board

Subchapter B—Executive Vice-Chairman

AUTHORITY: Regulations in this subchapter issued under sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236 and 56 Stat. 176; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; W.P.B. Reg. 1 as amended March 24, 1943, 8 F.R. 3666, 3696; Pri. Reg. 1 as amended May 18, 1943, 8 F.R. 6727.

PART 933—COPPER

[Conservation Order M-9-c, as Amended May 26, 1944, Amdt. 1]

Section 933.4 Conservation Order M-9-c is hereby amended by changing paragraph (c) as follows:

a. By inserting the following language immediately after the numeral (1): The restrictions of this subparagraph are in addition to those contained elsewhere in this order and in other orders and regulations of the War Production Board.

b. By inserting a new subparagraph (2) to read as follows:

(2) The restrictions of this subparagraph are in addition to those contained elsewhere in this order and in other orders and regulations of the War Production Board. No person shall use for any purpose in manufacture, any copper base alloy foundry product, either rough or finished, containing more than 74% copper or 2% tin, unless one or more of the following conditions is satisfied:

(i) He was lawfully using copper base alloy for the particular purpose some time during the last six months of 1943;

(ii) A War Production Board order or regulation specifically allows an alloy with a higher copper or tin content;

(iii) The specifications of the Army or Navy of the United States, the U. S. Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration, applicable to the contract, subcontract or purchase order call for an alloy with a higher copper or tin content; or

(iv) He has been specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board to use an alloy with a higher copper or tin content. (Applications for specific authorization under this subparagraph to use copper base alloy foundry products containing more than 74% copper or 2% tin, where such use would otherwise be in violation of the restrictions stated above, should be made by letter in duplicate addressed to the Copper Division of the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Reference: M-9-c. A provision similar to this subparagraph (2) appears in Order M-43 and one application is sufficient under both Orders M-9-c and M-43).

c. By renumbering paragraph (c) (2) as paragraph (c) (3).

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1001—TIN

[General Preference Order M-43, as Amended June 6, 1944]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of tin for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1001.1 General Preference Order M-43—(a) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(b) Applicability of order. The prohibitions and restrictions contained in this order shall apply to the use of material in all items or articles hereafter manufactured irrespective of whether such items or articles are manufactured pursuant to a contract made prior or subsequent to January 10, 1944, or pursuant to a contract supported by an allotment symbol or a preference rating. Insofar as any other order of the War Production Board may have the effect of limiting or curtailing to a greater extent than herein provided the use of tin in the production of any item or article, the limitations of such other order shall be observed.

(c) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Tin" means and includes both pig tin and secondary tin.

(2) "Pig tin" means metal containing 98% or more by weight of the element tin, in shapes current in the trade (including anodes, small bars, and ingots) produced from ores, residues or scrap.

(3) "Secondary tin" means any material (except tin plate and terne plate as those terms are defined in Supplementary Order M-21-e) which contains less than 98% but not less than 1.5% by weight of the element tin.

(4) "Manufacture" means to fabricate, assemble, melt, cast, extrude, roll, turn, spin, produce, coat, or process in any way, but does not include the processing of tin ore, concentrates, residues or scrap into metallic tin.

(5) "Inventory" of a person includes the inventory of affiliates and subsidiaries of such person, and the inventory of others where such inventory is under the control of or under common control with, or available for the use of such person.

(6) "Implements of war" means combat end-products, complete for tactical operations (including, but not limited to, aircraft, ammunition, armaments, weapons, ships, tanks, military vehicles and radio and radar equipment), and any parts, assemblies or materials to be incorporated in any of the foregoing items. This term does not include facilities or equipment used to manufacture the foregoing items.

(7) "Base period" means the corresponding calendar quarter of 1940.

(8) "Distributor" means any person regularly engaged in the business of buying and selling tin, and includes warehousemen and jobbers.

(d) General restrictions on use of tin. (1) No product or article or part thereof shall be manufactured of pig tin if it is possible to use secondary tin for such purpose.

(2) No tin in any form shall be used in the manufacture of any item or in any process appearing on List A of this order; nor shall tin be used for any purpose except to manufacture the items or for the purposes listed in Schedule I, II, III or IV of this order, and then, only within the limitations and restrictions specified in Schedule I, II, III or IV with respect to such item or purpose.

(e) Restrictions on the use of certain tin products. Except with the specific permission in writing of the War Production Board granted pursuant to appeal under paragraph (k) no person shall use any of the tin-bearing products on List B of this order in the manufacture or treating of any other product or article; Provided, That when any such tin-bearing product is listed in Schedule I, II, III or IV it may be used for the purposes for which it is permitted to be manufactured as specified in Schedule I, II, III or IV.

(f) Restrictions on deliveries. (1) No person shall deliver or accept delivery of pig tin without the specific authorization in writing of the War Production Board; Provided, however, That in the absence of a contrary direction by the War Production Board, pig tin may be delivered without specific authorization:

(i) To the Metals Reserve Company or to any other corporation organized under section 5(d) of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act as amended (15 U. S. C., sec. 606 (b)), or to any duly authorized agent of any such corporation.

(ii) By any distributor in lots of three long tons or less up to but not exceeding a total of five long tons to any one customer in the same calendar month; Provided, That the aggregate of such deliveries which any person may receive from all distributors pursuant to the authority of this paragraph shall in no event exceed five long tons in any calendar month; and provided further, that any person seeking such a delivery shall, at the time of placing his purchase order, file with the distributor a statement substantially in the following form, signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7 by an official duly authorized for such purpose:

The undersigned hereby certifies:

(a) That no allocation of pig tin has been made to the undersigned by the War Production Board during the calendar month in which delivery of the pig tin covered by the accompanying purchase order is specified:

(b) That such pig tin if delivered will not cause the undersigned's total receipts of pig tin from all distributors during the same calendar month pursuant to the authorization of paragraph (f) of General Preference Order M-43, as amended, to exceed five long tons; and

(c) That such pig tin will not be used or disposed of by the undersigned in violation of any order or regulation of the War Production Board.

(Name of purchaser)

By _____
(Duly authorized official)

(2) On or before the 10th day of each calendar month, each distributor shall report to the War Production Board in such form and detail as said Board may from time to time prescribe, (subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942) his transactions in all pig tin during the previous month.

(g) Allocations. The War Production Board will from time to time allocate the supply of pig tin, including all pig tin released by the Metals Reserve Company, and issue specific directions as to the source, destination, and the amount of pig tin to be delivered or acquired. The War Production Board may also specifically direct the purposes and end products for which any person may convert, process or fabricate pig tin allocated to him.

(h) Applications for, and reports of pig tin. Application for allocations of pig tin or for specific authorization to accept delivery thereof under paragraph (f) shall be made to the War Production Board not later than the 20th day of the month next preceding the month in which delivery is desired, on Form WPB-412 or such other form as the War Production Board may from time to time prescribe. Any person who on the first day of a calendar month has in his possession or under his control two long tons or more of pig tin or who used during the preceding calendar month, 3,000 pounds or more of pig tin, shall, not later than the 20th day of such month, report to the War Production Board on Form WPB-412 in accordance with the instructions accompanying such form, regardless of whether or not he seeks an allocation of pig tin or specific authorization to accept delivery thereof during the next succeeding month.

(i) Prohibitions against sales or deliveries with knowledge of intended misuse. Notwithstanding the authorization by the War Production Board of a sale or delivery of tin, no person shall sell or deliver any tin or tin-bearing material or product thereof in the form of raw materials, semi-processed materials, finished parts or sub-assemblies to any person if he knows or has reason to believe such material or any product thereof is to be used in violation of the terms of this order. A supplier may rely upon the written statement of the customer seeking delivery of any such material, as to the purposes for which it will be used, unless the supplier knows or has reason to believe such statement to be false, and any such statement shall constitute on the part of the person making the same, a representation to the War Production Board within the meaning of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, 18 U. S. C. Sec. 80.

(j) Limitation on inventories. No person shall receive delivery of tin, or products thereof, in the form of raw materials, semi-processed materials, finished parts or sub-assemblies nor shall he put into process any raw material, in quantities which in either case shall result in an inventory of such raw, semi-processed or finished material in excess of a minimum practicable working inventory, taking into consideration the limitations placed upon the production of tin products by this order. In the absence of special permission to acquire or hold a greater supply of pig tin, forty-five days' inventory of such tin shall, for the purpose of this order, be deemed a practicable working inventory for any person except a manufacturer of tin plate as tin plate is defined in Supplementary Order M-21-e, as from time to time amended. Application for such special permission shall be made by letter to the War Production Board setting forth fully the facts upon which the applicant relies.

(k) Appeals and communications. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. Appeals, reports and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Tin and Lead Division, Washington 25, D. C., reference: M-43.

(l) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

LIST A

NOTE: Item 19 deleted; Items 20 through 27 redesignated 19 through 26, June 6, 1944.

Pursuant to the foregoing order, the use of tin in any form, including semi-finished and finished products, in the manufacture of the items and for the purposes listed below is prohibited:

1. Advertising specialties.
2. Art objects.
3. Automobile body solder, or any similar material commonly used as a filler or smoother for automobile or truck bodies or fenders except as permitted in Schedule II, paragraph (8) (a).
4. Band and other musical instruments (except as permitted in Schedule I under the item "pipe organs", paragraph 11).
5. Britannia metal, pewter metal or other similar tin bearing alloy.
6. Broom wire.
7. Buckles.
8. Buttons.
9. Chimes and bells.
10. Emblems and insignia.
11. Fasteners: eyelets, spiral binders, office and industrial staples, book match clips, paper clips, slide fasteners, dress hooks.
12. Foil (except as permitted in Schedule I under the item "foil", paragraph 4).
13. Zinc galvanizing.
14. Household furnishings and equipment.
15. Jewelry.
16. Kitchen equipment (including cutlery and tableware), except as permitted in Schedule I, paragraphs 6 and 15.
17. Novelties, souvenirs and trophies.
18. Ornaments and ornamental fittings.
19. Plating or coating for decorative purposes.
20. Powder (decorative).
21. Refrigerator trays and shelves.
22. Seals and labels.
23. Slot, game and vending machines.
24. Coated paper.
25. Tin oxide and other tin chemicals (except as permitted in Schedule I, paragraph 18).
26. Toys and games.

LIST B

The following tin-bearing products shall not be used in the manufacture or treating of any other products except in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (e) of the foregoing order:

1. Automobile body solder or any similar material containing tin, commonly used as a filler or smoother for automobile or truck bodies or fenders.
2. Tin oxide and other tin chemicals (except as permitted in Schedule I, paragraph 18).
3. Solder containing more than 21% by weight of tin.
4. Babbitt metal or similar alloys used as babbitt containing more than 12% by weight of tin.
5. Britannia metal, pewter metal or other similar tin-bearing alloy.
6. Foil containing more than 1% tin by weight.
7. Copper-base alloy containing more than 2% tin by weight.

[NOTE: Schedule I rescinded; Schedules I to IV added June 6, 1944.]

SCHEDULES

Pursuant to the foregoing order, tin may be used only in the production of the items and for the purposes set forth in these Schedules, subject to any limitations, restrictions or conditions specified with respect to any such items or purpose and then, only to the extent that substitution of either a less critical material or one of lesser tin content is impracticable.

The conditions, restrictions and limitations set forth in these Schedules with respect to any listed item or purpose shall apply to the manufacture of "Implements of War" produced for the Army or Navy of the United States, U. S. Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration, except where the use of tin in the grade and to the extent employed is required either by the latest applicable specifications, on drawings, or by letter or contract of the government service or agency for which the same are being produced.

SCHEDULE I—MISCELLANEOUS

1. Detonators and blasting caps (including electric blasting caps). This item includes all necessary parts and accessories but is limited to detonators and blasting caps which are to be used in mining, quarrying, or oil drilling operations. Necessary materials to be incorporated in such detonators or blasting caps shall be exempt from the limitations, conditions and restrictions specified in this schedule with respect to any such material.

2. Tin plate, terne plate, and terne metal. Tin plate, terne plate and terne metal, as respectively defined in Supplementary Order M-21-e, as from time to time amended, may be manufactured as permitted under the provisions of said supplementary order. Terne metal, however, may be manufactured from secondary tin only.

3. Collapsible tubes. The use of tin in the manufacture of collapsible tubes is permitted subject to the limitations and restrictions of Conservation Order M-115, as amended from time to time.

4. Foil. In the manufacture of foil the tin content shall be limited as follows, according to the purposes for which it is to be used:

(i) Electrotypers foil—not more than 15% tin by weight.

(ii) Dental foil—not more than 30% tin by weight.

(iii) Foil to be used in condensers—not more than 4½% tin by weight.

(iv) Soft babbit foil for the preparation of industrial metallic packing—not more than 1.5% tin by weight.

(v) Foil to be used in aircraft magnetos—not more than 50% tin by weight.

The quantity of tin which any person may use in the manufacture of foil during any calendar quarter shall be limited to 25% of the quantity used by him in the manufacture of foil during the base period.

5. Dairy equipment. Tin may be used to coat fluid milk shipping containers which are manufactured within the restrictions and in accordance with the provisions of Conservation Order M-200. Tin may be used to manufacture dairy equipment other than such fluid milk shipping containers, but the total quantity used by any person in the manufacture of such other dairy equipment during any calendar quarter, shall be limited to the quantity used by him for such purposes during the base period. Any dairy equipment may be retinned, Provided only, That the amount of tin which any retinner may use during any calendar quarter, for the retinning of dairy equipment, shall be limited to 150% of the quantity used by him for such purposes during the base period.

6. Kitchen, galley and mess equipment for the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration or the Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture. Tin may be used to coat the foregoing equipment excluding flat ware, to the extent required by the applicable specifications of the service or agency to which such equipment is to be delivered.

7. Wire—Coating. Tin or tin alloys may be prepared and used for coating wire only as follows and then, only when specified:

(a) For copper wire. There shall be no limitation upon the tin content of the coating alloy when the copper wire to be coated therewith is of a size of .0320" nominal diameter or finer. If the wire to be coated is of size larger than .0320" nominal diameter, the tin content of the coating alloy shall be limited to 12% tin by weight.

(b) For steel wire. (i) To be used as armature binding wire.

(ii) To be used in the manufacture of equipment for the production of textiles.

(iii) To be used in the packaging or marking of meat where the wire comes into actual contact with the meat.

(iv) In the liquor finishing process of fine steel bright wire.

8. Foundry chaplets—Coating. Alloys containing not more than 5% of tin by weight may be manufactured and used for coating foundry chaplets. Tin in no other form may be used for such coating, except as permitted under Supplementary Order M-21-e, as amended.

9. Printing plates and type metal for use by the printing, publishing and related service industries. Secondary tin only may be used in the manufacture of such plates and type metal. The quantity of secondary tin which any person may use in the manufacture of such plates and type metal during any calendar quarter, shall be limited to 75% of the quantity of tin used by him for such purposes during the base period.

10. Dental amalgam alloys. Tin may be used in the manufacture of dental amalgam alloys but the tin content of any such alloy shall be limited to 30% tin by weight.

11. Pipe organs for religious and educational institutions. Tin may be used only in the repair and maintenance of such organs and only where and to the extent that the substitution of a less critical material is impossible.

12. Bolster metal for use in the manufacture of cutlery and surgical instruments for the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration. The tin content of such bolster metal shall not exceed 10% by weight and shall be derived from secondary tin only.

13. Fusible alloys and dry pipe valve seat rings. Tin may be used in the manufacture of fusible alloys and dry pipe valve seat rings to the extent required to meet performance specifications with respect to the operation of the product in which such alloy is to be contained.

14. Lead-base alloys for coating sheet, tube or wire. Lead-base alloys containing tin may be manufactured and used to coat steel sheet, steel tubes or steel wire provided the tin content of any such alloy does not exceed 2.5% by weight and is not derived from pig tin.

15. Equipment for preparing and handling food. In addition to the purposes specified in item (5) of this schedule with respect to dairy products, tin may be used in the manufacture or repair of the following types of equipment, but only to the extent herein indicated:

(i) To coat or to retin articles of equipment used in the processing or handling of meat in the meat-packing industry, to the extent that any such articles come into actual contact with meat. The equipment intended to be covered by this provision includes, but is not limited to: bacon combs, hangers, metal molds, shovels, forks and scoops for handling sausage and cooking utensils.

(ii) To coat or retin equipment used in the processing or cooking of any food by institutions or by industrial or commercial establishments, but only such equipment as actually comes into contact with food.

16. Tin pipe and sheet tin for lining for use in the repair or maintenance of beverage dispensing units and parts thereof. Tin pipe and sheet tin may be manufactured only for use in the repair or maintenance of beverage dispensing units and parts thereof, provided that any customer for whom such pipe or sheet tin is manufactured shall return to the manufacturer a quantity of used pipe or scrap tin equal in tin content to that of the new pipe or sheet tin delivered to him.

17. Descaling of metal castings. Tin may be used in descaling of metal castings to the extent specifically authorized by the War Production Board upon application made to it by letter.

18. Tin chemicals. Tin may be used in the manufacture of tin chemicals for use as reagents, and also for use in the electrolytic plating process, where tin plating is permitted.

Schedule II—Solders

In the manufacture of solder the tin content by weight shall be limited as follows, according to the purpose for which the solder is to be used, Provided, however, That no supplier shall deliver any solder, containing more than 30% tin by weight, to any manufacturer or user and no manufacturer or user shall accept delivery of any solder, containing more than 30% tin by weight, from any supplier, unless the manufacturer or user shall have furnished the supplier with the following certificate.

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to the penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, to the seller and to the War Production Board that the tin contained in the material covered by this order shall be used solely for the purpose listed in schedule ____ section ____ of General Preference Order M-43, or is to be incorporated in an "Implement of War" and the tin content of the material has been definitely specified.

1. Manufacture of all cellular type radiators—solder per radiator shall average not more than 21% tin by weight.

2. Manufacture of all fin and tube type radiators for military and civilian use—solder per radiator shall average not more than 32% tin by weight.

3. Solder containing not more than 50% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) Ammunition box liners.

4. Solder containing not more than 40% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) Manufacture and repair of all galvanized iron or zinc tanks.

(b) Installation and repair of water service pipes connecting the piping of a structure with the outside water main.

5. Solder containing not more than 35% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) All radiator repair, but only in the form of solid or cored wire solder not to exceed ⅛" in diameter.

(b) Manufacture and repair of any type of indicating, recording, measuring or controlling instruments and their associate control valves.

(c) Manufacture and repair of dairy ware and dairy equipment where solder comes in contact with products.

(d) Manufacture, assembly and repair of galvanized iron items (except tanks) where the assembly is done with a "soldering iron."

(e) Manufacture, maintenance and repair of electric motors, generators and armatures.

(f) Manufacture of electrical fuses.

(g) Manufacture of gas meters. (For the repair of gas meters in accordance with Supplementary Order M-43-b—not more than 38% tin by weight.)

(h) Wiping lead sheathed cable joints or lead pipe joints.

(i) Manufacture or repair of lap and top combs, and other equipment used in the textile industry.

(j) Manufacture of foundry patterns and for soldering patterns to the gates.

(k) Manufacture and repair of the following dairy and egg processing equipment: cheese vats, clarifiers, separators, coolers, heaters and preheaters, dehydrators, fillers, filters, fore-warmers, hot wells, homogenizers and high pressure sanitary pumps, pasteurizers, sanitary centrifugal and positive pumps, vacuum pans and sanitary pipe lines in connection with soldering on sanitary ferrules and fittings.

6. Solder containing not more than 21% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) Sealing of milk cans. (Solder used for this purpose is commonly referred to as "tipping solder".)

(b) Soldering side seams of the all-seam-soldered can until August 31, 1944 and after August 31, 1944, a maximum of 5% tin by weight shall be used.

7. Solder containing not more than 5% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) Manufacture of cans made with either lock or lap side seam or with a combination of lock and lap side seam, except for the manufacture of the all-seam-soldered can.

8. Solder containing not more than 2% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) Repair of automobile bodies and fenders—solder to be derived from secondary sources only.

9. Solder containing not more than 80% tin by weight may be used for the following:

(a) All other uses not covered above and then, only to the extent that substitution of either a less critical material or one of lesser tin content is impracticable.

The total quantity of tin, which any person may use in the manufacture of solder during any calendar quarter, shall be limited to 40% of the quantity used by him in the manufacture of solder during the base period. The tin content of all solder used in the manufacture of "Implements of War", where required by specifications, is wholly exempt from this quota restriction.

Schedule III—Babbitt

In the manufacture of babbitt metal and similar alloys used as babbitt, the tin content shall be limited as follows, according to the purposes for which it is to be used, Provided, however, That no supplier shall deliver any babbitt, containing more than 12% tin by weight, to any manufacturer or user and no manufacturer or user shall accept delivery of any babbitt containing more than 12% tin by weight from any supplier, unless the manufacturer or user shall have furnished the supplier with the following certificate:

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to the penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, to the seller and to the War Production Board that the tin contained in the material covered by this order shall be used solely for the purpose listed in Schedule _____ section ____ of General Preference Order M-43, or is to be incorporated in an "Implement of War" and the tin content of the material has been definitely specified.

1. Repair, maintenance or replacement in existing diesel engines, turbines, locomotive connecting rod or coupling rod bearings, and irrigation water pumping engines and equipment—not more than 90% tin by weight.

2. Manufacture, repair, maintenance or replacement of multivane crosshead linings in locomotives and for lining aluminum crossheads—no restriction.

3. Repair, maintenance or replacement in an industrial engine, compressor, or pump being used by operator engaged in the petroleum industry: Provided, In any such case, that any priorities assistance required for such repair, maintenance or replacement is obtained in accordance with Preference Rating Order P-98-b, as amended—not more than 90% tin by weight.

4. Repair, maintenance or replacement in vessels or shipping facilities pursuant to a preference rating duly established or assigned by the United States Maritime Commission—not more than 90% tin by weight.

5. Repair, maintenance or replacement of connecting rod and main engine bearings for trucks and tractors, and for passenger carriers having a seating capacity of not less than 11 persons as defined in Limitation Order L-158—not more than 90% tin by weight.

6. For all other purposes—not more than 12% tin by weight and only secondary tin shall be used.

The total quantity of tin which any person may use in the manufacture of babbitt metal, or other similar alloys used as babbitt, during any calendar quarter, shall be limited to 40% of the quantity used by him in the manufacture of babbitt during the base period. The tin content of all babbitt used in the manufacture of "Implements of War", where required by specifications, is wholly exempt from this quota restriction.

Schedule IV—Brass and Bronze

A. CAST ALLOYS

(1) Restrictions on new uses of copper-base alloy foundry products. The restrictions of this sub-paragraph are in addition to those contained elsewhere in this order and in other orders and regulations of the War Production Board. No person shall use for any purpose in manufacture, any copper-base alloy foundry product, either rough or finished, containing more than 74% copper or 2% tin, unless one or more of the following conditions is satisfied:

(i) He was lawfully using copper base alloy for the particular purpose some time during the last six months of 1943;

(ii) A War Production Board order or regulation specifically allows an alloy with a higher copper or tin content;

(iii) The specifications of the Army or Navy of the United States, the U. S. Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration, applicable to the contract, sub-contract or purchase order call for an alloy with a higher copper or tin content, or

(iv) He has been specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board to use an alloy with a higher copper or tin content. (Applications for specific authorization under this sub-paragraph to use copper-base alloy foundry products containing more than 74% copper or 2% tin, where such use would otherwise be in violation of the restrictions stated above, should be made by letter in duplicate addressed to the Copper Division of the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-9-c and M-43.)

(2) General restrictions. In any case where the tin content of brass or bronze foundry products used by a person is not restricted by the provisions of paragraph (1) of this Schedule IV, the tin content of the brass and bronze foundry products which he uses shall be limited as follows, according to the purpose for which such products are used:

(a) For the manufacture of high ratio worm gears, fire engine pump gears, jack nuts, feed nuts, elevating nuts, thrust washers or disks, machine tool spindle bearings, hydraulic pump bodies and ends for gear pumps, grinder spindle sleeve bearings or step bearings—not more than 12% tin by weight.

(b) For the manufacture of heavy, slow cooling castings (such as, for example, steel mill screw-down nuts) where the performance characteristics require that the alpha-delta eutectoid must be retained—not more than 16% tin by weight.

(c) For the manufacture of piston rings for airbrake equipment—not more than 21.5% tin by weight.

(d) For the manufacture of piston rings for locomotives—not more than 20% tin by weight.

(e) For all other purposes, a maximum tin content of 9% tin by weight, unless the lead content of the alloy is equal to, or greater than, the tin content, and in such event, not to exceed 13% tin by weight.

B. WROUGHT ALLOYS

(3) Restrictions on new uses of wrought copper-base alloy products. The restrictions of this sub-paragraph are in addition to those contained elsewhere in this order and in other orders and regulations of the War Production Board. No person shall use for any purpose in manufacture, any wrought copper-base alloy product, containing more than 2% tin, unless one or more of the following conditions is satisfied:

(i) He was lawfully using copper-base alloy for the particular purpose some time during the last six months of 1943;

(ii) A War Production Board order or regulation specifically allows an alloy with a higher tin content;

(iii) The specifications of the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission or the War Shipping Administration, applicable to the contract, sub-contract or purchase order call for an alloy with a higher tin content; or

(iv) He has been specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board to use an alloy with a higher tin content. (Applications for specific authorization under this sub-paragraph to use wrought copper-base alloy products containing more than 2% tin, where such use would otherwise be in violation of the restrictions stated above, should be made by letter in duplicate addressed to the Tin and Lead Division of the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-43.)

(4) General restrictions. In any case where the tin content of wrought brass or bronze products used by a person is not restricted by the provisions of paragraph (3) of this Schedule IV, the tin content of the wrought brass and bronze products which he uses shall be limited as follows, according to the purpose for which such products are used:

(i) For the manufacture of thermostatic discs or diaphragms, bronze welding rods, fourdrinier warp wire or rifle nuts in air hammers—not more than 9% tin by weight.

(ii) For all other purposes—not more than 5.8% tin by weight.

Part 1029—Farm Machinery

[Limitation Order L-257, as Amended June 6, 1944]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of critical materials entering into the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts therefor, for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 1029.15 Limitation Order L-257—(a) What this order does. This order describes the rules governing the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts for sale in the continental United States and possessions. (Manufacture for export is covered by Order L-257-a.) To aid manufacturers in planning a continuous production cycle, it is the intention that this will be the basic order from year to year. However, it is expected that a new schedule of quota percentages will be issued as a part of the order each year for the "current quota period" starting July 1 of that year, and this will become the "applicable schedule" for that period. For example, the applicable schedule for the period July 1, 1943 to June 30, 1944, is Schedule A; for the following twelve-month period starting July 1, 1944, the new applicable schedule might be called Schedule B, etc. In order that producers may plan their production and order materials in advance, they may assume that the schedule in effect at any particular time will continue into the next "current quota period", until such time as a new schedule is issued. At present, there is no quota limitation on repair parts.

In addition to quota and other limitations on manufacture, this order also has rules on the filing and approval of production schedules, covering machinery and equipment (both farm and non-farm) and repair parts. Producers affected must stick to their schedules, with certain exceptions, so that the various programs, both farm and non-farm, can be met on time.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order (and any orders supplementary hereto, unless otherwise indicated):

(1) "Producer" means any person, other than a supplier, to the extent that he is actively engaged in the current manufacture (in the United States) of farm machinery and equipment or of repair parts for farm machinery and equipment, but does not include any person who did not manufacture any farm machinery and equipment or repair parts in 1940 or 1941.

(2) "Small producer" means any producer whose total net sales (including exports and sales by affiliates) of all products did not exceed $100,000 during the calendar year 1941; and includes any other producer who has been classified by the Smaller War Plants Corporation as a "smaller, distressed producer" and is specifically designated as such for the purpose of this order by the War Production Board, on such terms and conditions as may be proper.

(3) "Manufacture" means to put into process, machine, fabricate, or otherwise alter materials by physical or chemical means.

(4) "Supplier" means any person engaged in the manufacture (for sale to a producer in the United States) of materials, parts, assemblies or subassemblies to be physically incorporated into farm machinery and equipment or repair parts manufactured by such producer, or to be resold by such producer as repair parts.

(5) "Machinery and equipment" means agricultural machinery, mechanical equipment and implements (including all attachments used in conjunction therewith) of the types ordinarily manufactured for farm use, and listed on the applicable schedule attached hereto.

(6) "Farm use" means use for the production or care of crops, livestock, livestock products, or other produce on a farm (or elsewhere in the case of poultry). The term also includes use for the production or care of crops in "victory gardens" with respect to atomizing hand sprayers, hand dusters, wheel-type hand cultivators and wheel-type hand plows, and use for any civilian purpose with respect to horseshoes, muleshoes, oxenshoes and harness hardware.

(7) "Farm machinery and equipment" means machinery and equipment which is manufactured specifically for farm use, including irrigation and drainage equipment (excluding tile), horseshoes, muleshoes, oxenshoes, harness hardware, and water well casing (fabricated by other than pipe mills); but excluding repair parts, and also excluding all of the following: tracklaying type tractors, fencing, poultry netting and wire, wire fencing, bale ties or straps, oil well casing and water pipe, grain bins and corn cribs, water storage tanks, nails (all kinds), and sundry hardware (including hand tools, chains, barn door track, pulleys, scales, and similar items not specified on the applicable schedule).

(8) "Non-farm machinery and equipment" means machinery and equipment, as defined in paragraph (b) (5) above, which is manufactured pursuant to rated orders for any purpose other than farm use.

(9) "Attachment" for machinery and equipment means a supplementary appliance which may be added to an otherwise complete machine to extend the utility of such machine.

(10) "Repair parts" means all types of replacement parts considered separately or as assemblies which are manufactured for use and used in the repair and maintenance of "farm machinery and equipment" and shall include plow shares and shapes, and water pump cylinders. No item listed on the applicable schedule shall be deemed a repair part.

(11) "Base production" means the weight of a producer's total manufacture in the United States of any item of farm machinery and equipment for sale in the United States during either the calendar year 1940 or 1941, in whichever year such weight was the greater.

(12) "United States" means the forty-eight states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and all other territories and possessions of the United States.

(13) "Current quota period" means the twelve-month period which starts July 1 of any year and ends June 30 of the following year, as identified on the applicable schedule.

(14) "Applicable schedule" means the particular schedule relating to a current quota period, and fixing manufacturing quotas (for sale in the United States) for each item listed for that period.

(c) Restrictions on production for domestic farm use—(1) Manufacturing quotas. During any current quota period, no producer shall manufacture, for sale in the United States, more of any item of farm machinery and equipment (by weight) than his quota for that item. This quota is figured by taking the percentage shown for the item on the applicable schedule, and multiplying it by his base production of the item. Exceptions to this general rule are stated in paragraph (d). Special restrictions are set forth in subparagraph (2) below and in paragraph (f).

(2) Special restrictions. (i) No person who is not a "producer" has any quota. However he may manufacture farm machinery and equipment and repair parts of an aggregate value up to $2,500 during any current quota period.

(ii) No item which is not provided for in the applicable schedule shall be manufactured as "farm machinery and equipment" for sale in the United States.

(iii) No person shall manufacture for sale in the United States any item of farm machinery and equipment requiring rubber tires except the following items:

Wheel type tractors including garden type.
Combines.
Pick-up hay balers and field hay harvesters.
Corn pickers.
Power sprayers over ten gallons per minute.
Any item requiring tires to be mounted on wheel rims of the following sizes (diameter): 15", 16", 18", 20" and 21".

(iv) No producer who is not a "small producer" shall manufacture, for sale in the United States, any item of farm machinery and equipment (or non-farm machinery and equipment) except to the extent listed on an approved production schedule under paragraph (e).

(3) Adjustments in quotas. The War Production Board may, by specific written directions or authorizations issued to any producer or other person affected by this order, increase or decrease any quota or authorized use of materials; and may transfer any portions of quotas between producers, taking into account the amount and weight of materials to be used, the need for particular items at the time required in particular areas, the labor and transportation situation in the manufacturing areas involved, and such other factors as may be proper.

(d) Exceptions—(1) No quota for repair parts. Producers may manufacture repair parts for sale in the United States without any restrictions as to quota. However, they must comply with paragraph (e) with respect to production schedules.

(2) Bracketed items. Wherever, in an applicable Schedule, two or more items are bracketed together, the producer must apply the individual percentages to his base production of each item in the bracket and add up the various weights. This total permissible weight may then be distributed among all or any one or more of the items in that bracket as he chooses (regardless of the individual quota percentages).

(3) Attachments may be lumped together. Any producer may choose not to follow the individual quota percentages for items of attachments as indicated on the applicable schedule, and instead manufacture not more than an aggregate of 75% of his total base production of all attachments. This total may be distributed among all or any one or more of the attachments made by him. However, once this choice is made, the producer must stick to it for all attachments to be made during the current quota period.

(4) Small producers. Any "small producer" may use the quota percentage "100%" instead of the quota percentage listed on any applicable schedule for any item or items which he makes, but only to the extent that the weight of his total manufacture of all items of farm machinery and equipment during the current quota period does not exceed, in the aggregate, 100% of his base production of these items. In addition, small producers do not have to comply with certain provisions of this order with respect to production schedules or other reports, as stated in subparagraph (c) (2) (iv) and paragraphs (e) and (k). However, this does not relieve them from complying with all CMP Regulations and procedures.

(5) Production before or after current quota periods—(i) Advance planning of production. Before the beginning of any current quota period, producers may plan their production, order materials and start initial fabrication in accordance with the applicable schedule for the coming period. For this purpose, until such time as a new applicable schedule is issued, it may be assumed that the schedule currently in effect will apply for this next period. In other words, the schedule in effect is always the "applicable schedule" unless and until displaced by a new schedule.

(ii) Carry-over of uncompleted portions of quotas. Any portions of quotas for sale in the United States under an applicable schedule (including all amendments, appeals and specific authorizations) which are not completely manufactured by the end of the current quota period, may be carried over and added to the corresponding quotas of the next current quota period but only to the extent that they can be completed by July 31 of this next period. However, uncompleted quotas (domestic, and those under Schedule B–6) under Order L–170 may be carried over as explained above for completion any time before June 30, 1944. In addition, uncompleted quotas for the following items of harvesting machinery and equipment under Schedule A (including special authorizations, etc.) may be carried over for completion any time before September 30, 1944:

Combines (Items 126 and 126a only).
Corn binders (Items 132 and 132a only).
Corn pickers (Items 135–136).
Field ensilage harvesters (Item 137).
Peanut pickers (Item 161).
Corn shellers (Items 166 and 167 only).
Hay balers (Items 172, 172a and 172b only).
Feed grinders and crushers (Items 174, 175, and 175a only).
Portable elevators (Item 188).

(6) Substitute materials. Any person may manufacture for sale in the United States the following items, without regard to the restrictions of this order, if they are made from the substitute materials listed:

Bee hives.
Farm gates.
Feed trucks.
Grit boxes.
Hog troughs.
Laying nests.
Livestock feeders.
Milk stools.
Poultry feeders.
Poultry waterers.

These items are unrestricted only if they are made entirely (except for nails and essential strappings and fastenings, and except for doors in the case of livestock feeders) from any one or more of the following materials:

Glass or other ceramic products.
Plain concrete.
Fibre board.
Wood fibre products.
Plywood (produced with binder or adhesive not restricted by Schedules 9, 10, and 11 of General Allocation Order M–300 or any other applicable M or L order).
Gum and other hardwood lumber.
Softwood lumber (subject to the restrictions of Conservation Order M–208 and all other applicable M and L Orders).

Some of the items listed above are also given quotas on the applicable schedule. These quotas apply only to the extent that the items are to be made from iron or steel.

(7) Substitution for critical materials encouraged. If the weight of any item of farm machinery and equipment manufactured by a producer has been or will be increased by his substituting for more critical materials any of the materials listed above in subparagraph (d) (6), he may still manufacture in any current quota period the number of units which would have been within his domestic quota before making the substitution. Also a producer may apply for additional quota for any item in which he can substitute these materials entirely for more critical materials.

(8) Assignments of quota. All assignments of quota specifically authorized by appeal under Limitation Order L–170 for the period starting November 1, 1942, or under this Order L–257, are re-authorized for each current quota period. The assignee, in figuring his additional quota, must take the percentage on the applicable schedule for each item transferred and multiply it by the assignor's base production of that item. The assignor's quota is, to that extent, reveked.

(e) Production schedules—(1) AA–2 for purpose of scheduling production. Producers and other persons authorized to manufacture under this order may schedule their production of items of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts as if the orders for these items bore a rating of AA–2.

(2) Production schedules must be filed: exemption for "small producers". With respect to each item of machinery and equipment (both farm and non-farm) and repair parts, each producer must file a production schedule on Form WPB–3181, listing the quantities he plans to have available for shipment (within his quota and other authorizations under this order) to various classes of customers, in accordance with the instructions on the form. This production schedule is deemed approved as filed, unless the producer is notified in writing to the contrary by the War Production Board. "Small producers" do not have to file this form.

(3) Items on approved schedule to be available for shipment; changes in schedule. Each producer must have available for shipment each month to each class of customer the quantities of each item and of repair parts as indicated on his approved schedule. However, he may complete (within his approved total) more than his schedule in any month, except that, in the case of wheel-type tractors, a producer may not complete in any calendar quarter more tractors than the total shown on his approved schedule for that quarter, plus any approved amounts scheduled but not completed in previous quarters. He may also, if necessary, delay completion of any quantities scheduled for any class of customer for any month up to the last day of the next month. Any other change in an approved schedule must be reported on Form WPB–3181 and the change will be deemed approved as filed, unless the producer is notified in writing to the contrary by the War Production Board.

(4) Deliveries for farm use protected. A producer must deliver all quantities of items listed on an approved schedule (WPB–3181) for farm use and for export without regard to preference ratings, unless otherwise specifically directed in writing by the War Production Board. Small producers and other persons under this order not required to file production schedules may deliver items for farm use and for export without regard to any orders bearing preference ratings of AA–2x or lower.

(f) Further restrictions—(1) [Deleted Mar. 23, 1944]

(2) Restrictions on sale for domestic use. Subject to such directions as may be issued from time to time as to rationing control by the War Food Administrator, no person shall sell any item of new farm machinery and equipment (except poultry equipment, horseshoes, muleshoes, oxenshoes, and harness hardware) which was manufactured for sale in the United States, and which he knows or has reason to believe will not be used in the hands of the ultimate consumer for farm use, except to fill a contract or purchase order bearing a preference rating of AA–4 or higher. If the rated order is for an item which farmers can get only by furnishing purchase certificates under Food Production Order 14 or any other applicable regulation of the War Food Administration, the seller must not fill the order from stock. However, in the following special cases, the seller may sell any of these items from stock for non-farm use on an order rated AA–4 or higher:

(i) If the item is in his stock as a replacement for one previously sold on a rated order, or

(ii) After he has extended the rated order to his supplier and has actually received the particular item, or

(iii) If the rated order is placed with him directly by the Army or Navy (and not indirectly by a contractor or otherwise), or

(iv) If he is a producer (but producers must comply with all applicable orders and regulations, particularly paragraph (e) (4) of this order).

(g) Excess inventory. Any producer may sell to any other producer any material in his inventory which is in excess of his requirements for the items of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts authorized to be manufactured under the provisions of this order. Such sales shall be expressly permitted within the terms of paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation No. 13.

(h) Conservation of materials. (1) If any other order of the War Production Board limits the use of critical materials in the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment, non-farm machinery and equipment, or repair parts to a greater extent than this order does, the other order shall govern unless it states otherwise.

(2) The War Production Board may also from time to time issue special orders requiring standardization, simplification, substitution, or other measures to save critical materials in the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment, non-farm machinery and equipment, or repair parts.

(i) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(j) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(k) Reports. Each producer who is not a "small producer" must file by the 10th day of each month a report on Form WPB–1768 of his production during the previous month in accordance with the accompanying instructions. The first report must be filed on or before September 10, 1943. In addition, if any serious production trouble or delay develops between dates of filing the above Form WPB–1768, the producer should immediately advise the War Production Board, including the following information where applicable:

(1) The name of any material or component part, the non-delivery of which is, or will be, materially retarding his production.

(2) The name of the manufacturer or supplier with whom the order was placed.

(3) Producer's purchase order number.

(4) Date of the order.

(5) Supplier's order number.

(6) Promised date of delivery.

(l) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected by it are subject to all present and future regulations of the War Production Board, unless this order states otherwise.

(m) Order L–170. Except as otherwise stated in this order, it supersedes Limitation Order L–170 as of July 1, 1943.

(n) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Farm Machinery and Equipment Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: L–257.

NOTE: The reporting requirements in paragraphs (k), (c) (2) (iii), (e) (2) and (e) (3) have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE A TO L–257

APPLICABLE SCHEDULE FOR CURRENT QUOTA PERIOD JULY 1, 1943 TO JUNE 30, 1944, INCLUSIVE

Manufacturing Quotas for Items of Farm Machinery and Equipment for Domestic Farm Use

Producers are not restricted by any quota percentage in the manufacture of repair parts.

Quotas for new machinery and equipment for farm use are expressed as a percentage of the net shipping weight of each item produced during 1940 or 1941, whichever was higher. In accordance with paragraph (d) (2), production of "bracketed items" may be distributed among all or any one or more items included in the particular bracket, so long as the total weight does not exceed that determined by applying the various quota percentages to the items in the particular bracket.

"Small producers" may use the quota percentage of 100% for any item or items they manufacture, so long as their aggregate production of all items does not exceed 100% of their total 1940 or 1941 production, whichever was higher, as provided in paragraph (d) (4).

Quotas for each item of attachments, unless election is made to lump together all attachments pursuant to paragraph (d) (3), are expressed as the same percentage as that listed for the machine with which the particular attachment is used (except engines).

Any item of farm machinery and equipment not provided for in this Schedule A is not to be manufactured for sale in the United States, unless specifically exempted under the order. Moreover, any manufacture of an item in excess of the percentages established in this Schedule A, even though it may be scheduled for production under paragraph (c), is permitted only if specifically authorized pursuant to paragraph (c) (3) or on appeal.

GROUP 1: PLANTING, SEEDING, AND FERTILIZING MACHINERY

Division 1: Planters (Horse and Tractor Drawn)

Item No.		Quota Percent
1	One row, one horse, corn	81
2	One row, one horse, corn and cotton, peanut and bean	64
2a	One-horse legume planters for middles (Southern)	64
3	One row, two horse, corn and cotton	75
3a	Vetch	75
4	Two row, corn	77
5	Two row, corn and cotton	100
6	Three row and over, corn	65
7	Three row and over, corn and cotton	100
8	One row, corn	91
9	One row, corn and cotton	58
10	Two row, corn	94
11	Two row, corn and cotton	61
12	Three row and over, corn	100
13	Three row and over, corn and cotton	100

Division 2: Potato Planters (Horse and Tractor Drawn)

14	One row	100
14a	Two row and larger	100

Division 4: Transplanters

15	One row, horse or tractor drawn	126
15a	Two row; horse or tractor drawn	126
15b	Two row, tractor mounted	126
15c	Celery, self propelled	126
15d	Onion, set, horse or tractor drawn	126
16	Hand, wheel type	112

Division 5: Listers with Planting Attachments (Horse or Tractor Drawn)

17	One row	0
18	Two row	82
19	Three row and over	64

Division 6: Listers with Planting Attachments (Tractor Mounted)

20	One row	78
22	Three row and over	100

Division 7: Beet and Bean Drills or Planters

23	Four row, horse or tractor drawn	90
23a	Six row, horse or tractor drawn	90
23b	Four row, tractor mounted	90
23c	Six row, tractor mounted	90

Division 8: Grain Drills

24	One horse, plain or fertilizer, three to seven disc or run	100
25	Fertilizer, 14 run and under, horse or tractor drawn	93
25a	Fertilizer, over 14 run, horse or tractor drawn	93
26	Plain, 14 run and under, horse or tractor drawn	73
26a	Plain, over 14 run, horse or tractor drawn	73
26b	Press drill, horse or tractor drawn	73
26c	Plain drill, lister type, horse or tractor drawn	73

Division 9: Broadcast Seeders

27	Wheeled, horse or tractor drawn	52
28	End-gate	68
29	Hand (wheelbarrow and other)	49

Division 10: Garden Planters

30	Hand, wheel type	66
31	Horse or tractor drawn, one row or multiple row (one row is a unit)	73

Division 11: Fertilizer Distributors

32	One row, horse drawn	75
32a	Two row, horse drawn	75
32b	Two row, tractor mounted	75
32c	Broadcast, horse or tractor drawn	75
32d	Hand propelled	72

Division 12: Lime Spreaders (Sowers)

33	Wheeled hopper type sower, horse or tractor drawn	61
34	End-gate type	61
34a	Trailer type	61
35	Truck body type	100

Division 13: Manure Spreaders and Loaders

36	Four wheel, horse or tractor drawn	66
37	Two wheel, tractor drawn	51
37a	Manure loaders	100

Division 14: Other Planting, Seeding and Fertilizing Machinery

38	Limestone pulverizers (farm size, under 14")	49
39	Uni-carrier, chassis or rear tool bar (short and long) for mounting tools, pull type	80
39a	Tool frame, attached or rear tool bar (short and long) for mounting tools on tractor	80
40	Potato cutter	100
40a		80
40b		80
41	Attachments for all items in Group 1 expressed in terms of net shipping weight in pounds	(1)

GROUP 2: PLOWS AND LISTERS

Division 1: Moldboard, Plows (Horse Drawn)

42	Walking, one horse, steel bottom	76
43	Walking, one horse, chilled bottom	57
44	Walking, two horse and larger	62
45	Sulky	90
46	Gang, two bottom and larger	90

[1] Percentage quota is the same as that listed for the machine with which the attachment is used, unless option is chosen as provided for in paragraph (d) (3) of the order (L–257).

GROUP 1: PLANTING, SEEDING AND FERTILIZING MACHINERY—Continued

Division 8: Grain Drills—Continued

Item No.		Quota Percent
47	One bottom, tractor drawn	35
47a	One bottom, two way (one furrow) tractor drawn	35
48	Two bottom, tractor drawn	56
48a	Two bottom, two-way (two furrow) tractor drawn	60
49	Three bottom, tractor drawn	52
50	Four bottom, tractor drawn	34
51	Five bottom and larger, tractor drawn	44
52	One bottom, tractor mounted	14
52a	One bottom, two-way (one furrow) tractor mounted	35
53	Two bottom, tractor mounted	53

Division 9: Disc Plows (Horse Drawn)

54	Single disc, and larger	0

Division 4: Disc Plows (Tractor Drawn)

55	One disc	0
56	Two disc	78
57	Three disc	71
58	One disc—direct connected (one wheel type)	78
58a	Two disc—direct connected (one wheel type)	51
58b	Three disc—direct connected (one wheel type)	61
59	Three disc, tool bar type	61
60	Four disc, tractor drawn	65
61	Five disc, tractor drawn	84
62	Six disc and larger, tractor drawn	54

Division 5: One-way Disc Plows or Tillers

63	Under five feet	58
63a	Five foot and under eight foot	58
63b	Eight foot and over	58

Division 6: Listers (Horse or Tractor Drawn) (Middlebusters Without Planting Attachments)

64	One row, horse or tractor drawn	77
65	Two row, horse or tractor drawn	100
66	Three row and larger, horse or tractor drawn	0

Division 7: Listers (Tractor Mounted) (Middlebusters Without Planting Attachments)

67	One row, tractor mounted	12
68	Two row, tractor mounted	25
69	Three row and larger, tractor mounted	48
69a	Three row ridgers	86

Division 8: Sub-Soil Plows

70	Horse drawn	60
71	Tractor drawn	60
72	Tractor mounted	60

Division 9: Plow Stocks

73	Single or double stocks	0

Division 10: Other Plows and Listers

74	Basin Tiller	100
75	Cane row plows	100
76		60
76a		60

Division 11: Attachments

77	Attachments for all items in Group 2 expressed in terms of net shipping weight in pounds	(1)

GROUP 3: HARROWS, ROLLERS, PULVERIZERS AND STALK CUTTERS

Division 1: Harrows

78	Spike tooth harrow sections (steel), horse or tractor drawn	66
78a	Spike tooth harrow sections (wood), horse or tractor drawn	66
79	Spring tooth harrow sections (steel), horse or tractor drawn	68
79a	Spring tooth harrow sections (wood), horse or tractor drawn	68
80	Disc harrows, reversible, row disc, horse or tractor drawn	60
80a	Disc harrows, single, six foot and under (horse drawn type)	60
80b	Disc harrows, single over six foot (horse drawn type)	60
80c	Disc harrows, tandem attachment for horse drawn type	60
80d	Disc harrows, single and tandem, six foot and under, tractor drawn	60
80e	Disc harrows, single and tandem, over six foot and under eleven foot, tractor drawn	60
80f	Disc harrows, tandem "heavy duty" "cover crop", "wide disc spacing" tractor drawn	80
80g	Disc harrows, wide disc harrows over ten foot, tractor drawn	60
80h	Disc harrow, offset—tractor drawn	60
80i	Disc harrows, brush and bog, tractor drawn	60
81	Disc harrows, tractor mounted and tool bar type	60
81a	Cane disc harrows, tractor mounted and tool bar type	100

[1] Percentage quota is the same as that listed for the machine with which the attachment is used, unless option is chosen as provided for in paragraph (d) (3) of the order (L–257).

GROUP 3: HARROWS, ROLLERS, PULVERIZERS AND STALK CUTTERS—Continued

Division 2: Smooth Land Rollers

82	Smooth and rollers, not including lawn rollers	61

Division 3: Soil Pulverizers and Packers

83	Soil pulverizers and packers, single	57
83a	Soil pulverizers and packers, double	57

Division 4: Stalk Cutters

84	Stalk cutters, horse drawn	63
84a	Stalk cutters, tractor drawn	63
84b	Weed cutters (rotary blade type)	63
84c	Cane stubble shavers	85

Division 5: Ridge Busters

85	Ridge busters, horse or tractor drawn	100
86	Ridge busters, tractor mounted	100

Division 6: Others Harrows and Rollers

87	Combination harrow and rollers	61
87a	Seed-bed row rollers	72
88	Field Markers	60
89		60
89a		60

Division 7: Attachments

90	Attachments for all items in Group 3 expressed in terms of net shipping weights in pounds	(1)

GROUP 4: CULTIVATORS AND WEEDERS

Division 1: Cultivators (Horse and Tractor Drawn)

91	One horse (all types), including hillers, disc hoes, shovel plows, little joes, and similar type harrows and rotary harrows	45
92	One row, walking, two horse	79
93	One row, riding, two horse, shovel type	90
93a	One row, riding, two horse, disc type	90
93b	Two row, riding, horse drawn, shovel or disc type	90
94	One row, riding, two horse listed corn type	79
94a	Two row, horse drawn, listed corn type	79
94b	Two row, tractor drawn, listed corn type	100
94c	Three row, tractor drawn, listed corn type	100
94d	Four row, tractor drawn, listed corn type	100
94e	Five row, tractor drawn, listed corn type	100
95	Beet and bean cultivators, two row, horse drawn	70
95a	Beet and bean cultivators, four row, horse or tractor drawn	50
95b	Two row wing and disc hoes and hillers, potato, horse or tractor drawn	144
95c	Two row wing and disc hoes and hillers, potato, tractor mounted	144
96	Field cultivators, spring tooth type, seven foot and under	70
96a	Field cultivators, spring tooth type, over seven foot	70
96b	Field cultivators, stiff tooth type, seven foot and under	70
96c	Field cultivators, stiff tooth type, over seven foot	70
96d	Chisels and orchard cultivators, tractor drawn	48
97	Hand cultivators, wheel type, including hand plows	74

Division 2: Cultivators (Tractor Mounted)

98	One row	21
99	Two row, shovel type	71
99a	Two row, listed corn type	71
99b	Two row, potato cultivator	100
99c	Two row, disc type	71
100	Three and four row, shovel type	116
101	Narrow row, four and six row (beet, bean, and vegetable cultivators)	104
101a	Combination cultivators and planters, two row, corn and cotton	60
101b	Two row, cane cultivators	100
101c	Three row, cane cultivators	100
101d	Field cultivator, mounted and tool bar type	70
101e	Chisel and orchard cultivators, mounted and tool bar type (See also Item 96c)	48

Division 3: Rotary Hoes

102	Rotary hoes, horse or tractor drawn	48

Division 4: Weeders

103	Rod weeders, horse or tractor drawn	60
103a	Rod weeders, tractor mounted and tool bar	60
104	Tooth weeders, one horse, walking	150
104a	Tooth weeders, two horse, riding	150
104b	Tooth weeders, tractor drawn	150
104c	Tooth weeders, tractor mounted	150

GROUP 4—CULTIVATORS AND WEEDERS—Continued

Division 5: Other Cultivators and Weeders

Item No.		Quota Percent
105	Beet thinners	120
105a	Vegetable weeder and thinner	122
105b	Cyclone weeder	95
106		85
106a		85

Division 6: Attachments

107	Attachments for all items in Group 4 expressed in terms of net shipping weight in pounds	(1)

GROUP 5: SPRAYERS, DUSTERS, AND ORCHARD HEATERS

Division 1: Power Sprayers

108	Market garden type, under six g. p. m.	63
108a	Orchard type, six to ten g. p. m. auxiliary engines	63
108b	Orchard type, six to ten g. p. m. power take off	63
108c	Orchard type, eleven to twenty g. p. m. auxiliary engines	63
108d	Orchard type, eleven to twenty g. p. m. power take-off	63
108e	Orchard type, over twenty g. p. m. auxiliary engines	63
108f	Orchard type over twenty g. p. m. power take-off	63
108g	Field or row crop type, six to ten g. p. m. auxiliary engines	63
108h	Field or row crop type, six to ten g. p. m. power take-off	63
108i	Field or row crop type, eleven to twenty g. p. m. auxiliary engines	63
108j	Field or row crop type, eleven to twenty g. p. m. power take-off	63
108k	Field or row crop type, over twenty g. p. m. auxiliary engines	63
108l	Field or row crop type, over twenty g. p. m. power take-off	63
108m	Field or row crop type, tractor mounted	100
108n	Propeller blast type	100
109	Traction sprayers under six g. p. m.	100
109a	Traction sprayers six g. p. m. and over	100

Division 2: Hand Sprayers with Tank, Barrel, Knapsack, etc., with Complete Equipment (Capacity 1 qt. or over but less than 6 gallons)

110	Compressed air	70
111	Knapsack, self-contained	68
112	Trombone pump type	61
113	Bucket, pump type, single cylinder	73
114	Bucket, pump type, double cylinder	70
115	Atomizing, simple action (1 qt. and larger capacity)	62
116	Atomizing, continuous (1 qt. and larger capacity)	64

Division 3: Hand Pump Sprayers (Capacity 6 gallons or more)

117	Barrel pump sprayer	87
118	Wheelbarrow sprayer	75

Division 4: Spray Pumps, Power

119	Spray pumps, power	104

Division 5: Weed and Pear Burners

120	Weed and pear burners	40

Division 6: Dusters

121	Power duster, auxiliary engines	128
121a	Power duster, power take-off	128
122	Traction dusters	79
123	Hand dusters, rotary type	74
123a	Hand dusters, plunger type	74

Division 7: Orchard Heaters

124	Orchard heaters	75
124a	Wind frost protection machines	75

Division 8: Attachments

125	Attachments for all items in Group 5 expressed in terms of net shipping weight in pounds	(1)

GROUP 6: HARVESTING MACHINERY

Division 1: Combines (Harvester-Threshers)

126	Width of cut, 6 ft. and under, auxiliary engines	57
126a	Width of cut, 6ft. and under, power take off	57
127	Width of cut, over 6 ft. including 10 ft	90
128	Width of cut, over 10 feet	97
128a	Windrowers or swathers	78

GROUP 6: HARVESTING MACHINERY—Continued

Division 2: Grain and Rice Binders

Item No.		Quota Percent
129	Grain binders (ground drive)	42
130	Grain binders (power take-off drive)	64
131	Rice binders	88

Division 3: Corn Binders

132	Corn binders, ground drive	70
132a	Corn binders, power take-off	75
132b	Corn harvester, sled and wheel type	75

Division 4: Corn Pickers

133	One row, mounted type	110
134	Two row, mounted type	76
135	One row, pull type	78
136	Two row, pull type	108

Division 5: Field Ensilage Harvesters—Row Type

137	Field Ensilage Harvesters (row type)	100

Division 6: Potato Diggers and Pickers

138	Walking plow type	114
139	One row, ground drive	135
139a	One row, power take off	125
139b	Two row, power take off	125
139c	Potato pickers	135

Division 7: Bean Cutters or Pullers

140	Two row, horse or tractor drawn	85
140a	Four row, horse or tractor drawn	85

Division 8: Sugar Beet and Cane Harvesting Equipment

141	Beet lifters, horse or tractor drawn	27
141a	Beet lifters, tractor mounted	27
141b	Beet harvesters	150
141c	Beet loaders	150
141d	Cane harvesters	85
141e	Cane loaders	150

Division 9: Other Harvesting Equipment

142	Cotton harvesters, stripper type	150
142a	Cotton pickers	150
143	Vegetable pullers and pickers	150
143a	Green pea harvesters	150
143b	Spinach harvesters	150
144	One row soybean harvesters	150
144a	Grass seed harvesters or strippers	90

Division 10: Attachments

145	Attachments for all items in Group 6 expressed in terms of net shipping weight in pounds	(1)

GROUP 7: HAYING MACHINERY

Division 1: Mowers

146	Horse or tractor drawn (ground drive)	49
147	Tractor mounted or semi-mounted (power take-off drive)	69

Division 2: Rakes

148	Sulky (dump)	47
149	Side delivery (incl. comb. side rakes and tedders)	84
150	Sweep (horse)	90
150a	Sweep (tractor mounted)	90

Division 3: Hay Loaders

151	Hay loaders	67

Division 4: Stackers

152	Stationary	90
152a	Combination stacker-loaders	146

Division 5: Pick-up Hay Balers and Bale Loaders

153	Pick-up hay balers—power take-off	78
153a	Pick-up hay balers—auxiliary engine	78
153b	Field bale loader	150

Division 6: Other Haying Machinery

154	Field hay choppers and harvesters	150
155		90
156		90

[1] Percentage quota is the same as that used for the machine with which the attachment is used, unless option is chosen as provided for in Paragraph (d) (3) of the Order (L-257).

GROUP 7: HAYING MACHINERY—Continued

Division 7: Attachments

Item No.		Quota Percent
157	Attachments for all items in Group 7 expressed in terms of net shipping weight in pounds	(1)

GROUP 8: MACHINES FOR PREPARING CROPS FOR MARKET OR USE

Division 1: Stationary Threshers—Grain, Rice and Alfalfa

158	Threshers, width of cylinder under 28 inches	65
159	Threshers, width of cylinder 28 inches and over	67

Division 2: Stationary Pea and Bean Threshers

160	Stationary pea and bean threshers	132

Division 3: Peanut Pickers

161	Peanut pickers	61

Division 4: Ensilage Cutters—Silo Fillers

162	Ensilage cutters (Silo Fillers)	69

Division 6: Feed Cutters—Hand and Power

163	Feed cutters, hand and power	80

Division 6: Corn Shellers

164	Corn shellers (hand)	43
165	Spring (2, 4, 6 and 8 hole)	0
166	Cylinder (150 bu. and under)	83
167	Cylinder (over 150 bushels)	45

Division 7: Corn Huskers and Shredders

168	Combination corn huskers-shredders	74
169	Corn huskers	41
170	Corn shredders	0

Division 8: Stationary Hay and Straw Balers

171	Horse	76
172	Auxiliary engine	36
172a	Belt driven	36
172b	Power take-off	36
172c	Broom corn balers	79

Division 9: Feed Grinders and Crushers

173	Hand	52
174	Power, burr type	58
175	Hammer type	58
175a	Roughage mills, combination type with cutter head and grinders	58
175b	Feed mixers (not concrete mixers)	58

Division 10: Grain Cleaners and Graders

176	Cleaners and graders—farm type (smallgrain and seed)	63

Division 11: Sorters and Graders

177	Potato sorters and graders	111
177a	Vegetable graders, washers, sackers and conveyors	90
177b	Vegetable toppers	90
177c	Fruit graders, washers, crushers, conveyors	90

PART 1029—FARM MACHINERY

[Limitation Order L–257–a as Amended June 6, 1944]

EXPORTS

§ 1029.16 Limitation Order L–257–a—(a) What this order does. This order describes the rules governing the manufacture for export of machinery and equipment (both farm and non-farm) and repair parts, and supplements Limitation Order L–257 covering domestic production. All general provisions of the domestic order, such as definitions and rules for production schedules, will apply to producers for export under this order, unless this order indicates otherwise. It is expected that this order L–257–a will be the basic export order from year to year, but that "applicable export schedules" of quotas will be issued for each "current quota period", just as explained in Order L–257 for domestic quotas. It may be assumed that the applicable export schedules in effect at any particular time will continue into the next "current quota period", until such time as new schedules are issued.

(b) Additional definitions. The definitions of Order L–257, unless otherwise indicated in this order, shall apply for the purpose of this order, and also the following:

(1) "Base shipment" means one-half the net shipping weight of the total quantity (as reported on Form PD–388) of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts in the aggregate exported by a producer during the calendar years 1940 and 1941 combined to any country or group of countries (except Canada) listed on an applicable export schedule.

(2) "Lend-Lease order" means any order for machinery and equipment (both farm and non-farm) or repair parts placed by any agency of the United States Government in response to a requisition filed pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act).

(3) "Applicable export schedule" means any schedule which relates to a current quota period and fixes manufacturing quotas for the foreign country or countries listed for that period.

(c) Restrictions on production for export—(1) General export quotas (except Canada). During any current quota period, no producer shall manufacture for shipment, or ship, to foreign countries more machinery and equipment (both farm and non-farm) and repair parts than his quota for the particular country or countries, as indicated on the applicable export schedule. Where countries are listed on an applicable export schedule as a group with only one quota percentage, the producer's quota for all countries in the group as a whole is the listed percentage of his base shipments to those countries. Where countries are listed individually with separate quota percentages, the producer's quota for each country is the applicable percentage of his base shipment to that country. Where the quota percentage is 0% for any country or group of countries listed, or where a particular foreign country is not listed at all, shipments can be made only by getting a special quota under paragraph (c) (4). These special quotas will be given only as the need arises.

Each export quota for a country or group of countries (except Canada) is an over-all tonnage, which the producer can divide up among farm machinery and equipment, non-farm machinery and equipment, and repair parts, as he chooses.

Exceptions to these general rules are stated in paragraph (d).

(2) Canadian quotas. During any current quota period, no producer shall manufacture for shipment to Canada more of any item of farm machinery and equipment (in units) or attachments and repair parts (by weight) than his quota as indicated on the applicable export schedule. For each item of farm machinery and equipment (excluding attachments) the producer's quota is half the number of that item (in units) shipped by him to Canada during the calendar years 1940 and 1941, multiplied by the percentage shown for the item on the schedule. (Quotas for Canada do not include non-farm machinery and equipment.)

For each item of attachments, the quota is half the net shipping weight of that item shipped by the producer to Canada during the calendar years 1940 and 1941, multiplied by the percentage shown for the item on the schedule. However, the producer may choose to lump all attachments as explained in paragraph (d) (3).

For repair parts, the quota is half his total 1940 and 1941 shipments by weight of all repair parts to Canada, multiplied by the indicated percentage.

Exceptions to these general rules are stated in paragraph (d).

(3) Special restrictions. No producer shall manufacture for shipment, or ship, to any foreign country (including Canada):

(i) Any item of farm machinery and equipment requiring rubber tires except the following items:

Wheel type tractors including garden type.
Combines.
Pick-up hay balers and field hay harvesters.
Corn pickers.
Power sprayers over ten gallons per minute.
Any item requiring tires to be mounted on wheel rims of the following sizes (diameter): 15", 16", 18", 20" and 21".

(ii) Any item of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts except to the extent listed on an approved production schedule under paragraph (e).

(4) Adjustments in quotas. The War Production Board may, by specific written directions or authorizations issued to any producer or other person affected by this order, increase or decrease any export quota or authorized use of materials; and may transfer any portions of quotas between producers, taking into account the amount and weight of materials to be used, the need for particular items at the time required in particular countries, the labor and transportation situation in the manufacturing areas involved, and such other factors as may be proper.

(d) Exceptions—(1) Production before or after current quota periods—(i) Advance planning of production. Before the beginning of any current quota period, producers may plan their advance production for export as explained for domestic production in subparagraph (d) (5) (i) of Order L–257.

(ii) Carry-over of uncompleted portions of quotas. Any portions of export quotas under an applicable export schedule (including all amendments, appeals and specific authorizations) which are not completely manufactured by the end of the current quota period, may be carried over and added to the corresponding quotas of the next current quota period, but only to the extent that the particular items are covered by an export license issued by the Office of Economic Warfare or by a Lend-lease order, dated before July 1 of this next period. However, items for Canada may be carried over to the extent that they can be completed by July 31 of this next period.

(iii) Uncompleted L–170 quotas. Uncompleted export quotas under Order L–170 (except Canada) may be carried over as explained in subparagraph (d) (1) (ii) above to the extent that they are covered by an export license or Lend-Lease order dated before October 1, 1943. Uncompleted L–170 quotas for Canada may be completed up to June 30, 1944.

(2) Bracketed items for Canada. Wherever, in an applicable export schedule for Canada, two or more items are bracketed together, the producer may distribute his total quota (in units) for that bracket among all the items in that bracket, as set forth for domestic items in paragraph (d) (2) of Order L–257.

(3) Attachments for Canada. Any producer may choose not to follow the individual quota percentages for attachment items for Canada as indicated on the applicable export schedule, and instead manufacture up to 75% of half his total 1940 and 1941 shipments of all attachments (by weight) to Canada, under the terms set forth for domestic attachments in paragraph (d) (3) of Order L–257.

(e) Production schedules. Each producer who is not a "small producer" must have available for shipment export the quantities of items of machinery and equipment (both farm and non-farm) and repair parts as indicated on his production schedules which have been filed and approved in accordance with paragraph (e) of Order L–257. All provisions of that paragraph apply to production schedules for export, unless otherwise indicated. However, any item manufactured for export, whether for an O. E. W. country or Lend-Lease country (excluding Canada), may be shipped to any foreign country (except Canada) regardless of the schedule filed on Form WPB–3053 or WPB–3181, Provided, That the total shipments to any country or group of countries during the current quota period must not be more than the quota for that country or group of countries established under this order. Shifts of this nature do not have to be reported on Form WPB–3181.

(f) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(g) Communications. All communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Farm Machinery and Equipment Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L–257–a.

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

APPLICABLE EXPORT SCHEDULES OF ORDER L–257–A FOR CURRENT QUOTA PERIOD JULY 1, 1943 TO JUNE 30, 1944

Quotas for countries listed on Schedules X–1, X–3, X–4, X–5, X–6, X–7 below are expressed as a percentage of one-half the total net shipping weight of the 1940 and 1941 shipments of farm machinery and equipment and repair part to all the countries in the particular group.

Quotas for countries listed on Schedule X–8 below are expressed as a percentage of one-half the total net shipping weight of the 1940 and 1941 shipments to each such country.

NOTE: Quota percentages are not established for countries listed in Schedules X–2 and X–9 below. Quotas for these countries, and for special projects in any country, will be allocated specifically from time to time under paragraph (c) (4).

Schedule X–10

Quotas for the following items of farm machinery and equipment (excluding attachments) are expressed as a percentage of one-half the number of units of each item shipped to Canada during the combined calendar years 1940 and 1941; where applicable, the item numbers correspond to those in Schedule A of Order L–257. Bracketed items may be handled as indicated in paragraph (d) (2).

The quota base for each item of attachments, and for repair parts, is one-half the net shipping weight of the 1940 and 1941 shipments thereof. Note option to lump all attachments as provided in paragraph (d) (3).

Items not listed are not to be manufactured for shipment to Canada.

GROUP 1: PLANTING, SEEDING AND FERTILIZING MACHINERY

Division 1: Planters (Horse and Tractor Drawn)

Item		Quota percentage
4	Two row corn planters	81
6	Three row and over corn planters	81
	Division 2: Planters (Tractor Mounted)
10	Two row corn planters	81
12	Three row and over corn planters	81

47	One bottom, tractor drawn	57
48	Two bottom, tractor drawn	57
49	Three bottom, tractor drawn	57
50	Four bottom, tractor drawn	57
51	Five bottom, and larger, tractor drawn	57
52	One bottom, tractor mounted	51
53	Two bottom, tractor mounted	51
	Division 5: One Way Disc Plows or Tillers
63	Under five feet	72
63a	Five foot and under eight foot	72
63b	Eight foot and over	72
	Division 11: Seeding Boxes
(1)	Seeding boxes for one way plows or tillers	92

[1] No applicable item number on Schedule A of Order L–257.

GROUP 3: HARROWS, ROLLERS, PULVERIZERS AND STALK CUTTERS

Division 1: Harrows

Item		Quota Percentage
78	Spike tooth harrow sections, horse or tractor drawn (steel)	63
79	Spring tooth harrow sections, horse or tractor drawn (steel)	65
(1)	Disc harrows, horse or tractor drawn:
	(1) wide tractor disc harrow	42
	(2) tandem tractor disc harrow	56
	(3) horse disc harrow	51

Division 3: Soil Pulverizers and Packers

(1)	Trailer packers for one way disc, drill and plow	41

GROUP 4: CULTIVATORS AND WEEDERS

Division 1: Cultivators (Horse and tractor drawn)

91	One horse, all types	58
93	Corn cultivators, one row	96
95	Beet cultivators	76
(1)	Field cultivators	66
97	Hand cultivators and weeders	100

Division 2: Cultivators (Tractor Mounted)

98	One row	83
99	Two row, shovel type	83
100	Three or four row, shovel type	83
101	Five row and over	83

Division 4: Weeders

103	Rod weeders, horse or tractor drawn	25

Division 5: Other Cultivators and Weeders

(1)	Tobacco cultivators	50

GROUP 5: SPRAYERS, DUSTERS, AND ORCHARD HEATERS

Division 1: Power Sprayers and Traction Sprayers

(1)	Power sprayers	116
(1)	Traction sprayers	98

Division 2: Hand Sprayers (Capacity one quart & over)

110	Compressed air	84
111	Knapsack self-contained
112	Trombone pump type
113	Bucket pump type, single cylinder
114	Bucket pump type, double cylinder
115	Atomizing single action (1 qt. and larger)
116	Atomizing continuous (1 qt. and larger)

Division 3: Sprayers with Tank, Barrel, Knapsack, etc., (6 gals. or more)

117	Barrel pump sprayer	84
118	Wheelbarrow type

Division 4: Spray Pump (Power)

119	Spray pumps, power	100

Division 6: Dusters

121	Power dusters, auxiliary engine	162
121a	Power dusters, power take-off	162
122	Traction dusters	162
123	Hand dusters, rotary type	84

[1] No applicable item number on Schedule A of Order L-257.

GROUP 6: HARVESTING MACHINERY

Division 1: Combines (Harvesting threshers)

Item		Quota Percentage
126	Width of cut, 6 feet and under	110
127	Width of cut, over 6 feet including 10 feet	110
128	Width of cut, over 10 feet	110
(1)	Pickup for combines	200
128a	Swather	244

Division 2: Grain and Rice Binders

129	Grain binder (ground drive)	61
130	Grain binder (power take-off drive)	64

Division 3: Corn Binders

132	Corn binders (row binder) horse or tractor drawn	75

Division 4: Corn Pickers

133	One row, mounted type	128
134	Two row, mounted type	128
135	One row, pull type	128
136	Two row, pull type	128

Division 5: Field Ensilage Harvester (Row type)

137	Field ensilage harvester (40 units to be allotted)	0

Division 6: Potato Diggers

(1)	Horse or tractor	158

Division 8: Beet Lifters

141	Horse or tractor	97

GROUP 7: HAYING MACHINERY

Division 1: Mowers

146	Horse or tractor drawn (ground drive)	77
147	Tractor mounted or semi-mounted (Power take-off drive)	77
(1)	Knife or sickle grinder	71

Division 2: Rakes

148	Sulky, dump	93
149	Side delivery	229
150	Sweep, horse	75

Division 3: Hay Loaders

151	Hay loaders	189

Division 4: Stackers

152	Stackers (Stationary type)	100

Division 5: Hay Balers

(1)	Pick-up hay balers (50 units to be allotted)	0

GROUP 8: MACHINES FOR PREPARING CROPS FOR MARKET OR USE

Division 1: Stationary Thrashers

158	Thrashers, width of cylinder under 28 inches	32
159	Thrashers, width of cylinder 28 inches or over	32
162	Ensilage cutters (silo fillers)	89

Division 5: Feed Cutter (Hand and Power)

168	Feed Cutters, hand and power	105

Division 6: Corn Shellers

164	Corn shellers, hand	33
165	Power corn shellers (2, 4, 6 and 8 hole)	33
166	Power corn shellers, cylinder (150 bu. and under)	33
167	Power corn shellers, cylinder (over 150 bu.)	33

GROUP 8: MACHINES FOR PREPARING CROPS FOR MARKET OR USE—continued

Division 9: Feed Grinders and Crushers

Item		Quota Percentage
174	Power Burr type	183
175	Hammer	66
175a	Roughage mills	66
175b	Feed mixer (not concrete mixer)	126

Division 10: Cleaners and Graders (Farm type)

176	Cleaners and graders (corn and grain)	100

Division 11: Potato Sorters and Graders

177	Potato sorters and graders	86

Division 16: Other Machines for Preparing Crops for Market Use

(1)	Roller or crusher type feed cutters	33
(1)	Pulper (feed)	100

GROUP 9: FARM ELEVATORS AND BLOWERS

Division 1: Elevators (portable)

186	Elevators, portable	50

Division 2: Elevators (stationary)

189	Elevators, stationary

GROUP 10: TRACTORS

Division 1: Tractors, Wheel Type, by Rated Belt H. P.

192	Special purpose under 30 h. p.	75
193	Special purpose 30 or over h. p.
194	All purpose under 30 h. p.
195	All purpose 30 and over h. p.

Division 2: Garden Tractors

PART 3274—MACHINE TOOLS AND INDUSTRIAL SPECIALTIES

[General Preference Order M-5-a, as Amended June 6, 1944]

GAGES AND PRECISION MEASURING HAND TOOLS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of gages and precision measuring hand tools, for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3274.41 General Preference Order E-5-a—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Gages and precision measuring hand tools" means those types of tools which are listed on Exhibit A attached hereto, excluding tools made of wood or plastics.

(2) "Producer" means any person who is engaged in the manufacture of gages or precision measuring hand tools.

(3) "Stock order" means any purchase order for gages or precision measuring hand tools now or hereafter placed with a producer by any person acquiring such tools pursuant to a rating assigned on Form WPB-547 (formerly PD-1X), Form WPB-646 (formerly PD-300), or Canadian Form PB-1010.

(4) "Other order" means any purchase order for gages or precision measuring hand tools except stock orders.

(5) "Total monthly production" means either, (i) The total dollar value of each of the types of gages and precision measuring hand tools listed on Exhibit A scheduled to be produced in any given month by a producer or, (ii) The total number of units of each of the types of gages and precision measuring hand tools listed on Exhibit A scheduled to be produced in any given month by a producer. Each producer may choose between computing his total monthly production on a dollar or a unit basis.

(b) Necessity for preference ratings. On and after June 6, 1944, no producer shall sell or deliver any gages or precision measuring hand tools except to fill purchase orders bearing a preference rating of AA-5 or higher.

(c) Allocation of production between stock orders and other orders. Beginning with the month of July 1944, and in each month thereafter, each producer shall schedule his monthly production and delivery of gages and precision measuring hand tools as follows:

(1) To the extent that he has stock orders on hand he shall schedule between 20 and 25 percent of his total monthly production of each type of gages and precision measuring hand tools listed on Exhibit A for delivery against stock orders requiring delivery in such month. No producer shall schedule any purchase order pursuant to this paragraph (c) (1) unless it clearly appears from such order that the rating was assigned on Form WPB-547 (PD-1X), Form WPB-646 (PD-300) or Canadian Form PB-1010.

The sequence of deliveries of stock orders within the percentage limitations which may be delivered in any given month shall be scheduled according to § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1 and other applicable War Production Board regulations.

(2) To the extent that he has other orders on hand he shall schedule between 75 and 80 percent of his total monthly production of each type of gages and precision measuring hand tools listed on Exhibit A for delivery against other orders requiring delivery in such month.

The sequence of deliveries of other orders within the percentage limitations which may be delivered in any given month shall be scheduled according to § 944.7 of Priorities Regulation No. 1 and other applicable War Production Board regulations.

(3) Any portion of the percentage allocated to stock orders which has not been taken up by such orders on or before the 15th day of the month preceding the month being scheduled shall be scheduled for delivery against other orders and vice versa.

(d) Repair parts. Nothing in this order shall be deemed to prevent the sale and delivery of any part manufactured for use in the repair or maintenance of gages and precision measuring hand tools. Purchase and delivery of such repair parts shall be in accordance with applicable regulations and orders of the War Production Board.

(e) Intra-company deliveries. Notwithstanding the provisions of § 944.12 of Priorities Regulation No. 1, the provisions of this order shall not apply to deliveries from one branch, division or section of a single enterprise to another branch, division or section of the same or any other enterprise under common ownership or control.

(f) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected hereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(g) Reports. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports and questionnaires as said Board shall, from time to time request, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget, pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(h) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made on Form WPB–1477 (formerly PD–500) or by letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provisions appealed from, and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. All appeals should be filed with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant to which the appeal relates.

(i) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(j) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Tools Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: E–5–a.

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[General Allocation Order M–300, as Amended June 6, 1944]

CHEMICALS AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of those chemicals and allied products subject to this order for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3293.1000 General Allocation Order M–300—(a) Purpose and effect. The purpose of this general allocation order is to provide a central framework for allocation of chemicals and allied products.

Three general systems of allocation are provided for in this order, following the outline of allocations now in general use for chemicals. Appendix A materials are allocated on customers' Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600) and suppliers' Form WPB–2946 (formerly PD–601). Appendix B materials are allocated on suppliers' Form WPB–2947 (formerly PD–602), on the basis of certified statements of proposed use from each customer. Appendix C materials are allocated on suppliers' Form WPB–2947 (formerly PD–602), on the basis of applications on customers' Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600) for large orders and certified statements of end use to the supplier from customers ordering intermediate quantities.

A separate schedule under this general order is issued for each subject material. The schedule details the information required for applications, and may contain special exemptions or additional requirements modifying the terms of the general order.

The appendices in this order outline the requirements for applying for each material and show the governing schedule numbers.

The general order will be amended and reprinted in its entirety whenever a change is made in the body of the order. Appendices A, B and C will be amended and reprinted separately about once a month, showing all materials subject to the order at that time. Schedules may be issued or amended at any time, and remain in effect until individually amended or revoked. A material is subject to the order as an Appendix A, B or C material as stated in the applicable schedule although the corresponding amendment to the appendix has not issued. In the event of inconsistency between a schedule and the general order or its appendices, the provisions of the schedule shall govern.

(b) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Material" means any chemical or allied product defined and made subject to this order as an Appendix A, B or C material by an M–300 schedule.

(2) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not.

(3) "Supplier" means any person who produces or imports a material or who purchases a material for resale as such.

(4) "Initial allocation date" means the date when a material first becomes subject to allocation under this order, or when it first became subject to allocation under another order prior to its transfer to this order, whichever date is earlier.

Appendix A Materials—General Requirements

(c) Delivery, acceptance of delivery, and use. On and after the initial allocation date, no supplier of an Appendix A material shall deliver it to any person, no person shall accept delivery of an Appendix A material from a supplier, and no person shall use an Appendix A material, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application under this order.

Appendix B Materials—General Requirements

(d) Delivery and use. On and after the initial allocation date:

(1) No supplier of an Appendix B material shall use or deliver it to any person, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application under this order.

(2) A person who places a certified purchase order for an Appendix B material must use the material for the purpose stated, subject to advice by the supplier that a particular specified use has been denied or limited by the War Production Board. Material acquired after the initial allocation date from any person other than a supplier shall not be used except in exempt small order quantities, unless specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(e) Certified purchase orders. With respect to material ordered for delivery on and after the initial allocation date:

(1) Each person ordering an Appendix B material from a supplier shall furnish a certified statement of end use with his purchase order in accordance with Appendix D.

NOTE: Former paragraph (2) revoked; former paragraph (3) redesignated June 6, 1944.

(2) Each supplier within a week after receipt of authorization to ship shall notify his customer of denial in whole or in part by the War Production Board of any item or items on a certified purchase order placed by the customer.

Appendix C Materials—General Requirements

(f) Delivery. On and after the initial allocation date, no supplier of an Appendix C material shall deliver it to any person, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application under this order.

(g) Acceptance of delivery. On and after the initial allocation date, no person shall accept delivery during any allocation period from all suppliers of an aggregate quantity of an Appendix C material in excess of the quantity specified in Column 3 of Appendix C, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application under this order.

(h) Use. On and after the initial allocation date, no person shall use an Appendix C material except as follows:

(1) As specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application on Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600); or

(2) For the purpose and in the quantity stated in the use certificate furnished with the purchase order against which the material was delivered, unless advised by the supplier that a particular specified use has been denied or limited by the War Production Board.

(i) Certified purchase orders. (1) Each person ordering an aggregate quantity of an Appendix C material within the limits specified in Column 4 of Appendix C from all suppliers for delivery during any allocation period, shall furnish each supplier with a use certificate in accordance with Appendix D.

(2) Each supplier within a week after receipt of authorization to ship shall notify his customers of denial in whole or in part by the War Production Board of any item or items on their certified purchase orders.

Additional Reports and Certificates—Special Requirements

(j) Past use and inventory report. Periodic or one-time reports on Form WPB–3442 covering past use and inventory may be required by the applicable schedule.

(k) Supplementary use certificates. Persons required to file statements of use with respect to materials subject to this order may be required by the applicable schedule to obtain supplementary statements of use from their customers.

Existing Stocks on Initial Allocation Date

(l) Suppliers' stocks. The restrictions on delivery and use of Appendix A, B, and C materials shall apply to all stocks of each supplier on the initial allocation date. Stocks of suppliers who resell exclusively on small orders are exempted by paragraph (o) (4).

(m) Exemption for stocks of suppliers who consume. If a supplier customarily maintains inventories of an Appendix A, B or C material for his own consumption separately, both physically and on his books, from his inventory of the material for sale, his stocks on the initial allocation date for his own consumption shall be subject to the provisions of the following paragraph (n) regarding consumers' stocks and not to the restrictions of paragraph (l) above regarding suppliers' stocks. Prior to the initial allocation date, no supplier shall transfer any more material to his inventory as a consumer than his rated orders for derivatives of the material compared with his rated orders for the material itself would permit under Priorities Regulation No. 1.

(n) Consumers' stocks. Any person not a supplier may freely use, deliver or accept delivery of any Appendix A, B or C material which he had in stock on the initial allocation date or which was in transit consigned to him prior to that date, unless otherwise expressly provided in the applicable Schedule (indicated by asterisk in Column 7 of Appendix A).

Small Order Exemption

(o) Small order deliveries by suppliers. A supplier may fill small orders without application or specific authorization, if he delivers not more than the small order exemption quantity specified in Appendix A, B or C to any customer in any allocation period, if he has received small order certificates when so required, and if the total amount delivered does not exceed the sum of the following:

(1) The amount which he has been specifically authorized, upon application on the applicable supplier's form (WPB–2946 or 2947) to deliver on small orders;

(2) The amount which he has received pursuant to specific authorization or certification for redelivery on small orders;

(3) The amount which he himself acquired on small orders and has not used for other purposes;

(4) The amount which he had on hand on the initial allocation date, if he sells exclusively on small orders.

(p) Acceptance of delivery and use of small order quantities. Any person during each allocation period may use and accept delivery of the small order exemption quantity provided in Appendices A, B and C for each material, provided that:

(1) The total accepted from all suppliers during each allocation period shall not exceed in the aggregate one small order exemption quantity;

(2) Quantities received under the small order exemption shall be used only for experimental purposes if additional quantities of the material are received during the same allocation period on specific allocation;

(3) Use of the material is subject to any special limitations on use contained in the applicable schedule (noted with a "u" in the small order exemption columns of Appendices A, B and C);

(4) Acceptance is subject to the filing of a special small order certificate when required by the applicable schedule (noted with a "c" in the small order columns of Appendices A and C).

(5) Material allocated for a particular purpose (other than inventory) must be used for that purpose and not under this exemption, unless changing circumstances or expiration of the authorization to use make it impractical or impossible to use the material for the original purpose.

(6) An operating unit need not consider the purchases or allocations of other units in determining whether it comes within this exemption, if the unit normally buys separately and has not changed its practice to come within this provision.

Territorial and Import-Export Provisions

(q) Territorial limitations. This order applies only to acts occurring within the continental United States (the forty-eight States and the District of Columbia), and deliveries across the borders of the continental United States shall constitute imports and exports for the purpose of this order. This provision may, however, be expressly modified in the applicable schedule.

(r) Imports. Application and authorization under this order shall not be required for importation of an Appendix A, B and C material into the United States, acceptance of delivery of the material by the consignee and delivery by such consignee to, and acceptance by, any person who purchased or contracted to purchase the material prior to its importation. No person who acquires an Appendix A, B or C material under this exemption shall use it after the initial allocation date except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application under this order. Nothing contained in this order limits the requirements of General Imports Order M–63.

(s) Exports. (1) No supplier shall export or deliver for export on Appendix A, B or C material after the initial allocation date except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board upon application under this order, or except to fill exempt small orders. A producer who is also an exporter shall treat the export part of his operations as a separate entity for the purpose of this order. An exporter applying on Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600) for allocation and to the Foreign Economic Administration for an export license for the same material subject to this order, shall file both sets of applications together with the Foreign Economic Administration.

(2) Authorized deliveries for export must be made within the authorized period, unless the exporter notifies the supplier and the War Production Board in writing that delivery must be postponed to a later specific period, in which case the limitation of duration of authorization in paragraph (t) is automatically waived, subject to any special directions from the War Production Board. After an exporter has accepted an authorized delivery for export he may export the material at any time to the destination for which allocation was made without further application or authorization under this order.

(3) Customers located and ordering for delivery outside of the continental United States need not file small order certificates which might otherwise be required under this order.

(4) An exporter (meaning any supplier located in the continental United States) who has or expects to have exempt small orders from customers located and ordering for delivery outside of the continental United States, may place a consolidated purchase order for the required material accompanied by a statement signed by an authorized official: "For exempt small orders outside continental United States—Ref: M–300". The supplier receiving the exporter's consolidated order with this statement may fill it from quantities of material which, upon his application, have been allocated by the War Production Board specifically for "Exporters, paragraph (s) (4) of M–300". The exporter may accept delivery of the material without further certification, application or authorization, and may deliver it only to customers located and ordering in exempt small order quantities for delivery outside of the continental United States.

Duration of Authorizations

(t) Duration of authorization for delivery. If it is not practicable for a supplier to make all deliveries in the allocation period for which authorized, he may complete them as early as practicable in the next month. However, authorization shall terminate if the purchaser fails to place his order before the end of the allocation period or if the purchaser requires postponement of delivery beyond 10 days after the allocation period. When authorization to deliver is received before the specified allocation period, advance delivery may be made if it does not delay previously authorized deliveries.

(u) Duration of authorization for acceptance of delivery. A purchaser may accept delivery before or after the allocation period but shall notify the War Production Board and hold the material intact subject to direction from the War Production Board if he knows or has reason to believe that the shipment was made before authorization for delivery has been received or after the authorization for delivery had expired.

(v) Duration of authorization for use. Authorization for use on Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600) shall be valid from the time it is received until the end of the month following the allocation period for which the authorization was issued. The applicable schedule may extend this period. Any unused portion remaining thereafter shall not be used for any purpose until further authorized or directed by the War Production Board. This order does not limit duration of authorization for use of materials not allocated on Form WPB–2945.

Action by War Production Board

(w) Individual actions. In addition to regular allocations under this order, the War Production Board may at any time issue special directions to any person with respect to:

(1) Use, delivery or acceptance of delivery of an Appendix A, B or C material; or

(2) Production or processing of an Appendix A, B or C material; or

(3) Preparation and filing of forms and certificates required by this order or by its schedules, subject to approval by the Bureau of the Budget when required by Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Miscellaneous Provisions

(x) Rules governing disposition of materials. After the initial allocation date a person may use or deliver Appendix A, B or C materials only as follows:

(1) He may use material in accordance with specific written authorization, subject to the limitations in paragraph (v) on duration of authorizations for use on Form WPB–2945.

(2) He may use material as specified in a use certificate required to be filed with the purchase order for the material, unless advised by the supplier that a particular specified use has been denied or limited by the War Production Board.

(3) He may freely use stocks which he had on the initial allocation date if exempt under paragraph (n).

(4) He may use material within the quantity and use limitations of paragraph (p), without application or specific authorization.

(5) Pending receipt of material allocated for a particular purpose, he may use stocks on hand for that purpose but must replace the stocks upon receipt of the allocated material.

(6) He must obtain specific authorization under this order for use of material which cannot be used as described above. This includes material allocated for inventory and material received under Priorities Regulation 13, unless used in small quantities under paragraph (p). Application for authorization to use this material may be made on Form WPB–2945 or by letter, containing the same information as to quantity, grade and proposed use which would have to be given when applying for the material from a supplier.

(7) If he is a supplier he may deliver material only as authorized by or pursuant to this order. If he is not a supplier he may deliver material in accordance with Priorities Regulation 13, without application or specific authorization under this order for the delivery or its acceptance.

(y) Other provisions—(1) Toll arrangements. In the case of any toll arrangement where raw materials are converted into any Appendix A, B or C material by any person for the owner of the raw materials, the owner shall be considered the producer for the purpose of applications and authorizations under this order, and the Appendix A, B or C material may be delivered to him without restriction. However, no supplier may process on toll agreement any Appendix A, B or C material which the supplier previously delivered under small order exemption.

(2) Laboratories. This order is subject to the provisions of Supplementary Order P–135–a, which contains optional provisions for filing of small order and end use certificates by laboratories ordering reagent chemicals, and for acceptance by laboratories of small order deliveries of reagent chemicals.

(3) Equivalent quantities. The provisions of this order relate to quantities of material and not to the identity of any particular lot of material.

(4) Full container adjustments. A specifically authorized delivery (not including an exempt small order delivery) may be increased to the extent necessary to avoid shipping partly filled containers, if a container in the nearest practicable size is used. The person accepting overshipment shall hold the excess material as an advance shipment on subsequent allocations, and shall use it only for the purpose authorized for the subsequent allocation against which it is credited, or shall hold it in inventory subject to further directions from the War Production Board.

(5) Brokers and sales agents. Application and specific authorization shall not be required for the participation by a broker and sales agent in either of the following cases: (i) When material is ordered through a broker or sales agent and is to be delivered by the supplier direct to the purchaser and not to the broker or sales agent for redelivery to the purchaser; (ii) When material is sold by a supplier through an agent who submits the customers' purchase orders to the supplier for approval.

In either of these cases, the purchaser shall furnish the broker or sales agent with the necessary application forms or certificate, which the broker or sales agent shall transmit to the supplier. The supplier shall then apply for authorization to deliver as if the order had been placed directly with him. Similarly, exempt small orders may be transmitted to the supplier and filled in accordance with paragraph (o) as if placed directly with the supplier.

(6) Applicability of regulations. This order, its schedules, and all transactions affected thereby, are subject to all applicable War Production Board regulations, as amended from time to time.

(7) Approval of reporting requirements. Forms WPB–2945, 2946, 2947 and 3442, and the instructions in this order and in its Appendices and schedules for applications and reports regarding materials subject to this order, have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(8) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or of its schedules or who, in connection with such order or schedule, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priority assistance.

(9) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Chemical Bureau, Washington 25, D. C.; Ref: M–300—(specify applicable schedule number).

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

APPENDICES A, B AND C

Lists of materials with outline of allocation requirements.[1] These appendices are issued and printed separately.

APPENDIX D—USE CERTIFICATES—GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

(1) Each person required to file a use certificate with a purchase order for material subject to this order shall furnish the supplier with a certified statement of proposed use of the material in substantially the following form, either placed on or attached to the purchase order:

(Statement of quantity of listed material required for each specified product and end use—see instructions in the applicable schedule and the instructions in paragraphs (10) and (11) of Appendix E for description of proposed use.)

USE CERTIFIED—REF. M–300

Name of purchaser

By: ---
(Signature and title of duly authorized officer)

(2) In the event two or more end uses are involved in a single purchase order, the amount of the material required for each use shall be listed as a separate item. Each item shall bear an identifying number so that it will be possible for the supplier to advise his customer by purchase order number and item number as to the action taken in the supplier's application for authorization to make delivery.

(3) A written purchase order placed by any department or agency of the United States Government pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941 (Lend-Lease Act) shall constitute a use certificate for the purpose of this order, if the purchase order specifies the Lend-Lease contract or requisition number.

(4) A certified statement on Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600), or on any equivalent form, of quantities of material ordered for each intended product and end use, shall constitute a use certificate for the purpose of this order.

(5) The special certificate specified in Supplementary Order P–135–a may be used by laboratories when applicable instead of the above certificate.

(6) The standard form of certificate in Priorities Regulation 7 may be used instead of the above form of certificate if accompanied by the statement of proposed use.

APPENDIX E—FORMS WPB–2945, 2946 AND 2947—GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

CUSTOMERS' FORMS

Customers' Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600). Each person requiring specific authorization to use or accept delivery of a material subject to this order shall file application on Form WPB–2945 in the manner prescribed therein, subject to the following general instructions:

(1) Where to obtain copies. Copies may be obtained at local field offices of the War Production Board.

(2) Special instructions in schedules. The applicable schedule may contain special instructions for applying for the particular material, supplementing or modifying the following general instructions.

(3) When application is required. Application for specific authorization is required for use or acceptance of delivery during any allocation period of a quantity exceeding the small order exemption in Column 5 of Appendix A, or of a quantity specified in Column 3 of Appendix C, or for use of an Appendix A, B or C material which has previously been allocated for a different purpose or for inventory.

(4) Time of filing. Application for regular allocation shall be filed or mailed in time to reach the War Production Board on or before the date specified in Column 3 of Appendix A or C.

(5) Number of copies and where to file. Prepare five copies (a continuation sheet for Table 1 is available), retain one, send one (reverse side blank) to the supplier, if any, and send three copies (original certified) to the War Production Board, Chemicals Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Reference M–300-----(specify schedule number). Exporters, however, when applying to the Foreign Economic Administration for an export license for material for which War Production Board allocation is requested, shall send both sets of applications to the Foreign Economic Administration.

(6) Applications regarding suppliers and inventory. When applying only for use from inventory, specify "Inventory" as supplier in the heading. When applying for material from other companies as suppliers, file separate sets of applications for each supplying company. A combined application may be made to accept delivery and use material from another company as supplier, and to use an additional quantity from inventory. It will be presumed that applications which name another company in the heading as supplier relate only to acceptance of delivery and use of material from that supplier, unless it is clearly indicated that part of the application relates to use of an additional quantity from inventory. This may be indicated by specifying the requested quantity from inventory separately in Column 2 (quantities requested) and by specifying in Column 10 (Remarks) "From Inventory").

(7) Heading. Fill in as indicated, specifying as WPB Order No., "M–300-----" (specify Schedule number).

(8) Table I. Specify in the heading the allocation period for which authorization for acceptance of delivery or use is sought.

(9) Columns 1 and 2. Fill in as indicated, subject to the instructions in the applicable Schedule.

(10) Column 3. Specify the proposed primary use of the material sought in terms of the proposed primary product to be made from the material (as indicated in the applicable Schedule), or specify the use as for resale, export or inventory of the requested material in original form.

(11–a) Column 4. Fill in as follows:

Opposite any primary product in Column 3 which is subject to allocation, specify in Column 4 only the allocation order number (and Schedule number, if allocated under General Allocation Order M–300).

Opposite any primary product in Column 3 which is not under allocation, specify in Column 4 the end use accurately and briefly, giving Army or Navy specification or contract numbers, or Lend-Lease requisition and contract numbers, when practicable.

Opposite "resale" in Column 3, suppliers shall write into Column 4 "upon further authorization" or "for exempt small orders". Suppliers who resell in both large and small quantities should specify "upon further authorization" for the total quantity ordered, and should apply on their suppliers' Form WPB–2946 or 2947 for authorization to deliver an aggregate quantity for small orders.

Opposite "export" in Column 3 specify in Column 4 the name of the individual company or governmental agency to whom, or for whose account, the material will be exported, the country of destination, and the governing export license or contract number, unless Lend-Lease, in which case merely specify the Lend-Lease contract and requisition number.

Opposite "inventory" in Column 8, write into Column 4, "subject to further authorization".

[NOTE: Paragraph (11–a) formerly (11) redesignated June 6, 1944.]

(11–b) Protective coatings. When materials are sought for protective coatings columns 3 and 4 may be filled out in accordance with the Primary Products and End Use List for the Protective Coatings Industry (WPBI–217).

(12) Columns 9 and 10. Leave blank, except for remarks, if any, in Column 10.

(13) Tables II, III and IV. Fill in as indicated except as otherwise provided in the applicable schedule. In Columns 15 and 16, report entire physical inventory, whether or not subject to valid authorization or exemption on the dates specified. Suppliers who both sell and consume the material shall keep separate accounts of their sales and consumption inventories, reporting only the latter on customers' Form WPB–2945.

(14) Table V. Fill in only when and as required by the applicable schedule.

SUPPLIERS' FORMS

Suppliers' Forms WPB–2946 and 2947 (formerly PD–601 and 602). Each supplier requiring specific authorization to make delivery shall file application on Form WPB–2946 for an Appendix A material and on Form WPB–2947 for an Appendix B or C material, in the manner prescribed in these forms, subject to the following general instructions:

(15) Where to obtain copies. Copies may be obtained at local field offices of the War Production Board.

(16) Special instructions in schedule. The applicable schedule may contain special instructions for applications to deliver the particular material, supplementing or modifying the following general instructions.

(17) When application to deliver is required. Application for specific authorization to deliver an Appendix A, B or C material is required for any delivery by a supplier after the initial allocation date which is not subject to small order exemption.

A supplier who wishes to divert to his own use any part of his own production shall list his own name on the applicable supplier's form as in the case of any other customer, in addition to applying on customer's Form WPB–2945 (formerly PD–600) when so required.

(18) Time of filing. Applications for regular allocation shall be filed or mailed in time to reach the War Production Board on or before the date specified in Column 4 of Appendix A or Column 3 of Appendix B or Column 6 of Appendix C.

(19) Number of copies and where to file. Unless otherwise instructed in the applicable schedule, prepare four copies, retain one, and send three copies (original certified) to the War Production Board, Chemicals Bureau, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–300– —— (specify schedule number).

(20) Number of sets. File a separate set of forms for each separately located plant or distributing point, unless otherwise expressly provided in the applicable schedule.

(21) Heading. Fill in as indicated, specifying as WPB Order No. "M–300 ——". (specify schedule number).

(22) Table I. Fill in as indicated on Form WPB–2946 (formerly PD–601). List customers alphabetically, as far as practicable. On Form WPB–2947 (formerly PD–602) group customers according to end use and list alphabetically within each group, as far as practicable. If the applicant supplier wishes to use any part of his own production, he should list his own name as a customer on his supplier's form as in the case of any other customer. An aggregate quantity may be requested for exempt small orders without listing individual customers' names. In the case of Appendix C materials specify "WPB–2945" without further use description in Column 1–a of Form WPB–2947 opposite the names of customers who have filed copies of Form WPB–2945 with the applicant supplier.

(23) Table II. Fill in as indicated. In Column 10 and 13 report stocks on physical inventory basis regardless of whether any part of the stock is subject to valid authorization to deliver on the date specified. In Column 16, specify a quantity no greater than what is estimated will be available for allocation during the requested allocation period, taking into account undelivered balances on still valid prior authorizations.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[General Allocation Order M–300, Direction 1]

CHEMICALS AND ALLIED PRODUCTS—APPLICABILITY OF M–300 TO OTHER ORDERS

The following direction is issued pursuant to General Allocation Order M–300:

All orders which require applications to be filed on Form WPB–2945, 2946 or 2947 (PD–600, 601 or 602) and to be addressed to the Chemicals Bureau, Division or Branch, are subject to the following provision of Order M–300:

(a) Paragraph (a) (4), regarding small order exports.

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S–558]

GEORGE T. SELLERS' SONS

William S. Horst, doing business as George T. Sellers' Sons, is engaged in the business of buying and selling plumbing and heating equipment and hardware at Gap, Pennsylvania.

During the period from February 5 to December 31, 1943, he made seventeen deliveries of new metal plumbing and heating equipment totaling $9,523 to ultimate consumers, on orders which did not bear preference ratings and which were not within any of the excepted sales under General Limitation Order L–79. These acts constituted violations of General Limitation Order L–79. Between August 21 and December 31, 1943, he applied a preference rating of AA–5–MRO P–84 on orders for plumbing and heating equipment totaling $4,206 in amount, without first securing from the consumers the certification required by Preference Rating Order P–84, and in violation of the order. He was grossly negligent in failing to find out what restrictions were imposed by War Production Board orders governing these transactions.

These violations of General Limitation Order L–79 and Preference Rating Order P–84 have diverted scarce materials to uses not authorized by the War Production Board, and have hampered and impeded the war effort of the United States. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered, that:

§ 1010.558 Suspension Order No. S–558. (a) William S. Horst, doing business as George T. Sellers Sons, or otherwise, his and its successors or assigns, are hereby prohibited from accepting delivery of or receiving any new plumbing and heating equipment as defined in or governed by General Limitation Order L–79, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Deliveries of material to William S. Horst, doing business as George T. Sellers' Sons, or otherwise, his or its successors or assigns, shall not be accorded priority over deliveries under any other contract or order, and no preference ratings shall be assigned, applied or extended to such deliveries by means of preference rating certificates, preference rating orders, general preference orders or any other orders or regulations of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(c) No allocation, including allotments, shall be made to William S. Horst, doing business as George T. Sellers' Sons, or otherwise, his or its successors or assigns, of any material or product the supply or distribution of which is governed by any order or regulation of the War Production Board, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve William S. Horst, doing business as George T. Sellers' Sons, or otherwise, his or its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except in so far as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(e) This order shall take effect June 6, 1944, and shall expire September 6, 1944.

Issued this 31st day of May 1944.

By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1029—FARM MACHINERY

[Limitation Order L-257, Direction 3]

EX-QUOTA PRODUCTION IN SMALL PLANTS FROM SURPLUS MATERIALS

The following direction is issued pursuant to Limitation Order L-257:

(a) What this direction does. This direction removes the quota restrictions of Order L-257 for any person (whether or not he is a "producer" as defined in paragraph (b) (1) of L-257), who can make farm machinery and equipment or repair parts in a "small plant" from surplus materials or materials which he can get with a rating of AA-4.

(b) Conditions on ex-quota production. You may make any item of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts without regard to quotas if you qualify under all of the following conditions:

(1) Small plant. You must make it in a plant employing and continuing to employ 100 production workers or less (50 or less in the critical West Coast labor areas of San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle). In addition, if your plant is in one of the above West Coast areas, or in any other Group #1 Labor Market Area where an Area Production Urgency Committee has been established, its total employment of production workers must not be increased by reason of any production under this direction.

(2) Surplus materials. You must make the item entirely from materials needing no allotments and no other priorities assistance higher than a rating of AA-4. Under this condition, you may use materials and components which you can buy with that rating. You may also use materials and components which you buy pursuant to a "special sale" under Priorities Regulation 13 (i. e., a sale of material by a person who does not, in the regular course of his business, sell the material in that form), as well as used materials and components. You may also use surplus material and components from your own inventory if they have been reported as such in detail to your WPB field office and you get written WPB permission to use them. You may not use any material or components in your inventory obtained under allotments or preference ratings (higher than AA-4) for the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment or related repair parts.

(c) Priorities assistance. If you need priorities assistance to get any non-controlled materials or components for production under this direction, a rating of AA-4 is hereby assigned for that purpose. You may not use any allotment to get any controlled materials or Class A products which may be needed.

(d) Scheduling production and delivery. You may schedule the production of any items you make under this direction as if the orders placed with you for these items bore a rating of AA-2. If you do not need to have an approved production schedule under paragraph (e) of Order L-257, you may also deliver the items without regard to orders rated AA-2x or lower. If you have an approved production schedule under that paragraph, you must indicate any additional production under this direction by filing separate revised schedules.

(e) Appeals. If you want an exception from the provisions of paragraph (b) (1) regarding increases in employment, you may appeal under paragraph (j) of Order L-257.

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

Recording Secretary.

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L-248 as Amended June 7, 1944]

COMMERCIAL DISHWASHERS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of iron, steel and other metals for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3288.61 General Limitation Order L-248—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Commercial dishwasher" means any new mechanical device designed for washing dishes, cutlery, glassware or kitchen utensils in establishments where food is prepared for consumption or sale on the premises. The term does not include dishwashers designed for domestic use.

(2) "Ultimate consumer" means any person who uses a commercial dishwasher for washing dishes, cutlery, glassware and kitchen utensils.

(3) [Deleted June 7, 1944]

(4) [Deleted June 7, 1944]

(5) "Copper base alloy" means any alloy metal in the composition of which the percentage of copper metal by weight equals or exceeds 40% of the total weight of the alloy. It shall include alloy metal produced from scrap.

(b) Restrictions on production. (1) No person shall produce any commercial dishwashing equipment except:

(i) For delivery to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration; or

(ii) As authorized by the War Production Board on Form GA-1850.

(2) The restrictions of paragraph (b) (1) do not apply to the production of repair and replacement parts. However, no person shall produce repair or replacement parts in excess of the quantity required to maintain a minimum practicable working inventory.

(3) A person wishing to produce commercial dishwashing equipment which will not be delivered to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration, should apply for authorization by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: L-248. This letter should give all pertinent information with respect to proposed production. Where the applicant will need controlled materials in order to produce the equipment, the letter requesting authorization should be accompanied by application on Form CMP-4B for the controlled materials.

(4) Production will be authorized so that the total production will not exceed the approved War Production Board program and so that the production in any one plant, or labor requirements therefor, will not interfere with war production in that plant, or in any other plant located in the same area. This program calls in each calendar quarter for production by the industry as a whole of not more than 23% of the aggregate production of the industry in the year 1941, in addition to production of repair and replacement parts and of equipment to be delivered to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration. Individual authorizations will be issued in amounts sufficient to carry out this program.

(c) Restrictions on delivery. No manufacturer, distributor, or dealer may deliver or accept delivery of new commercial dishwashers except as follows:

(1) To fill orders of or for ultimate delivery to the Army,[1] Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration, or to any agency of the United States Government placing orders for equipment to be delivered to, or for the account of, any other country under the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act), or to fill orders authorized by the Maritime Commission on Form WPB-646.

(2) For approved installation in a building or project authorized by any order of the P-19 series on Form CMPL-224 or Form GA-1456, or in the P-55 series on Form WPB-2896.

(3) As approved by the War Production Board on Form WPB-1319. The ultimate consumer should apply to the Plumbing and Heating Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., on this form, describing the equipment to be delivered. The War Production Board will return a copy to him with its approval or denial of the application indicated. If approval is granted, the ultimate consumer may certify by endorsement on his purchase order in the standard form prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7, adding the serial number of authorization on Form WPB-1319 he has received, or, if he prefers, he may certify as follows:

The War Production Board has authorized me to accept delivery on this order, under the terms of Order L-248 (and L-182) with which I am familiar. Delivery approved on Form WPB-1319, serial number ----------

---
(Consumer)

A dealer or distributor receiving an order so certified may obtain delivery of equipment to fill the order if he endorses a similar certificate unless he knows or has reason to believe it to be false. A dealer or distributor who wants to buy for inventory must also apply on Form WPB-1319, filed with the Plumbing and Heating Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., indicating the manufacturer of the product he wishes to buy. If his application is approved, the procedure to be followed is the same as set forth above with respect to consumers' applications except that he may buy only the product of the manufacturer indicated. Applications for equipment under this order and Order L-182 may be made on a single Form WPB-1319.

(4) Delivery of repair parts may be made as limited in Order L-79.

(5) A dealer or distributor may make delivery to another dealer or distributor or to a manufacturer.

(d) Delivery of repair and replacement parts. Nothing in this order shall prevent the delivery of repair or replacement parts for commercial dishwashers.

(e) Simplified practices. No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any commercial dishwasher designed for washing cutlery, glassware or kitchen utensils exclusively. No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any other type of commercial dishwasher except in accordance with the specifications and practices given below in this paragraph. However, this paragraph does not revoke or modify the terms of any appeal granted under this order.

(1)

Minimum capacity (dishes per hour)	Maximum content exclusive of motor, switches and wiring (pounds)		Maximum motor size (h. p.)
	Iron and steel	Copper base alloy
1,500	800	18	¾
3,500	900	22	2
5,000	1,150	35	3

(2) Body (hood and tanks) shall be manufactured of not heavier than 14 gauge black iron or 14 gauge galvanized iron.

(3) No thermostatic controls shall be used.

(4) Spray pipes, feed pipes, and other piping shall be galvanized iron.

(5) To the extent that copper base alloy castings are permitted by this order, the alloy shall be of a type and grade in the production of which the use of refined copper or refined tin is not necessary.

(6) No metal other than iron, steel or copper base alloy shall be used, except zinc for coating or spraying, and metal necessary for assembling or installing.

(f) Exceptions from simplified practices. None of the restrictions in paragraph (e) shall apply to commercial dishwashers manufactured to specifications of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States for use on ships.

(g) Reports. Every manufacturer of any commercial dishwashers who has an inventory of such equipment, either new or used, shall execute and file with the War Production Board on or before the 10th day of each calendar quarter a report on Form WPB-1509 (formerly PD-638), which may be obtained from the nearest field office of the War Production Board. Reports under this order and Order L-182 may be made on a single Form WPB-1509. The Bureau of the Budget has approved the reporting requirements of this order in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(h) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of all the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(i) Applicability of other orders. Insofar as any other order issued, or to be issued hereafter, limits the production or delivery of commercial dishwashers to a greater extent than the limits imposed by this order, the restrictions in such other order shall govern unless otherwise specified therein.

(j) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form WPB-1477 (formerly PD-500) with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(k) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington (25), D. C., Ref: L-248.

(l) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing and using, materials under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Effective date. This order, as amended, shall take effect July 1, 1944.

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L-182, as Amended June 7, 1944]

COMMERCIAL COOKING AND FOOD AND PLATE WARMING EQUIPMENT

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of certain critical materials used in the production of commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3288.46 General Limitation Order L-182—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

[1] Under Interpretation 1 to the preceding version of this order, material for Army Pre-Flight training schools, to be owned privately and not by the Army, could not be delivered without War Production Board approval. This is still true.

(1) "Commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment" means new equipment (except equipment specially designed to use electricity as the heating agent) designed for the heating of kitchen utensils or plates, or for the cooking or baking of food for consumption or sale on the premises in which the equipment is located. It does not include cooking appliances for household use. It does include, but is not limited to, such items as the following:

Bakers.
Broilers.
Fryers.
Griddles.
Grills.
Hot plates.
Ovens (except built-in types).
Ranges.
Roasters.
Steamers.
Toasters.
Urns.
Warmers.

It also includes new steam-jacketed kettles, regardless of any use to which they may be put, which are designed to use steam at working pressures of less than 90 pounds per square inch, except enamel and glass lined kettles specifically designed for use by the chemical and pharmaceutical industry for the rendering of oils and fats.

(2) "Ultimate consumer" means any person who uses commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment for the heating of kitchen utensils or plates, or for the cooking or baking of food for consumption or sale.

(b) Restrictions on production. (1) No person shall produce any commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment listed on Schedule I to this order. No person shall produce any other commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment except:

(i) For delivery to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration; or

(ii) As authorized by the War Production Board on Form GA-1850.

(2) The restrictions of paragraph (b) (1) do not apply to the production of repair and replacement parts, including repair and replacement parts for equipment listed on Schedule I. However, no person shall produce repair or replacement parts in excess of the quantity required to maintain a minimum practicable working inventory.

(3) A person wishing to produce commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment which will not be delivered to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration, should apply for authorization by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., Reference L-182. This letter should give all pertinent information with respect to proposed production. Where the applicant will need controlled materials in order to produce the equipment, the letter requesting authorization should be accompanied by application on Form CMP-4B for the controlled materials.

(4) Production will be authorized so that the total production will not exceed the approved War Production Board program and so that the production in any one plant, or labor requirements therefor, will not interfere with war production in that plant, or in any other plant located in the same area. This program calls in each calendar quarter for production by the industry as a whole of not more than 18% of the aggregate production of the industry in the year 1941, in addition to production of repair and replacement parts and of equipment to be delivered to or for the account of the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration. Individual authorizations will be issued in amounts sufficient to carry out this program.

(c) Restrictions on delivery. No manufacturer, distributor or dealer may deliver or accept delivery of new commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment except as follows:

(1) To fill orders of or for ultimate delivery to the Army,[1] Navy, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration, or to any agency of the United States Government placing orders for equipment to be delivered to or for the account of any other country under the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act), or to fill ship chandlers' or marine distributors' orders authorized by the Maritime Commission on Form WPB-646 and to fill orders for equipment obtained by ship chandlers or marine distributors by the use of Form WPB-646 for delivery only to persons as authorized by that form.

(2) For approved installation in a building or project authorized by any order of the P-19 series on Form CMPL-224 or Form GA-1456, or in the P-55 series on Form WPB-2896.

(3) As appproved by the War Production Board on Form WPB-1319. The ultimate consumer should apply to the Plumbing and Heating Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. on this form, describing the equipment to be delivered. The War Production Board will return a copy to him with its approval or denial of the application indicated. If approval is granted, the ultimate consumer may certify by endorsement on his purchase order in the standard form prescribed in Priorities Regulation 7, adding the serial number of authorization on Form WPB-1319 he has received, or, if he prefers, he may certify as follows:

The War Production Board has authorized me to accept delivery on this order, under the terms of Order L-182 (and L-248) with which I am familiar. Delivery approved on Form WPB-1319, serial number _____.

(Consumer)

[1] Under Interpretation 1 to the preceding version of this order, material for Army Pre-Flight training schools, to be owned privately and not by the Army, could not be delivered without War Production Board approval. This is still true.

A dealer or distributor receiving an order so certified may obtain delivery of material to fill the order if he endorses a similar certificate on his purchase order. Any person may deliver in reliance on such a certificate unless he knows or has reason to believe it to be false. A dealer or distributor who wants to buy for inventory must also apply on Form WPB-1319, filed with the Plumbing and Heating Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., indicating the manufacturer of the product he wishes to buy. If his application is approved, the procedure to be followed is the same as set forth above with respect to consumers' applications, except that he may buy only the product of the manufacturer indicated. Applications for material under this order and Order L-248 may be made on a single Form WPB-1319.

(4) Delivery of repair parts may be made as limited in Order L-79.

(d) Exceptions. The restrictions of paragraph (c) do not apply to griddles, hot plates, grills and coffee urns (1 to 3 gallon), provided the net weight of each does not exceed 50 lbs., nor do they apply to coffee makers of any weight. Also, the restrictions of this paragraph do not apply to deliveries by an ultimate consumer to a dealer, or by a dealer to another dealer or manufacturer.

(e) Reports. Every manufacturer of any commercial cooking and food and plate warming equipment who has an inventory of such equipment, either new or used, shall execute and file with the War Production Board on or before the 10th day of each calendar quarter a report on Form WPB-1509 (formerly PD-638), which may be obtained from the nearest field office of the War Production Board. Reports under this order and Order L-248 may be made on a single Form WPB-1509. The Bureau of the Budget has approved the reporting requirements of this order in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(f) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board as amended from time to time.

(g) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form WPB-1477 (formerly PD-500) with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(h) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, except appeals, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: L-182.

(i) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using materials under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(j) Effective date. This order, as amended, shall take effect July 1, 1944.

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

MILEAGE RATIONING: TIRE REGULATIONS FOR THE TERRITORY OF HAWAII

A rationale accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 1E is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 6.7 (c) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Transfers on vehicles. Unless prohibited by an order or regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration or the War Production Board a person may, without certificate, transfer a tire or tube as part of the equipment of a vehicle in conjunction with the transfer of such vehicle: Provided, however, That a tire or tube acquired in exchange for a certificate may be so transferred only after six (6) months of the acquisition of such tire or tube by the transferor, or, prior to the expiration of such period, upon the written authorization of the Director of the Office of Price Administration for the Territory of Hawaii. The Director may authorize a transfer in cases where in his judgment it shall not operate as an evasion of this order. No person shall accept the transfer of such tire or tube unless in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph.

This amendment shall become effective May 31, 1944.

PART 1340—FUEL

[MPR 189, Amdt. 22]

BITUMINOUS COAL SOLD FOR DIRECT USE AS BUNKER FUEL

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 189 is amended in the following respects:

1. In § 1340.313, a new paragraph (g) is added to read as follows:

(g) Maximum prices for deliveries of bituminous coal at United States ports on the Great Lakes and their connecting or tributary waters for direct use as bunker fuel. All such maximum prices are in net tons and are f. o. b. vessel.

(1) The maximum price for any grade or size of bunker coal delivered to cargo-carrying vessels directly through car unloading facilities at Lake Erie and Lake Ontario ports where cargo coal is loaded shall be $6.25.

Exception: For coal delivered by self-propelled fuel lighters, $6.75.

(2) The maximum price for any grade or size of run of pile or dock run bunker coal delivered to cargo-carrying vessels from facilities other than direct car unloading facilities at lower Lake Erie or Lake Ontario ports where cargo coal is loaded shall be $6.75.

Exceptions: For Chicago, South Chicago and Waukegan, Illinois, $7.00 for high volatile coals and $9.00 for District No. 7 low volatile nut and $9.70 for District No. 7 low volatile run of mine.

(3) The maximum price for any grade or size of dock-rescreened bunker coal delivered to cargo-carrying vessels from facilities other than direct car unloading facilities at lower Lake Erie or Lake Ontario ports shall be $7.25.

Exceptions: For Chicago, South Chicago and Waukegan, Illinois, $7.50.

(4) The maximum price for bunker coal delivered to cargo-carrying vessels from iron ore loading facilities at Lake Superior or Lake Michigan ports shall be:

$7.25 for dock run or run of pile coal;
$7.75 for any grade or size of coal rescreened at the coal loading dock.

(5) The maximum price for bunker coal for fishing and towing tugs, scows, barges, dredges and other floating equipment (except cargo-carrying vessels) for consumption thereon shall be the above applicable maximum price, plus 25 cents per ton.

(6) Permissible additions to the above prices. In addition to the above prices, the bunker supplier may add no more than 50 cents per net ton for wheeling and extra trimming or deliveries by truck.

(7) The provisions of §§ 1340.310 and 1340.313 (c) (2) (i) shall not apply to this paragraph (g).

2. In § 1340.313 (f) (7), the following sentence is added.

The provisions of §§ 1340.310 and 1340.313 (c) (1) (i) shall not apply to this paragraph (f).

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

[MPR 529,[1] Amdt. 1]

SECOND HAND PAPERBOARD SHIPPING CONTAINERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 529 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Commodity. This regulation establishes maximum prices for sales of second hand paperboard shipping containers. The term, "second hand paperboard shipping container," means any used corrugated or solid fibre paperboard shipping containers except fibre drums which is either:

(1) "Reusable," that is, can be used as a shipping container without being repaired, or

(2) "Repairable," that is, can be made reusable by repair or alteration, or

(3) "Reconditioned," that is, has been repaired or altered so as to be reusable.

Any used paperboard shipping container which is not reusable or repairable is wastepaper and is not a second hand paperboard shipping container. Any used container which has an outside surface tear or a hole in the fibre shall not be considered as a reusable or repairable container. Where a container is customarily knocked down flat before reuse, it shall not be considered either repairable or reusable until it has been opened and knocked down. All sales of used or second hand paperboard shipping containers to any person who uses wastepaper as a raw material in any manufacturing process are sales of wastepaper, regardless of the condition of the containers, unless such containers are sold to and used by such person for shipping purposes rather than as a raw material for fabrication into another product. Maximum prices for sales of wastepaper are determined under Maximum Price Regulation No. 30.[2]

This amendment shall become effective June 6, 1944.

FATS AND OILS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 11.11 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 11.11 Loose prime steam lard sold to processors located in basing points. Where loose prime steam lard is sold and delivered in tankcars or tanktrucks to a processor who is located within the corporate limits of any of the above basing points, and is delivered by the seller from a plant located within the railroad switching limits of the same basing point, the seller may add to the maximum prices hereinabove set forth the railroad switching charge incurred where delivery is in tankcars, or, where delivery is in tanktrucks, an amount, per pound, not greater than the sum that would be charged, per pound, by a railroad carrier for the most comparable switching movement of a tankcar containing 60,000 pounds.

PART 1361—SOFTWOOD LUMBER

[2d Rev. MPR 19,[1] Amdt. 3]

SOUTHERN PINE LUMBER

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Second Revised Maximum Price Regulation 19 is amended in the following respects:

1. In section 3, the last sentence in the first paragraph is amended to read as follows:

This means all lumber of the species included in the following definitions of shortleaf and longleaf yellow pine (the term lumber as used in this regulation includes mouldings):

2. In section 5 a new paragraph (f) is added as follows:

(f) Tally card requirement. Every person selling any Southern pine lumber for direct-mill shipment shall post within the freight car, truck, or other means of transport, a tally card showing the point of origin of the shipment and a complete description of the lumber contained in the shipment including the species, condition, working and the number of pieces of each grade, size and length. Any working, specification or extra which affects the maximum f. o. b. mill prices must be mentioned in the description.

3. In section 6, a new sentence is added at the end of paragraph (e) as follows:

This registration provision does not apply to distribution yards.

4. In section 7 (a), the last sentence is deleted.

5. In section 14 (b) a new subparagraph (3) is added as follows:

(3) Selling as specified lengths or widths a specific lot or shipment of lumber which is substantially equivalent to random lengths or widths, or reselling intact as specified lengths or widths a specific lot or shipment bought by the seller as standard or random lengths or widths, unless specifically permitted in this regulation. This prohibition shall not apply to shipments or deliveries which have been sorted out as to widths and lengths and then resold.

6. In section 14 (b), that part of subparagraph (11) beginning with the words "for example" is amended to read as follows: "for example, the buyer may order 1 x 4 x 12' No. 2 Common Shortleaf, priced at $38.00 per M'BM ripped to 1 x 2 x 12'. By buying the larger size ripped the price to the buyer is lower ($39.00) than it would have been had he ordered the 1 x 2 as such ($41.00). In this example the maximum price is $39.00".

7. Section 17 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) See Procedural Regulation No. 6[1] for adjustment provisions on certain government contracts and subcontracts.

8. In section 21 "Southern Pine Association" is corrected to read "Southern Pine Inspection Bureau".

9. In Table 4, footnote 3 is deleted.
10. In Table 6, footnote 2 is deleted.
11. In Table 7, footnote 9 is deleted.
12. In Table 17, footnote 3 is deleted.
13. In Table 19, footnote 2 is deleted.
14. In Table 21, footnote 9 is deleted.

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

PART 1404—RATIONING OF FOOTWEAR

[RO 17,[1] Amdt. 62]

SHOES

A rationale accompanying this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 17 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1.4 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Certain residents of Mexico may get special shoe stamps. (1) Any person who resides in Baja California, Mexico, within 90 kilometers of the border between Mexico and the United States, or in any other part of Mexico within 20 kilometers of the border, may apply for a special stamp to acquire shoes in the United States, if he meets the need requirements of section 1.5. The application shall be made by the applicant, or a duly authorized agent, on OPA Form R-1714, to the Board whose office is nearest his customary point of entry into the United States. One application form shall be filed for each applicant. The application must contain or be accompanied by all information needed to establish the applicant's eligibility. The applicant and the agent, if any, must appear before the Board in person. However, the Board may excuse the applicant's appearance if it finds that this requirement would cause him undue hardship. The application shall be accompanied by a currently valid "immigration document" for the applicant or one on which he is regularly listed or shall contain information necessary to show why he does not have, or is not listed on, such a document. If an "immigration document" is presented, it shall be returned by the Board to the applicant or his agent after the Board has examined it.

(2) If the application is accompanied by the required "immigration document", the Board may issue to the applicant one special shoe stamp (OPA Form R-1708A), if he meets the need requirements of section 1.5 and satisfies the other requirements of subparagraph (1). However, the Board may not issue to the applicant more than one special shoe stamp in any period between the opening validity date of one war ration shoe stamp and the opening validity date of the next war ration shoe stamp. If a second special shoe stamp is applied for in that period, the Board shall forward the application to the District Office together with the Board's recommendations and a statement that the required "immigration document" has been submitted.

(3) If the application is not accompanied by the required "immigration document", the Board shall not grant the application, but shall forward it to the District Office, together with the Board's recommendations.

(4) If the District Office finds with respect to an application forwarded to it under subparagraph (2) or (3) that the applicant satisfies the need requirements of section 1.5 and the provisions of subparagraph (1) and that he has a currently valid "immigration document" or is regularly listed on one, or that he is not entitled to have or be listed on one, the District Office shall approve the application and return it to the Board with instructions to issue the stamp. If the applicant is not entitled to have, or be listed on, an "immigration document", the District Office shall also instruct the Board to insert the word "waived" on the stamp.

(5) The Board shall insert on each stamp issued under this paragraph the word "Mexico", the date on which the stamp expires (which shall be 30 days from the date of issuance) and the serial number of the "immigration document", if any. The Board shall mark on the "immigration document" the letter "S" and the date of issuance of the stamp.

2. Section 2.7 (e) is added to read as follows:

(e) A dealer, before accepting a special shoe stamp marked "Mexico", shall compare the serial number of each shoe stamp with the corresponding number of each "immigration document" held by the consumer. The dealer may transfer shoes to the consumer only if the number on the special shoe stamp corresponds with the number on the "immigration document" unless the special shoe stamp is marked "waived."

3. Section 2.7 (f) is added to read as follows:

(f) Special shoe stamps issued to residents of Mexico and accepted by an establishment located in an area under the jurisdiction of a District Office located in Lubbock, Texas; San Antonio, Texas; Albuquerque, New Mexico; Phoenix, Arizona or San Diego, California, shall not be further negotiable by the establishment. The establishment may apply to the Board on OPA Form R-1704 for replacement of all such valid stamps that are received by the establishment in accordance with the provisions of this order. A special shoe stamp marked "Mexico" must be surrendered by any establishment described above to the Board within 30 days after the expiration date appearing on the stamp. The Board shall request the District Office to, and the District Office shall, issue a replacement certificate to the establishment on Form R-1705A, for the number of such valid stamps surrendered, which were received by the establishment in accordance with the provisions of this order.

4. Section 2.9 (a) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) If the stamp contains an issue date it is valid for 30 days thereafter.

5. Section 2.9 (c) is amended by adding the following:

"However, stamps marked 'Mexico' and received by an establishment within the jurisdiction of a District Office located in Lubbock, Texas; San Antonio, Texas; Albuquerque, New Mexico; Phoenix, Arizona, or San Diego, California, shall not be valid for deposit."

6. The definition of "immigration document" in section 3.13 is added to read as follows:

"Immigration document" means a Border Crossing Identification Card or Passport issued to a non-resident alien, bearing either a visa for entry into the United States or a notification showing that such a visa has been issued. It also includes a U. S. Citizen's Identification Card, passport, or other immigration papers issued to non-resident citizens for entry into Mexico.

This amendment shall become effective July 1, 1944.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[Rev. RO 13,[1] Amdt. 37]

PROCESSED FOODS

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Ration Order 13 is amended in the following respects:

1. Article XXV is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE XXV—ACQUISITION OF PROCESSED FOODS BY RESIDENTS OF MEXICO

SEC. 25.1 Residents of Mexico may acquire processed foods in the United States. (a) Any "consumer" who resides in Baja California, Mexico, within ninety kilometers of the border between Mexico and the United States, or in any other part of Mexico within twenty kilometers of that border, may apply for points to "acquire" "processed foods" in the United States. The application must be made in person on OPA Form R-183 (Revised), to the "board" whose office is nearest his customary point of entry into the United States. A single application must be made by the applicant for himself and for all members of his family unit (that is, for all persons living in his household who are related to him by blood, marriage, or adoption) who wish to acquire processed foods. An application may be made by a person under eighteen years of age only if he is the head of a household or is not a member of a family unit. However, if an applicant is unable to complete and sign the application or is unable to appear in person before the board, anyone may act for him if the board is satisfied that such person has been given authority to act as agent for the applicant in completing, signing, and presenting the application.

(b) The application must be completed and signed by the applicant or his agent and must show:

(1) The applicant's name, address and age;

(2) The names and ages of all consumers living in his household who are related to him by blood, marriage or adoption and who wish to acquire processed foods in the United States;

(3) The serial number of the applicant's "immigration document" and any immigration documents issued for use by the consumers named in the application. The applicant, or his agent must present all such immigration documents to the board at the time the application is made and shall also give any other information that the board may request. The immigration documents shall be returned by the board to the applicant or his agent as soon as the board has examined them.

(c) If the applicant complies with the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b), the board shall grant the application and shall issue ration cards (OPA Form R-184, Revised) for processed foods as provided in this article.

(d) A consumer who has previously applied on OPA Form R-183 for points to acquire processed foods in the United States is not required to make a new application on OPA Form R-183 (Revised) unless, since the date of his last application, there has been a change in the number or identity of the members of his household related to him by blood, marriage, or adoption who wish to acquire processed foods in the United States. The board will issue ration cards (OPA Form R-184, Revised) for processed foods to such a consumer at any time after July 1, 1944, without requiring a new registration, if the applicant or his agent appears in person at the board and surrenders the expired punch card (OPA Form R-184) issued to him under this article as it read before July 1, 1944, and presents any immigration document issued for use by the consumers named in the card. The immigration documents shall be returned by the board to the applicant or his agent as soon as the board has examined them. If any such punch card has been lost, destroyed or stolen, and the applicant has not received a duplicate card, the board may waive the requirement that such card must be surrendered.

(e) The monthly ration of processed foods for each consumer for whom the application is granted shall not exceed the number of points fixed by the district director for the area in which the applicant's board is located, as provided in paragraph (f) of this section.

(f) Each district director whose area includes a point of entry between Mexico and the United States, shall, on or before July 1, 1944, fix the number of points per month (in multiples of ten) which the respective boards may issue for each consumer for whom rations are granted for the acquisition of processed foods in the United States. The amount of such monthly ration may be changed at any time thereafter by such district director. However, in no event may the monthly ration exceed 50 points per month. In determining the amount of the monthly ration, the district director shall take into consideration the available supply of processed foods in the parts of Mexico adjacent to the customary points of entry in his district.

SEC. 25.2 Issuance of ration cards. (a) Ration cards (OPA Form R-184, Revised) for processed foods shall be issued for periods of three calendar months or less. All ration cards (OPA Form R-184, Revised) shall have an earliest renewal date, which shall be the first day after the expiration of the period for which the card is issued. A board may, in its discretion, issue ration cards for any period of time less than three months.

(b) The board shall issue one ration card (OPA Form R-184, Revised) for each consumer or group of consumers for whom an application has been granted. However, if the application is granted for more than four consumers, one additional ration card shall be issued for each additional four consumers or less. The board shall write in the place provided on such cards, the date on which the card is issued, the earliest renewal date and the name and serial number of the immigration documents of the applicant and all other consumers for whom the application is granted. Before issuing a ration card for processed foods, the board shall remove in horizontal strips, starting at the bottom of the card, the requisite number of coupons, so that the card, when issued, will contain coupons only for the number of points for which the application is granted, for the consumers whose names appear on the ration card. The board shall also write upon the immigration document of each consumer for whom rations are granted the letters "P. F." and the serial number of the ration card issued for him.

(c) If any consumer for whom a ration card has been issued under this article secures a new immigration document, such ration card may not be used to acquire processed foods in the United States until the applicant or his agent appears in person at the board and presents such ration card and the new immigration document. The board shall delete the serial number of the old immigration document and record in its place the serial number of the new immigration document. The person who records the serial number of the new immigration document must initial the change. He must at the same time record the serial number of the new immigration document on the application (OPA Form R-183 or OPA Form R-183, Revised) for that consumer. The board shall also write upon the new immigration document the letters "P. F." and the serial number of the ration card.

(d) A ration card for processed foods shall have no expiration date and may be used at any time by the consumer for whom it is issued or any member of his family unit for the acquisition of processed foods from any "processor", "wholesaler", "retailer", "country shipper" or "grower" in the United States.

(e) On or after the earliest renewal date of a ration card for processed foods, the applicant's board shall issue a new ration card (OPA Form R-184, Revised) if the applicant, or his agent appears in person at the board and returns the cards of the consumers for whom rations were previously issued. (However, if a previously issued card has been lost, destroyed, or stolen, the board may waive the requirement that such card must be returned.) He must also present the immigration document of each consumer for whom rations are requested. No new application (on OPA Form R-183, Revised) is needed for the issuance of ration cards to replace previously issued ration cards unless, since the date of the last application, there has been a change in the number or identity of the members of applicant's household related to him by blood, marriage or adoption who wish to acquire processed foods in the United States. Acceptance by the applicant of ration cards for succeeding periods shall constitute a representation by the applicant that the consumers for whom rations are requested are the same as those covered on the cards or cards previously issued by the board and that the number of such consumers has not been reduced. New ration cards will be issued for periods of three calendar months or less and no rations may be granted for any period of time which has elapsed since the earliest renewal date of any previously issued ration card.

SEC. 25.3 Issuance of ration cards to certain applicants by the district office. (a) Any consumer who resides in Mexico, within the area described in section 25.1 (a) who desires to acquire processed foods in the United States and who is not eligible for rations under any other provisions of this article, or who needs more processed foods than he can get with his ration card (OPA Form R-184, Revised) may apply on OPA Form R-183 (Revised) to the board nearest his customary point of entry into the United States for additional rations. The application must show why the applicant cannot receive a ration card under the other provisions of this article or why he needs more processed foods. A board may not act upon an application under this section, but shall send it, together with all other information received and its recommendations to the district office. If the district office finds that the applicant resides within the area described in section 25.1 (a) and that he does not have and cannot get an immigration document or that his health depends upon his getting more processed foods or that he needs more processed foods than the monthly ration fixed by the district director, it may approve the application and return it to the board with instructions for the issuance of such rations as may be directed by the district office. If the district office finds that the applicant does not have an immigration document it shall instruct the board to insert the word "waived" in the space provided for the serial number of the applicant's immigration document.

SEC. 25.4 Value and use of coupons by residents of Mexico. (a) Each coupon on a ration card (OPA Form R-184, Revised) is worth ten points and is good for use as provided in this article for an unlimited time by the consumer or consumers for whom it is issued. A resident of Mexico gives up points when he acquires processed foods in the United States by surrendering coupons from his ration card or tokens. Coupons must be given up at the time the processed foods are acquired and must be detached from the ration card (OPA Form R-184, Revised) in the presence of the person who is selling or tranferring the processed foods. Loose coupons may not be used by a resident of Mexico or any other person and they must not be accepted by the seller or transferor. If it is impossible to detach coupons exactly equal to the point value of the processed foods transferred because their point value is not an exact multiple of ten, coupons of the nearest higher point value must be detached and the transferor must return the excess number of points to the consumer in the form of tokens.

SEC. 25.5 How suppliers may replace inventory of processed foods transferred to residents of Mexico. (a) A processor, wholesaler, retailer, country shipper, or grower who gets coupons from a resident of Mexico in the way permitted by this article, may not deposit those coupons in his ration bank account or use them to acquire processed foods. He may only surrender such coupons, at any time, to the board for the area in which his establishment is located in exchange for a certificate equal to the point value of the surrendered coupons.

SEC. 25.6 Surrender of points by suppliers from whom processed foods were acquired before July 1, 1944. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, processor, country shipper or grower who was designated as a supplier on punch cards issued before July 1, 1944, to residents of Mexico, must surrender the total number of points he owes, if any, on or before July 10, 1944, to the board for the area in which he is located. (The total number of points which he owes is the total number of points given him by all certificates previously issued to him under this article as it read before July 1, 1944, less the point value of all processed foods transferred by him to residents of Mexico up to July 1, 1944.) He shall, at the same time, give to the board a written statement showing:

(1) The total point value of all such cards issued for the months of May and June 1944;

(2) The total number of unused points left on such cards; and

(3) The total number of points given to him by certificates issued under this article for the months of May and June 1944.

SEC. 25.7 Records of suppliers from whom processed foods were acquired before July 1, 1944. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, processor, country shipper or grower who was designated by an applicant as the supplier from whom processed foods were to be acquired before July 1, 1944, shall maintain and keep at his place of business the cards which he was required to make out for each such applicant before July 1, 1944.

SEC. 25.8 Records and reports by suppliers who transferred processed foods to residents of Mexico before July 1, 1943. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, processor, country shipper or grower to whom a certificate has been issued under this article prior to July 1, 1943, shall maintain and keep at his place of business a record showing the name of each applicant for whom he has received such certificate, the point value of each certificate and of all processed foods transferred against it and the dates of such transfers. Before the 10th day of July 1943, he must give to his board a written statement showing the total point value of all certificates received by him for June 1943 and the total point value of all transfers of processed foods made under such certificates during that month.

2. Section 27.1 (a) (31) is added to read as follows:

(31) "Immigration document", as used in Article XXV of this order, means a border crossing identification card or passport issued to a non-resident alien, bearing either a visa for entry into the United States or a notification showing that such a visa has been issued. It also includes a U. S. Citizen's Identification Card, passport, or other immigration papers issued to non-resident citizens of the United States for entry into Mexico.

This amendment shall become effective July 1, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[RO 16,[1] Amdt. 142]

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESE

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Article XXV is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE XXV—ACQUISITION OF FOODS COVERED BY THIS ORDER BY RESIDENTS OF MEXICO

SEC. 25.1 Residents of Mexico may acquire foods covered by this order in the United States. (a) Any "consumer" who resides in Baja California, Mexico, within ninety kilometers of the border between Mexico and the United States, or in any other part of Mexico within twenty kilometers of that border, may apply for points to "acquire" foods covered by this order in the United States. The application must be made in person on OPA Form R-183 (Revised), to the "board" whose office is nearest his customary point of entry into the United States. A single application must be made by the applicant for himself and for all members of his family unit (that is, for all persons living in his household who are related to him by blood, marriage, or adoption) who wish to acquire foods covered by this order. An application may be made by a person under eighteen years of age only if he is the head of a household or is not a member of a family unit. However, if an applicant is unable to complete and sign the application or is unable to appear in person before the board, anyone may act for him if the board is satisfied that such person has been given authority to act as agent for the applicant in completing, signing, and presenting the application.

(b) The application must be completed and signed by the applicant or his agent and must show:

(1) The applicant's name, address and age;

(2) The names and ages of all consumers living in his household who are related to him by blood, marriage or adoption and who wish to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States;

(3) The serial number of the applicant's "immigration document" and any immigration documents issued for use by the consumers named in the application. The applicant, or his agent must present all such immigration documents to the board at the time the application is made and shall also give any other information that the board may request. The immigration documents shall be returned by the board to the applicant or his agent as soon as the board has examined them.

(c) If the applicant complies with the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b), the board shall grant the application and shall issue ration cards (OPA Form R-185, Revised) for foods covered by this order as provided in this article.

(d) A consumer who has previously applied on OPA Form R-183 for points to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States is not required to make a new application on OPA Form R-183 (Revised) unless, since the date of his last application, there has been a change in the number or identity of the members of his houshold related to him by blood, marriage or adoption who wish to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States. The board will issue ration cards (OPA Form R-185, Revised) for foods covered by this order to such a consumer at any time after July 1, 1944, without requiring a new registration, if the applicant or his agent appears in person at the board and surrenders the expired punch card (OPA Form R-185) issued to him under this article as it read before July 1, 1944, and presents any immigration document issued for use by the consumers named in the card. The immigration documents shall be returned by the board to the applicant or his agent as soon as the board has examined them. If any such punch card has been lost, destroyed or stolen, and the applicant has not received a duplicate card, the board may waive the requirement that such card must be surrendered.

(e) The monthly ration of foods covered by this order for each consumer for whom the application is granted shall not exceed the number of points fixed by the district director for the area in which the applicant's board is located, as provided in paragraph (f) of this section.

(f) Each district director whose area includes a point of entry between Mexico and the United States, shall, on or before July 1, 1944, fix the number of points per month (in multiples of ten) which the respective boards may issue for each consumer for whom rations are granted for the acquisition of foods covered by this order in the United States. The amount of such monthly ration may be changed at any time thereafter by such district director. However, in no event may the monthly ration exceed 30 points per month. In determining the amount of the monthly ration, the district director shall take into consideration the available supply of foods covered by this order in the parts of Mexico adjacent to the customary points of entry in his district.

SEC. 25.2 Issuance of ration cards. (a) Ration cards (OPA Form R-185 Revised) for foods covered by this order shall be issued for periods of three calendar months or less. All ration cards (OPA Form R-185, Revised) shall have an earliest renewal date, which shall be the first day after the expiration of the period for which the card is issued. A board may, in its discretion, issue ration cards for any period of time less than three months.

(b) The Board shall issue one ration card (OPA Form R-185, Revised) for each consumer or group of consumers for whom an application has been granted. However, if the application is granted for more than four consumers, one additional ration card shall be issued for each additional four consumers or less. The board shall write in the place provided on such cards, the date on which the card is issued, the earliest renewal date and the name and serial number of the immigration documents of the applicant and all other consumers for whom the application is granted. Before issuing a ration card for foods covered by this order, the board shall remove in horizontal strips, starting at the bottom of the card, the requisite number of coupons, so that the card, when issued, will contain coupons only for the number of points for which the application is granted, for the consumers whose names appear on the ration card. The board shall also write upon the immigration document of each consumer for whom rations are granted the letters "M. F." and the serial number of the ration card issued for him.

(c) If any consumer for whom a ration card has been issued under this article secures a new immigration document, such ration card may not be used to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States until the applicant or his agent appears in person at the board and presents such ration card and the new immigration document. The board shall delete the serial number of the old immigration document and record in its place the serial number of the new immigration document. The person who records the serial number of the new immigration document must initial the change. He must at the same time record the serial number of the new immigration document on the application (OPA Form R-183 or OPA Form R-183, Revised) for the consumer. The board shall also write upon the new immigration document the letters "M. F." and the serial number of the ration card.

(d) A ration card for foods covered by this order shall have no expiration date and may be used at any time by the consumer for whom it is issued or any member of his family unit for the acquisition of foods covered by this order from any "retailer", "wholesaler", or "primary distributor" in the United States.

(e) On or after the earliest renewal date of a ration card for foods covered by this order, the applicant's board shall issue a new ration card (OPA Form R-185, Revised) if the applicant, or his agent appears in person at the board and returns the cards of the consumers for whom rations were previously issued. (However, if a previously issued card has been lost, destroyed, or stolen, the board may waive the requirement that such card must be returned.) He must also present the immigration document of each consumer for whom rations are requested. No new application (on OPA Form R-183, Revised) is needed for the issuance of ration cards to replace previously issued ration cards unless, since the date of the last application, there has been a change in the number or identity of the members of applicant's household related to him by blood, marriage or adoption who wish to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States. Acceptance by the applicant of ration cards for succeeding periods shall constitute a representation by the applicant that the consumers for whom rations are requested are the same as those covered on the card or cards previously issued by the board and that the number of such consumers has not been reduced. New ration cards will be issued for periods of three calendar months or less and no rations may be granted for any period of time which has elapsed since the earliest renewal date of any previously issued ration card.

SEC. 25.3 Issuance of ration cards to certain applicants by the district office. (a) Any consumer who resides in Mexico, within the area described in section 25.1 (a) who desires to acquire foods covered by this order in the United States and who is not eligible for rations under any other provisions of this article, or who needs more rations than he can get with his ration card (OPA Form R-185, Revised) may apply on OPA Form R-183 (Revised) to the board nearest his customary point of entry into the United States for additional rations. The application must show why the applicant cannot receive a ration card under the other provisions of this Article or why he needs more rations. A board may not act upon an application under this section but shall send it, together with all other information received and its recommendations, to the district office. If the district office finds that the applicant resides within the area described in section 25.1 (a) and that he does not have and cannot get an immigration document or that his health depends upon his getting more foods covered by this order or that he needs more foods than the monthly ration fixed by the district director, it may approve the application and return it to the board with instructions for the issuance of such rations as may be directed by the district office. If the district office finds that the applicant does not have an immigration document it shall instruct the board to insert the word "waived" in the space provided for the serial number of the applicant's immigration document.

SEC. 25.4 Value and use of coupons by residents of Mexico. (a) Each coupon on a ration card (OPA Form R-185, Revised) is worth ten points and is good for use as provided in this article for an unlimited time by the consumers for whom it is issued. A resident of Mexico gives up points when he acquires foods covered by this order in the United States by surrendering coupons from his ration card or tokens. Coupons must be given up at the time the foods are acquired and must be detached from the ration card (OPA Form R-185, Revised) in the presence of the person who is selling or transferring the foods. Loose coupons may not be used by a resident of Mexico or any other person and they must not be accepted by the seller or transferor. If it is impossible to detach coupons exactly equal to the point value of the foods transferred because their point value is not an exact mutiple of ten, coupons of the nearest higher point value must be detached and the transferor must return the excess number of points to the consumer in the form of tokens.

SEC. 25.5 How suppliers may replace inventory of foods covered by this order transferred to residents of Mexico. (a) A retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who gets coupons from a resident of Mexico in the way permitted by this article, may not deposit those coupons in his ration bank account or use them to acquire foods covered by this order. He may only surrender such coupons, at any time, to the board for the area in which his establishment is located in exchange for a certificate equal to the point value of the surrendered coupons.

SEC. 25.6 Surrender of points by suppliers from whom foods covered by this order were acquired before July 1, 1944. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who was designated as a supplier on punch cards issued before July 1, 1944, to residents of Mexico, must surrender the total number of points he owes, if any, on or before July 10, 1944, to the board for the area in which he is located. (The total number of points which he owes is the total number of points given him by all certificates previously issued to him under this article as it read before July 1, 1944, less the point value of all foods covered by this order transferred by him to residents of Mexico up to July 1, 1944.) He shall, at the same time, give to the board a written statement showing:

(1) The total point value of all such cards issued for the months of May and June 1944;

(2) The total number of unused points left on such cards; and

(3) The total number of points given to him by certificates issued under this article for the month of May and June 1944.

SEC. 25.7 Records of suppliers from whom foods covered by this order were acquired before July 1, 1944. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor who was designated by an applicant as the supplier from whom foods covered by this order were to be acquired before July 1, 1944, shall maintain and keep at his place of business the cards which he was required to make out for each such applicant before July 1, 1944.

SEC. 25.8 Records and reports by suppliers who transferred foods covered by this order to residents of Mexico before July 1, 1943. (a) Any retailer, wholesaler, or primary distributor to whom a certificate has been issued under this article prior to July 1, 1943, shall maintain and keep at his place of business a record showing the name of each applicant for whom he has received such certificate, the point value of each certificate and of all foods covered by this order transferred against it and the dates of such transfers. Before the 10th day of July, 1943, he must give to his board a written statement showing the total point value of all certificates received by him for June 1943 and the total point value of all transfers of foods covered by this order made under such certificates during that month.

2. The definition of "immigration document" is added as follows to the definitions in section 24.1 (a):

"Immigration document", as used in Article XXV of this order, means a border crossing identification card or passport issued to a non-resident alien, bearing either a visa for entry into the United States or a notification showing that such a visa has been issued. It also includes a U. S. citizen's identification card, passport or other immigration papers issued to non-resident citizens of the United States for entry into Mexico.

This amendment shall become effective July 1, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[RO 16,[1] Amdt. 143]

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESE

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. The second sentence of section 2.2 (b) is amended by inserting between the words "such foods" and the words "at any one time" the words "(other than foods which have a zero point value at the time of the loan)".

2. Section 2.7 (a) is amended by deleting the words "fresh fish, fresh milk, poultry" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "fresh milk".

3. Section 2.7 (b) (2) is amended by deleting the words "fresh fish, fresh milk, poultry" and inserting in lieu thereof "fresh milk".

4. Section 2.7 (b) (3) is amended by deleting the words "fresh fish, fresh milk, poultry" and inserting in lieu thereof "fresh milk".

5. Section 2.7 (b) (7) is amended by deleting the words "fresh fish and poultry, fresh milk," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "fresh milk".

6. Section 2.7 (d) is amended by deleting from the third sentence thereof the words "fresh fish, fresh milk, poultry" and inserting in lieu thereof "fresh milk".

7. The title of Article III is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE III—HOME PRODUCERS

NOTE: The limitations (including limitations on amounts of foods which may be transferred), restrictions, conditions, record-keeping and reporting requirements set forth in this Article III do not apply to foods covered by this order while they have a zero point value. For the purposes of this article, such foods are treated and may be transferred or acquired, just as if they were not rationed at all.

8. The first sentence of section 7.6 (f) is amended by inserting between the words "after March 28, 1943" and the words "without giving up points" the words "(other than those having a zero point value at the time he acquired them)".

9. Section 10.10 (a) is amended by deleting the word "However," at the beginning of the last sentence and by adding the following sentence at the end of the paragraph: "However, he need not give up points for pork, veal, lamb, mutton or for cuts of beef which have a zero point value or for cuts of beef which contain only beef which has a zero point value."

10. The title of Article XI is amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE XI—POINT FREE TRANSFERS

NOTE: The limitations, restrictions, conditions, record-keeping and reporting requirements set forth in this article XI do not apply to foods covered by this order while they have a zero point value. For the purposes of this article, such foods are treated and may be transferred or acquired, just as if they were not rationed at all.

11. Section 22.10 is revoked.

This amendment shall become effective June 10, 1944.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1418—TERRITORIES AND POSSESSIONS

[GMPR[1] for Hawaii, Amdt. 4]

MODIFICATION OF MAXIMUM PRICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

The General Maximum Price Regulation for the Territory of Hawaii is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section 1a is added to read as follows:

SEC. 1a. Modification of provisions for the sale or delivery of any commodity in the Island of Hawaii. (a) Any person who sells or delivers any commodity in the Island of Hawaii shall comply with all provisions of this regulation, except that:

(1) In section 2, he shall substitute the date February, 1944 for the date April, 1942, wherever it appears, and the date March 1, 1944 for the date May 1, 1942.

(2) In section 3 (a) (2), he shall substitute the date February, 1944 for the date April, 1942.

(3) In section 5 (a), he shall substitute the date February, 1944 for the date April, 1942.

(4) In section 7 (a), he shall substitute the date April 24, 1944 for the date May 26, 1942.

(5) In section 8 (a) (1), he shall substitute the date April, 1944 for the date April, 1942, wherever it appears.

(6) In section 8 (a) (2), he shall substitute the date April 30, 1944, for the date April 30, 1942.

(7) In section 11, he shall substitute the date February, 1944 for the date April, 1942, wherever it appears, and the date May 1, 1944 for the date August 1, 1942.

(8) In section 13, he shall substitute the date June 1, 1944 for the date June 16, 1942, and the date June 1, 1944 for the date August 1, 1942.

(9) In section 20 (a) (4), he shall substitute the date February, 1944 for the date April, 1942.

2. Section 3 (a) (1) is amended by deleting the last sentence and substituting therefor the sentence "The price so reported shall be subject to adjustment at any time by order of the Director of the Office of Price Administration for the Territory of Hawaii."

3. Section 3 (a) (2) is amended by deleting the first sentence and substituting therefor the sentence "In case of a sale other than at wholesale or retail of a commodity, the maximum price shall be a price determined by the seller after specific authorization from the Director of the Office of Price Administration for the Territory of Hawaii."

4. Section 3 (a) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) In the case of a sale at wholesale or retail of a commodity which cannot be priced under paragraph (a) of this section, the maximum price shall be a price determined by the seller after specific authorization by the Director of the Office of Price Administration for the Territory of Hawaii. A seller who seeks an authorization to determine a maximum price under the provisions of this paragraph shall file with the office of the Office of Price Administration for the district in which his principal place of business is located an application setting forth (i) a description of the commodity or commodities for which a maximum price is sought; (ii) a statement of the reasons why such commodity or commodities cannot be priced under section 2 or 3 (a) of this General Maximum Price Regulation; and (iii) any other facts which the seller wishes to submit in support of the application. The seller shall also submit such additional pertinent information as the Office of Price Administration may require. Such authorization will be given in the form of an order prescribing a method of determining the maximum price for the applicant or for sellers of the commodity generally, including purchasers for resale, or for a class of such sellers.

This amendment shall become effective as of April 24, 1944.

PART 1389—APPAREL

[RMPR 506,[1] Amdt. 1]

STAPLE WORK GLOVES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 506 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 6 (a) is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 6. Marking of gloves—(a) Marking required at retail. Every person is forbidden to sell or offer to sell at retail or display in a retail store any pair of staple work gloves which is not marked as required by this section. If any part of the required marking has not been performed by the manufacturer, it must be supplied by the retailer.

(1) On and after June 21, 1944, the marking must show the retail ceiling price.

(2) On and after September 15, 1944, the marking must show, in addition to the retail ceiling price, the manufacturer's lot number or brand name for the glove and a statement of defects (if any).

2. The first sentence of section 6 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Marking and information required of manufacturers. Every manufacturer is forbidden to deliver any pair of work gloves which is put into the process of manufacture on or after August 6, 1944, unless it contains markings showing the manufacturer's lot number or brand name for the glove, and a statement of defects (if any).

3. In section 6, a new paragraph (e) is added to read as follows:

(e) Exceptions to marking requirements. (1) Industrial users need not attach the markings required by this section to any gloves which they sell to their employees at or below the net prices actually paid by the industrial user plus any charges for transportation actually paid by him. On all other sales by industrial users to their employees the industrial user is required to mark only the retail ceiling price.

(2) On sales and deliveries by manufacturers to industrial users it is not necessary to attach the required markings to each pair of gloves. In such cases, the seller may place the required markings on the package, wrapper or other container in which the gloves are packed.

4. Section 7 (d) (3) is amended to read as follows:

(3) A description of each pair of gloves bearing a different lot number or brand name, similar to the description in Appendix A, or some identifying reference to the description set forth in the "retail ceiling price list" (described in section 6 (b)) previously supplied the same purchaser for the same lot number or brand name.

5. In the example in section 9 (f), the figure "17¢" in the description column is amended to read "21¢".

6. In Table 2 of Appendix A, the reference to footnote number 4 is deleted after the following items:

Quilted palm, Double safety, Men's 18 oz. palm, 8 oz. stripe back, with turtle neck;

Quilted palm, Double safety, Men's 18 oz. palm, 10 oz. white back, with turtle neck;

Processed palm, Double safety, Men's 18 oz. material palm, 8 oz. stripe back, with turtle neck;

Processed palm, Double safety, Men's 18 oz. material palm, 10 oz. white back, with turtle neck.

This amendment shall become effective June 6, 1944.

Issued this 6th day of June 1944.

PART 1390—MACHINERY AND TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT

[MPR 136, Amdt. 118]

TEXTILE BOBBINS AND SPOOLS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1390.25 (a) (44) is amended to read as follows:

(44) Textile bobbins and spools. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation, the manufacturers' maximum prices for textile bobbins and spools calculated under this regulation apart from this subparagraph shall be increased to 9% above their base date (October 1, 1941) net prices.

Payment at the maximum prices established herewith may be made and received, or completed, for bobbins and spools delivered under the terms of adjustable pricing agreements effected pursuant to § 1390.25a (a) (4) of this regulation.

This amendment shall become effective June 6, 1944.

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs

[T. D. 51072]

PART 52—REGULATIONS UNDER TRADING WITH THE ENEMY ACT

RELEASE OF ART OBJECTS FROM CUSTOMS CUSTODY

JUNE 8, 1944.

Regulations under sections 3 (a) and 5 (b) of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, relative to the release of art objects from customs custody which have been imported after March 12, 1938.

The following regulations are prescribed under the authority of sections 3 (a) and 5 (b) of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, with respect to the release of art objects from customs custody:

Sec.
52.12 Prohibitions against release of imported art objects.
52.13 Requirements for release of art objects.
52.14 Definition of art objects.

AUTHORITY: §§ 52.12 to 52.14, inclusive, issued under secs. 3 (a), 5 (b), Trading With the Enemy Act; 40 Stat. 412, 415, as amended; 50 U.S.C. App. and Supp. 3, and 12 U.S.C. and Supp. 95a.

§ 52.12 Prohibitions against release of imported art objects. No art object hereafter imported from any foreign country, except one which constitutes a part of the United Kingdom, the British Dominions, or British Colonies, and no art object which is now in customs custody which was imported after March 12, 1938 from any foreign country except one which constitutes a part of the United Kingdom, the British Dominions, or British Colonies, shall be released from customs custody, whether for consumption or exportation, or shall be sold or forfeited under the customs laws and regulations, unless such release, sale, or forfeiture has been licensed or otherwise authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury.

§ 52.13 Requirements for release of art objects. (a) Persons seeking release of any such art object from customs custody for consumption or exportation shall file an application on Form TFE–1 in duplicate in the manner prescribed in §130.2 of the Regulations issued under Executive Order No. 8389, as amended. Form FFC 168 must be filled out and attached to the application.

(b) With respect to art objects in customs custody which are subject to sale or forfeiture under the customs laws and regulations, the Collector of Customs concerned shall file a report in duplicate on Forth FFC 168 with Foreign Funds Control, Treasury Department, Unit 244, Washington, D. C.

§ 52.14 Definition of art objects. As used herein, the term "art object" shall include any of the following, if there is reasonable cause to believe that the article or lot of articles included in one importation, export shipment, or sale lot (a) is worth $5,000 or more, or (b) is of artistic, historic, or scholarly interest irrespective of monetary value:

(1) Paintings in oil, mineral, water, or other colors, tempera, pastels, drawings and sketches in pen, ink, pencil, or water colors, engravings, woodcuts, prints, lithographs, miniatures;
(2) Statuary, sculptures;
(3) Chinaware, glassware, pottery, porcelain;
(4) Rugs, tapestries, laces, and other textiles;
(5) Jewelry, metalwork;
(6) Books, manuscripts, archival materials and records;
(7) Furniture;
(8) Curios.

The provisions hereof shall be effective on and after June 8, 1944.

TITLE 36—PARKS AND FORESTS

Chapter I—National Park Service

PART 31—RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE PROCEDURE AND BUSINESS OF THE NATIONAL PARK TRUST FUND BOARD

Pursuant to the authority contained in the Act of July 10, 1935 (49 Stat. 477), the following rules and regulations are adopted and promulgated to govern the procedure and business of the National Park Trust Fund Board.

Sec.
31.1 Definition.
31.2 Officers.
31.3 Meetings; duties of officers.
31.4 Donations.
31.5 Acceptance of donations.
31.6 Disposition of income.

AUTHORITY: §§ 31.1 to 31.6 inclusive, issued under 49 Stat. 477; 16 U.S.C. 19.

§ 31.1 Definition. As used in the regulations in this part, the term "Board" means the National Park Trust Fund Board.

§ 31.2 Officers. The Secretary of the Interior shall be the Chairman of the Board, and the Director of the National Park Service shall be the Secretary.

§ 31.3 Meetings; duties of officers. (a) The Chairman may call meetings of the Board at such times and places as he may determine upon due notice to all members. The Chairman shall preside at the meetings, and in the temporary absence or disability of the Chairman the members present shall select a temporary Chairman to act in his stead.

(b) The Secretary shall keep a complete and accurate record of all meetings of the Board, and shall be the custodian of the records of the Board and of its seal. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to attest under the seal of the Board all certified copies of the official records of the Board that may be required. The Secretary shall prepare and submit to the Congress on behalf of the Board an annual report of the moneys or securities received and held by the Board and of its activties.

§ 31.4 Donations. Trust funds in the form of money, securities, or other personal property may be given or bequeathed to the National Park Trust Fund in form substantially as follows: "To the United States of America, to be held and administered by the National Park Trust Fund Board, for the benefit of, or in connection with, the National Park Service, its activities, or its services." The donor may, if he or she so desires, specify a particular purpose or purposes for which the gift or bequest is made: Provided, however, That the Board may reject any gift or bequest which entails any terms or conditions unacceptable to the Board.

§ 31.5 Acceptance of donations. (a) Gifts or bequests may be accepted on behalf of the Board upon the written approval of three of its members.

(b) The Director of the National Park Service may, as a member and Secretary of the Board, accept on behalf of the Board any gift or bequest not exceeding $250 in amount.

(c) Upon the acceptance of any gift or bequest, it shall be the duty of the Secretary to record the same in the records of the Board, showing the nature and amount thereof, and the name of the donor. The Secretary shall advise the donor or his representative of the Board's acceptance of the gift or bequest.

§ 31.6 Disposition of income. Unless otherwise restricted by the instrument of gift or bequest, the income derived from any gift or bequest heretofore or hereafter accepted by the Board shall be subject to disbursement by the Division of Disbursement, Treasury Department, on the basis of certified vouchers of the Director of the National Park Service, for the benefit of, or in connection with, the National Park Service, its activities, or its services, as authorized by a resolution of the Board.

[Docket No. 5172]

JOHN B. STETSON CO.

Complaint. The Federal Trade Commission having reason to believe that the party respondent named in the caption hereof, and hereinafter more particularly designated and described, has, since June 19, 1936, violated and is now violating the provisions of subsections (a) and (d) of section 2 of the Clayton Act (U.S.C. title 15, sec. 13) as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act approved June 19, 1936, hereby issues its complaint, stating its charges with respect thereto as follows:

Count I. Charging violation of subsection (a) of section 2 of the Clayton Act, as amended, the Commission alleges:

(1) Respondent John B. Stetson Company is a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, with its principal office and place of business located at Fifth Street and Montgomery Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

(2) Respondent corporation is now and has been since June 19, 1936, engaged in the business of manufacturing, offering for sale, selling and distributing men's hats under various brand names, all of which feature the name "Stetson" in addition to arbitrary brand names selected denoting style and price range, such as "Play Boy", "Sportlite", "Fast Colors", "Medalist", "Stratoliner", "Premier", "Royal", "Imperial", "Sovereign", etc. The resale or retail prices of these brands range from $5 to $150. Respondent enters into contracts with its various customers to whom it sells its hats, and said contracts fix the price and terms of sale at which such hats are sold by such customers at retail to the consuming public. Respondent, by volume of sales, is the largest producer and distributor of men's hats in the United States. Respondent sells and distributes its hats in commerce between and among the various states of the United States and in the District of Columbia and, as a result of such sales, causes said hats to be shipped and transported from its place of business to purchasers thereof who are located in the various states of the United States other than the state in which respondent's place of business is located. There is and has been at all times mentioned herein a continuous course of trade and commerce in said hats across state lines between respondent's factory and the purchasers of said hats. Said hats are sold and distributed for use and resale within the various states of the United States and in the District of Columbia. Respondent sells its men's hats directly to several thousand retail resellers located in cities and towns throughout the United States.

(3) In the course and conduct of its business as aforesaid, respondent is now and during the times herein mentioned has been in substantial competition with other corporations and with individuals, partnerships and firms who are likewise engaged in the business of manufacturing, selling and distributing men's hats in interstate commerce.

Many of respondent's customers are competitively engaged with each other and with the customers of respondent's competitors in the resale of men's hats within the trade areas in which respondent's said customers respectively offer for sale and sell the men's hats purchased from the respondent.

(4) In the course and conduct of its said business, since June 19, 1936, respondent has been and is now discriminating in price between different purchasers buying hats from the respondent, by selling such hats to some of its customers at higher prices than it sells its hats of like grade and quality to other customers who are competitively engaged with customers receiving the lower prices, in the resale of said hats within the United States.

Respondent grants and allows to all of its customers a regular trade discount of 2% to be deducted from the invoice price if the invoice is paid within a specified time. The price discriminations herein alleged, and those hereinafter set forth, are in the form of discriminatory additions to the regular trade discount of 2%.

(5) The respondent has discriminated in price by the use of a so-called "cumulative quantity" discount schedule whereby it has sold to some customers at higher prices than it has sold men's hats of like grade and quality to other customers who are in competition with them in the resale of said hats within the United States. The so-called "quantity discount" schedule varied for the years 1940, 1941, and 1942, and was and is governed by the customer's cumulative total of purchases during each year. For the year ending October 31, 1941, the so-called "cumulative quantity" discount schedule effected by the respondent was as follows:

Annual purchases ranging from:	Percent
$25,000 to $49,999.99	2
$50,000 to $99,999.99	4½
$100,000 and over	7

From November 1, 1941, to October 31, 1942, the respondent's "cumulative quantity" discount schedule was as follows:

Annual purchases ranging from:	Percent
$25,000 to $49,999.99	2
$50,000 to $74,999.99	4½
$75,000 to $99,999.99	6
$100,000 to $249,999.99	7
$250,000 and over—6% overage on the volume exceeding $250,000.

From November 1, 1942 to October 31, 1943, and thereafter, the respondent's "cumulative quantity" discount schedule has been and is as follows:

Annual shipments:	Quantity discounts (percent)
$5,000 to $7,499.99	2
$7,500 to $9,999.99	2½
$10,000 to $14,999.99	3
$15,000 to $24,999.99	3½
$25,000 to $34,999.99	4
$35,000 to $49,999.99	4½
$50,000 to $74,999.99	5
$75,000 to $99,999.99	6
$100,000 to $199,999.99	7
$200,000 and over	8

(6) In addition to the discriminations effected by the aforementioned "cumulative quantity" discount schedules, respondent discriminates in price between different purchasers of its products who are in competition with each other by making lower prices on hats to some customers based upon the total quantity or volume sold and delivered to all of the separate branches or outlets of such customers, although separate delivery is made to the several branches or outlets of such customers, if and when such total quantity or volume amounts to certain required minima during the fiscal year period without regard to the quantity or volume delivered to the respective branches or outlets of such customers.

(7) The effect of the discriminations in price generally alleged in paragraph four hereof and of the discriminations specifically set forth in paragraphs five and six hereof has been or may be substantially to lessen competition in the line of commerce in which the purchasers receiving and those denied the benefits of such discriminatory prices are engaged and to injure, destroy or prevent competition between purchasers receiving the benefit of said discriminatory prices and those from whom they are withheld.

Such discriminations in price by respondent between different purchasers of men's hats of like grade and quality in interstate commerce in the manner and form aforesaid are in violation of the provisions of subsection 2 (a) of section 1 of said Act of Congress approved June 19, 1936 entitled "An Act to amend section 2 of an act entitled 'An Act to Supplement Existing Laws Against Unlawful restraints and Monopolies and for Other Purposes' Approved October 15, 1914, as Amended U. S. C. Title 15, section 13 and for Other Purposes".

Count II. Charging violation of subsection (d) of section 2 of the Clayton Act as amended, the Commission alleges:

(1) Paragraphs (1) to (3), inclusive, of Count I of this complaint are hereby repeated and made a part of this charge as fully and with the same effect as though herein again set forth at length.

(2) In the course and conduct of its business as aforesaid, respondent, since June 19, 1936, has been and is now granting compensation in the form of cash payments and allowances to some of its customers who are selected by the respondent for advertising display and other promotional activities. Such payments or allowances have been and are granted to favored customers in consideration of the advertising display and other promotional services furnished by them in connection with the resale of the respondent's hats. The respondent makes such cash payments or allowances to its favored customers without making them available on proportionally equal terms to other of its customers who compete with such favored customers in the resale and distribution of respondent's said hats. Such other customers are able and willing to furnish the same kind of advertising or display services and promotional facilities to the respondent as those furnished by its favored customers.

Instances and illustrations of the general practice above alleged and thus pursued by the respondent in granting allowances and compensation to its favored customers are the following:

1. The respondent paid to its favored customer, Young's Merchandising Corporation, operating 26 retail men's hat stores in New York City, for the fiscal year 1941 the sum of $11,904.78, and for the fiscal year 1942 the sum of $14,889.91 as an advertising and display allowance, while the respondent did not make such payments available on proportionally equal terms, or on any terms, to competing customers.

2. The respondent paid to its favored customer, Wallach's, Inc., of New York City, a corporate subsidiary of Hart, Schaffner, & Marx, Chicago, Illinois, operating 9 men's furnishings stores in the Metropolitan area of New York City, the sum of $6,600 per year for window displays of "Stetson" hats, in the Fifth Avenue windows of Wallach's, Inc. stores located at 45th St. and Fifth Avenue, and 33rd St. and Fifth Avenue, New York, for 32 weeks each year, and similar window displays during 22 weeks of each year on the 45th St. side of Wallach's, Inc. store located at 45th St. and Fifth Avenue, while respondent did not and does not make such payments available on proportionally equal terms, or on any terms, to competing customers.

3. The respondent paid to its favored customer, Maurice L. Rothschild, of Chicago, Illinois, having branches at St. Paul, Minnesota and Minneapolis, Minnesota, the sum of $1,000 per month for advertising and window display, while the respondent did not and does not make such payment available on proportionally equal terms, or on any terms, to competing customers.

(3) The respondent has not made known to its customers generally but only to its favored customers, that it grants and allows any compensation for advertising, display and other promotional services.

(4) The above acts and practices of respondent are in violation of subsection (d) of section 2 of the Clayton Act as amended by the Robinson-Patman Act approved June 19, 1936, U.S.C. Title 15, sec. 13.

Wherefore, the premises considered, the Federal Trade Commission, on this 3d day of June, 1944, issues its complaint against said respondent.

Notice. Notice is hereby given you, John B. Stetson Company, respondent herein, that the 7th day of July, A. D. 1944, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, is hereby fixed as the time, and the offices of the Federal Trade Commission in the City of Washington, D. C., as the place, when and where a hearing will be had on the charges set forth in this complaint, at which time and place you will have the right, under said act, to appear and show cause why an order should not be entered by said Commission requiring you to cease and desist from the violations of the law charged in the complaint.

You are notified and required, on or before the twentieth day after service upon you of this complaint, to file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. If answer is filed and if your appearance at the place and on the date above stated be not required, due notice to that effect will be given you. The rules of practice adopted by the Commission with respect to answers or failure to appear or answer (Rule IX) provide as follows:

In case of desire to contest the proceeding the respondent shall, within twenty (20) days from the service of the complaint, file with the Commission an answer to the complaint. Such answer shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. Respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the complaint, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state.

* * * * * * *

Failure of the respondent to file answer within the time above provided and failure to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in regular course on the charges set forth in the complaint.

If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the complaint and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the complaint to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said complaint and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence, or other intervening procedure to find such facts to be true.

Contemporaneously with the filing of such answer the respondent may give notice in writing that he desires to be heard on the question as to whether the admitted facts constitute the violation of law charged in the complaint. Pursuant to such notice, the respondent may file a brief, directed solely to that question, in accordance with Rule XXIII.

In witness whereof, the Federal Trade Commission has caused this, its complaint, to be signed by its Secretary, and its official seal to be hereto affixed, at Washington, D. C., this 3d day of June, A. D. 1944.

By the Commission.

COMMONWEALTH & SOUTHERN CORP. (DELAWARE)

ORDER PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 3d day of June, A. D. 1944.

The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation (Commonwealth), a registered holding company, having filed a declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, particularly section 12 (c) thereof and Rule U-46 thereunder regarding the proposed payment of a dividend of $1.25 per share (payable on the 28th day after approval by this Commission to stockholders of record at the close of business on the 14th day thereafter) on its 1,482,000 shares of preferred stock outstanding, the aggregate amount of such dividend payment being $1,852,500; and

Said declaration having been filed on May 16, 1944 and notice of said filing having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing with respect to said declaration within the period specified in the said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission regarding the proposed payment as similar in principle to those proposed by Commonwealth and permitted by the Commission's orders of June 24, September 13, November 26, 1943 and March 8, 1944 (Holding Company Act Release Nos. 4383, 4560, 4709 and 4933) and, as in the case of said prior dividend payments, as being made out of capital; and

The Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers to permit said declaration to become effective; and

Commonwealth having requested that the effective date of the declaration be accelerated to facilitate the prompt payment of the proposed dividends to the preferred stockholders and the Commission deeming it appropriate that such request for acceleration be granted,

It is hereby ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act and subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24, that the aforesaid declaration be, and the same hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the condition that Commonwealth accompany the dividend checks with a statement indicating that the dividend is being paid out of capital.

By the Commission.

CONSOLIDATED ELECTRIC AND GAS CO. AND PORTO RICO GAS & COKE CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 5th day of June, A. D. 1944.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration or application (or both) has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Consolidated Electric and Gas Company, a registered holding company, and its subsidiary, Porto Rico Gas & Coke Company.

All interested persons are referred to said declaration or application (or both), which is on file in the office of the Commission, for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

Porto Rico Gas & Coke Company proposes to redeem from time to time during the remainder of 1944 not to exceed 1,500 shares of its 6% cumulative preferred stock of the par value of $100 per share by payment to Consolidated Electric and Gas Company therefor of the redemption price of $105 per share and the accrued and unpaid dividends presently aggregating $9.00 per share.

Consolidated Electric and Gas Company is the sole owner of such preferred stock, which is presently outstanding in the amount of 4,945 shares, and owns all of the company's outstanding common stock, which consists of 10,000 shares ($25 par value). Porto Rico Gas & Coke Company also has outstanding in the hands of the public $376,300 principal amount of First Mortgage Thirty-Year 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, due July 1, 1952.

Consolidated will deposit the cash received as the result of the aforestated transaction with the Trustee under the Indenture securing the Southern Cities Utilities Company Thirty-Year 5% First Lien Collateral Trust Bonds, Series A, due April 1, 1958 (assumed by Consolidated Electric and Gas Company), and in accordance with the terms of said indenture, Consolidated proposes to effect the retirement of said bonds by purchases thereof in the open market.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to said matter and that said application or declaration shall not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said matter under the applicable provisions of said act and rules of the Commission thereunder be held on June 19, 1944, at 10:00 a. m., e. w. t., at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. On such day the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which the hearing will be held;

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve notice of the aforesaid hearing by mailing copies of this order by registered mail to Consolidated Electric and Gas Company and Porto Rico Gas & Coke Company; and that notice of said hearing be given to all persons by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any person desiring to be heard in connection with these proceedings, or proposing to intervene herein shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before June 16, 1944 his request or application therefor, as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That Charles S. Lobinger or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a trial examiner under the Commission's Rules of Practice.

It is further ordered, That, without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said application and declaration, particular attention will be directed at the hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether the proposed use of the proceeds from the redemption of said preferred stock in the acquisition of Southern Cities Bonds by purchase in the open market is in conformity with the applicable provisions of the act;

(2) Generally, whether in any respect the proposed transactions are detrimental to the public interest or to the interests of investors, particularly the public bondholders of Porto Rico Gas & Coke Company, or will tend to circumvent any provisions of the Act or the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder;

(3) Whether, if the proposed transactions are authorized, the imposition of terms and conditions is necessary and appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consumers, and, if so, what terms and conditions should be imposed.

By the Commission.

NORTHERN INDIANA PUBLIC SERVICE CO., ET AL.

ORDER MODIFYING CONDITION AND GRANTING EXTENSION OF TIME

In the matter of Northern Indiana Public Service Company, La Porte Heat Corporation, File No. 70-725; The United Light and Power Company, et al., La Porte Gas and Electric Company, File Nos. 59-11, 59-17, 54-25, Application No. 16.

The United Light and Power Company, a registered holding company, and La Porte Gas and Electric Company (La Porte), a subsidiary thereof, having filed applications and declarations and amendments thereto pursuant to sections 11, 12 (c), 12 (d) and 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and Rules U-42, U-43, U-44 and U-46 promulgated thereunder, with respect to the sale by La Porte of its electric, gas and heat properties to Northern Indiana Public Service Company (Northern), a subsidiary of Clarence A. Southerland and Jay Samuel Hartt, Trustees of the Estate of Midland Utilities Company, and La Porte Heat Corporation (Heat Corporation), a subsidiary of Northern, and with respect to the dissolution and liquidation of La Porte; and

Northern and Heat Corporation having filed applications and declarations and amendments thereto, pursuant to sections 6 (b), 9 (a), 10, and 12 of the act and Rule U-44 promulgated thereunder, with respect to the issue and sale by Northern of $1,400,000 principal amount of serial notes of a maturity of seven years or less, and by Heat Corporation of 3,750 shares of its common stock of the par value of $100 per share, and with respect to the acquisition by Northern of such common stock and the acquisition by Heat Corporation of the heat properties of La Porte; and

The Commission having by order dated December 7, 1943, granted the applications and permitted the declarations to become effective subject to the terms and conditions, among others, prescribed in Rule U-24; and having by subsequent orders extended the time within which the transactions might be consummated to June 5, 1944; and

A request having been made that the time, within which the transactions as set forth in the applications and declarations may be consummated, be further extended to August 5, 1944; and

The Commission having considered such request and deeming it appropriate that it be granted;

It is ordered, That the conditions contained in the order of December 7, 1943, be and hereby are modified to the extent necessary to extend the time within which such transactions may be consummated to August 5, 1944.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS, Secretary.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD.

GRAY AND COMPANY

CONSENT ORDER

Gray & Co., 1305 N. W. Davis St., Portland, Oregon, engaged in the business of distributing new and used bakery machinery and equipment and the wholesale selling of bakery and confectionery supplies, is charged by the War Production Board with having made eleven sales of restricted machinery and equipment in violation of Limitation Order L-83 and General Limitation Order L-292 between April 12 and October 2, 1943. Gray & Co. admits the violations as charged, and has consented to the issuance of this order.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of Gray & Co., the Regional Compliance Chief and the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commissioner, It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) Gray & Co., its successors and assigns shall not make, assemble, accept delivery of or deliver any food processing machinery as food processing machinery is defined in General Limitation Order L-292, in an amount of total gross selling price exceeding one thousand dollars, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Gray & Co., its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(c) This order shall take effect on June 6th, 1944, and shall expire on October 6th, 1944.

Issued this 27th day of May 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

SPIEGEL BROTHERS CORP.

CONSENT ORDER

The Spiegel Brothers Corporation, a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New York with its principal office and place of business at 806-808 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City, County and State of New York, is engaged in the business of buying and selling hardware, tools, flashlights, and general merchandise. This corporation is charged by the War Production Board with having accepted delivery, during the period January 8, 1943, to August 2, 1943, of 2,538 high speed metal cutting tools on unrated orders, and with having sold and delivered, during the period January 8, 1943, to October 6, 1943, 2,538 high speed metal cutting tools on unrated orders, thereby violating General Preference Order E-2-b. The corporation admits the violations, as charged, and has consented to the issuance of this order.

Wherefore, upon the agreement and consent of The Spiegel Brothers Corporation, the Regional Compliance Chief and the Regional Attorney, and upon the approval of the Compliance Commissioner, It is hereby ordered, That:

(a) The Spiegel Brothers Corporation, its successors and assigns, shall not order, buy, accept delivery of, or accept orders for, sell or deliver flashlights, as defined in General Limitation Order L-71, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(b) This order shall not apply to flashlights which the company has on hand for delivery or which are in transit to its customers, on purchase orders received and accepted prior to the effective date of this order and bearing preference ratings within the requirements of Limitation Order L-71.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve The Spiegel Brothers Corporation, its successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

(d) This order shall take effect on June 6, 1944, and shall expire on August 6, 1944.

Issued this 31st day of May 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 1461—OILSEEDS

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS FOR CALIFORNIA AND OREGON

War Food Order No. 94, as amended (9 F.R. 2323, 4319, 5323), § 1461.1, is further amended by deleting (b) and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

(b) Restrictions. (1) No crusher or seed dealer shall, except as otherwise authorized by the Director, purchase or accept delivery of flaxseed of the 1943 crop in a total quantity which, together with his total existing supplies of flaxseed in the following areas, would be in excess of his requirements for (i) crushing at plants located in such areas during the period ending on the date set opposite such areas and (ii) seed deliveries from storage points located in such areas during such periods: Provided, That this restriction shall not apply to purchases or deliveries of flaxseed to crushers or seed dealers located in California or Oregon.

Area:	Period ends
Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Oklahoma, and Texas	August 15, 1944
Illinois and Wisconsin	August 22, 1944
Ohio; and Erie County in New York	September 1, 1944

No flaxseed of the 1943 crop purchased or received by a crusher or seed dealer after the effective date of this order shall be used by him except for meeting such requirements or for sale to persons eligible under this order to purchase or accept delivery of such flaxseed. Unless otherwise authorized by the Director, no flaxseed shall be transferred from any of the above-specified areas to any place, except California or Oregon, not included in one of such areas.

This order shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. w. t., May 31, 1944.

With respect to violations, rights accrued, liabilities incurred, or appeals taken under War Food Order No. 94, as amended, prior to the effective date of this amendment, all provisions of said War Food Order No. 94, as amended, in effect prior to this amendment, shall be deemed to remain in full force for the purpose of sustaining any proper suit, action, or other proceeding with respect to any such violation, right, liability, or appeal.

TITLE 10—ARMY: WAR DEPARTMENT

Chapter III—Claims and Accounts

PART 36—CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES

REAL ESTATE; CLAIMS FOR RENT, DAMAGE AND OTHER PAYMENTS

Section 52.16a is rescinded and the following substituted therefor. The regulations in this section are also contained in AR 100–64, 22 May 1944, the particular paragraphs being shown in brackets at end of sections.

§ 52.16a Real estate; claims for rent, damage, and other payments—(a) Scope. The regulations in this section provide a method of investigation, processing, and settlement of claims against the United States for rent, damages, and other payments arising under the terms and conditions, whether express or implied, of leases or other contracts for the use or occupancy of real estate by the War Department or the Army, or arising from the use or occupancy of real estate by the War Department or the Army with the express or implied consent of the owner thereof in the absence of any formal lease or other contract therefor. Utilization of the provisions of these regulations in cases where provisions of regulations referred to in paragraph (b) of this section are also applicable is optional in any case. Utilization of the provisions of these regulations outside the United States, its territories and possessions, is optional with the commander concerned. [Par. 2]

(b) Regulations applicable to particular cases—(1) Claims for damage to or loss or destruction of property incident to noncombat activities of the War Department or of the Army. The act of 3 July 1943 (57 Stat. 372; 31 U.S.C. 223b, 223c) provides for the payment of claims, arising on or after 27 May 1941, for damage to or loss or destruction of real property caused by military personnel or civilian employees of the War Department or of the Army while acting within the scope of their employment, or otherwise incident to noncombat activities of the War Department or of the Army, including claims for damage to real property (but not for rent or other payments) incident to the use and occupancy thereof under a lease, express or implied, or otherwise, and including claims of the foregoing categories arising out of civil works, provided they do not exceed $500 or, if approved in time of war, provided they do not exceed $1,000. See §§ 36.12 to 36.23.

(2) Claims under Article of War 105. Article of War 105 (Sec. 1, Ch. II, act of 4 June 1920; 41 Stat. 808; 10 U.S.C. 1577) provides for the payment, by the offender through stoppage of pay, of certain claims for damage to or loss or destruction of property by persons subject to military law provided such damage, loss, or destruction is caused by riotous, violent, or disorderly conduct, or acts of depradation, willful misconduct, or such reckless disregard of property rights as to carry an implication of guilty intent. See § 36.25.

(3) Claims for damage to or loss or destruction of property caused by Army forces in foreign countries. The act of 2 January 1942 (55 Stat. 880; 31 U.S.C. 224d), as amended by the act of 22 April 1943 (57 Stat. 66), provides for the payment of claims for damage to or loss or destruction of real property (but not for rent or other payments) caused by Army forces, or individual members (whether military personnel or civilian employees) thereof, or otherwise incident to noncombat activities of such forces, in a foreign country to public property located therein or to the privately owned property of inhabitants of such country. See § 36.26. [Par. 3]

(c) Procedure—§§ 36.1 to 36.5 applicable. So far as applicable, the procedure set forth in the above sections will be followed as to claims within the provisions of these regulations. [Par. 4] (R.S. 161; 5 U.S.C. 22) [Pars. 2, 3 and 4, AR 100–64, 22 May 1944]

TITLE 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs

[T. D. 51073]

PART 2—MEASUREMENT OF VESSELS

SUPERSTRUCTURES

Paragraphs (d) and (e) of § 2.40 (19 CFR Cum. Supp., 2.40 (d), (e)) are amended to read as follows:

(d) Round-end erections. If the after end of an ordinary poop or a house is in the form of a continuous arc of a curve, its breadth at the extreme after end of its length shall be one-half of the preceding breadth. If the after end of such a poop or house is in the form of an arc of a curve which is broken at its extreme after end by a decided flat, its breadth at the extreme after end of its length shall be two-thirds of the preceding breadth. See figures 32 and 33.

(e) Round-end erections. If the forward end of a house is in the form of a continuous arc of a curve, its breadth at the extreme forward end of its length shall be one-half of the succeeding breadth. If the forward end of such a house is in the form of an arc of a curve which is broken at its extreme forward end by a decided flat, its breadth at the extreme forward end of its length shall be two-thirds of the succeeding breadth. (R.S. 161, sec. 3, 23 Stat. 119, sec. 4, 28 Stat. 743; 5 U.S.C. 22, 46 U.S.C. 3, 79. E.O. 9083; 7 F.R. 1609)

PART 4—VESSELS IN FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC TRADES

TONNAGE TAX AND LIGHT MONEY

Section 4.20 (b) (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 4.20 (b)) is amended to read as follows:

(b) The tonnage year shall be computed from the date of the first entry of the vessel concerned, without regard to the rate of the payment made at that entry, and shall expire on the day preceding the corresponding date of the following year." (R.S. 161, sec. 3, 23 Stat. 119, R.S. 4219, as amended; 5 U.S.C. 22, 46 U.S.C. 3, 121. E.O. 9083; 7 F.R. 1609)

PART 15—RELIEF FROM DUTIES ON MERCHANDISE LOST, STOLEN, DESTROYED, INJURED, ABANDONED, OR SHORT-SHIPPED

LOSS OF WINES AND LIQUORS IN TRANSIT

Section 15.9 (d), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 15.9 (d)), is hereby amended by deleting the third and fourth sentences and substituting the following:

No allowance can be made unless breakage, leakage, or damage was found on inspection at the port of arrival. If the existence, but not the extent, of the loss is determined upon such inspection, the amount of loss found at destination in the casks or packages found broken, leaking, or damaged at the port of arrival, shall be considered as reflecting the extent of the loss existing at the time of arrival of the merchandise in this country. The inspection of the merchandise in connection with its removal from the importing carrier under customs supervision constitutes an inspection within the meaning of this regulation.

Section 15.9 (e), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 15.9 (e)), is hereby amended by inserting after the word "losses" in the second sentence the following: "amounting to 10 per centum or more of the value of the contents of the cask or package". (Par. 813; sec. 8, 46 Stat. 430. R.S. 161, 251, sec. 624, 46 Stat. 759; 5 U.S.C. 22, 19 U.S.C. 66, 1001, 1624)

W. R. JOHNSON,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: June 5, 1944.

[T. D. 51075]

PART 11—PACKING AND STAMPING; MARKING; TRADE-MARKS AND TRADE NAMES; COPYRIGHTS

MARKING OF ARTICLES AND CONTAINERS TO INDICATE NAME OF COUNTRY OF ORIGIN

The first sentence of § 11.8 (m), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 11.8 (m)), is amended by deleting the words, "at the gross regular hourly rate of pay of the customs officer or employee so assigned," and substituting the words, "in accordance with § 19.5 (c) of these regulations." Section 11.8 (m) is further amended by deleting the fourth sentence. (Sec. 304, 46 Stat. 687, sec. 3, 52 Stat. 1077, R.S. 251, sec. 624, 46 Stat. 759, R.S. 161; 19 U.S.C. 66, 1304, 1624, 5 U.S.C. 22)

PART 19—CUSTOMS WAREHOUSES AND CONTROL OF MERCHANDISE THEREIN

COMPENSATION OF STOREKEEPERS

Sections 19.5 (b) and 19.5 (c), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 19.5 (b) (c)), are amended to read as follows:

(b) The full compensation of storekeepers permanently assigned to bonded warehouses, including all overtime pay for services rendered after regular hours of duty, shall be reimbursable.

(c) The charge to be made for services of a customs officer temporarily assigned to act as a storekeeper at a bonded warehouse, except for services rendered under the overtime act of February 13, 1911, as amended (19 U.S.C. 267), shall be computed at a rate per hour based on the applicable following fractional part of the gross annual rate of pay of the employee performing the service:

Regular hours per week:	Fractional part of gross pay
39	1/1644
40	1/1696
44	1/1904
48	1/2112

The Bureau will furnish, on request, the fractional part of the gross annual pay of any employee whose regular hours of service per week are not covered by the above. The time charged shall be computed on the basis of the regular hours for performance of the work to which the employee is assigned even though such hours differ from the regular working hours of the employee so assigned. The time charged shall include any time within the regular working hours of the employee required for travel between the duty assignment and the place where the employee is regularly employed, and shall be not less than one hour for each visit with time after the first hour, excluding lunch periods, charged in multiples of one hour, fractional parts of an hour of less than 30 minutes being disregarded and those of 30 minutes or more being charged as one hour. In no case shall the charge be less than one dollar. (Secs. 555, 556, 624, 46 Stat. 743, 759; 19 U.S.C. 1555, 1556, 1624)

PART 24—CUSTOMS FINANCIAL AND ACCOUNTING PROCEDURE

REIMBURSABLE SERVICES OF OFFICERS

Section 24.17 (d), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 24.17 (d)), is amended to read as follows:

(d) The reimbursable compensation charge shall be computed in accordance with § 19.5 (c) of these regulations. (Sec. 1, 24 Stat. 79, sec. 2, 25 Stat. 80, sec. 524, 46 Stat. 741, sec. 19, 52 Stat. 1087, R.S. 161; 46 U.S.C. 331, 19 U.S.C. 1524, 5 U.S.C. 22)

W. R. JOHNSON,
Commissioner of Customs.

PART 21—CARTAGE AND LIGHTERAGE

LICENSING OF CARTMEN AND LIGHTERMEN; IDENTIFICATION CARDS

Sections 21.1 and 21.2, Customs Regulations of 1943, relating to licensing of cartmen and issuance of identification cards, amended.

Section 21.1 (a), Customs Regulations of 1943, as amended by T. D. 50954 (19 CFR Com. Supp. 21.1 (a)), is hereby further amended by deleting the last sentence and substituting the following:

No license shall be issued or renewed until the applicant submits to the collector a current list showing the names and present addresses of the managing officers or members of the organization and of the employees thereof who are required by § 21.2 to possess identification cards (customs Form 3873), and surrenders any outstanding identification cards of former employees or gives reasons satisfactory to the collector why such cards cannot be surrendered. (Secs. 565, 624, 46 Stat. 747, 759; 19 U.S.C. 1565, 1624)

Section 21.2, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 21.2) is amended by adding the following sentence at the end thereof:

An identification card shall not be issued to any person whose employment in connection with the transportation of bonded merchandise will, in the judgment of the collector, endanger the revenue. (Secs. 565, 624, 46 Stat. 747, 759; 19 U.S.C. 1565, 1624)

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue

Subchapter A—Income and Excess-Profits Taxes

[T. D. 5377]

PART 29—INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1941

DISTRIBUTIONS BY PERSONAL HOLDING COMPANIES

Regulations 111, amended to conform to section 512 of the Revenue Act of 1943, relating to distributions by personal holding companies.

In order to conform Regulations 111 (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 29) to section 512 of the Revenue Act of 1943 (Public Law 235, 78th Congress), enacted February 25, 1944, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.115-1 the following:

SEC. 512. DISTRIBUTIONS BY PERSONAL HOLDING COMPANIES. (Revenue Act of 1943, Title I.)

(a) In general. The last sentence of section 115 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code is amended by adding after the word "distribution", where it first appears, the following: "(to the extent of its subchapter A net income, whether or not a dividend as defined in the preceding sentence)".

(b) Effective date. The amendment made by subsection (a) shall be effective for all taxable years beginning after December 31, 1941.

PAR. 2. Section 29.115-1 is amended as follows:

(A) The second paragraph is amended to read as follows:

The term "dividend" also includes any distribution to shareholders to the extent of its subchapter A net income for the taxable year as hereinafter indicated in which, or with respect to which, the distribution is made, whether or not a dividend as defined in the first sentence of section 115 (a), made by a corporation which, for the taxable year in which such a distribution is made or for the taxable year in respect of which it is made under section 504 (c), relating to dividends paid within 2½ months after the close of the taxable year, or section 506, relating to deficiency dividends, or corresponding provisions of a prior income tax law, was under the applicable law a personal holding company. Such a distribution, if made on or after October 21, 1942 (see section 186 (g) of the Revenue Act of 1942 which is set forth immediately preceding § 29.504-1), will constitute a taxable dividend even if not paid out of accumulated or current earnings or profits. The term "dividend" does not include distributions under section 115 (c), relating to distributions in liquidation, section 115 (e), relating to distributions by personal service corporations, and section 115 (f), relating to stock dividends. For treatment of any distribution made prior to October 21, 1942, which is a dividend solely by reason of the last sentence of section 115 (a), see § 29.504-3.

(B) The fourth paragraph is amended by striking out the words "following example" and inserting in lieu thereof "following examples"; by changing the word "Example," in italics to "Example (1)."; and by inserting the following new examples:

Example (2). At the beginning of the calendar year 1942 the N Corporation, a personal holding company, had no accumulated earnings or profits. During that year it made no earnings or profits but its subchapter A net income, due to the disallowance of certain deductions, was $16,000. It distributed to shareholders on December 15, 1942, $15,000 and on February 1, 1943, $1,000, the latter amount being claimed as a deduction under section 504 (c) in its personal holding company return for 1942 filed on March 15, 1943. Both distributions are taxable dividends in full, since they do not exceed the subchapter A net income for 1942, the taxable year in which the distribution of $15,000 was made and with respect to which the distribution of $1,000 was made. It is immaterial whether the N Corporation is a personal holding company for the taxable year 1943 or whether it had any income for that year.

Example (3). In 1944 a deficiency in personal holding company tax was established against the O Corporation for the taxable year 1940 in the amount of $34,430 based on a subchapter A net income of $42,000. The O Corporation complied with the provisions of section 506 and in 1944 distributed to its stockholders as "deficency dividends" $42,000. The distribution of $42,000 is a taxable dividend since it does not exceed the subchapter A net income for 1940, the taxable year with respect to which the distribution was made. It is immaterial whether the O Corporation is a personal holding company for the taxable year 1944 or whether it had any income for that year.

(Sec. 512, Revenue Act of 1943 (Pub. Law 235, 78th Cong.), enacted Feb. 25, 1944, and sec. 62, Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U.S.C., 1940 ed., 62))

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

TITLE 30—MINERAL RESOURCES

Chapter VI—Solid Fuels Administration for War

PART 602—GENERAL ORDERS AND DIRECTIVES

[Reg. 21, Local Adjustment 1]

CONSUMER DECLARATIONS OF INVENTORY AND REQUIREMENTS IN OHIO

The Area Advisory Committee on Local Distribution for Area V in the State of Ohio has recommended, pursuant to § 602.417 (b) of SFAW Regulation No. 21, that within said Area V no retail dealer be permitted to deliver, and no consumer be permitted to receive, any of the solid fuels whose distribution by retail dealers is governed by Regulation No. 21, unless the consumer has first filed a declaration of inventory and requirements with the retail dealer.

After considering this recommendation and the retail dealer distribution conditions in said Area V, I have decided that the recommended requirement with respect to consumer declarations should be put into effect in the public interest and to promote the national defense. Accordingly, It is hereby ordered:

(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) below, during the period from June 15, 1944 to March 31, 1945, inclusive, no retail dealer may deliver and no consumer may receive any bituminous coal, western coke, packaged fuel or briquettes (as defined in § 602.411 of Regulation No. 21), unless at or prior to the time of the first delivery after June 15, 1944 the consumer shall have filed with the retail dealer from whom he expects to purchase such solid fuels a statement on a form (referred to herein as a consumer declaration) to be reproduced and furnished by the retail dealer, setting forth, among other things, the consumer's estimated annual needs for all solid fuels, the consumer's inventory, the number of rooms to be heated and the type of burning equipment. A consumer shall be required to file only one such declaration during the period June 15, 1944 to March 31, 1945, inclusive: Provided, however, That a separate consumer declaration shall be filed for each building which the consumer expects to heat in whole or in part by the use of any of the solid fuels listed above.

(2) A retail dealer may deliver and a consumer may receive any of the solid fuels listed in paragraph (1) of this local adjustment without the filing of the consumer declaration if the consumer receives, and has customarily received, any of such solid fuels in less than a ¼-ton lot.

(3) Statements contained in any consumer declaration are representations to the Solid Fuels Administration for War. Retail dealers shall retain the consumer declarations filed with them for and on behalf of the Solid Fuels Administration for War for a period of not less than two years. A consumer declaration or statement filed by any consumer with any retail dealer before the issuance of this local adjustment shall not be deemed to be filed pursuant to its requirements.

(4) The prescribed form of consumer declaration is set forth in Appendix A to this local adjustment which is attached hereto and made a part hereof.

For the purpose of determining the amount of solid fuels that may be delivered under Regulation No. 21 by dealers to consumers in said Area V in the State of Ohio, "consumer's annual requirements" shall mean either (i) such requirements as defined by § 602.411 (o) of Regulation No. 21, or (ii) the consumer's annual needs, as stated in Item 1 of the consumer declaration, whichever is less.

This local adjustment applies only to deliveries and receipts of the solid fuels listed in paragraph (1) above within Area V in the State of Ohio. Area V includes the following counties in the State of Ohio: Butler, Warren, Hamilton, Clermont, Brown and Adams. The provisions of SFAW, Regulation No. 21 are to be deemed in full force and effect in Area V in the State of Ohio except to the extent that they are modified by the provisions of this local adjustment.

This local adjustment shall become effective June 15, 1944.

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

C. J. POTTER,
Deputy Solid Fuels Administrator for War.

APPENDIX A

Bureau of the Budget No. 42-R685
Approval Expires April 30, 1945

CONSUMER DECLARATION

(Any consumer who wishes to buy bituminous coal, western coke, packaged fuel or briquettes is required to fill out and file this form with his dealer before he receives a delivery of any one of such solid fuels.)

I, _____ do hereby certify to the Solid Fuels Administration for War that the statements contained herein regarding premises at_____ _____ are true to the best of my knowledge and belief. I make this certification with knowledge that if I make any false statement or false representation herein, I am subject to criminal prosecution under the laws of the United States and with knowledge that I may be prohibited from receiving any further deliveries of certain kinds of solid fuel.

1. Judging from past experience, and assuming normal weather conditions, I would ordinarily burn during the period April 1, 1944 to March 31, 1945, inclusive, the following tons of Anthracite _____, Coke _____, Bituminous _____.

2. My annual needs for solid fuels, as indicated in statement 1 above, can be filled in part by what I had on hand April 1, 1944, namely, the following tons of Anthracite _____, Coke _____, Bituminous _____; and by what I received during the period April 1 to June 15, 1944, namely, the following tons of Anthracite _____, Coke _____, Bituminous _____.

3. I am filing this Consumer Declaration with _____, and I have no outstanding Consumer Declaration or order for bituminous coal, western coke, packaged coal or briquettes with any other dealer except (name of dealer)
(name of other dealer and tonnage ordered)

4. If any other Consumer Declaration is filed, or an order for any solid fuels for these premises is placed with any other dealer, during the above period, by me or anyone else, I will immediately advise in detail the dealer with whom I filed this Consumer Declaration.

5. I need to heat the following number of rooms at these premises: _____

6. I use the following type of heating equipment at these premises (indicated by check mark): Furnace ( ), Boiler ( ), Stove ( ), Fireplace ( ), Kitchen Range ( ), Other Type ( ) (describe fully) (also state if stoker is used) _____

7. I will keep my heating equipment in good order and will conserve all solid fuels so far as possible.

Dated:
Signed _____
Address _____

This is not an order for fuel. An order should be placed separately.

No retail dealer is authorized to deviate from or add to the prescribed form without written permission of Solid Fuels Administration for War.

Chapter IX—War Production Board

Subchapter B—Executive Vice-Chairman

AUTHORITY: Regulations in this subchapter issued under sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236 and 56 Stat. 176; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; W.P.B. Reg. 1 as amended March 24, 1943, 8 F.R. 3666, 3696; Pri. Reg. 1 as amended May 15, 1943, 8 F.R. 6727.

PART 1010—SUSPENSION ORDERS

[Suspension Order S-519, Revocation]

DAVIS MANUFACTURING CO.

Suspension Order No. S-519 was issued against Zean W. Davis and Dorothy E. Davis, co-partners, doing business as Davis Manufacturing Company, 233 West Lee St., Plano, Illinois, effective April 4, 1944. An appeal was filed with the Chief Compliance Commissioner on May 10, 1944. The case was reviewed by the Deputy Chief Compliance Commissioner, as a result of which on June 3, 1944, the Deputy Chief Compliance Commissioner directed that Suspension Order No. S-519 be revoked.

In view of the foregoing:

It is hereby ordered, That: § 1010.519, Suspension Order No. S-519 be revoked.

Issued this 7th day of June, 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 3281—PULP AND PAPER

[General Conservation Order M-241, as Amended March 22, 1944, Amdt. 1]

Section 3281.63, General Conservation Order M-241 is hereby amended in the following respects:

Amend the heading of paragraph (a) to read as follows: "This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time, except to the extent of any inconsistency, in which event the provisions of this order shall govern."

Amend paragraph (b) (4) to read as follows:

(4) "Grade" means any kind of paper or paperboard for which a caption or subcaption is provided in Form WPB-514 or any particular grade even though not specifically mentioned within such kind, except those grades listed below which are covered by other WPB orders as specified. Also included are all the coated papers not mentioned by captions but for which any captioned grade or item thereunder is used as a base stock.

The following types of paperboard production are specifically excluded from the order:

Type	WPB-514 Caption	Controlling order
Container board---- Paperboard----------	211000 to 219,000, inc... 221000 through 269000 (except 241000 to 249000, inclusive and 253000).	M-290 M-378
Asbestos and asbestos filled paper.	123000----------	M-79

Amend paragraph (d) as follows:

(d) Reserve production. (1) (i) Each manufacturer shall reserve in his total overall production of paper or paperboard for the month of June 1944 and for each calendar month thereafter time and supplies sufficient to produce and deliver within such month the following percentage or percentages applied either to his total production or to his production of a stated grade or combination of grades as indicated below:

Type	WPB-514 Caption	Percent
(Grade) Condenser tissue.	047200----------	100
(Class) Rag content papers.	046100 and 041110 to 041190 inc. and 043100 to 043190 inc.	25
(Class) All other papers and paperboards.	All other captions (including specialty grades 240,000 to 249,000 and 253,000) except those covered by other orders and listed in paragraph (b) (4).	20

The War Production Board may from time to time change such percentage or percentages and apply percentages to other grades or combination of grades, by notice in writing to each manufacturer or by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER at least ten days prior to the first of the month, to the production of which such change is applicable.

(ii) When production is reserved by applying a percentage to a stated grade or grades, the production of such grade or grades for which a manufacturer is obligated shall be determined by applying the stated percentage to the average monthly finished production of such grade or grades which the manufacturer has reported on Form WPB-514 for the most recent three calendar quarters.

When production is reserved by applying a percentage to a class or classes such as Rag Content Papers the production of such class or classes for which a manufacturer is obligated shall be determined by applying the percentage to the lesser of: (a) the monthly production of the class or classes which the manufacturer can produce subject to his authorized use of pulp under Order M-93, or (b) the average monthly production of the class or classes which the manufacturer has reported on Form WPB-514 for the most recent calendar quarter.

(iii) On or before the 15th day of any month, the War Production Board may direct any manufacturer to employ his reserve production for any month to produce any grade of paper or paperboard which such manufacturer is qualified to produce and in any quantity not exceeding the percentage of his production designated for such month by the War Production Board less his tonnage credit current at the time against such month's reserve production under the provisions of paragraph (d) (4). Similar directions may be issued by the War Production Board after the 15th day of any month under paragraph (d) (2) (ii). The War Production Board may require the manufacturer to sell and deliver such tonnage to any person it may name. The manufacturer may refuse to so produce, sell or deliver such reserve production only for the reasons specified for the refusal of rated orders in § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation No. 1.

(2) (i) If, on or before the 15th day of any month in which production is reserved, the manufacturer does not receive from the War Production Board directions as to the disposition of all production reserved in such month, he may employ, subject to the provisions of paragraph (d) (2) (ii) below, the production for which no directions have been received, as he may desire consistent with the provisions of this and other orders of the War Production Board.

(ii) If, as of record with the War Production Board on the 15th day of any month, a manufacturer of paper or paperboard has not been credited with accepting voluntarily or by directive from the War Production Board, an order or orders for paper and paperboard to be delivered, directly or through another person to the Armed Forces (i. e., the first six procurement activities listed in paragraph (d) (5) from his production in such month in a total amount equal to 30% of his reserve production by type the manufacturer shall continue to be obligated for such month until the close of the fourth calendar day prior to the first day of the next succeeding month, for that portion of such percentage of his reserve production for which he has accepted no orders for delivery to the Armed Forces

(3) The War Production Board may establish in an appendix or appendices to this Order M-241 additional controls over the production, distribution, delivery and use of any grade or combination of grades of paper or paperboard for which 100 percent production is reserved. The reserve of such grade or combination of grades shall then be subject to direction for the entire month and continuously for so long as 100 percent of such production is reserved. When 100 percent of the production of any grade or combination of grades is reserved, the use of reporting Form WPB-3270 is not required for such grade or combination since the full control will be specified in the proper appendix.

(4) (i) Credit for directed tonnage. Should the War Production Board direct a manufacturer of paper or paperboard to accept an order to be shipped from his reserve production, the reserve production for which such manufacturer is obligated shall be reduced (except as provided in the paragraph immediately following by the tonnage specified in such directive, and such reduction concurrently recorded to each manufacturer's credit on the records of the War Production Board.

(ii) When directed tonnage is not credited. Credit against the reserve production obligations of a manufacturer is not given for the tonnage specified in a directive when the following conditions prevail:

(a) Any one of the first six procurement activities (the Armed Forces) requests a qualified manufacturer to bid on a contract or accept a purchase order from such activity, and

(b) The manufacturer fails to bid on the contract or refuses to voluntarily accept the purchase order, and

(c) The War Production Board records on the acceptance of contracts and purchase orders by such manufacturer against his reserve production show that the acceptance of such contract or part thereof or such purchase order at the time the request was issued would not have caused him to produce more tonnage in any month than his reserve production obligations for such month, and

(d) Because of such failure to bid on the contract or refusal to accept the purchase order a directive, is issued to the manufacturer by the War Production Board.

(iii) Any manufacturer who has accepted, directly or through another person, an order or orders for paper or paperboard to be produced for the account of any activity or use listed in paragraph (d) (5), shall immediately report such acceptance in triplicate on Form WPB-3270 and thereafter shall immediately report to the War Production Board on such form any change requested by the purchaser in any previously reported order or orders, if such change involves cancellation, or a change in quantity or in the month of manufacture. When the proper order or orders or requested changes reported on Form WPB-3270 have been correctly reported to the War Production Board, the manufacturer will be notified accordingly and credit against the manufacturer's reserve production will be recorded, subject to the provisions of paragraph (d) (2) (ii). Thereafter the manufacturer shall produce such orders according to his schedule as so reported to the War Production Board. (The reporting requirements of this paragraph have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget, pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.)

Renumber paragraph (d) (3) to read (d) (5).

Change the title and the opening paragraph of (e) (1) to read as follows:

(1) Consumers inventories except those covered by M-241-a, L-241, L-244, L-245, and (after July 1st, 1944) L-289

Change (f) (6) fourth line to read "War Production Board, Paper Division" instead of "Pulp and Paper Division".

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

APPENDIX A—CONDENSER TISSUE

(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this appendix: "Condenser tissue" includes the following mill grades: Kraft Condenser Tissue, Linen Condenser Tissue; Tan Condenser Tissue; Kraft Electrolytic; Manila Electrolytic; Kraft Coil; Rag Coil; and Cream and Grey Special Tissue, and any other similar grade which may be produced from time to time.

Restriction on delivery and receipt of condenser tissue.

(b) Restrictions on acceptance of delivery. On and after July 1, 1944, no consumer shall accept delivery from a producer of condenser tissue except as authorized by the War Production Board in writing.

(c) Delivery restrictions. On and after July 1, 1944 no producer shall deliver condenser tissue except on an order accompanied by a written statement, manually signed by the consumer or an authorized official of the consumer in the following form:

Authorized under M-241 Appendix A. Date of authorization ----------, authorization number ----------.

This written statement shall constitute a representation (subject to the penalties of Section 35A of the United States Criminal Code) that the consumer is authorized under this and other applicable War Production Board regulations and orders to place the delivery order and receive the items ordered for the purpose for which ordered. The standard certification of Priorities Regulation 7 must not be used instead of the certification described in this paragraph (c).

(d) Ratings. Ratings shall be used in connection with condenser tissue only as may be directed by the War Production Board on Form WPB-3680. No consumer shall apply any other rating to any order for condenser tissue or use a rating in any other way to procure condenser tissue from a producer.

(e) The War Production Board may at any time by wire or letter revise a previously issued authorization so as to make any of the paper covered by such authorization available for another use, and, for the purpose of fulfilling a time requirement of the armed forces, may direct a producer to produce and deliver condenser tissue for such requirement prior to the production and delivery of any other condenser tissue.

(f) Applications and reports. (1) Each person who desires to receive a delivery or deliveries of condenser tissue in any calendar month shall file his application in triplicate on Form WPB-3680 with the War Production Board on or before the fifth day of the month immediately preceding such month, or at any other time currently required in such form, and shall furnish the information provided for on such form.

(2) The reporting requirements set forth in paragraphs (f) (1) of this appendix have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(g) This Appendix A of M-241 is subject to all the provisions of M-241 not inconsistent with the provisions of this appendix.

PART 3305—PAPERBOARD

[Conservation Order M-378]

PAPERBOARD

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created shortages in the supply of paperboard and of materials entering into the production of paperboard for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 3305.1 Conservation Order M-378—(a) What this order does. This order requires that each manufacturer of paperboard set aside a reserve production, subject to direction by War Production Board, provides for credits against that reserve production, limits the amount of paperboard that may be accepted by any person, and restricts the production of paperboard.

(b) Definition. For the purpose of this order "paperboard" means the types and grades of paperboard classified under caption numbers 221,000 through 269,000, except 253,000 (pressboard), 261,100 (homogeneous wallboard), 261,200 (hard pressed wallboard), 262,000 (insulating building board), and 241,000 through 249,000 (nonbending cardboards), in Form WPB-514, as currently revised, in sheet or roll form and whether or not lined, pasted or specially treated. It does not include containerboard as defined in Order M-290.

(c) Restrictions on production of paperboard. Unless specifically authorized by the War Production Board, no person shall produce paperboard on any paper machine (Yankee, Harper, Fourdrinier, Cylinder or Wet Machine), which did not produce paperboard in the period May 1, 1943, to July 15, 1943, inclusive.

(d) Reserve production. Each manufacturer of paper or paperboard shall reserve for the month of June, 1944, and for each succeeding month thereafter, time and supplies sufficient to produce within each month the amount of paperboard designated by the War Production Board as his reserve production. The amount so designated for June, 1944, and and for each month thereafter, until the War Production Board determines otherwise, is forty percent of the average monthly finished production of paperboard which each manufacturer reported to the War Production Board on Form WPB-514 for the most recent three calendar quarters.

(e) Direction of reserve production. On or before the 15th day of any month, the War Production Board may direct any manufacturer to employ his reserve, subject to the provisions of paragraph (f), to produce any grades of paperboard which the manufacturer is able to produce and in any quantity not exceeding the tonnage of his reserve production. The War Production Board may require a manufacturer to sell and deliver his reserve production to any person. Any order taken by a manufacturer at the direction of the War Production Board shall reduce his reserve production by the amount of finished production represented by that order. A manufacturer may refuse to produce and deliver his reserve production in accordance with the directions of the War Production Board only for the reasons specified for the refusal of rated orders in § 944.2 of Priorities Regulation No. 1. If a manufacturer is not directed by the War Production Board as to the disposition of part or all of his reserve production on or before the 15th day of the month in which such production is reserved, he may employ the production for which no directions have been received in any way he wishes that is consistent with the provisions of this and other orders of the War Production Board.

(f) Production for federal agencies—(1) Reporting orders and changes in orders. Any manufacturer who has accepted an order for paperboard, directly or through another person, to be produced for the account of any of the agencies or uses listed in paragraph (f) (3) shall immediately report such acceptance in triplicate on Form WPB-3270, including the other information called for therein. Thereafter any change in a reported order which involves cancellation or an alteration in the quantity or month of manufacture shall be reported immediately by the manufacturer to the War Production Board on Form WPB-3270. The manufacturer shall produce such orders according to his schedule as reported to and approved by the War Production Board.

(2) Credit against reserve production. If a manufacturer accepts an order from one of the sixteen agencies listed in paragraph (f) (3) and properly reports that fact to the War Production Board on Form WPB-3270, the War Production Board will credit the tonnage in his order against any unused portion of his reserve production for the month in which the tonnage is to be produced, and will notify him.

(3) List of agencies. The agencies referred to in paragraph (f) (1) are:

1. United States Army.
2. United States Army Map Service.
3. United States Army Air Forces.
4. United States Navy.
5. The United States Marine Corps.
6. The United States Coast Guard.
7. The United States Maritime Commission War Shipping Administration.
8. Lend-Lease Administration—Foreign Economic Administration.
9. Panama Canal.
10. Bureau of Public Debt.
11. United States Government Printing Office.
12. United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing.
13. Procurement Division of the United States Treasury.
14. Office of Economic Warfare—Foreign Economic Administration (orders with an O. E. W. or F. E. A. approved export license).

15. United States Post Office.
16. Producers of products or parts of products which are to be delivered on a contract or purchase order issued by any of the agencies listed above, if the paperboard furnished to such producers is to be used exclusively either as a component part, or for the necessary packaging, of products or parts of products so ordered. (Report Government Department Order number and name of converter or user).

(g) Inventory restrictions. No person shall knowingly deliver to any person, and no person shall accept delivery of, any quantity of paperboard, if the total inventory in the hands of the person accepting delivery is, or by virtue of the acceptance will become, either (a) in excess of two carloads, or (b) in excess of his reasonably anticipated requirements for the next thirty days, whichever is greater. No person shall order any quantity of paper board for delivery to him, or for his account, on any future date, if receipt thereof on that date would increase his inventory of such paperboard to more than the amount permitted in the first sentence of this paragraph.

The restrictions of this paragraph apply equally to paperboard of foreign and domestic origin, and to intra-company deliveries as defined in § 944.12 of Priorities Regulation 1.

(h) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales.

(i) Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this order shall upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

(j) Reports. The reporting requirements of paragraph (f) of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such other reports and questionnaires as may be required, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget.

(k) Appeals. Appeals from this order shall be filed by addressing a letter to the War Production Board, Paperboard Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-378.

The letter of appeal need not follow any particular form. It should state informally, but completely, the particular provision appealed from, the precise relief desired, the reasons why denial of the appeal would result in undue and excessive hardship, and such other statistical and narrative information as may be pertinent.

(l) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of or from processing or using materials under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected hereby are subject to all applicable War Production Board regulations, as amended from time to time.

(n) Communications to War Production Board. All communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Paperboard Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-378.

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

PART 1340—FUEL

[RMPR 122, Amdt. 22]

SOLID FUELS SOLD AND DELIVERED BY DEALERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment issued simultaneously herewith has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

The following is added to Rule 3 in § 1340.254 (b) (2):

However, if the fuel priced under this Rule 3 is a fuel purchased as a substitute for fuel which the dealer cannot obtain because of limitations ordered by the Solid Fuels Administration for War or because of insufficient production, the dealer shall follow these rules in addition to this Rule 3 to determine what margin he shall add to his delivered cost of the substitute fuel:

If the dealer had sold only anthracite and buys bituminous coal as a substitute, he shall add his margin obtained on his anthracite sale most nearly like the sale he will make of bituminous coal.

If the dealer had sold low volatile bituminous coal and buys high volatile bituminous coal as a substitute, he shall add his margin obtained on his sale of low volatile bituminous coal most nearly like the sale he will make of high volatile bituminous coal.

If the dealer had sold both high and low volatile bituminous coals, and buys high volatile bituminous coal as a substitute for the low volatile bituminous coal, he shall add his margin obtained on his sale of the similar high volatile bituminous coal most nearly like the sale he will make of the substitute high volatile bituminous coal.

In all other situations, the dealer shall add the margin on his sale of the replaced fuel most nearly like the sale he will make of the substitute fuel. In any event, he shall take into account similarity in size, quality and use, class of purchaser, quantity purchased, method of delivery (e. g., by truck, rail, etc.) and terms of delivery (e. g., delivered price, f. o. b. yard, etc.).

Before the dealer may sell substitute fuels at a price calculated under the foregoing rules relating to substitute fuels, he shall file a statement with his District O. P. A. office stating the price he has thus calculated, and:

First: The size, kind, quality and possible use or uses of the substitute fuel being priced;

Second: The name of its producer and its origin and, for bituminous coal, its price classification and group, size group, and mine index number in the minimum price schedules of the Bituminous Coal Division, as in effect at midnight August 23, 1943.

Third: The per net ton cost, f. o. b. supplier's shipping point;

Fourth: The actual transportation cost to the dealer's yard, dock, or other terminal facility; (a dealer eligible for compensatory adjustment under Revised Compensatory Adjustment Regulation No. 1 shall substitute for this item the lowest transportation cost he would have incurred during December 1941 in bringing the fuel to his terminal facility);

Fifth: a proposed schedule of prices for each class of purchaser involved, stating price variations for different quantities, methods and terms of delivery;

Sixth: the margin over delivered cost used in the calculation of the maximum price for the substitute fuel and description of the solid fuel used as the basis for pricing the substitute fuel; that is, a description of the fuel being replaced or the fuel customarily handled which is in the same general category as the substitute fuel and the margin of which is used in the calculation of the maximum price for the substitute fuel.

The dealer's maximum price for the substitute fuel shall exactly reflect any increase or decrease in his cost per net ton f. o. b. supplier's facilities or cost of transportation to his terminal facility, or both, and the dealer shall inform his District OPA office in writing of any such change in his maximum price within 10 days after the change is made.

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1396—FINE CHEMICALS, DRUGS AND COSMETICS

[RMPR 282,[1] Amdt. 1]

CERTAIN PRIVATE FORMULA DRUG AND COSMETIC PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 282 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 (a) (6) (ii) (a) is amended to read:

(a) If the material costs are being determined for a private formula product whose maximum price was established prior to February 11, 1944, $5.00 per proof gallon.

2. Section 1 (a) (6) (ii) (b) is amended to read:

(b) If material costs are being determined for any other private formula product as to which the manufacturer would be eligible to receive a drawback under section 3250 (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, $6.00 per proof gallon.

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

[MPR 392,[1] Amdt. 4]

PACKAGED DRUGS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation No. 392 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1 (a) (19) (ii) (a) is amended to read:

(a) If the material costs are being determined for an old packaged drug whose maximum price was established prior to May 12, 1943 or whose maximum price as established since that date under this regulation is the same as the maximum price of a packaged drug sold under the same name, whose maximum price was established prior to May 12, 1943, $5.00 per proof gallon.

2. Section 1 (a) (19) (ii) (b) is amended to read:

(b) If material costs are being determined for any other packaged drug as to which the manufacturer would be eligible to receive a drawback under section 3250 (1) of the Internal Revenue Code, $6.00 per proof gallon.

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

PART 1396—FINE CHEMICALS, DRUGS AND COSMETICS

[MPR 392,[1] Amdt. 5]

PACKAGED DRUGS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 7 (a) is amended by adding the following paragraphs at the end thereof:

*Copies may be obtained from the Office of Price Administration.

[1] 9 F.R. 1523.

[1] 8 F.R. 6262, 12477, 12660; 9 F.R. 2440.

In those cases where the changed size is an intermediate size, that is, where there is a smaller as well as a larger size of an old packaged drug sold under the same name, the base price of the changed-size packaged drug may, at the manufacturer's option, be computed as follows:

(1) Subtract the base price of the next smaller size of the old packaged drug sold under the same name from the base price of the next larger size.

(2) Subtract the number of quantity units in the next smaller size from the number in the next larger size.

(3) Subtract the number of quantity units in the next smaller size from the number in the changed-size packaged drug being priced.

(4) Divide the result of step (3) by the result of step (2), multiply by the result of step (1), and add the product to the base price of the next smaller size to find the base price of the changed-size packaged drug being priced.

Example: The manufacturer of a packaged drug markets it in a 100-tablet size with a base price of $1.00 and a 500-tablet size with a base price of $3.50. He now wishes to determine a base price for a new size of 200 tablets.

(1) The difference between the base prices of the next larger and next smaller old sizes is $3.50 minus $1.00 or $2.50.

(2) The difference in quantity units between the two old sizes is 500 minus 100 or 400.

(3) The difference in quantity units between the changed-size and the next smaller old size is 200 minus 100 or 100.

(4) The base price of the changed-size packaged drug is 100 (step (3)) divided by 400 (step (2)) and multiplied by $2.50 (step (1)), the result being added to $1.00, or

$$\text{Base price} = $1.00 + \frac{100}{400} \times $2.50 = $1.00 + .625 = $1.625.$$

Where the base price of the changed-size packaged drug is determined by reference both to the next larger and the next smaller sizes of the old packaged drug sold under the same name, the next larger size of the old packaged drug sold under the same name shall be used as the most comparable packaged drug in determining maximum prices by the method set forth in section 6. In such case, the manufacturer shall include with the report required by section 11 a full explanation of how he computed the base price for the changed-size packaged drug.

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

(2) Case goods: All types and pieces of bedroom and dining room furniture and shall include all types of novelty and occasional furniture such as end tables, coffee tables, smoking stands, mirrors, wall racks, radio cabinets that are sold without the radio set installed, record cabinets, folding chairs, folding card tables, ice-refrigerators (except electric), kitchen tables and chairs, bases, cabinets, dinette sets, stools and bars.

(3) Outdoor and lanai furniture: All types of furniture used on lanais or outdoors, whether stationary, portable or collapsible, and shall include steamer and deck chairs, portable barbecue sets, hammocks of all types, umbrellas, portable awnings or sun shades and cabanas.

(4) Juvenile furniture and bedding: All types of juvenile furniture, chests, cribs, bunks, chairs and tables, all types of mattresses and protective pads, bassinets; but shall not include such items as are used for children's entertainment such as slides, sand boxes, swings for larger children, velocipedes, or wagons.

(5) Beds and bedding: All types of beds and cots, including folding or collapsible types; all types of bedding, made of new materials and bedding made with reprocessed cotton, hair and feathers and down, including mattresses, pillows and pads, but not including domestics such as sheets, pillow cases, blankets and comforters; and all types of bed springs regardless of material used for construction.

(6) Office furniture: All types of office furniture, tables such as are used for supporting machines, filing cabinets and other cabinets; but shall not include safes or any type of office machines.

(7) Institutional furniture: All types of institutional furniture and such items as are used for similar purposes as household furniture; and shall include portable blackboards, map cases or racks, tablet arm chairs; all types of hospital furniture other than surgical or medical appliances; wheel chairs, invalid chairs and bed trays.

(8) Unpainted furniture: All types of unpainted furniture and bedding. The term "furniture and bedding" does not include lamps, floor coverings, rugs, stoves or musical instruments. However, the term "furniture and bedding" as used in this section applies only to new furniture and bedding. Used or reconditioned furniture and bedding are not covered by this section, other than bedding made with reprocessed cotton, hair, feathers and down.

(b) Wholesaler's ceiling prices. If you are a wholesaler, you calculate your ceiling prices in the following manner:

(1) For out of stock sales: Add your manufacturer's selling price and your landing costs. Then multiply this amount by 1.25. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(2) For sales on a drop shipment basis:

(i) Bedding articles: Multiply your manufacturer's selling price by 1.10. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(ii) All other articles: Multiply your manufacturer's selling price by 1.15. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(3) For sales of furniture and bedding purchased from a local wholesaler: If your purchase furniture and bedding from another local wholesaler whose ceiling price is established under subparagraphs (1) or (2) above, you must secure a written record of your supplier's ceiling price, and your ceiling price shall be your supplier's ceiling price.

(c) Retailer's ceiling prices. If you are a retailer, you calculate your ceiling prices in the following manner:

(1) For sales of articles purchased directly from mainland manufacturers:

(i) Add your manufacturer's selling price and your landing costs. Then multiply this amount by 1.70. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(2) For sales of articles purchased directly from mainland wholesalers:

(i) Add your wholesaler's selling price and your landing costs. Then multiply this amount by 1.36. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(3) For sales of articles imported from the mainland and purchased from local wholesalers out of locally warehoused stock:

(i) Multiply your wholesaler's selling price by 1.36. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(4) For sales of articles imported from the mainland and purchased from local wholesalers on a drop shipment basis:

(i) Add your manufacturer's selling price and your landing costs. Then multiply this amount by 1.70. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(5) For sales of all locally manufactured articles:

(i) Multiply your manufacturer's selling price by 1.70. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

(d) Landing costs. (1) "Landing cost" for articles imported from the mainland shall be the total of the following amounts:

(i) An amount equal to the transportation charges, if any, actually incurred by the purchaser for transportation from the mainland point at which the purchaser received delivery to the mainland port of shipment (including Federal Transportation Tax and terminal charges) not in excess of public (common or contract) carrier rates.

(ii) An amount equal to mainland storage charges and insurance in connection therewith actually incurred by the purchaser. The charges for storage and insurance in connection therewith in excess of three months shall not be included.

(iii) An amount equal to cartage charges actually incurred by the purchaser for cartage from warehouse to dock in port of shipment, not in excess of public (common or contract) carrier rates.

(iv) An amount equal to charges for ocean freight, War Risk and Marine insurance actually incurred by the purchaser, and there may be included in this amount Territorial tolls and tonnage tax as shown on the bill of lading. However, the amount by which any cost of War Risk insurance exceeds the rates charged by the War Shipping Administration shall not be included, but the type of coverage is at the discretion of the buyer and seller.

(v) An amount equal to cartage charges in the Port of Entry in the Territory of Hawaii from dock to establishment of the purchaser, computed at a rate not in excess of $1.20 per ton weight or measurement: Provided, That a commodity is moved from a dock at the purchaser's expense.

(2) "Landing cost" in cases of Inter-Island shipments. In cases where the article has been shipped from one island to another island in the Territory of Hawaii, the following additional charges may be added to those set forth in subparagraph (1), above:

(i) An amount equal to the actual transportation cost to be computed in accordance with the applicable provisions of subdivisions (iii), (iv) and (v), above.

(3) If an identical item on hand in the wholesaler's or retailer's stock has two or more different landing costs then the "landing cost" for the item may, at the option of the seller, be determined by calculating a weighted average "landing cost" for the entire inventory of that identical item on hand. Weighted average "landing cost" shall be calculated as follows:

(i) Each different landing cost shall be multiplied by the number of units having such landing cost. The products of such multiplication shall be added and the sum thereof divided by the total number of units for which the weighted average landing cost is desired. The quotient or result of such division is the weighted average landing cost.

(e) Delivery charges. (1) No charges for deliveries may be made for the following deliveries:

(i) Between Wialupi Radio Station, Kapalama Canal and the mountain range on the Island of Oahu.

(ii) Within a radius of five miles of the seller's place of business on all other islands. However, you may not refuse to make free delivery within the free delivery zones above unless it was not your practice, as a seller, during April, 1942 to make free deliveries in these zones.

(2) For deliveries other than those specified in subparagraph (1), above, you may add an amount not in excess of the charge currently made by common or contract carriers for such services. Any charge made for delivery must be separately stated and shown on the invoice used in connection with the sale.

(f) Records and reports. For the purposes of this section, this paragraph supersedes the provisions of section 10 of this regulation.

(1) Required of persons making sales at wholesale.

(i) Purchase records: If you make sales of any furniture or bedding article covered by this section at wholesale, you must keep and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 remains in effect complete and accurate records of each purchase of each such article showing:

(a) The date of purchase and the date of receipt.

(b) The name and address of the seller.

(c) A description of the article purchased, including the manufacturer's lot number.

(d) The price paid or charged.

(e) The quantity purchased.

(f) The manufacturer's selling price if priced under (b) (1) and (b) (2), above, or the invoice cost if purchased under (b) (3), above. If you did not purchase the article from the manufacturer, but rely upon your vendor's written statement of the manufacturer's selling price, you shall keep such statement.

(g) All data including purchase, freight and other invoices or memoranda reflecting the charges incurred by you in arriving at your landing cost.

(ii) Sales records: If you make sales of any furniture and bedding articles covered by this section at wholesale you shall invoice each sale of each such article. A copy of this invoice shall be made and kept by you for examination by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. The original invoice shall be delivered to the buyer and shall state:

(a) The date of sale.

(b) Itemized list of articles sold.

(c) A description of the articles sold, including the manufacturer's lot number.

(d) The manufacturer's selling price for each such article if the ceiling price at wholesale is determined under (b) (2).

(e) Your ceiling price at wholesale for each article.

(f) The price charged or received.

(2) Required of persons making sales at retail. The retailer may list the information required below on each purchase invoice covering the article. If the retailer did not purchase the article from the manufacturer but is relying upon his supplier's written statement of the manufacturer's selling price he shall keep such statement and make it available for examination by this Office for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. The retailer shall likewise keep and make available for examination by this Office for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, his purchase invoice covering that article.

(i) Purchase records: If you make sales at retail of any furniture and bedding article you must keep and make available for examination by this Office for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect complete and accurate records of each purchase of each such article, showing:

(a) The date of purchase and date of receipt.

(b) The name and address of the seller.

(c) A description of the article purchased, including the manufacturer's lot number.

(d) The manufacturer's selling price if priced under (c) (1), (c) (4) or (c) (5), above.

(e) The invoice cost if priced under (c) (2), or (c) (3), above.

(f) The price paid or received.

(g) The retailer's ceiling price.

(ii) Sales records: If you make sales of any furniture and bedding article at retail you shall invoice each sale of each such article. A copy of this invoice shall be made and kept by you for examination by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect. The original invoice shall be given to the buyer, and shall state:

(a) The date of sale.

(b) Itemized list of the articles sold.

(c) A description of the articles sold, including the manufacturer's lot number.

(d) Your ceiling price at retail.

(e) The price charged or received.

(3) Every retailer shall keep and make available for examination by this office, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, records of the same kind as he has customarily kept relating to the price charged for such article and in addition records showing as precisely as possible the basis upon which he determined the maximum price for such article.

(g) Posting and marking of price. For the purpose of this section, this paragraph supersedes the provisions of section 10 (b) of Maximum Price Regulation No. 373.

(1) Posting. On and after the effective date of this section, if you sell any furniture and bedding item at retail, you shall post in a conspicuous place in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public in the department or portion of the premises where such article is sold or offered for sale, a sign stating: "Each article of furniture and bedding in this store (or on this counter, shelf, or in this case, bin or rack) is marked and sold at our ceiling price or less."

(h) Inability to determine maximum prices. If you are unable to determine your maximum price for any article covered by this section, you shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum price.

(i) Definitions. (1) "Manufacturer's selling price" means the price at which the manufacturer of the article sold and invoiced it f. o. b. factory, less all discounts and allowances except cash discounts up to 2%, and before the addition of any premium or other charge permitted under the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.[1]

(2) "Wholesaler's selling price" means the price appearing on the wholesaler's invoice to the retailer, less all discounts and allowances except cash discounts up to 2%, and before the addition of any premium or other charge permitted under the Second Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation.

(3) "Out of stock sales" means sales of articles which the seller carries in stock, sells out of stock, and which were invoiced and received at the establishment of the seller.

(4) "Sales on a drop shipment basis" means sales of articles which were not delivered out of stock, but are consigned to the seller, but are not shipped to the establishment of the seller.

2. Section 68 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 68 Manufacturer's ceiling prices for sales of locally produced furniture and bedding—(a) Scope of this section. This section applies to all sales by manufacturers of locally produced furniture and bedding. The term "furniture and bedding" includes:

(1) Living room furniture: All types of upholstered furniture, whether entirely or partially upholstered, and shall include studio couches, punees, punee cushions, hassocks and ottomans.

(2) Case goods: All types and pieces of bedroom and dining room furniture and shall include all types of novelty and occasional furniture such as end tables, coffee tables, smoking stands, mirrors, wall racks, radio cabinets that are sold without the radio set installed, record cabinets, folding chairs, folding card tables, ice-refrigerators, (except electric), kitchen tables and chairs, bases, cabinets, dinette sets, stools and bars.

(3) Outdoor and Lanai furniture: All types of furniture used on lanais or outdoors, whether stationary or collapsible, and shall include steamer and deck chairs, portable barbecue sets, hammocks of all types, umbrellas, portable awnings or sun shades, cabanas.

(4) Juvenile furniture and bedding: All types of juvenile furniture, chests, cribs, bunks, chairs and tables, all types of mattresses and protective pads, bassinets; but shall not include such items as are used for children's entertainment such as slides, sand boxes, swings for larger children, velocipedes or wagons.

(5) Beds and bedding: All types of beds and cots, including folding or collapsible types; all types of bedding made of new materials and bedding made with reprocessed cotton, hair and feathers and down, including domestic pads (but not including domestics such as sheets, pillow cases, blankets and comforters), and all types of bed springs, regardless of material used for construction.

(6) Office furniture: All types of office furniture, tables, such as are used for supporting machines, filing cabinets and other cabinets; but shall not include safes or any type of office machines.

(7) Institutional furniture: All types of institutional furniture and such items as are used for similar purposes as household furniture; and shall include portable blackboards, map cases or racks, tablet arm chairs; all types of hospital furniture other than surgical or medical appliances, wheel chairs, invalid chairs and bed trays.

(8) Unpainted furniture: All types of unpainted furniture. The term furniture and bedding does not include lamps, floor coverings, rugs, stoves or musical instruments. However, the term furniture and bedding as used in this section applies to new furniture and bedding. Used or reconditioned furniture and bedding is not covered by this section other than bedding made from reprocessed cotton, hair, feathers and down.

The term "manufacturer" means the person who makes the first sale of a furniture and bedding article listed above after the article has been completed to a point indicated by the terminology stated in this paragraph (a).

(b) Ceiling prices. If you are a manufacturer you calculate your ceiling prices for any locally produced furniture or bedding article in the following manner:

(1) Multiply your current cost per unit of direct labor and materials involved in the production of the article by 1.30. The resulting price is your ceiling price.

However, prior to offering any furniture and bedding article for sale, you must comply with the applicable reporting provision set forth in subparagraphs (2) (i) and (2) (ii), below.

(2) Reports of ceiling prices—(i) Articles first offered for sale before the effective date of this section. In the case of articles first offered for sale before the effective date of this section for which a ceiling price was determined under the General Maximum Price Regulation for the Territory of Hawaii,[1] the manufacturer shall report the new ceiling price for the item as determined under subparagraph (1), above, to the Office of Price Administration, Iolani Palace, Honolulu, T. H., on or before May 30, 1944. The report shall contain a description of the article being priced including the manufacturing process and the current unit material cost and wage rates involved in the production of the item. At any time prior to May 30, 1944, the manufacturer may offer for sale, sell or deliver the item at a tentative price if he informs the purchaser that the maximum price is calculated under subparagraph (1), above. Fifteen days after mailing the report, in the absence of a contrary direction from the Office of Price Administration, he may offer for sale or complete the sale of the article at the price reported. Such price shall be subject to adjustment (not to apply retroactively) at any time on the written order of the Office of Price Administration.

(ii) Articles offered for sale after the effective date of this section. In the case or articles first offered for sale after the effective date of this section, the manufacturer shall submit to the Office of Price Administration, Iolani Palace, Honolulu, T. H., the report required in subparagraph (2) (i), above, prior to first offering the article for sale. Fifteen days after mailing the report, in the absence of contrary direction from the Office of Price Administration, the manufacturer may offer the article for sale at the price reported. Such price shall be subject to adjustment (not to apply retroactively) at any time on the written order of the Office of Price Administration.

(iii) Example of report required in subparagraph (2), above. If the item involved is a dressing table, 24" x 16" x 12", the manufacturer should state in his description of his direct cost of materials, the number of feet of lumber used, the type of lumber, the cost per foot of lumber used, whether the lumber is finished or not, the number of drawers contained in the item, the type of article, and any other information pertinent to the cost of materials. In his statement of wage rates involved, he should submit the number of hours of labor involved, for carpentry, painting and upholstering, etc., and the wage rate per hour for each type of labor.

(c) Inability to determine maximum prices. If you are unable to determine your maximum price for any article covered by this section, you shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a maximum price.

(d) Delivery charges. (1) No charges for deliveries may be made for the following deliveries:

(i) Within the area bounded by Wialupi Radio Station, Kapalama Canal and the mountain range on the Island of Oahu,

(ii) Within a radius of five miles of the seller's place of business on all other Islands. However, you may not refuse to make free delivery within the free delivery zones above unless it was not your practice, as a seller during April, 1942, to make free deliveries in these zones.

(2) For deliveries other than those specified in subparagraph (1), above, you may add an amount not in excess of the charge currently made by common or contract carriers for such services. Any charge made for delivery must be separately stated and shown on the invoice used in connection with the sale.

(e) Records and invoices. Sections 10 (a) (2), 10 (b), 10 (c) and 10 (d) of this regulation shall not apply to this section.

In addition to such records required to be kept under section 10 (a) (1) of this regulation, every manufacturer of furniture and bedding must keep and make available for examination by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, the following records:

(i) Delivered cost of materials used.

(ii) Material supplier's name.

(iii) Description of material purchased.

(iv) Purchase price.

(v) Date of purchase and amount of purchase.

(vi) All factory production records, time sheets, job tickets, and payroll records and any other data affecting labor costs.

(f) Sales invoices. Every manufacturer shall invoice each sale of furniture. A copy of the invoice shall be delivered to the buyer and shall state:

(i) Date of sale.

(ii) Name and address of the buyer and seller.

(iii) Itemized list of articles sold.

(iv) Description of articles sold, including manufacturer's lot number.

(v) The price charged or received.

(vi) Delivery charges.

A copy of this invoice shall be kept by the manufacturer for examination by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall remain in effect.

This amendment shall become effective as follows:

(a) As to section 67, as of May 1, 1944.

(b) As to section 68, as of May 15, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping provisions of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[Rev. SR 14 to GMPR, Amdt. 140]

MAXIMUM PRICES FOR BOTTLERS TO WHOLESALERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Paragraph (b) of section 2.1 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Maximum prices for bottlers to wholesalers. If a bottler during July 1941 sold a soft drink both to wholesalers and retailers, his maximum price to wholesalers shall be the maximum price determined under the schedule in paragraph (a) of this section, less the amount expressed in dollars and cents by which his average selling price to retailers during July 1941 exceeded his average selling price to wholesalers during the same period.

If a bottler made no sales of a soft drink to retailers during July 1941, and sold only to wholesalers, who in turn sold to retailers, the bottler's maximum price to wholesalers shall be an amount determined as follows:

(1) Ascertain the wholesalers' (to whom the bottler sold) average selling price to retailers during July 1941 for the soft drink.

(2) Ascertain the bottler's average selling price to wholesalers during July 1941 for the soft drink.

(3) Subtract (2) from (1).

(4) Subtract the resulting figure as (3) from the wholesalers' maximum price to retailers determined under the schedule in paragraph (a) of this section. The resulting figure is the bottler's maximum price to wholesalers.

This amendment shall become effective June 12, 1944.

TRANSFER OF CERTAIN LANDS FROM TENNESSEE VALLEY AUTHORITY TO FOREST SERVICE

Supplement to agreement of transfer from Tennessee Valley Authority to United States Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, dated June 20, 1940.

This supplemental agreement of transfer, made and entered into this 7th day of April, 1944, by and between the Tennessee Valley Authority, a corporation organized and existing under and by virtue of an act of Congress known as the Tennessee Valley Authority Act of 1933, as amended (hereinafter called "Authority"), party of the first part, and United States Department of Agriculture, for the use and benefit of the Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture (hereinafter called "Department") by party of the second part;

Witnesseth: Whereas the parties heretofore entered into an agreement of transfer dated June 20, 1940 [1] (TV-54350) wherein the Authority transferred certain lands located within or contiguous to the Nantahala National Forest to the Department; and

Whereas, the parties desire to supplement the agreement of June 20, 1940 (TV-54350) by including a certain tract in the Town of Murphy, North Carolina, to be used as a site for a ranger station; and

Whereas no permanent dam, hydroelectric power plant, fertilizer plant or munitions plant is located on the parcel hereinafter described;

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises it is agreed:

1. The agreement between the parties dated June 20, 1940 (TV-54350) is hereby supplemented and extended by adding the following-described parcel of land at the end of the description on page 19 thereof:

Tract FBR-410 and a portion of Tract FBR-199, located in the Town of Murphy, Cherokee County, North Carolina, as shown on Plat 422-A-508, hereto attached as Exhibit A and made a part hereof, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at an iron pipe, the coordinates of which referred to the North Carolina Coordinate System, are N. 521,309 and E. 495,854;

From the initial point, by metes and bounds, N. 74°00' W., 290 ft. to Monument No. 199-2; N. 25°00' E., 430 ft. to Monument No. 199-3; N. 61°30' W., 710 ft. to Monument No. 199-4, the coordinates of which referred to the North Carolina Coordinate System, are N. 522.117 and E. 495,112; N. 29°00' E., 715 ft. to a point on the left bank of the Hiwassee River as located before the construction of the Hiwassee Dam;

Thence southeasterly upstream along the left bank of the river as located before the construction of the Hiwassee Dam approximately 1020 ft. to a point; Thence, leaving the river, S. 25°00' W., 748 ft. to an iron pipe, the place of beginning.

The tract as described contains 14.8 acres.

The positions of corners and directions of lines, are referred to the North Carolina Coordinate System. The corners referred to above as "Monuments" are concrete monuments in which are set bronze plates on which the numbers given above are stamped.

The above-described tract of land is transferred subject to:

(a) A right of access in favor of the general public along the shoreline of Hiwassee Reservoir, including but not exceeding a strip fifty (50) feet in width above the 1526 m. s. l. contour.

(b) Such rights as may be vested in the Town of Murphy, North Carolina, to a sewer line right-of-way.

(c) Any ranger station to be used for all-year residence or habitation shall be located

Coal Mines Administration.

[Order CMA-34]

APEX COAL CO., ET AL.

ORDER TERMINATING GOVERNMENT POSSESSION

On December 17, 1943, a wage agreement was entered into by the United Mine Workers of America and the representatives of the bituminous coal operators who produce the great preponderance of the nation's tonnage. This agreement has been approved by the National War Labor Board and the Director of Economic Stabilization.

I have been advised that the operators listed in Appendix A, attached hereto, have executed or are about to execute contracts and will put them into effect immediately upon termination of Government possession of their mining properties. On the basis of such advice and the available information and evidence, and after consideration of all of the circumstances, I find that Government possession of the mines of such operators is no longer required, and in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) and the War Labor Disputes Act (Pub. 89, 78th Cong. 1st Sess.) should be terminated.

Accordingly, I order and direct that the possession by the Government of the mines of the mining companies listed in Appendix A, attached hereto and made a part hereof, including any and all real and personal property, franchises, rights, facilities, funds and other assets used in connection with the operation of such mines, be, and it is hereby terminated, and that there be displayed conspicuously at those mining properties copies of a poster to be supplied by the Coal Mines Administration, and reading as follows:

NOTICE: Government possession and control of the coal mines of this mining company have been terminated by order of the Secretary of the Interior.

In accordance with section 40 of the regulations for the operation of coal mines under Government control, as amended, (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), the appointments of the operating managers for the United States for all of the aforesaid mines with respect to which the mining companies have on file with the Administrator effective instruments of agreement and certification as provided for in section 25 of the regulations as amended, (8 F.R. 6655, 10712, 11344, 17339), are automatically terminated.

Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to preclude the Government from requiring the submission of information relating to operations during the period of Government possession, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence and amount of any claims against the United States so that the administration of the provisions of Executive Order No. 9393 (8 F.R. 14877) may be concluded in an orderly manner.

Dated: June 7, 1944.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

[Docket No. G-553]

KENTUCKY NATURAL GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

JUNE 7, 1944.

Notice is hereby given that on June 2, 1944, an application was filed with the Federal Power Commission by Kentucky Natural Gas Corporation ("Applicant"), a Delaware corporation doing business in the States of Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, with its principal business office at Owensboro, Kentucky, for the issuance to it of a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, to authorize Applicant to increase its natural gas compressor station near Terre Haute, Indiana, from 200 h.p. to 400 h.p., by removing from its Oaktown, Indiana, compressor station one 100 h.p. engine, and from its Niagara, Kentucky, station one 100 h.p. engine, and installing and operating the two engines so removed in the Terre Haute compressor station.

Applicant states that it furnishes natural gas to Public Service Company of Indiana for distribution in Seymour, Franklin, Martinsville, Bloomington, Bedford and Mitchell, Indiana, and that the installation and operation of the proposed facilities are necessary in order to meet the anticipated enhanced requirements of Public Service Company of Indiana in serving said Cities during the winter of 1944-45; and also in order for Applicant to have available some standby engine capacity in its Terre Haute compressor station.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should, on or before the 23d day of June 1944, file with the Federal Power Commission a petition or protest in accordance with the Commission's Provisional Rules of Practice and Regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

[S. O. 178, Amended Gen. Permit 10]

LOADING AND TRANSPORTATION OF REFRIGERATOR CARS WITH PROCESSED CHEESE

Pursuant to the authority vested in me by paragraph (e) of the first ordering paragraph (§ 95.328, 9 F.R. 542) of Service Order No. 178 of January 11, 1944, permission is granted for any common carrier by railroad subject to the Interstate Commerce Act:

To disregard the provisions of Service Order No. 178 insofar as it applies to the loading of refrigerator cars with processed cheese in glass containers or the transportation or movement of refrigerator cars so loaded.

This permit shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., June 8, 1944, and shall expire at 12:01 a. m., September 1, 1944.

The waybills shall show reference to this general permit.

A copy of this general permit has been served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and notice of this permit shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 5th day of June 1944.

F. OKAWA

In re: A chattel mortgage on laundry equipment located at Red Bluff, California, owned by F. Okawa, also known as Fusakichi Okawa.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That F. Okawa, also known as Fusakichi Okawa, is a resident of Japan and a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

2. That F. Okawa, also known as Fusakichi Okawa, is the owner of the property described in subparagraph 3 hereof;

3. That the property described as follows:

A certain chattel mortgage executed by Hiroshi Kamiya, as mortgagor, on April 19, 1938, in favor of F. Okawa, as mortgagee, and recorded in the County Recorder's Office of Tehama County, California, in Liber 98 of Official Records at page 205, and any and all obligations secured by said mortgage, including but not limited to all security rights in and to any and all collateral (including the aforesaid chattel mortgage) for any and all of such obligations and the right to enforce and collect such obligations, and the right to the possession of any and all notes bonds or other instruments evidencing such obligations, is property within the United States owned or controlled by a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

And determining that to the extent that such national is a person not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such person be treated as a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

And having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification required by law, and deeming it necessary in the national interest, hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property described above, subject to recorded liens, encumbrances, and other rights of record held by or for persons who are not nationals of designated enemy countries, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest, and for the benefit, of the United States.

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account, or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall this order be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one, or all, of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed, file with the Alien Property Custodian on Form APC-1 a notice of claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

The terms "national" and "designated enemy country" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order No. 9095, as amended.

Executed at Washington, D. C., on September 30, 1943.

TEIKOKU COMPANY

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That Teikoku Company is a co-partnership organized and doing business under the laws of the State of Oregon and a business enterprise within the United States, composed of A. (Ayao) Matsushima and U. (Umata) Matsushima, each owning a 50 percent interest, which is evidence of ownership and control of said business enterprise;

2. That A. (Ayao) Matsushima, whose last known address is Japan, is a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

3. That U. (Umata) Matsushima is a subject of Japan and has been interned by order of the Attorney General, and is acting directly or indirectly for the benefit or on behalf of a designated enemy country (Japan) or persons within such country;

and determining:

4. That U. (Umata) Matsushima is acting for or on behalf of or as a cloak for a designated enemy country (Japan) or persons within such country, and is a national of such designated enemy country;

5. That Teikoku Company is controlled by A. (Ayao) Matsushima and U. (Umata) Matsushima and is a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

6. That to the extent that such nationals are persons not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such persons be treated as nationals of a designated enemy country (Japan);

and having made all determinations and taken all action required by law, including appropriate consultation and certification, and deeming it necessary in the national interest, hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian all right, title and interest of A. (Ayao) Matsushima in and to the business and assets of Teikoku Company, a co-partnership, hereinbefore more fully described, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest and for the benefit of the United States, and hereby undertakes the direction, management, supervision and control of Teikoku Company to the extent deemed necessary or advisable from time to time by the Alien Property Custodian.

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to vary the extent of or terminate such direction, management, supervision or control, or return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall it be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed, file with the Alien Property Custodian on Form APC–1 a notice of claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

The terms "national", "designated enemy country" and "business enterprise within the United States" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order No. 9095, as amended.

Executed at Washington, D. C., on November 30, 1943.

In re: Automobile owned by Shigenari Hattori.

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation, finding:

1. That the last known address of Shigenari Hattori is Japan, and that he is a resident of Japan and a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

2. That Shigenari Hattori is the owner of the property described in subparagraph 3 hereof;

3. That the property described as follows:

A tan Packard club sedan, 1935 model, engine No. X–7551, 1941 license Territory of Hawaii E7170, presently in the custody of Benjamin K. Harada, Pensacola Hotel, 1524 Pensacola Street, Honolulu, T. H., in the garage on said premises.

is property within the United States owned or controlled by a national of designated enemy country (Japan);

And determining that to the extent that such national is a person not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such person be treated as a national of a designated enemy country (Japan);

And having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification required by law, and deeming it necessary in the national interest, hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property described in subparagraph 3 hereof, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest, and for the benefit, of the United States.

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account, or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall this order be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order may, within one year from the date hereof, or within such further time as may be allowed, file with the Alien Property Custodian on Form APC–1 a notice of claim, together with a request for a hearing thereon. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to constitute an admission of the existence, validity or right to allowance of any such claim.

The terms "national" and "designated enemy country" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order No. 9095, as amended.

Executed at Washington, D. C., on April 4, 1944.

[Vesting Order 3504]

COPYRIGHT INTERESTS HELD BY CERTAIN GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN NATIONALS

Under the authority of the Trading with the Enemy Act, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9095, as amended, and pursuant to law, the undersigned, after investigation:

1. Finding that each person whose name, nationality, and last known address where established, is listed at the top of each page of Exhibit A[1] attached hereto and by reference made a part hereof, if an individual is a resident or citizen of, or if a business organization is organized under the laws of, and holds the nationality designated after the name of such person;

2. Finding that the persons listed in said Exhibit A jointly or severally own or control the property hereinafter described in subparagraph 3;

3. Determining that the property described as follows:

a. All right, title, interest and claim of whatsoever kind or nature, under the statutory and common law of the United States and of the several States thereof, of each person whose name, nationality, and last known address, where established, is designated at the top of each page of said Exhibit A in, to and under the following:

1. Every copyright, claim of copyright and right to copyright, or rights related thereto, in each and all of the works described in each page of said Exhibit A under the name of such person;

2. Every license, agreement, privilege, power and right of whatsoever nature arising under or with respect to any or all of the foregoing; excepting the rights of any person to renew any or all of the copyrights arising in, from or under any or all of the foregoing;

3. All monies and amounts, and all right to receive monies and amounts, by way of royalty, share of profits or other emolument, accrued or to accrue, whether arising pursuant to law, contract or otherwise, with respect to any or all of the foregoing;

4. All rights of reversion or revesting, if any, in any or all of the foregoing;

5. All causes of action accrued or to accrue at law or in equity with respect to any or all of the foregoing, including but not limited to the right to sue for and recover all damages and profits and to ask and receive any and all remedies provided by common law or statute for the infringement of any copyright or the violation of any right or the breach of any obligation described in or affecting any or all of the foregoing:

is property of, or is property payable or held with respect to copyrights or rights related thereto, in which interests are held by, and such property itself constitutes interests held therein by, nationals of one or more foreign countries.

4. Having made all determinations and taken all action, after appropriate consultation and certification, required by said Executive order or act or otherwise; and hereby vests in the Alien Property Custodian the property hereinbefore described in subparagraph 3, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States.

5. Deeming it necessary in the national interest;

Such property and any or all of the proceeds thereof shall be held in an appropriate account or accounts, pending further determination of the Alien Property Custodian. This order shall not be deemed to limit the power of the Alien Property Custodian to return such property or the proceeds thereof in whole or in part, nor shall it be deemed to indicate that compensation will not be paid in lieu thereof, if and when it should be determined to take any one or all of such actions.

Any person, except a national of a designated enemy country, asserting any claim arising as a result of this order

[Supp. Order ODT 3, Rev. 40, Amdt. 2]

COMMON CARRIERS

COORDINATED OPERATIONS BETWEEN POINTS IN ILLINOIS AND MISSOURI

Upon consideration of a petition filed with the Office of Defense Transportation by Riss & Company, Inc., Kansas City, Missouri, and good cause appearing therefor, It is hereby ordered, That:

Supplementary Order ODT 3, Revised–40, as amended (8 F.R. 9584; 9 F.R. 4409), be further amended by eliminating Riss & Company, Inc., as a carrier subject thereto.

This amendment shall become effective on June 8, 1944.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 8th day of June 1944.

[Supplementary Order ODT 3, Rev. 243]

COMMON CARRIERS

COORDINATED OPERATIONS BETWEEN POINTS IN TEXAS

Upon consideration of a plan for joint action filed with the Office of Defense Transportation by the persons named in Appendix 1 hereof to facilitate compliance with the requirements and purposes of General Order ODT 3, Revised, as amended, (7 F. R. 5445, 6689, 7694; 8 F.R. 4660, 14582; 9 F.R. 2793, 3264, 3357) a copy of which plan is attached hereto as Appendix 2,[1] and

It appearing that the proposed coordination of operations is necessary in order to assure maximum utilization of the facilities, services, and equipment, and to conserve and providently utilize vital equipment, materials, and supplies, of the carriers, and to provide for the prompt and continuous movement of necessary traffic, the attainment of which purposes is essential to the successful prosecution of the war, It is hereby ordered, That:

1. The plan for joint action above referred to is hereby approved and the carriers are directed to put the plan in operation forthwith, subject to the following provisions, which shall supersede any provisions of such plan that are in conflict therewith.

2. Each of the carriers forthwith shall file a copy of this order with the appropriate regulatory body or bodies having jurisdiction over any operations affected by this order, and likewise shall file, and publish in accordance with law, and continue in effect until further order, tariffs or supplements to filed tariffs, setting forth any changes in rates, charges, operations, rules, regulations, and practices of the carrier which may be necessary to accord with the provisions of this order and of such plan; and forthwith shall apply to such regulatory body or bodies for special permission for such tariffs or supplements to become effective on the shortest notice lawfully permissible, but not prior to the effective date of this order.

3. Whenever transportation service is performed by one carrier in lieu of service by another carrier, by reason of a diversion, exchange, pooling, or similar act made or performed pursuant to the plan for joint action hereby approved, the rates, charges, rules, and regulations governing such service shall be those that would have applied except for such diversion, exchange, pooling, or other act.

4. The provisions of this order shall not be so construed or applied as to require any carrier subject hereto to perform any service beyond its transportation capacity, or to authorize or require any act or omission which is in violation of any law or regulation, or to permit any carrier to alter its legal liability to any shipper. In the event that compliance with any term of this order, or effectuation of any provision of such plan, would conflict with, or would not be authorized under, the existing interstate or intrastate operating authority of any carrier subject hereto, such carrier forthwith shall apply to the appropriate regulatory body or bodies for the granting of such operating authority as may be requisite to compliance with the terms of this order, and shall prosecute such application with all possible diligence. The coordination of operations directed by this order shall be subject to the carriers' possessing or obtaining the requisite operating authority.

5. All records of the carriers pertaining to any transportation performed pursuant to this order and to the provisions of such plan shall be kept available for examination and inspection at all reasonable times by accredited representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation.

6. Withdrawal of a carrier from participation in the plan for joint action hereby approved shall not be made without prior approval of the Office of Defense Transportation.

7. The provisions of this order shall be binding upon any successor in interest to any carrier named in this order. Upon a transfer of any operation involved in this order, the successor in interest and the other carriers named in this order forthwith shall notify, in writing, the Office of Defense Transportation of the transfer and, unless and until otherwise ordered, the successor in interest shall perform the functions of his predecessor in accordance with the provisions of this order.

8. The plan for joint action hereby approved and all contractual arrangements made by the carriers to effectuate the plan shall not continue in operation beyond the effective period of this order.

9. Communications concerning this order should refer to it by the supplementary order number which appears in the caption hereof, and, unless otherwise directed, should be addressed to the Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington 25, D. C.

This order shall become effective June 12, 1944, and shall remain in full force and effect until the termination of the present war shall have been duly proclaimed, or until such earlier time as the Office of Defense Transportation by further order may designate.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 8th day of June 1944.

J. M. JOHNSON,
Director,
Office of Defense Transportation.

(3) "Jeddo highland" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is prepared at Jeddo #7 breaker and Highland #5 breaker of the Jeddo Highland Coal Company, Jeddo, Pennsylvania, and marketed by said company under the trade names "Jeddo coal", "Highland coal", or "Hazle brook coal".

(4) "Franklin" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is prepared at the Williamstown breaker of the Franklin-Lykens Coal Company, Ashland, Pennsylvania, and marketed under the trade name "The Only Genuine Franklin Coal of Lykens Valley".

(5) "Greenwood" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced by Lehigh Navigation Coal Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and marketed under the trade name "Old Company's Lehigh Greenwood Premium Anthracite".

(6) "Salem hill" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced by Haddock Mining Company at the Salem Hill Colliery, Schuylkill County, near Pottsville, Pennsylvania, and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 2 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(7) "Brooder nut" size of Salem hill means Salem hill anthracite which meets the following specifications: It shall be sized through a 1⅜" and over a 13/16" test mesh with maximum over-size of 2% and under-size of 3%; float and sink test shall not exceed 5% sink on a 1.7 gravity. The differential provided for Salem hill "brooder nut" shall be applied to the non-premium price for chestnut size.

(8) "Colonial" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by Colonial Collieries Corporation, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 4 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(9) "Silver brook" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is prepared by Haddock Mining Company, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, at its Beaver Meadow Breaker from coal produced at the Deringer Colliery and the Tomhicken Colliery and marketed under the trade name "Silver brook coal", and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 3 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(10) "Legitts Creek" and "Black Stork" both mean that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by Penn Anthracite Collieries Company, Scranton, Pennsylvania, and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Revised Order No. 5 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112. That coal is also sometimes sold by said company under the trade names "Mt. Pleasant" and "Von Storch", but when sold by a dealer in Region I it shall not be identified by any names other than "Legitts creek" or "Black stork".

(11) "Raven run" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced by Hazle Brook Coal Company, Jeddo, Pennsylvania, from its Continental Mines and the property of Raven Run Coal Company, an affiliated company, prepared at its Midvalley breaker and sold under that trade name, and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 8 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(12) "Nesquehaoning" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by Edison Anthracite Coal Company and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 9 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(13) "East bear ridge" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by East Bear Ridge Colliery Company and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 11 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(14) "Dial rock" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by Dial Rock Coal Company, Scranton, Pennsylvania, and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 7 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112; Provided, however, That the additions provided for in paragraph (a) may be charged only when said coal is shipped from the mine by rail.

(15) "Orange disc" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by Payne Coal Company, Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, at their Exeter Colliery and sold under the trade name "Orange disc anthracite", and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 10 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(16) "Delano" means that Pennsylvania anthracite which is produced and prepared by Delano Anthracite Collieries Company, Ashland, Pennsylvania, and which meets the quality and preparation standards established by Order No. 13 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 112.

(f) Nothing contained in this Revised Supplementary Order No. 2 shall be so construed as to allow any change in or addition to the specific maximum prices for Pennsylvania anthracite in bags containing less than 100 pounds each which are set forth in any Region I order under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

(g) This Revised Supplementary Order No. 2 may be revoked, amended or corrected at any time.

NOTE: The reporting and record keeping provisions of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This Revised Supplementary Order No. 2 shall become effective June 11, 1944.

3. The area listed for each style number is the minimum area. Each jobber shall continue to sell each style number in the area and inside dimensions in which he sold it in March, 1942, but not containing less than the minimum area above set forth. In the event that he reduces the inside dimensions, then the price established above shall be reduced in proportion to the extent of the reduction in cost.

4. The prices listed are subject to the discounts or terms customarily extended by each jobber. No jobber shall change his customary discounts or terms unless such change will result in prices lower than the prices authorized in paragraph (2) of this order.

5. No charge shall be made for delivery to any point within the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York. For deliveries outside of Manhattan, no purchaser shall be required to pay and no purchaser may pay a greater share of the cost of delivery than was charged by seller during March 1942 to a purchaser of the same class.

6. The term "jobber" as used herein shall mean a person who purchases stock-size corrugated shipping containers for the purpose of resale in substantially the same form. It shall not include any distributor subject to Maximum Price Regulation 349; nor any jobber not established in business in the County of New York as of the effective date of this order.

7. Trading shall be only in the performance of a recognized distributive function.

8. Except as expressly provided by this order, each jobber shall remain subject to all of the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation.

9. This order may be revoked, amended or corrected by the Regional Administrator or the Price Administrator through the issuance at any time hereafter of any order or price regulation or amendment or supplement thereto.

10. A copy of this order has been filed today with this Office where it is available for inspection by the public.

11. This order shall become effective immediately.

[Region III Order G–35 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

Order No. G–35 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. Solid fuels sold and delivered by dealers. Maximum prices for specified solid fuels in the City of Martinsburg, West Virginia.

For the reasons stated in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region III of the Office of Price Administration by § 1340.260 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for sales of specified solid fuels made within the corporate limits of the City of Martinsburg, West Virginia. These are the highest prices that any dealer may charge when he delivers such fuel at or to a point in such area; they are also the highest prices that any buyer in the course of trade or business may pay for them.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any obligation, no person shall:

(1) Sell or, in the course of trade or business, buy solid fuels at prices higher than the maximum prices set by this Order No. G–35; but less than maximum prices may at any time be charged, paid or offered;

(2) Obtain a higher than ceiling price by:

(i) Charging a price higher than the schedule price for a service or making a charge for a service not authorized by this order,

(ii) Using any other device by which a higher than maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly,

(iii) Using any tying agreement or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with any requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(c) Schedule for sales of coal. This schedule sets forth maximum prices for cash or credit sales on a "direct delivery" basis; Column II shows maximum prices for "yard sales" to dealers reselling coal. All prices are for sales on a net ton basis.

All terms used herein to describe size, volatility and producing district are those that were established and defined by the Bituminous Coal Division and in effect as of midnight, August 23, 1943.

(d) The maximum prices for all sales by dealers of solid fuel not provided for by this Order No. G–35 shall be the maximum prices established by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

(e) Schedule of service and credit charges. This schedule sets forth maximum prices which a dealer may charge for special services rendered in connection with all sales under paragraph (c). These charges may be made only if the buyer requests such service of the dealer and only when the dealer renders the service. Every service charge shall be separately stated in the dealer's invoice.

Carrying or wheeling from curb	$0.50 per ton.
Carrying up or down stairs	$0.50 per ton.
½ ton deliveries	½ of the ton price plus $0.25.

(f) The transportation tax. The transportation tax imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 may be collected in addition to the maximum prices set by this order, provided the dealer states it separately from the price on his invoice or statement. However, this tax need not be so separately stated on a sale to the United States or any agency thereof, the District of Columbia, any state government or any political subdivision thereof.

(g) Addition of increase in suppliers prices prohibited. The maximum prices set by this order may not be increased by a dealer to reflect increases in purchase costs or in supplier's maximum prices occurring after the effective date hereon; but increases in the maximum prices set hereby to reflect such increases are within the discretion of the Regional Administrator.

(h) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(i) Applicability of other regulations. Every dealer subject to this order is governed by the licensing provisions of Supplementary Order No. 72, effective October 1, 1943.

(j) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator or Price Administrator may amend, revoked, or rescind this order, or any provision thereof, at any time.

(k) Records. Every person making a sale of solid fuel for which a maximum price is set by this order shall keep a record thereof showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged and the kind and type of solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also separately state each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(l) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips. (1) Each dealer subject to this order shall post all the maximum prices set by it for all his types of sales. He shall post his prices in his place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public. He shall also keep a copy of this order available for examination by any person inquiring as to his prices for solid fuel. No report of the maximum prices established by this order need be made by any dealer under § 1340.262 (c) of Regulation No. 122.

(2) Every dealer selling solid fuel for sales of which a maximum price is set by this order shall, within thirty days after the date of delivery of the fuel, give to the buyer a statement showing the date of the sale, the name and address of the dealer and of the buyer, the kind, size, and quantity of the solid fuel sold, the price charged and separately stating any item which is required to be separately stated by this order.

(m) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violation of this order are urged to communicate with the Charleston District Office of the Office of Price Administration.

(n) Definitions and explanations. (1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, any other organized group of persons, legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States, any agency thereof, any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, and any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale", "selling", "sold", "seller", "buy", "purchase", and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly.

(3) "Dealer" means any person selling solid fuel except producers or distributors making sales at or from a mine, a preparation plant operated as an adjunct of any mine, a coke oven, or a briquette plant.

(4) "Direct delivery" means dumping or chuting the fuel from the seller's truck directly into the buyer's bin or storage space; but, if this is physically impossible, the term means discharging the fuel directly from the seller's truck at a point where this can be done and at the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space.

(5) "Yard sales" shall mean sales and deliveries made by the dealer in his customary manner at his yard.

(6) Except as otherwise provided herein or as the context may otherwise require, the definitions set forth in §§ 1340.255 and 1340.266 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as amended, shall apply to the terms used herein, and in full force and effect.

(o) Applicability of this order. To the extent applicable, the provisions of this order supersede Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

This order No. G–35 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 shall become effective May 24, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record keeping provisions of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Region III Order G–48 Under RMPR 122]

SOLID FUELS IN DETROIT, MICH., AREA

Order No. G–48 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122. Solid fuels sold and delivered by dealers. Maximum prices for specified solid fuels in the Detroit, Michigan, area.

For the reasons stated in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of Region III of the Office of Price Administration by §§ 1340.260 and 1340.259 (a) of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, it is hereby ordered:

(a) What this order does. This order establishes maximum prices for sales of specified solid fuels made within the Detroit, Michigan, area defined as follows: Beginning at the intersection of Fourteen Mile Road with Halsted Road in Oakland County; thence south along Halsted Road in Oakland County and Newburg Road in Wayne County to Wick Road; thence east along Wick Road to Telegraph Road; thence south along Telegraph Road to Vreeland Road; thence east along Vreeland Road to the Detroit River; thence north along the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair to Townline Road; thence west along Townline Road and Fourteen Mile Road to the place of beginning. These are the highest prices that any dealers may charge when he delivers such fuel at or to a point in such area; they are also the highest prices that any buyer in the course of trade or business may pay for coal delivered to them.

(b) What this order prohibits. Regardless of any obligation, no person shall:

(1) Sell or, in the course of trade or business, buy solid fuels at prices higher than the maximum prices set by this Order No. G–48 but less than maximum prices may at any time be charged, paid or offered;

(2) Obtain a higher than ceiling price by:

(i) Charging a price higher than the scheduled price for a service or making a charge for a service not authorized by this order,

(ii) Using any other device by which a higher than maximum price is obtained, directly or indirectly.

(iii) Using any tying argument or requiring that the buyer purchase anything in addition to the fuel requested by him, except that a dealer may comply with any requirements or standards with respect to deliveries which have been or may be issued by an agency of the United States Government.

(c) Schedule for sales of coal—(1) Price schedules. This schedule sets forth maximum prices for cash sales of specified sizes, kinds and quantities of solid fuels. Column I describes the coal for which prices are established; Column II shows maximum prices for cash or credit sales on a "direct delivery" basis. All prices are for sales on a net ton basis.

[1] See note on p. 6282.

[2] Coal from Subdistrict 6 of District 8, if sold at the maximum price must be separately weighed and billed.

(2) Quantity discounts. Prices quoted in Column II for sales to a single purchaser for delivery at a single location for the heating of apartment houses, and commercial and industrial establishments, in loads of five tons or more, shall be subject to a discount as follows:

25¢ per ton to buyers whose total yearly purchases from one dealer are less than 80 tons.

50¢ per ton to buyers whose total yearly purchases from one dealer are 50 tons or more.

(3) Descriptive terms. All terms used herein to describe size, volatility and producing district are those that were established and defined by the Bituminous Coal Division and in effect as of midnight, August 23, 1943.

(d) The maximum prices for all sales by dealers of solid fuel not provided for by this Order No. G–48 shall be the maximum prices established by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

(e) Schedule of service charges. This schedule sets forth maximum prices which a dealer may charge for special services rendered in connection with all sales under paragraph (c). These charges may be made only if the buyer requests such service of the dealer and only when the dealer renders the service. Every service charge shall be separately stated in the dealer's invoice.

	Per ton

Wheel-in from curb coke	1.00
Wheel-in from curb coal	.75

(f) The transportation tax. The transportation tax imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 may be collected in addition to the maximum prices set by this order, provided the dealer states it separately from the price on his invoice or statement. However, it need not be so separately stated on a sale to the United States or any agency thereof, the District of Columbia, any state government or any political subdivision thereof.

(g) Addition of increase in suppliers prices prohibited. The maximum prices set by this order may not be increased by a dealer to reflect increases in purchase costs or in supplier's maximum prices occurring after the effective date hereon; but increases in the maximum prices set hereby to reflect such increases are within the discretion of the Regional Administrator.

(h) Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this order may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 except that the petition shall be filed with the Regional Administrator and acted upon by him.

(i) Applicability of other regulations. Every dealer subject to this order is governed by the licensing provisions of Supplementary Order No. 72, effective October 1, 1943.

(j) Right of amendment or revocation. The Regional Administrator or Price Administrator may amend, revoke or rescind this order or any provision thereof, at any time.

(k) Records. Every person making a sale of solid fuel for which a maximum price is set by this order shall keep a record thereof showing the date, the name and address of the buyer, if known, the per net ton price charged and the type and kind of solid fuel sold. The solid fuel shall be identified in the manner in which it is described in the order. The record shall also separately state each service rendered and the charge made for it.

(l) Posting of maximum prices; sales slips. (1) Each dealer subject to this order shall post all the maximum prices set by it for all his types of sales. He shall post his prices in his place of business in a manner plainly visible to and understandable by the purchasing public. He shall also keep a copy of this order available for examination by any person inquiring as to his prices for solid fuel. No report of the maximum prices established by this order need be made by any dealer under § 1340.262 (c) of Regulation No. 122.

(2) Every dealer selling solid fuel for sales of which a maximum price is set by this order shall, within thirty days after the date of delivery of the fuel, give to the buyer a statement showing; the date of the sale, the name and address of the dealer and of the buyer, the kind, size, and quantity of the solid fuel sold, the price charged and separately stating any item which is required to be separately stated by this order.

(m) Enforcement. (1) Persons violating any provision of this order are subject to civil and criminal penalties, including suits for treble damages, provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

(2) Persons who have any evidence of any violations of this order are urged to communicate with the Detroit District Office of the Office of Price Administration.

(n) Definitions and explanations. (1) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, any other organized group of persons, legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and includes the United States, any agency thereof, any other government, or any of its political subdivisions, and any agency of any of the foregoing.

(2) "Sell" includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, lease, transfer, and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "sale", "selling", "sold", "seller", "buy", "purchase", and "purchaser" shall be construed accordingly.

(3) "Dealer" means any person selling solid fuel except producers or distributors making sales at or from a mine, a preparation plant operated as an adjunct of any mine, a coke oven, or a briquette plant.

(4) "Direct delivery" means dumping or chuting the fuel from the seller's truck directly into the buyer's bin or storage space; but, if this is physically impossible, the term means discharging the fuel directly from the seller's truck at a point where this can be done and at the point nearest and most accessible to the buyer's bin or storage space.

(5) "Yard sales" shall mean sales and deliveries made by the dealer in his customary manner at his yard.

(6) Except as otherwise provided herein or as the context may otherwise require, the definitions set forth in §§ 1340.255 and 1340.266 of Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122, as amended, shall apply to the terms used herein, and in full force and effect.

(c) Applicability of this order. To the extent applicable, the provisions of this order supersede Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122.

This Order No. G–48 under Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 122 shall become effective June 5, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting and record keeping provisions of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Region IV Order G–7 Under SR 15]

FLUID MILK IN ALICEVILLE, ALA.

Order No. G–7 under § 1499.75 (a) (9) (i) of Supplementary Regulation No. 15 to the General Maximum Price Regulation. Adjustment of approved fluid milk prices in Aliceville, Alabama.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration, Region IV, by § 1499.75 (a) (9) (i) of the General Maximum Price Regulation, it is hereby ordered:

(a) Adjustment of maximum prices for approved fluid milk in Aliceville, Alabama. On and after May 31, 1944, the maximum prices for approved fluid milk sold and delivered to any person within Aliceville, Alabama, at wholesale or retail in glass containers of one quart or less shall be:

	Quarts	Pints	Half-pints
	Cents	Cents	Cents
Wholesale	13	8	4
Retail out-of-store	15	9	5
Home delivered	15	9	5
At processor's plant	12	7	4

One-third quart container sizes. The seller shall adjust his maximum wholesale price for one-third quart container sizes, as determined under § 1499.2, general provisions, of the General Maximum Price Regulation by an amount proportionate to the increase or decrease in his ceiling price for quart container sizes as a result of the foregoing listed maximum prices.

Retail sales of approved fluid milk by hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, cafes, bars, and other eating establishments for consumption on the premises. The seller may use his established maximum price under the General Maximum Price Regulation, or he can determine his adjusted maximum price by adding to the wholesale price paid by him, three cents per pint, two and one-half cents per one-third quart, and two cents per half-pint.

Retail sales other than (a) Out-of-store, (b) Home deliveries, (c) Retail at the processor's plant, and (d) Retail sales by hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, cafes, bars and other eating establishments for consumption on the premises. The maximum prices for retail sales, other than out-of-store sales, home deliveries, retail at the processor's plant, and retail sales by hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, cafes, bars and other eating establishments for consumption on the premises, shall equal the listed wholesale prices subject to any applicable discounts or allowances.

(b) Definitions. "Out of store" means a sale of approved fluid milk at retail by a grocery store, meat market, dairy store or other establishment, but shall not include a sale at retail by a milk distributor at his plant or place of business.

(d) Applicability of the General Maximum Price Regulation and other supplementary regulations and orders of the Office of Price Administration. Except as otherwise provided herein, all transactions subject to this order remain subject to all the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation, together with all amendments, supplementary regulations and orders which have been heretofore or may hereafter be issued. Specifically, but not by way of limitation, unless the context of this order otherwise requires, the provisions of § 1499.73a (a) (1) (viii) (b), (c), (d), (e), (f) and (g) and § 1499.73a (a) (1) (x) (Supplementary Regulation No. 14A to the General Maximum Price Regulation as amended) shall be applicable and are made a part of this order. Unless the context otherwise requires, all terms used herein shall be construed in accordance with the provisions of § 1499.20 of the General Maximum Price Regulation, as amended.

(d) This order may be revoked, amended or corrected at any time.

[Seattle Order G–7 Under 18 (c)]

CERTAIN FIREWOOD IN METROPOLITAN SEATTLE AREA

For the reasons set forth in the opinion issued simultaneously herewith and under the authority vested in the District Director of the Seattle District Office of the Office of Price Administration by § 1499.18 (c) as amended of the General Maximum Price Regulation and Order of Delegation No. 34 under General Order No. 32; It is hereby ordered:

(a) The maximum prices for sales and deliveries in the Metropolitan Seattle area of the types and kind of firewood specified in this Order No. G–7 as established by §§ 1499.2 or 1499.3 of the General Maximum Price Regulation as amended or by any previous order issued pursuant to such regulation or any supplementary regulation thereto, are hereby adjusted to the maximum prices provided in this Order No. G–7: Provided, however, That the area maximum prices established by this Order No. G–7 shall have no application to sales or delivery of the types and kinds of firewood by the producing mill.

(b) Definitions. When used in this order the following terms shall have the meanings set forth below:

(1) "Metropolitan Seattle area" means the area within the corporate limits of the City of Seattle, Washington, and the area within a radius of five miles of the corporate limits of the City of Seattle, Washington.

(2) "Locally produced firewood" means all wood fuels of the types and kinds described in Order No. G–7 produced by mills located within the corporate limits of the City of Seattle or within an area within a radius of five miles from the corporate limits of the City of Seattle, Washington.

(3) "Imported firewood" means all wood fuels of the types and kinds described in Order No. G–7 produced by mills located outside the area within a radius of five miles of the corporate limits of the City of Seattle, Washington.

(4) "Cord" means 128 cubic feet of stacked wood or 192 cubic feet of loose measure. Reference is made to the definition of the term "cord" set forth in section 19 of Chapter 194 of the Laws of the State of Washington, 1927, relating to Weights and Measures, which definition is incorporated herein by reference as if set forth in full.

(5) "Consumer" means all ultimate users including domestic, industrial and commercial users.

(6) "Dry or semi-dry" means wood which has been seasoned in the dealer's yard for a period of not less than three months.

(c) The maximum prices for the kinds and types of locally produced wood described in Table I set forth below delivered to the premises of the consumer within the corporate limits of the City of Seattle shall be the price set forth in the appropriate column and line of Table I. Sales in units of less than one cord shall be made at the fractional part of the price shown in Table I for half-cord sales of dry or semi-dry wood which the unit of sale bears to a unit of one-half cord.

TABLE I

Type of wood	Wholesale cost	Length	Maximum prices
			Green, 1-cord units	Dry or semi-dry
				1-Cord units	½-Cord units
Mixed Millwood, Slabwood or Edgings	$0.00 to $3.00	16" or less	$6.50	$8.50	$4.75
Mixed Millwood, Slabwood or Edgings	$3.01 or more	16" or less	7.50	9.50	5.25
Inside Block	$0.00 up	16" or less	9.00	11.00	6.00
Planer Ends	$0.00 up	16" or less	9.00	11.00	6.00
Slabwood or Edgings	$0.00 up	24"	7.00	9.00	5.00
Slabwood or Edgings	$0.00 up	4'	7.00	9.00	5.00

(d) The maximum prices for the kinds and type of imported firewood described in Table II set forth below delivered to the premises of the consumer within the corporate limits of the City of Seattle shall be the price set forth in the appropriate column and line of Table II: Provided, however, That the maximum prices set forth in Table II may be increased by 50 cents per cord where the dealer's cost includes rail transportation from the point of production to the dealer's yard at a rail carload transportation rate exclusive of rack charges or transportation tax in excess of $1.61 per cord.

TABLE II

Type of wood	Length	Green 1-cord units	Maximum prices, dry or semidry
			1-Cord units	½-Cord units
Mixed millwood or slabwood	16" or less	$8.25	11.25	$6.10
Planer ends	16" or less	9.75	12.75	6.85
Mixed millwood	24"	8.00	11.00	6.00
Mixed millwood	4'	7.75	10.75	5.85

(e) Additions. (1) For sales delivered to the premises of the consumer outside the corporate limits of the City of Seattle but within the area within a radius of five miles from the corporate limits of the City of Seattle, the maximum prices shall be the prices set forth in paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) above plus the sum of 50 cents per cord.

(2) Where the physical conditions of the consumer's premises are such that the wood fuel cannot be dumped on the premises of the consumer but must be thrown from the truck into the consumer's bin or other storage facility, the maximum prices provided in paragraph (c) or paragraph (d) above may be increased by 50 cents per cord if the sale is in cord units or by the addition of 25 cents per ½ cord if the sale is in ½-cord units or by the addition of 15 cents per ¼ cord if the sale is in ¼-cord units.

(f) Invoices and records. Every person making a sale of firewood for which a maximum price is set by this order shall give the purchaser or his agent at the time of the sale an invoice or other memorandum of sale, which shall show:

(1) The date of sale,

(2) The name and address of the buyer and seller,

(3) The quantity of firewood sold,

(4) Description of firewood sold, in the same manner as it is described in this order (This shall include the kind of wood, i. e., hard, soft or mixed, and length of pieces of wood.),

(5) Place of sale (If the price is dependent on place of delivery, then the place of delivery shall be stated), and

(6) The total price of the wood.

On the invoice or memorandum, a separate statement shall be made of any discounts and of each service rendered such as delivery, carrying and stacking, and the charge made for each such service.

The seller shall keep an exact copy of such invoice or memorandum for a period of two years following the sale. Such copy shall be made available for inspection by the Office of Price Administration.

(g) This order may be revoked, amended or corrected at any time. The record keeping provision of this order has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This Order No. G–7 shall become effective May 2, 1944.

(56 Stat. 23, 765; Pub. Law 151, 78th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871 and E.O. 9328, 8 F.R. 4681)

Issued this 2d day of May 1944.

R. E. MORGAN,
Acting District Director.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION.

[File No. 812–322]

UNION SECURITIES CORP.

NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 5th day of June, A. D. 1944.

Union Securities Corporation, (Union) a company of the character described in section 12 (d) (3) (A) and (B) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, has filed an application pursuant to sections 6 (c) and 17 (b) of said act for an order exempting purchases and sales of securities between itself and Tri-Continental Corporation (Tri-Continental) and Selected Industries Incorporated (Selected), both of which are registered investment companies and affiliated persons of the applicant, each owning 50% of the stock of the applicant.

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 40 (a) of said act, that a hearing on the aforesaid application, be held on June 28, 1944 at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., eastern war time in Room 318, Securities and Exchange Commission Building, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and

It is further ordered That Allen MacCullen, Esquire, or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated is hereby authorized to exercise all the powers granted to the Commission under sections 41 and 42 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 and to trial examiners under the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That without limiting the scope of the issues presented by said application particular attention shall be directed at said hearing to the following matters and questions:

(1) Whether under the exemption requested Tri-Continental and Selected could deal with each other through Union.

(2) Whether under the exemption requested Union could receive preferential treatment from Tri-Continental and Selected.

(3) Whether under the exemption requested Tri-Continental and Selected could be adversely affected by transactions permitted thereunder.

(4) Generally, whether the exemption requested is in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, whether the requested exemption may be modified or qualified by the imposing of terms and conditions to satisfy the statutory standards.

Notice of such hearing is hereby given to Union Securities Corporation, and to any other persons whose participation in such proceeding may be in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

By the Commission.

DALLAS RAILWAY & TERMINAL CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION

[File No. 70-891]

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, on the 6th day of June, A. D., 1944.

Dallas Railway & Terminal Company, a non-utility subsidiary of Electric Power & Light Corporation, a registered holding company, having filed an application under section 6 (b), and amendments thereto, for exemption from the provisions of section 6 (a) and 7 of the act of the issue and sale, pursuant to the competitive bidding provisions of Rule U-50, of $3,000,000 principal amount of Serial First Mortgage Bonds to mature in equal annual amounts of $200,000 on June 1 of each year from 1945 to 1959, inclusive, the proceeds of said bonds to be applied together with treasury cash to redeem Dallas' presently outstanding 6% First Mortgage Gold Bonds; and

The Commission having, by order dated May 22, 1944, granted said application, as amended, except as to the price to be paid for said bonds, the redemption prices therefor, the interest rate thereon and the underwriters' spread and its allocation, as to which matters jurisdiction was reserved; and

Dallas Railway & Terminal Company having filed a further amendment to the application in which it is stated that in accordance with the permission granted by the said order of the Commission dated May 22, 1944, it offered such bonds for sale pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 and received certain bids described below. The overall price offered to be paid to the company by each of the bidders and the average annual cost of money to the company computed on the basis of such overall price and the varying interest rates specified for each of the 15 series are as follows:

Name	Price to the company	Average annual cost of money to the company
		Percent
Kidder, Peabody & Co.	$3,000,051.99	3.6448
The First Boston Corporation	3,003,524.00	3.6704
Blyth & Co. Inc.
Shields & Company	3,000,000.00	.8642
White, Weld & Co.

It is further stated that Dallas Railway & Terminal Company has accepted the bid of Kidder Peabody & Co. as representative of and on behalf of a group of underwriters. The interest rates specified by Kidder, Peabody & Co., the proposed offering prices to the public and the approximate yield to maturity to the public are as follows:

Series	Interest rates	Offering prices per unit	Approximate yield to maturity
	Percent	Percent
1945	1½	100	$1.50
1946	2	101.9204	2.00
1947	2	102.1481	2.25
1948	2	101.9816	2.50
1949	2¼	102.3108	2.75
1950	2¼	101.3583	3.00
1951	2½	102.1705	3.15
1952	2½	101.3922	3.30
1953	2½	100.7675	3.40
1954	2¾	102.0696	3.50
1955	2¾	101.3497	3.60
1956	2¾	100.4796	3.70
1957	4	102.5496	3.75
1958	4	102.1826	3.80
1959	4	101.6946	3.85

The difference between the overall price of $3,000,051.99 to the company and the aggregate of the various offering prices of $3,048,560.40 to the public amounts to $48,508.41 which represents an average spread of 1.6169.

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be paid for said bonds, the redemption prices therefor, the interest rate thereon and the underwriters' spread and its allocation:

It is ordered, That jurisdiction heretofore reserved over the price to be paid for said bonds, the redemption prices therefor, the interest rate thereon and the underwriters' spread and its allocation be, and the same hereby is, released and said application be, and the same hereby is, granted, subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

GODFREY B. SIMONDS, ET AL.

ORDER SUSPENDING PARTIAL EXEMPTION PENDING A HEARING AND DETERMINATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa. on the 5th day of June, 1944.

In the matter of Godfrey B. Simonds, Edward B. Aldrich, George F. Bliven, Herbert H. Brooks, Russell C. Harrington and Charles C. McGowan, Proposed Committee for The Rhode Island Public Service Company $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock.

Godfrey B. Simonds, Edward B. Aldrich, George F. Bliven, Herbert H. Brooks, Russell C. Harrington and Charles C. McGowan, constituting themselves as a Committee for The Rhode Island Public Service Company $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock, of which 495,726 shares are outstanding, have filed a declaration, and amendment thereto, pursuant to Rule U-62 promulgated under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 regarding certain solicitation material to be sent to the $2 Cumulative Preferred Stockholders of The Rhode Island Public Service Company (RIPS), a subsidiary holding company of New England Power Association (NRPA), a registered holding company. An application has also been filed by the same parties seeking an exemption pursuant to Rule U-100 from compliance in certain respects with the requirements of paragraphs (g) (2) and (h) (1) of Rule U-62 for the Industrial Trust Company and The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence, of which Edward B. Aldrich and Charles C. McGowan are respectively officers.

After appropriate notice a public hearing was duly held. Declarants have waived submission of requested findings, brief and oral argument. Having examined the record, the Commission makes the following findings.

Godfrey B. Simonds is a member of the firm of G. H. Walker & Co., investment bankers of Providence, Rhode Island. Simonds and G. H. Walker & Co. do not own any of the securities of the New England Power Association system; clients of the firm own approximately 63,000 shares of the $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS.

Edward B. Aldrich is vice-president and director of Industrial Trust Company of Providence, Rhode Island. Aldrich owns 100 shares of $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS. Industrial Trust Company has 175 different fiduciary and agency accounts, holding approximately 13,095 shares of the $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS and, in addition, holds in various fiduciary and agency capacities small amounts of the securities of associate companies of RIPS. Industrial Trust Company is also co-transfer agent with the First National Bank of Boston and is dividend disbursing agent for the $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS.

George F. Bliven is a partner of Brown, Lisle & Marshal of Providence, Rhode Island, investment bankers. Bliven holds in a fiduciary capacity as executor and trustee 356 shares of the $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS. Clients of this firm own approximately 70,000 shares of said preferred stock.

Herbert H. Brooks, doing business as Herbert H. Brooks & Company, is in the investment banking business in Pawtucket, Rhode Island. Brooks owns 1,479 shares of the $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS and clients of the firm own approximately 20,000 shares of such stock.

Russell C. Harrington is a resident partner of Ernst & Ernst in Providence, Rhode Island. Neither Harrington nor his firm own any of the securities of New England Power Association system.

Charles C. McGowan is vice-president and trust officer of The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence, located in Providence, Rhode Island. McGowan owns no securities in the New England Power Association system. The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence has fiduciary and agency accounts holding an aggregate of 1,509 shares of $2 Cumulative Preferred Stock of RIPS and small amounts of securities of associate companies of RIPS.

The declarant committee proposes to intervene or otherwise participate in the pending proceedings before the Commission involving the Plan of Simplification of the New England Power Association holding company system (File No. 54-92), filed with the Commission by NEPA and its subsidiary holding companies on March 6, 1944.

Industrial Trust Company and The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence have stated that full compliance with the prohibitions contained in paragraph (g) (2) of Rule U-62 with respect to buying and selling, or giving investment advice in reference to, any securities affected by the reorganization would necessitate the retirement from the committee of Aldrich and McGowan inasmuch as full compliance with the restrictions would prevent the institutions with which they are associated from performing their previously undertaken fiduciary duties. Accordingly, the Committee has requested a partial exemption for Industrial Trust Company and The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence from the provisions of paragraphs (g) (2) of Rule U-62 to the extent that there be no restriction upon the right of either of these two institutions to give investment advice respecting securities of RIPS and its associate companies when acting as executor, administrator, trustee, guaradian or in any other fiduciary capacity, including the administration of agency or custodian accounts with respect to which they have heretofore become obligated to give investment advice; and further, that there be no restriction upon the right of either of them to purchase or sell securities of RIPS and its associate companies in any of the above capacities, or to execute unsolicited orders to purchase or sell (but not to give investment advice) for any agency or custodian accounts with respect to which they have not heretofore become obligated, or in the exercise of their rights as holders of such securities as collateral. No request for exemption from any of the provisions of paragraph (g) (2) of Rule U-62 has been made by Aldrich and McGowan in their individual capacities or by any other members of the proposed committee or their respective firms.

We are of the opinion that, under the foregoing circumstances, it is appropriate in the public interest and the interest of investors to allow the partial exemption requested, subject to the conditions noted below.

It is therefore ordered, That the declaration, as amended, be and hereby is permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the requirements of Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That the application for partial exemption requested for Industrial Trust Company and The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence from paragraphs (g) (2) and (h) (1) of Rule U-62 be and the same hereby is granted subject, however, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 and to the following additional conditions:

(1) That Industrial Trust Company and The Blackstone Canal National Bank of Providence shall file a report with the Commission on or before the 10th day after the close of each calendar month from the effective date of this declaration disclosing their purchases and sales of securities of The Rhode Island Public Service Company and its associate companies within the preceding calendar month, the amount of consideration paid or received in such transactions and the capacities in which said companies were acting in connection with any such purchase or sale.

(2) If it appears to the Commission, on the basis of the information supplied pursuant to condition (1) above, that the continuance of the partial exemption herein granted is not in the public interest or the interest of investors, the Commission may institute further action herein to revoke said partial exemption by service of its Notice for Hearing and by said Notice for Hearing may suspend said partial exemption pending a hearing and determination.

By the Commission.

WAR MANPOWER COMMISSION.

POCATELLO, IDAHO, AREA

MINIMUM WARTIME WORKWEEK

Designation of the Pocatello, Idaho, Area as subject to Executive Order No. 9301.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Regional Manpower Director of Region No. XI by § 903.2 of War Manpower Commission Regulation No. 3, "Minimum Wartime Workweek of 48 Hours," (8 F.R. 7225), and having found that such action will aid in alleviating labor shortages which are impeding the war effort, I hereby designate the Pocatello, Idaho, Area as subject to the provisions of Executive Order No. 9301.

I. For the purposes of this designation, the Pocatello, Idaho, Area shall include: Bannock County—Pocatello—Precincts 1 to 15; Alameda—Precincts 1 and 2, Chubbuck, Tyhee, Inkom, McCammon; Bingham County—Blackfoot—Precincts 1 to 4, Gibson, Fort Hall; Power County—American Falls—Precincts 1 to 2.

II. The effective date of this designation is July 1, 1944.

III. Not later than the effective date, each employer in the Pocatello, Idaho, Area shall, in accordance with War Manpower Commission Regulation No. 3:

(a) Extend to a minimum wartime workweek of 48 hours, the workweek of any of his workers whose workweek can be so extended without involving the release of any worker;

(b) If extension of the workweek of any of his workers to a minimum wartime workweek of 48 hours would involve the release of any workers, submit to the Area Manpower Director the number and occupational classification of the workers whose release would be involved, together with proposed schedules for their release, and thereafter extend such workweek when and as directed in schedules authorized by the War Manpower Commission;

(c) File an application for a minimum wartime workweek of less than 48 hours for those workers engaged in employment in which the employer claims that a workweek of 48 hours would be impracticable in view of the nature of the operations, would not contribute to the reduction of labor requirements, or would conflict with any Federal, State or local law or regulation limiting hours of work.

Date of issuance: June 1, 1944.

Washington, Saturday, June 10, 1944

The President

EXECUTIVE ORDER 9446

REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE ALLOWANCE OF TRAVEL EXPENSES OF CLAIMANTS AND BENEFICIARIES OF THE VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION AND OF THEIR ATTENDANTS

By virtue of and pursuant to the authority vested in me by the act of March 14, 1940, entitled "An Act to provide for allowance of expenses incurred by Veterans' Administration beneficiaries and their attendants in authorized travel for examination and treatment" (54 Stat. 40), I hereby prescribe the following regulations governing the allowance of travel expenses of claimants and beneficiaries of the Veterans' Administration and their attendants:

1. The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs may authorize the payment of actual necessary expenses of travel, including lodging and subsistence, of any claimant or beneficiary of the Veterans' Administration traveling under prior authorization to or from a Veterans' Administration facility or other place for examination, treatment, or care, to the claimant or beneficiary, or, in his discretion, to the person or organization, who actually paid the expenses of such travel, including lodging and subsistence.

2. The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs may authorize in lieu of actual expenses of travel, including lodging and subsistence, payment of an allowance of 3 cents per mile to any claimant or beneficiary of the Veterans' Administration traveling under prior authorization to or from a Veterans' Administration facility, or other place, for examination, treatment, or care, or, in his discretion, to the person or organization, who actually paid the expenses of such travel, including lodging and subsistence.

3. The claimant or beneficiary, or person or organization who assumes the actual expenses of travel, including lodging and subsistence, may be paid the allowance authorized herein upon termination of examination, treatment, or care of the claimant or beneficiary, and before the completion of travel.

4. When any claimant or beneficiary requires an attendant other than an employee of the Veterans' Administration for the performance of such travel, such attendant may be allowed the expenses of travel upon a similar basis.

5. The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs may prescribe such rules and regulations not inconsistent herewith as may be necessary to effectuate the provisions of this order.

This order shall become effective July 1, 1944, and shall supersede Executive Order No. 8454[1] of June 26, 1940.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter X—War Food Administration (Production Orders)

[WFO 9–10]

PART 1220—FEED

SET ASIDE REQUIREMENTS FOR PROCESSORS OF OILSEED FOR JULY, 1944

Pursuant to the authority vested in me by War Food Order No. 9 (8 F.R. 16960, 9 F.R. 3475, 4319), issued on December 18, 1943, and to effectuate the purposes of such order pertaining to set aside requirements for oilseed meal produced by processors, and to secure an equitable distribution of such oilseed meal, it is hereby ordered, that:

§ 1220.13 Set aside requirements for processors of oilseed for July 1944—(a) Amount to be set aside. Each processor shall set aside at each processing plant operated by him 20 percent of his production of cottonseed, soybean, linseed and peanut oil meal, cake or pellets (hereinafter called "oilseed meal"), during July 1944. The amount of production upon which the quantity of oilseed meal set aside is based shall not include any oilseed meal produced for the Commodity Credit Corporation under the provisions of contracts designated "CCC Soybean Form 106, 1943 Crop," and this order shall not apply to oilseed meal produced under such contracts.

(b) Sale and delivery of oilseed meal set aside. (1) Oilseed meal set aside pursuant to this order shall not be sold or delivered by any processor except to a buyer named in a Certificate of Designated Buyer issued by the Agricultural Conservation Committee for the State or county in which the buyer's farm or establishment is located or by the Chief of the Feed and Livestock Branch, Office of Production, War Food Administration. The certificate shall be in substantially the following form:

CERTIFICATE OF DESIGNATED BUYER

---------- is authorized to purchase and accept delivery of -------- (tons-pounds) of oilseed meal from amounts set aside by ---------- of ------ (Name of Processor)
----------, pursuant to the order
(Address of Processor) of the Director of Food Production. (If, for any reason, delivery of oilseed meal cannot be made, this certificate shall be returned by the processor to the issuing Agricultural Conservation Committee with the reasons why delivery was not made.)

---------- Agricultural Conservation Committee of ---------- (Address)
By ----------
(Chairman)
Food Production Administration.

J. B. HUTSON,
Director.
Expiration Date ----------

(2) Agricultural Conservation Committees may commence issuing Certificates of Designated Buyers pursuant to this order during June 1944, and processors may commence delivery of oilseed meal pursuant to such certificates during June 1944. A processor shall be entitled to credit such deliveries made in June 1944 against the quantity of oilseed meal which he is required to set aside in July 1944, if he makes the report provided for in paragraph (d) (1) hereof.

(3) Shipment of any oilseed meal, set aside pursuant to this order must be made by a processor within twelve days of the receipt of any such certificate.

(4) The original and the processor's copy of appropriately executed certificates shall be sent by the person responsible for their issuance directly to the processor and a copy shall be sent to the designated buyer. The designated buyer and the processor shall arrange the details of transfer of materials designated on the certificate, using such intermediary parties as the processor may designate. The processor who delivers such oilseed meal pursuant to a certificate shall file such certificate as required under the provisions of paragraph (d) (2).

(5) No processor shall be required to honor a Certificate of Designated Buyer unless the designated buyer furnishes the processor or his agent, before midnight of July 15, 1944, with (i) shipping instructions, and, in the case of designated buyers other than feeders, (ii) the statement required by paragraph (h) of War Food Order No. 9. If a processor elects not to honor a Certificate of Designated Buyer under the provisions of this paragraph, he shall return such certificate to the issuing office and he may dispose of the oilseed meal covered by the certificate free from the restrictions of this order.

(c) Existing contracts. If this order makes it impossible for a processor to fill all of his contracts for the delivery of oilseed meal, which are in existence on the date of the issuance of this order, he shall not, by reason of this order, refuse to make delivery of more than 20 percent of the oilseed meal covered by any such contract.

(d) Processor's reports—(1) Report of tonnage for June delivery for credit against July set aside. If a processor wishes to make deliveries of oilseed meal pursuant to this order in June 1944 for credit against his set aside in July 1944, he must report to the Director in writing (or by telegraph) not later than June 25, 1944, the estimated tonnage of each kind of oilseed meal which will be available at each of his processing plants for delivery in June 1944 for such credit. Each processor may also submit such additional information as he deems pertinent to the allocation or distribution of oilseed meal to be set aside under this order.

(2) Report of tonnage set aside and deliveries made. Each processor subject to this order shall file a report with the Director on FPA Form 2 not later than August 10, 1944, for each plant operated by him. Certificates of Designated Buyers, pursuant to which oilseed meal has been delivered, shall be attached to and made a part of FPA Form 2.

(e) Certificates issued by County Agricultural Conservation Committees. No County Agricultural Conservation Committee shall issue Certificates of Designated Buyers unless authorized to do so by its State Agricultural Conservation Committee.

(f) Release of oilseed meal set aside under prior orders. Any processor who has on hand oilseed meal, which has been reported pursuant to any set-aside order prior to War Food Order No. 9–9[1] as set aside for sale and delivery to designated buyers and for which the processor has received no shipping instructions from the designated buyers prior to the issuance of this order, may sell and deliver such oilseed meal free from the restrictions of the order under which it was set aside.

(g) Communications. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order, unless instructions to the contrary are issued, shall be addressed to the Director of Production, War Food Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: WFO 9–10.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

PART 1491—BEANS

REQUIREMENT OF REPORTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in me by the provisions of War Food Order No. 45 as amended (8 F.R. 4228; 8 F.R. 9106; 8 F.R. 14880; 9 F.R. 3628; 9 F.R. 4319), it is hereby ordered that:

§ 1491.2 Reports of deliveries—(a) Reports required. Every person who is a "country shipper" as defined in War Food Order No. 45, as amended, shall file with the Administrator of said order, War Food Administration, Washington 25, D. C., prior to the 10th day of each month (on Form FDO–45–2 as revised April 25, 1944, furnished by the said Order Administrator) a report showing the quantities of the beans designated in § 1491.1 (b) (1) of said order, delivered by him during the preceding calendar month to "governmental agencies", to "authorized purchasers", and "into civilian channels", as defined in said order.

(b) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., e. w. t., June 7, 1944.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Chapter VIII—Procurement and Disposal of Equipment and Supplies

[Procurement Regs. 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 12, and 15]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The following amendments and additions to the regulations contained in Parts 81 and 88 are hereby prescribed. These regulations are also contained in War Department Procurement Regulations dated 5 September 1942 (7 F.R. 8082) as amended by Change 34, 18 May 1944,[1] the particular regulations amended being Nos. 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 12, and 15.

In section numbers the figures to the right of the decimal point correspond with the respective paragraph numbers in the procurement regulations.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 5a, National Defense Act, as amended, 41 Stat. 764; 54 Stat. 1225; 10 U.S.C. 1193-1198, and the First War Powers Act 1941, 55 Stat. 838; 50 U.S.C. Supp. 601-622.

[Procurement Reg. 2]

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

GENERAL PURCHASE POLICIES

In § 81.223 paragraph (c) is amended as follows:

§ 81.223 Factors governing placement of contracts. * * *

(c) Area Production Urgency Committee areas. Effective 15 September 1943 the Office of War Mobilization announced a program for dealing with the acute labor shortage problem in certain localities of the West Coast. On 5 October 1943 the War Production Board announced a program for the placement of contracts in the States of Washington, Oregon and California. The War Production Board announced a similar program for the Hartford, Connecticut, Akron, Ohio, and Detroit, Michigan, areas on 15 October 1943; for the Cleveland, Ohio, and Buffalo, New York areas, on 14 December 1943; and for the Chicago, Illinois, area on 29 March 1944. Area Production Urgency Committees have been appointed for and are functioning in respect of these unusually critical labor areas. Similar programs may be adopted for other such labor areas, in which event any necessary directives will be issued prescribing the procedures to be followed for complying therewith. The policies stated in paragraphs (d) to (h) of this section and § 81.224 will be subject to the requirements of such directives.

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

CONTRACTS

Section 81.357 is amended to read as follows:

§ 81.357 Tax articles in fixed price (lump sum) contracts. Forms of tax articles are set forth below in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section. Whichever form is applicable must be used in all contracts executed on or after 1 June 1944 and may be used (in preference to the forms of articles formerly contained in such paragraphs) in contracts executed before that date.

(a) Long form tax article. Except as otherwise stated in paragraphs (b) and (c) all fixed price (lump sum) contracts will include a tax article substantially in the form set forth in this paragraph. Attention is directed to the necessity of including in each contract suitable provisions (see § 81.358) to specify any taxes to be excluded from or included in the contract price otherwise than as provided in such tax article. If desired, the words "of the award of this contract" or "of the bid upon the basis of which this contract was placed" may be substituted for the italicized words "of this contract" in the following article, Provided, That such substitution is made uniformly throughout the article and that the date of the award or the date of the bid, as the case may be, is specified in the contract.

Article ---- Taxes. (a) Unless otherwise indicated in this contract, (A) the prices herein do not include any state or local sales, use or other tax from which the Contractor or this transaction of the procurement of these supplies or work is exempt, and (B) the prices herein include all applicable Federal taxes and other appreciable state and local taxes in effect at the date of this contract. Upon request of the Contractor the Government will issue tax exemption certificates or furnish other similar proof of exemption with respect to all taxes excluded from the price.

(b) If after the date of this contract the Federal Government or any state or local government shall impose, remove or change (including any change by the removal by statute of an exemption available to the Contractor for the purposes of this contract) any duty, sales, use or excise tax or any other tax or charge directly applicable to the supplies or work covered hereby or the materials used in the manufacture thereof or directly upon the importation, production, processing, manufacture, construction, sale or use of such supplies, work or materials, which tax or charge must be borne by the Contractor because of a specific contractual obligation or by operation of law, or, in case of a decrease or elimination of any such tax, where the Contractor is relieved to that extent, and if in case of an increase in such an existing tax or the imposition of such a new tax the Contractor has paid such tax or charge to the Federal Government or to a state or local government, or any other person, then the prices named herein will be increased or decreased accordingly and any amount due to the Contractor as a result of such change will be charged to the Government and entered on vouchers (or invoices) as a separate item: Provided, however, That the Government reserves the right to issue to the Contractor in lieu of such payment a tax exemption certificate or certificates acceptable to the Federal Government or state or local government, as the case may be. The amount of any adjustment pursuant to this paragraph (b) may be determined by a written agreement between the parties hereto. Nothing contained herein shall be construed as requiring the Government to reimburse the Contractor for any Federal, state, or local income taxes, income surtaxes or excess profits taxes, transportation taxes, or taxes on property.

(c) In the case of any state or local tax or charge which the Contractor contends is chargeable to the Government because of the provisions of this Article, or any other provision of this contract, the Contractor agrees to refrain from paying any such tax or charge upon the direction of the Contracting Officer (in which event the Government will save the Contractor harmless from penalties and interest incurred through compliance with the direction of the Contracting Officer not to pay such tax); to take such steps as may be directed by the Government to cause such tax or charge to be paid under protest; to preserve and, if so directed by the Contracting Officer, to cause to be assigned to the Government any and all rights to the abatement or refund of such tax or charge; if so requested, to permit the Government to prosecute any claim, litigation or proceeding for the refund of such tax in the name of the Contractor, and to furnish to the Government all reasonable assistance and cooperation requested by the Government in any litigation or proceeding for the recovery of such tax or charge.

(d) Where any duties or taxes have been included in the contract price (including the price as adjusted under paragraph (b) of this Article) and a refund or drawback is obtained by the Contractor by reason of the export or re-export of supplies covered hereby, or of materials used in the performance of this contract, the amount of such refund or drawback will be paid over to the Government, or credited against amounts due from the Government under this contract; Provided, however, That the Contractor shall not be required to apply for such refund or unless so requested by the Contracting Officer.

If desired the following sentence, or substantially similar language, may be added at the end of paragraph (b) of the foregoing tax article:

For the purposes of any additional procurement of supplies or work called for by any agreement supplemental hereto, the words "date of this contract" shall be deemed to refer to the date of such supplemental agreement.

(b) Short form tax article. (1) The short form tax article set forth below may be used, in lieu of the form set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, (i) where the estimated time for performance does not exceed sixty days, (ii) where the contract is executed on a standard form of contract (as that term is defined in § 81.304 (a)) which contains the short form tax article, and (iii) where the contract instrument is a purchase order. The long form tax article (paragraph (a) of this section) may be inserted in lieu of the short form tax article in any standard form of contract which contains the short form tax article.

Article ---- Taxes. Unless otherwise indicated in this contract, (A) the prices herein do not include any state or local sales, use or other tax from which the Contractor or this transaction of the procurement of these supplies is exempt, and (B) the prices herein include all applicable Federal taxes and other applicable state and local taxes in effect at the date of this contract. Upon request of the Contractor the Government will issue tax exemption certificates or furnish other similar proof of exemption with respect to the taxes excluded from the price. Where any duties or taxes have been included in the contract price and a refund or drawback is obtained by the Contractor by reason of the export or re-export of supplies covered hereby, or of materials used in the performance of this contract, the amount of such refund or drawback will be paid over to the Government, or credited against amounts due from the Government under this contract: Provided, however, That the Contractor shall not be required to apply for such refund or drawback unless so requested by the Contracting Officer.

(2) Attention is again directed to the necessity of including in each contract (see § 81.358) suitable provisions to specify any taxes to be excluded from, or included in, the contract price other than as provided in such tax article.

(c) Use of tax articles. [Deleted]

(d) State and local taxes. State and local sales or use taxes generally do not apply to sales directly to the United States or to the use of property by the United States (see § 81.331). Special provisions may be included in any contract with respect to any state or local excise tax as to which there is doubt whether an exemption exists applicable to the transaction covered by the contract. Any such special provisions should clearly specify whether such tax is to be included in or excluded from the price and whether the Government must pay or reimburse the Contractor for the tax if no exemption is applicable. Contracting Officers, so far as is practicable, should take precautions to see that contractors do not include in their bid or price any amount for (1) any state or local sales or use taxes which do not apply to sales to the Federal Government or to the use of property by the Federal Government, or (2) any other state or local taxes, exemption from which is available in the case of transactions to which the Federal Government is a party.

(e) Omission of standard tax articles. The chief of any technical service may authorize the omission of the tax articles set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section from any contract where they are plainly inapplicable or inappropriate. In any class or classes of contracts for services where a major part of the cost of performance consists of payroll expense, e. g., stevedoring contracts, the chief of any technical service may authorize the inclusion of a provision for price adjustment in the event of changes in payroll taxes with respect to such services. The form of any such provision in general should be similar to the provision found in paragraph (b) of the tax article set out in paragraph (a) but should not be made applicable to taxes other than those paid with respect to the wages of the employees of the particular contractor.

(f) Customs duties. Customs duties are Federal taxes and under the contract clauses set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section will, unless otherwise indicated in the contract, be deemed to be included in the contract price. As to the right to "drawback", see § 81.506.

Section 81.358 is amended to read as follows:

§ 81.358 Specification of taxes included or excluded; information to bidders. (a) The standard tax articles state that the contract prices include Federal taxes. However, as stated in Procurement Regulation No. 8 (§§ 81.801 et seq.), certain exemptions from Federal excise taxes are available to the United States. In the event any contract for the procurement of an item for which an exemption is available to the United States is executed containing one of the standard tax articles, and any Federal tax is to be excluded from the contract price, it will be necessary in such contract to show expressly and accurately the Federal tax so excluded.

(b) Likewise, where any particular state or local tax is included in or excluded from the contract price otherwise than as is stated in the standard provision of the tax article used in the contract, such contract must contain appropriate provisions indicating expressly and accurately the nature of any such particular tax.

(c) Invitations to bid, requests for proposals, specifications, instructions to bidders, and proposals should indicate expressly the types of taxes to be included in or excluded from the contract price and whether tax exemption certificates will be given or required. The tax provisions of each contract must be in conformity with any invitation to bid, specifications and proposal issued or made in connection therewith.

(d) Information with respect to Federal, state or local taxes may be found in Procurement Regulations No. 8 (§ 81.801 et seq.)

In § 81.365 the contract clause in paragraph (e) is amended as follows:

§ 81.365 Contract clauses in connection with bonds and insurance. * * *

(e) Every cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract, the terms of which do not require the incorporation by reference in cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontracts, of all of the terms and conditions of the prime contract in regard to insurance and liability, will contain the following clause without deviation:

Additional provisions. (1) The Contractor will include in each cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontract made under this contract a provision as follows:

(a) The title to all work under this subcontract, completed or in the course of manufacture or assembly in the Subcontractor's plant, shall be in the Government. Upon delivery thereof to the Subcontractor at any point within the continental limits of the United States or any place approved by the Contractor, title to all purchased materials, parts, assemblies, subassemblies, tools, machinery, equipment and supplies, for which the Subcontractor shall be entitled to be reimbursed hereunder, shall vest in the Government.

(b) The Subcontractor shall not be reimbursed for the cost of any insurance on any property of the Government.

(c) As used herein the term "Government" shall be deemed to mean the United States of America.

(2) The Contractor will, if so requested by the Contracting Officer, include in any particular cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontract, a provision as follows: * * *

Telephone, telegraph, radio and cable facilities	Ch. 30, Subch. B, IRC; Regs. 42, Subpart E	81.808	Exempt as to services furnished directly to the United States (§ 81.810).

NOTE 1: Exemption continues as to articles sold after 1 June 1944 pursuant to contracts entered into prior to 1 June 1944 or to any agreements or change orders supplemental to such contracts and bearing the same Government contract number. (See § 81.814).

This Procurement Regulation 8 does not purport to include all material necessary to a decision as to the scope of any of the Federal excise taxes referred to herein. In cases of doubt, the Treasury Regulations should be consulted. If additional assistance is required, it may be obtained from the Tax Division, Office of The Judge Advocate General, Washington, D. C., if not available within the technical service concerned.

§ 81.802 Manufacturers' excise taxes. (Chapter 29, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Parts 314, 316). Rates: Various. See following paragraphs.

The manufacturers' excise taxes are set forth below in paragraphs (a) to (n), inclusive. The tax in each case, unless otherwise specified, is imposed upon articles sold by the manufacturer, producer or importer, and is equivalent to the indicated per cent of the price for which the article is sold. The rates specified are those effective since 1 November 1942, except in the case of the tax on electric light bulbs and tubes (paragraph (i)), the rate of which was changed effective 1 April 1944.

(a) Tires and inner tubes. (Sec. 3400, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart D).

(1) Tires wholly or in part of rubber (exclusive of metal rims or rim bases). 5 cents a pound on total weight.

(2) Inner tubes (for tires) wholly or in part of rubber. 9 cents a pound on total weight.

The term "rubber" includes synthetic and substitute rubber.

(b) Automobiles, buses, trucks, trailers, motorcycles. (Sec. 3403, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart F).

(1) Automobile truck chassis, automobile truck bodies, automobile bus chassis, automobile bus bodies, truck and bus trailer and semitrailer chassis, truck and bus trailer and semitrailer bodies, tractors of the kind chiefly used for highway transportation in combination with a trailer or semitrailer (including in each of the above cases parts or accessories therefor sold on or in connection therewith or with the sale thereof)—5%. A sale of an automobile truck, bus, or truck or bus trailer or semitrailer, shall be considered to be a sale of the chassis and of the body.

(2) Other automobile chassis and bodies, chassis and bodies for trailers or semitrailers suitable for use in connection with passenger automobiles, and motorcycles (including in each case parts or accessories therefor sold on or in connection therewith or with the sale thereof), except tractors—7%. A sale of an automobile, trailer, or semitrailer shall be considered to be a sale of the chassis and of the body.

(3) Parts or accessories (other than tires and inner tubes and other than radios) for any of the articles enumerated in subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph—5%. Spark plugs, storage batteries, leaf springs, coils, timers, and tire chains, which are suitable for use on or in connection with, or as component parts of, any of the articles enumerated in subparagraphs (1) and (2) shall be considered parts or accessories for such articles, whether or not primarily adapted for such use.

(4) The following items are not subject to this tax.

(i) Motor-driven machines designed and adapted for use in pulling or drawing vehicles around the premises of factories and railway stations, and small trucks for handling baggage and trunks at railway stations, as distinguished from automotive vehicles including tractors, used on highways and roads. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.50).

(ii) Parts and accessories (which term does not include tires, inner tubes and automobile radios) sold to a manufacturer of articles enumerated in subparagraphs (1) and (2 of this paragraph provided an appropriate certificate of the purchaser is given to the seller, stating that the purchaser is a manufacturer of such articles. (Sec. 3403 (c), IRC; 26 CFR., Cum. Supp., 316.57).

(5) Where a manufacturer sells tax-paid tires, inner tubes and automobile radios on or in connection with or with the sale of automobile trucks, other automobiles, taxable tractors, or motorcycles, he may take appropriate credit against the tax due on his sale. (Sec. 3403 (e), IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.54).

(c) Radio receiving sets, phonographs, phonograph records and musical instruments. (Sec. 3404, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, sub-part G). Rate: 10%.

(1) Radio receiving sets, automobile radio receiving sets, combination radio and phonograph sets, and phonographs.

(2) Chassis, cabinets, tubes, reproducing units, power packs, antennae of the "built in" type, and phonograph mechanisms, which are suitable for use on or in connection with, or as component parts of, any of the articles enumerated in subparagraph (1) of this part, whether or not primarily adapted for such use.

(3) Phonograph records.

(4) Musical instruments.

including in each case, except in the case of musical instruments, parts or accessories therefor sold on or in connection with the sale thereof.

(d) Refrigerators, refrigerating apparatus and air conditioners. (Sec. 3405, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart H). Rate: 10%.

(1) Refrigerators. Household type refrigerators (for single or multiple cabinet installations) having, or being primarily designed for use with, a mechanical refrigerating unit operated by electricity, gas, kerosene, or gasoline.

(2) Refrigerating apparatus. Cabinets, compressors, condensers, evaporators, expansion units, absorbers, and controls for, or suitable for use as parts of or with, household type refrigerators of the kind described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph except when sold as component parts of complete refrigerators or refrigerating or cooling apparatus.

(3) Air-conditioners. Self-contained air-conditioning units including in each case parts or accessories therefor sold on or in connection with the sale thereof.

(e) Sporting goods. (Sec. 3406 (a) (1), IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart J). Rate: 10%.

(i) Electric light bulbs and tubes. (Sec. 3406 (a) (10), IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart S). Rate: 20%.

Electric light bulbs and tubes, not including articles taxable under any other manufacturers' excise tax.

(j) Firearms, shells, cartridges. (Sec. 3407, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart I). Rate: 11%.

Firearms (except pistols and revolvers, as to which see paragraph 803), shells and cartridges.

(k) Matches. (Sec. 3409, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 314, Subpart F).

(1) Fancy wooden matches and wooden matches having a stained, dyed, or colored stick or stem, packed in boxes or in bulk—5½ cents per 1,000 matches.

(2) All matches other than those enumerated above—2 cents per 1,000 matches.

(l) Electrical energy for domestic or commercial consumption. (Sec. 3411, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, Subpart T). Rate: 3⅓%.

(1) Tax is imposed upon electrical energy sold for domestic or commercial consumption and not for resale.

(2) The term "electrical energy sold for domestic or commercial consumption" does not include (i) electrical energy sold for industrial consumption, e. g., for use in manufacturing, mining, refining, shipbuilding, building construction, irrigation, etc., or (ii) that sold for other uses which likewise cannot be classed as domestic or commercial, such as electrical energy used by electric and gas companies, waterworks, telegraph, telephone and radio communication companies, railroads, etc. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.190).

(3) The tax does not apply to sales of electrical energy for resale, except where the electrical energy is sold to an owner or lessee of a building for resale to the tenants therein.

(4) The tax does not apply to publicly owned electric or power plants, or to electric or power plants or systems owned and operated by cooperative or nonprofit corporations engaged in rural electrification.

(m) Gasoline. (Sec. 3412, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 314, Subpart D). Rate: 1½ cents a gallon.

(1) Tax is imposed on gasoline sold by the producer or importer thereof, or by any producer of gasoline. The term "gasoline" means (i) all products commonly or commercially known or sold as gasoline (including casinghead and natural gasoline), benzol, benzene, or naphtha, regardless of their classifications or uses; and (ii) any other liquid of a kind prepared, advertised, offered for sale or sold for use as, or used as, a fuel for the propulsion of motor vehicles, motor boats, or airplanes, except that it does not include any of the foregoing (other than products commonly or commercially known or sold as gasoline) sold for use otherwise than as a fuel for the propulsion of motor vehicles, motor boats, or airplanes, and otherwise than in the manufacture or production of such fuel and does not include products commonly or commercially known or sold as kerosene, gas oil, or fuel oil. Further definitions, referring to the thermometer readings and other specifications are found in 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.30.

(2) Gasoline may be sold tax free by a producer of gasoline to other producers of gasoline, provided the producers are properly registered and bonded and an appropriate certificate in this connection if furnished the seller. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.32.)

(3) Tax does not attach to products (other than those referred to in subparagraph (1) (i) of this paragraph) sold direct for use otherwise than as fuel for the propulsion of motor vehicles, motor boats, or airplanes and otherwise than in the manufacture or production of such fuel, provided an appropriate certificate in this connection is furnished the seller. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.33). Exemption from tax discussed in this subparagraph (3) will not be claimed, contract prices will not exclude taxes on the basis of such an exemption and proof of such an exemption will not be furnished contractors.

(n) Lubricating oils. (Sec. 3413, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 314, Subpart E). Rate: 6 cents a gallon.

(1) Tax is imposed upon lubricating oils sold by the manufacturer or producer. The term "lubricating oil" includes all oils, regardless of their origin, which are sold as lubricating oil and all oils which are suitable for use as a lubricant, but does not include products of the type commonly known as grease. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.40).

(2) Lubricating oils may be sold tax free by the manufacturer or producer thereof direct to another such manufacturer or producer for resale, provided the manufacturers are properly registered and bonded and an appropriate certificate in this connection is furnished the seller. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.42.)

(3) No tax attaches where lubricating oils are sold direct for nonlubricating uses by the purchaser, provided an appropriate certificate in this connection is furnished the seller. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.43). Exemption from tax discussed in this subparagraph (3) will not be claimed, contract prices will not exclude taxes on the basis of such an exemption and proof of such an exemption will not be furnished contractors.

(o) Basis and application of manufacturers' excise taxes. (1) In general, the manufacturers' excise taxes are based on the sales price. In such cases, any charges for coverings, containers, etc., are included in the sales price for purposes of computing the tax. If the amount of the sales price is adjusted upon return to the seller of coverings or containers, the tax should also be adjusted. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.10). The tax imposed, however, is not part of the taxable price of the article. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.11). Charges for transportation, delivery, insurance, installation, and similar charges are also excluded in computing the tax. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.12).

(2) The lease of an article is considered a sale thereof. In the case of leases or installment sales, the tax is paid proportionately upon each payment. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp. 314.4, 316.9).

(3) The tax in general attaches when title passes from the manufacturer. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.4, 316.5). If subsequent reduction is made in the sales price, credit or refund may be obtained by the manufacturer. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 316.13). Claim by a manufacturer for credit or refund must show, among other things, that the tax has not been collected from the purchaser or has been repaid to him or that his written consent to the allowance of the credit or refund has been obtained. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.64, 316.204).

(4) No manufacturers' excise tax is imposed under section 3406, Internal Revenue Code (§§ 802.5 to 802.9), with respect to any article subject to the Retailers' excise tax on sale of jewelry, etc., referred to in paragraph (a) of § 81.804. (Sec. 3406, IRC.)

§ 81.803 Pistols and revolvers. (Chapter 25, Subchapter A, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 302.) Rate: 11%.

Tax is imposed upon pistols and revolvers sold or leased by the manufacturer, producer or importer. (Sec. 2700, IRC.)

§ 81.804 Retailers' excise taxes. (Chapter 19, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 320.) Rate: 20% of price for which article is sold, except where otherwise specified. (Rate is effective 1 April 1944.)

Tax is imposed upon the articles specified below in paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, sold at retail. Such articles when sold to the Government for use or consumption are considered to be sold at retail.

(a) Jewelry, etc. (Sec. 2400, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 320, Subpart D.)

(1) All articles commonly or commercially known as jewelry, whether real or imitation; pearls, precious and semiprecious stones, and imitations thereof; articles made of, or ornamented, mounted or fitted with, precious metals or imitations thereof; watches and clocks and cases and movements therefor; gold, gold-plated, silver, or sterling flatware or hollow ware, and silver-plated hollow ware; opera glasses; lorgnettes; marine glasses; field glasses; and binoculars. The rate of tax is 10% (and not 20%) of the sales price of watches selling at retail for not more than $65 and alarm clocks selling at retail for not more than $5.

(2) The tax does not apply to any article used for religious purposes, to surgical instruments, to watches designed especially for use by the blind, to frames or mountings for spectacles or eyeglasses, to a fountain pen or smokers' pipe if the only parts of the pen or the pipe which consist of precious metals are essential parts not used for ornamental purposes, or to buttons, insignia, cap devices, chin straps, and other devices prescribed for use in connection with the uniforms of the armed forces of the United States.

(3) "Opera glasses; lorgnettes; marine glasses; field glasses; and binoculars" include only those which are portable instruments. Articles known as marine glasses, field glasses and similar optical instruments which by reason of size or weight are ordinarily mounted upon tripods or other bases, are not subject to tax. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp. 320.36).

(b) Furs. (Sec. 2401, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 320, Subpart E). (1) Articles made of fur on the hide or pelt and articles of which such fur is the component material of chief value.

(2) Where a person, who is engaged in the business of dressing or dyeing fur skins or of manufacturing, selling, or repairing fur articles, produces an article of the kind described from fur on the hide or pelt furnished, directly or indirectly, by a customer and the article is for the use of, and not for resale by, such customer, the transaction shall be deemed to be a sale at retail and the person producing the article shall be deemed to be the person selling such article at retail. The tax on such a transaction shall be computed and paid by such person upon the fair retail market value of the finished article. The Revenue Act of 1943 added, effective 1 April 1944, the provisions referred to in this subparagraph (2).

(c) Toilet preparations. (Sec. 2402, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 320). Perfumes, essences, extracts, toilet waters, cosmetics, petroleum jellies, hair oils, pomades, hair dressings, hair restoratives, hair dyes, aromatic cachous, toilet powders, and any similar substance, article, or preparation, by whatsoever name known or distinguished; any of the above which are used or applied or intended to be used or applied for toilet purposes.

(d) Luggage. (Sec. 1651, IRC).

(1) Trunks, valises, traveling bags, suitcases, satchels, overnight bags, hat boxes for use by travelers, beach bags, bathing suit bags, brief cases made of leather or imitation leather, and salesmen's sample and display cases.

(2) Purses, handbags, pocketbooks, wallets, billfolds, and card, pass, and key cases.

(3) Toilet cases and other cases, bags, and kits (without regard to size, shape, construction, or material from which made) for use in carrying toilet articles or articles of wearing apparel, including in each case fittings or accessories therefor sold on or in connection with the sale thereof.

This tax first became effective 1 April 1944. For the period during which it remains in effect, the Manufacturers' excise tax imposed upon luggage by section 3406 (a) (2), Internal Revenue Code, is suspended.

(e) Sales in army commissaries and exchanges. Under an agreement between the War Department and the Bureau of Internal Revenue the latter will not attempt to collect retailers' excise taxes on sales of jewelry, furs, toilet preparations and luggage to members of the armed forces and their families and to civilian employees permanently employed on military posts, when such sales are made in army commissaries and exchanges. The War Department in turn agreed that sales of such articles in army commissaries and exchanges would not be made to casual laborers or temporary employees on military posts.

(f) Basis and application of retailers' excise taxes. (1) The retailers' excise taxes are based on the sales price. Any charges for coverings, containers, etc. shall be included in the sales price for purposes of computing the tax. If the amount of the sales price is adjusted upon return to the seller of coverings or containers, the tax should also be adjusted. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 320.6). The tax imposed, however, is not part of the taxable price of the article. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 320.7). Charges for transportation, delivery, insurance, installation, and similar charges are also excluded in computing the tax. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 320.8).

(2) The lease of an article is considered a sale thereof. In the case of leases or instalment sales, the tax is paid proportionately upon each payment. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 320.10).

(3) The tax in general attaches when title passes to the purchaser. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 320.4). If subsequent reduction is made in the sales price, a credit or refund may be obtained by the seller. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 320.9). Claim by a seller for credit or refund must show, among other things, that the tax has not been collected from the purchaser or has been repaid to him or that his written consent to the credit or refund has been obtained. (26 CFR, Cum. Sup., 320.66).

(4) In the case of any article classifiable under more than one Retailers' excise tax, only one tax on such article shall be imposed. Where the rates of such tax differ, the article shall be subject to tax at the highest rate. (Section 1653, IRC.)

§ 81.805 Tax on transportation of persons. (Chapter 30, Subchapter C, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 130, Subpart F). Rate: 15% of the amount paid.

Tax is imposed upon the amount paid within the United States for the transportation of persons by rail, motor vehicle, water, or air, within or without the United States, and for seating or sleeping accommodations in connection with such transportation. (See 3469, IRC).

(a) Basis and application of tax on transportation of persons. (1) The taxability of a payment for transportation is determined strictly by the place of payment, i. e., whether within or without the United States. The place where the transportation service is furnished has no bearing on the tax. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 130.51).

(2) Where a payment covers other charges than for transportation of a person, such other charges may be excluded in computing the tax, provided they are separable and are shown in the exact amounts thereof in the records pertaining to the transportation charge. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp. 130.52, 130.54).

(3) The tax does not apply to an amount paid for transportation of freight that includes also the transportation of caretakers or messengers for which no specific charge as such is made. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 130.54 (d)).

(4) The tax does not apply to transportation or facilities furnished under special tariffs providing for fares of not more than 1¼ cents per mile applicable to round-trip tickets sold to personnel of the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard traveling in uniform of the United States, or to members of the military or naval forces of any of the other United Nations traveling in uniform of such nation, at their own expense when on official leave, furlough, or pass, including authorized cadets and midshipmen (Sec. 3469 (f) (2) IRC).

(5) The tax does not apply to charges not exceeding 35 cents, certain commutation tickets, nor to transportation by motor vehicles with seating capacity of less than 10 and not operated on an established line. (Sec. 3469 (a) and (b), IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 130.58–130.60)

§ 81.806 Tax on transportation of property—(a) General. (Chapter 30, Subchapter E, sec. 3475, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 143.) Rate: 3% of the amount paid, except that in the case of coal, the rate is 4 cents per short ton.

(1) Tax is imposed upon the amount paid within the United States for the transportation of property by rail, motor vehicle, water, or air from one point in the United States to another. The tax applies only to amounts paid to a person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire, including amounts paid to a freight forwarder, express company, or similar person, but does not include amounts paid by a freight forwarder, express company, or similar person for transportation with respect to which a tax on the transportation of property has previously been paid. In the case of property transported from a point without the United States to a point within the United States, the tax shall apply to the amount paid within the United States for that part of the transportation which takes place within the United States. The tax on the transportation of coal does not apply to the transportation of coal with respect to which there has been a previous taxable transportation. (Sec. 3415, IRC.)

(2) Effective 1 December 1943, amounts paid by or to the War Shipping Administration for the transportation of property by water from one point in the United States to another, except between points on the Great Lakes, are exempt from tax until approximately six months after the termination of hostilities.

(3) Effective 1 December 1943, the tax does not apply to amounts paid for the transportation of property to or from the American National Red Cross.

(4) Effective 1 December 1943, amounts paid for transportation of property to or from the government of a state, territory, or political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia are exempt from tax.

(5) The tax does not apply to amounts paid to the Post Office Department for the transportation of property.

(6) As to shipments on United States Government bills of lading, see § 81.810.

(b) Basis and application of tax on transportation of property—(1) Transportation. The term "transportation" means the movement of property by a person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire, including interstate, intrastate, and intracity or other local movements, as well as towing, ferrying, switching, etc. In general, it includes accessorial service furnished in connection with a transportation movement, such as loading, unloading, blocking and staking, elevation, transfer in transit, ventilation, refrigeration, icing, storage, demurrage, lighterage, trimming of cargo in vessels, wharfage, handling, feeding and watering live stock, and similar services and facilities. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 143.1 (d)).

(2) Coal. The term "coal" includes anthracite, bituminous, semi-bituminous, sub-bituminous, and lignite coal, coal dust, and coke and briquettes made from coal (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 143.1 (f)).

(3) Baggage. An amount paid, in connection with the transportation of persons, for the transportation of baggage, including incidental charges on account of excess weight, excess value, storage, transfer, special delivery, etc., or an amount so paid for a special baggage or express car or other conveyance is subject to the tax on the transportation of property if separable from the payment for the transportation of persons and separately shown on the records of the carrier. Otherwise the tax on the transportation of persons (see par. 805.1) applies. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 143.14 (c)).

(4) Previous taxable transportation of coal. An amount paid for the transportation of coal is not taxable if there has been a previous taxable transportation of such coal. An amount paid for the transportation of coke or briquettes made from coal is not subject to tax provided there has been a previous taxable transportation of the coal or coal dust from which such coke or briquettes were manufactured. When a person delivers to a carrier a quantity of coal for a transportation movement, and the transportation tax has previously been paid with respect to the coal so delivered, a statement to that effect shall be endorsed on the bill of lading or other shipping paper. This endorsement shall constitute authority to the carrier not to collect tax with respect to the transportation charges due on such shipment. (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 143.13 (b)).

§ 81.807 Tax on transportation of oil by pipe line. Chapter 30, Subchapter A, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 130, Subpart D). Rate: 4½% of amount paid.

Tax is imposed upon all transportation of crude petroleum and liquid products thereof by pipe line. In the event no charge is made for such transportation, or if the payment is made under a transaction which is not an arm's length one and such payment is less than the fair charge, the tax is imposed upon the fair charge for the transportation (Sec. 3400, IRC).

§ 81.808 Telegraph, telephone, radio and cable facilities. (Chapter 30, Subchapter B. Sec. 3465, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 130, Subpart E). Rate: See following paragraphs. Rates shown therein are those effective 1 April 1944.

(a) Telephone and radio telephone messages. Tax is imposed at the rate of 25% of the amount paid within the United States for each telephone or radio telephone message or conversation for which the toll charge is more than 24 cents.

(b) Telegraph, cable, and radio dispatches and messages. Tax is imposed on the amount paid within the United States for each telegraph, cable or radio dispatch or message. In the case of each such domestic dispatch or message the rate of tax is 25%. In the case of each such international dispatch or message the rate of tax is 10%.

(c) Leased wire, teletypewriter, or talking circuit special services. Tax is imposed at the rate of 25% of the amount paid for leased wire, teletypewriter, or talking circuit special service, but not including an amount paid for service used exclusively in rendering a service taxable under the tax described in paragraph (d).

(d) Wire and equipment service. Tax is imposed at the rate of 8% of the amount paid for any wire and equipment service (including stock quotation and information services, burglar alarm or fire alarm service, and all other similar services but not including service described in subparagraph (c)).

(e) Local telephone service. Tax is imposed at the rate of 15% of the amount paid by subscribers for local telephone service and for any other telephone service and for any other telephone service in respect of which a tax is not payable under the taxes described in paragraphs (a) to (d). Amonts paid for the installation of instruments, wires, poles, switchboards, apparatus, and equipment shall not be considered amounts paid for service.

Exemptions From Federal Excise Taxes

§ 81.810 Exemption from specific Federal excise taxes as to articles sold and services furnished for the use of the United States—(a) General. Exemption is available from the following specific Federal excise taxes, to the extent indicated below, in connection with articles sold and services furnished for the use of the United States. Such exemption is available with respect to contracts entered into either prior or subsequent to 1 June 1944.

(1) Manufacturers' excise tax on radio receiving sets, phonographs, phonograph records and musical instruments. See § 81.802 (c). (Note 1).

(2) Manufacturers' excise tax on firearms, shells, cartridges. See § 81.802 (j) (Note 1).

(3) Tax on pistols and revolvers. See § 81.803 (Note 1).

(4) Tax on telephone, telegraph, cable, radio, or leased wire services or facilities (see § 81.808), to the extent such services or facilities are furnished directly to the United States and for which payment is made directly by the United States. No exemption is available with respect to such services or facilities furnished to a contractor or other person operating under a contract to perform work on behalf of, or to furnish articles or materials to, the United States Government or any agency thereof. (Note 2).

(5) Tax on transportation of persons (see § 81.805) with respect to payments for transportation furnished to the United States upon a United States Government transportation request. (Note 2).

(6) Tax on transportation of property (see § 81.806), with respect to payments for transportation to or from the Government of the United States shipped on a United States Government bill of lading. (Note 2).

NOTE 1: Exemption with respect to these items was retained in the Internal Revenue Code as to sales made prior to the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of termination of hostilities in the present war. (Sec. 307 (b) (3), Revenue Act of 1943).

NOTE 2: Exemption of these items was authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury on 29 April 1944 (9 F.R. 4615, 2 May 1944) pursuant to authority vested in him by section 307 (c) of the Revenue Act of 1943 (see § 81.817). Such authorization of exemption expires at the close of the last day of the month immediately preceding the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war.

(b) Policy as to claiming exemption from specific Federal excise taxes listed in this section. Exclusion from contract prices of the tax on pistols and revolvers and the Manufacturers' excise taxes referred to in paragraph (a) of this section is governed by the policy set forth in the appendix to this Procurement Regulation 8. Exemptions referred to in paragraph (a) of this section from transportation taxes are automatically secured by the use of United States Government transportation requests or bills of lading, as the case may be. Exemptions referred to in paragraph (a) of this section from communications taxes are automatically secured without the use of exemption certificates.

§ 81.811 Exemption based upon exportation. Exemption is available (a) from the manufacturers' excise taxes (§ 81.802) and the retailers' excise taxes (§ 81.804) with respect to sales for export and (b) from the tax on the transportation of property (§ 81.806) with respect to property in course of exportation. (Secs. 3406, 2705, 3449, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.25 to 314.27, 316.25 to 316.27, 320.21 to 320.22, 143.30 to 143.35). This exemption will not be claimed. Contract prices, therefore, will not exclude Federal excise taxes from which exemption is available only by reason of export and proof of exportation will not be furnished to contractors.

§ 81.812 Exemption from manufacturers' excise taxes of sale of certain supplies and equipment for vessels of war including aircraft. Exemption from manufacturers' excise taxes (§ 81.802) is available with respect to the sale of an article for use as fuel supplies, ships' stores, sea stores, or legitimate equipment on vessels of war of the United States or of any foreign nation, vessels employed in the fisheries or in the whaling business or actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States or between the United States and any of its possessions. The term "vessels of war" of the United States or of any foreign nation includes aircraft owned by the United States or by any foreign nation and constituting a part of the armed forces thereof. The terms "fuel supplies," "ships' stores," "legitimate equipment" include all articles, materials, supplies, and equipment necessary for the navigation, propulsion, and upkeep of vessels. (Sec. 3451, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.28, 316.28.)

(a) Policy as to claiming exemption described above. Serious administrative burdens would be imposed if the exemption described above were to be claimed with respect to articles of a character useable either as supplies or legitimate equipment for vessels of war including aircraft or otherwise. This exemption will not be claimed, contract prices will not exclude Federal excise taxes on the basis of this exemption and proof of this exemption will not be furnished to contractors, except that such action may be taken in connection with purchases of the following items:

(1) Aviation gasoline.

(2) Lubricating oil suitable only for aircraft engines.

(3) Aircraft air conditioning units.

(4) Aircraft tires and inner tubes.

(5) Aerial photographic cameras including gun cameras, lenses, apparatus, equipment, and films therefor.

(6) Spark plugs suitable only for aircraft engines.

§ 81.813 Manufacturers' excise taxes; sales for further manufacture. Exemption is available from Manufacturers' excise taxes (§ 81.802) and may be claimed by manufacturers, in the case of sale of any taxable article (other than tires, inner tubes or automobile radios) sold for use by the vendee as material in the manufacture or production of, or as a component part of, a taxable article or for resale by the vendee for such use by his vendee if such article is in due course so resold. (Also see § 81.802 (b) (4) (ii).) An appropriate certificate of the vendee must be given to the vendor in order to obtain this exemption. (Sec. 3442, IRC; 26 CFR, Cum. Supp., 314.20 to 314.23, 316.20 to 316.23.) This exemption is available to a purchasing manufacturer without the necessity for any action by the War Department. The standard tax articles do not provide for the inclusion in the contract price of taxes from which such an exemption is available and such taxes should not be a component of the contract price.

§ 81.814 Sales under contracts entered into prior to 1 June 1944 and agreements and change orders supplemental thereto. Exemption from the manufacturers' excise taxes (§ 81.802) and the Retailers' excise taxes (§ 81.804) remain available as to sales for the use of the United States pursuant to a contract entered into prior to 1 June 1944 or to any agreement or change order (executed prior or subsequent to 1 June 1944) supplemental to such contract and bearing the same Government contract number. (Sec. 307 (b) (1), Revenue Act of 1943.) No such exemption remains available as to excise taxes on transportation and communication referred to in §§ 81.805 to 81.808.

(a) Policy as to claiming exemptions applying to sales under contracts entered into prior to 1 June 1944 and agreements and change orders supplemental thereto. (1) The provisions of contracts entered into prior to 1 June 1944 determine whether and to what extent the contract price includes or excludes Federal excise taxes and consequently whether exemptions are to be claimed.

(2) If the price under a contract entered into prior to 1 June 1944 includes an applicable Federal excise tax, agreements or change orders supplemental to such contracts and executed on or after 1 June 1944 will also include such tax in the price and such tax will be paid by the contractor. This shall not prevent, however, the claiming of any available exemptions pursuant to the provisions of this Procurement Regulation 8.

(3) If the price under a contract entered into prior to 1 June 1944 excludes an applicable Federal excise tax, agreements or change orders supplemental thereto and executed on or after 1 June 1944 may also exclude such tax. Exemption will continue to be available from any tax so excluded. Heretofore existing policies, which are contained in the Appendix to this Procurement Regulation 8, determine the extent to which exemption from any such tax may be extended to purchases by contractors.

(4) Where new contracts normally would be executed, supplemental agreements or change orders will not be used merely to avoid payment of Federal excise taxes.

§ 81.815 Miscellaneous exemptions. In addition to the exemptions discussed in these §§ 81.810 to 81.818, inclusive, certain miscellaneous exemptions, applying to private as well as Government procurement, are available from Federal excise taxes. Some of these miscellaneous exemptions are mentioned in §§ 81.801 to 81.808, inclusive, of this Procurement Regulation 8; in some cases such §§ 81.801 to 81.808 provide that those exemptions will not be claimed. Any exemption, as to which no policy is otherwise provided in this procurement Regulation 8, need not be claimed, in which event contract prices will not exclude taxes on the basis of such an exemption and proof of such an exemption will not be furnished to contractors.

§ 81.816 Effective date of removal of other Governmental exemptions. Prior to the Revenue Act of 1943, additional exemptions, not set forth in this section III, were available in connection with procurement for the use of the United States. The removal by the Revenue Act of 1943 of such additional exemptions is effective as follows:

(a) Manufacturers' and Retailers' Excise Taxes—sales made on and after 1 June 1944.

(b) Tax on transportation of persons—amounts paid on or after 1 June 1944.

(c) Tax on transportation of property—amounts paid on or after 1 June 1944.

(d) Tax on telephone, telegraph, radio and cable facilities:

(1) Messages and dispatches (§ 81.808 (a) and (b)) originating on or after 1 June 1944.

(2) Service (§ 81.808 (c) to (e)) amounts paid pursuant to bills rendered on or after 1 June 1944 for service for which no previous bill was rendered.

§ 81.817 Power of Secretary of the Treasury to authorize exemption. The Secretary of the Treasury may authorize exemption from the taxes imposed by Chapters 19 (Retailers' excise taxes, § 81.804), 29 (Manufacturers' excise taxes, § 81.802), or 30 (Taxes on transportation and communication, §§ 81.805 to 81.808) of the Internal Revenue Code as to any particular articles or services, or class of articles or services, to be purchased for the exclusive use of the United States, if he determines that the imposition of such taxes with respect to such articles or services, or class of articles or services, will cause substantial burden or expense which can be avoided by granting tax exemption and that the full benefit of such exemption, if granted, will accrue to the United States. The authority of the Secretary of the Treasury in this regard, however, is not applicable to any contract entered into on or after the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after the date of the termination of hostilities in the present war. (Sec. 307 (c) of the Revenue Act of 1943).

(a) Procedure to request exercise of authority by Secretary of the Treasury. In cases where it is deemed necessary for the Secretary of the Treasury to authorize exemptions with respect to any particular articles or services, or class of articles or services, requests for the exercise of that authority will be forwarded through channels to the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces. Such requests should specify in detail the reasons why the request exemption is needed.

(b) Circumstances under which requests are proper. The purpose of the removal by the Revenue Act of 1943 of various exemptions applying to the United States from Federal excise tax was to eliminate the numerous administrative procedures (and resulting need for personnel) required on the part of private contractors, procurement agencies and the Bureau of Internal Revenue in order to establish such exemptions, which if not available would not cause any net loss to the United States. It was recognized, however, that in some cases it might be determined that such removal of exemptions would impose greater net costs or administrative burdens than did the retention thereof or would cause other results adversely affecting the United States, in some serious and substantial manner. The established policy of the War Department is to request the Secretary of the Treasury to authorize exemptions only in cases of this character.

In no event will requests be made to the Secretary of the Treasury to authorize exemptions from tax if the only reason therefor is a desire to reduce the contract price or prices by the amount of the tax which, if paid, would go eventually into the Treasury. Such requests will be presented to the Secretary of the Treasury only where it is clearly established (1) that the denial of exemption with respect to purchases of particular articles or services, or classes of articles or services, for the exclusive use of the United States imposes serious administrative problems or presents substantial danger of net loss to the United States, and (2) that the full benefit of any exemption, if granted, will accrue to the United States.

§ 81.818 Federal excise taxes not covered by this Procurement Regulation 8. This Procurement Regulation 8 applies only to Federal excise taxes imposed by the following chapters of the Internal Revenue Code: Chapter 19 (Retailers' excise taxes—see § 81.804), Chapter 25 (pistols and revolvers—see § 81.803), Chapter 29 (Manufacturers' excise taxes—see § 81.802) and Chapter 30 (transportation and communication—see § 81.805 to 81.808). When any technical service has responsibility for the procurement or purchase of any articles subject to a Federal excise tax under any other chapter of the Internal Revenue Code, such technical service may prescribe such rules, governing the securing of exemption from such tax, as it may deem proper.

Tax Exemption Certificate Forms and Procedure

§ 81.820 Applicability of §§ 81.820 to 81.830. The forms and procedures set forth in §§ 81.820 to 81.830 are applicable after 1 June 1944, so far as exemptions from Federal excise taxes are concerned, only with respect to the exemptions specified in §§ 81.810, 81.812 and 81.814. The policies governing the claiming of these exemptions are set forth in § 81.810 (b), 81.812 (a), 81.814 (a).

---(2) Vessels engaged in trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States,
---(3) Vessels engaged in trade between the United States and any of its possessions,
---(4) Vessels employed in the fisheries or whaling business,
---(5) Vessels of war of the United States or a foreign nation.

If the articles are purchased for use on civil aircraft engaged in trade as specified in (1) or (3) above, state the name of the country in which the aircraft is registered. .....

The undersigned understands that if the article is used for any purpose other than as stated in this certificate, or is resold or otherwise disposed of, he must report such fact to the manufacturer. It is understood that this certificate may not be used in purchasing articles tax free for use as fuel supplies, etc., on pleasure vessels, or on any type of aircraft except (a) civil aircraft employed in foreign trade or trade between the United States and any of its possessions, and otherwise entitled to exemption, and (b) aircraft owned by the United States or any foreign country and constituting a part of the armed forces thereof. It is also understood that the fraudulent use of this certificate to secure exemption will subject the undersigned and all guilty parties to a penalty equivalent to the amount of tax due on the sale of the article and upon conviction to a fine of not more than $10,000, or to imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, together with costs of prosecution. The undersigned also understands that he must be prepared to establish by satisfactory evidence the purpose for which the article was used.

The above form will be issued by the appropriate officer where required by the contract to supply proof of exemption with respect to the Federal excise taxes from which an exemption is available under section 3451, Internal Revenue Code, such as for fuel supplies, ship stores and equipment for vessels of war, including aircraft of the armed forces. See § 81.812 (a) as to the policy with respect to claiming this exemption.

§ 81.826 Tax exemption certificates for issuance by contractors. T. D. 5114, 27 January 1942 (7 F.R. 579, 29 January 1942) authorizes exemption from the Federal excise taxes imposed by Chapters 25 and 29 of the Internal Revenue Code (taxes on pistols and revolvers and Manufacturers' excise taxes—see §§ 81.802 to 81.803 of this part) on sales to contractors with the United States of purchase, construction and subsidiary articles. The policy with respect to this exemption is set forth in the Appendix to this Procurement Regulation No. 8. The exemption is not available unless the contractor or subcontractor has been authorized by the contracting officer on W. D. Tax Form No. 1 (see paragraph (a) of this section) attached to a standard Government Tax Exemption Certificate Form 1094. The forms prescribed by section 470.3 (b) of T. D. 5114 for use by contractors and subcontractors are set forth in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

§ 81.827 Preparation and execution of exemption certificates. (a) In the preparation of tax exemption certificates the typewriter will be used when practicable; otherwise ink or indelible pencil will be used. The use of ordinary lead pencil is prohibited. All blank spaces must be properly filled in or lined out, and no such exemption certificate will be delivered to a contractor unless fully and properly executed, except that the Bureau of Internal Revenue has advised that it is not necessary to state the amount of Federal tax upon the exemption certificate (Ltr. to the Chief Signal Officer from D. S. Bliss, Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue, 19 June 1942). The amount of tax should be stated, however, if readily available. In a case where Federal excise taxes have been excluded from the contract price of articles or supplies purchased, but the exact amount of the tax cannot be determined at that time, a blanket tax exemption certificate may be issued to cover all sales under the contract. The certificate should cover all articles purchased under such contract, including delivery orders placed thereunder by other officers. As to blanket tax exemption certificates covering purchases under contracts of the General Schedule of Supplies, see § 81.829 of this part.

(b) A separate certificate for each kind of tax (Federal, State or local) involved will be prepared. In the issuance of these certificates care must be exercised to fill in the blank spaces provided for showing on each certificate the separate amounts of the taxes involved (if known) so that the certificates may be used only for the purpose intended.

(c) Where the supplies or work covered by the contract are not taxable as such and the certificate is to be used for the purpose of obtaining exemption on the articles to be incorporated in the supplies or work covered by the contract, the amount of tax to be shown on the certificate should be stated as "None." No tax should be shown on the certificate except the tax imposed directly upon the supplies or work covered by the contract.

(d) Except as provided in paragraph (a) of § 81.828, the following statement will be written or stamped upon the face of each certificate pertaining to Federal taxes (except where a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract is involved): "W. D. Tax Form No. 1 attached." Tax Exemption Certificate Form No. 1094 may be modified insofar as necessary with respect to contracts for construction, alterations, improvements and repairs. The person issuing a tax exemption certificate will, in addition to his signature and title, insert on the lines provided therefor, his identification card number. (See § 81.824 of this part.)

§ 81.828 When and how exemption certificates are issued to contractors. At any time after the execution of the contract, a tax exemption certificate (Form 1094) and W. D. Tax Form No. 1, when appropriate, will be executed and delivered to the contractor, upon request, covering Federal excise taxes in the following cases:

(a) Where supplies are taxable under Chapter 25 or 29 and are purchased by the Government at a price which is exclusive of such tax. In such a case, the description of the supplies furnished tax free will be inserted on the tax exemption certificate. If such supplies purchased by the Government have had (or will have) incorporated therein tires, inner tubes, or automobile radios and the price paid by the government is exclusive of the tax thereon, these items will be listed in the space headed "List of Articles" on W. D. Tax Form No. 1, which will be attached to the tax exemption certificate. This will enable the contractor, pursuant to T. D. 5114, to issue tax exemption certificates to the suppliers of such tires, inner tubes and automobile radios. It should be noted that under section 3442, Internal Revenue Code, no tax is imposed with respect to the sale of any article (except tires, inner tubes, and automobile radios) for use by the contractor in the manufacture or production of, or as a component part of an article itself taxable under Chapter 29. Accordingly, the contractor may obtain exemption from the burden of the tax on any articles exempted from tax by section 3442 in the manner provided in the Treasury Regulations (26 CFR, Cum. Supp., Part 316, especially § 316.20). Therefore, if no tires, inner tubes, or automobile radios are to be included in such supplies to be purchased from the contractor, there is no occasion for annexing W. D. Form No. 1 to the tax exemption certificate.

(b) Where the supplies purchased under the contract are not taxable under Chapter 29 but have had (or will have) incorporated therein one or more articles which are taxable under such chapter, and the price paid by the Government is exclusive of the tax on one or more of such articles. In such a case, the amount of tax shown on the tax exemption certificate should be stated as "None" and the articles incorporated (or to be incorporated) into the supplies purchased by the Government which are sold exclusive of the tax thereon should be listed upon W. D. Tax Form No. 1 attached to the certificate. Upon receipt of the tax exemption certificate, the contractor and/or his subcontractors (including suppliers) are then authorized to issue tax exemption certificates in the form prescribed in §§ 81.826 (b) and (c) of this part, as to the articles listed on W. D. Tax Form No. 1 attached to the Form No. 1094.

(c) Where the contract covers construction, alterations, improvements or repairs, and the physical project to be constructed, altered, improved, or repaired will have incorporated therein one or more articles which are taxable under Chapter 29 and the price paid by the Government for the construction, alterations, improvements or repairs, is exclusive of the tax on one or more of such articles to be incorporated into the physical project. In such a case, the amount of tax shown on the tax exemption certificate should be stated as "None", and the articles to be incorporated into the physical project to be constructed, altered, improved or repaired on which no such tax is included in the contract price should be listed upon W. D. Tax Form No. 1 attached to the certificate. Upon receipt of the tax exemption certificate the contractor and/or his subcontractors (suppliers) are then authorized to issue tax exemption certificates in the form prescribed in §§ 81.826 (b) and 81.826 (c), as to the articles listed on W. D. Tax Form No. 1 attached to the certificate.

(d) Under a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract (except one covering the sale of articles taxable under Chapter 29, where (a) above is applicable) when one or more articles taxable under Chapter 29 are used by the contractor as equipment, material or supplies in performing the contract, and such articles are purchased at a price which is exclusive of the tax thereon and payment for same is made by the United States, directly or by reimbursement of the contractor. In such a case, the amount of tax shown on Form 1094 should be stated as "None" and there should be attached to or written on Form 1094 the following statement: "The contractor is authorized to issue tax exemption certificates in the form prescribed by § 470.3 (b) of Treasury Decision 5114, approved 27 January 1942 (7 F.R. 579, 29 January 1942) as to all articles sold on a Federal tax exclusive basis and for which payment is made by the United States, directly or by reimbursement of the contractor, and which are used by the contractor as equipment, material or supplies in performing the contract to which this (the attached) certificate pertains."

§ 81.829 Blanket tax exemption certificates, contracts under General Schedule of Supplies. (a) Nothing contained in these regulations will be construed as authorizing the issuance of blanket tax exemption certificates by chiefs of technical services or contracting officers covering purchases under contracts of the General Schedule of Supplies. Upon application of the contractor, the Procurement and Accounting Division, Office of the Secretary of War, will issue blanket tax exemption certificates as may be necessary to cover all purchases made by War Department agencies in Washington, D. C., and in the field under term contracts of the General Schedule of Supplies, Procurement Division, Treasury Department.

(b) Contractors are required to indicate the number of the applicable blanket tax exemption certificate on their invoices.

(c) The purchase order need not contain the number of the applicable tax exemption certificate. It is sufficient that it contain a reference to the General Schedule of Supplies contract number.

§ 81.830 State and local taxes. (a) Tax exemption certificates are also used for establishing exemptions from state and local taxes. In such cases, certificates should be prepared in accordance with the requirements of the particular state or local tax authority concerned. In most cases, Form 1094 (§ 81.822) will be the appropriate form of tax exemption certificate. Except as provided in paragraph (b), no tax exemption certificate should be issued with respect to a state or local tax unless the contract shows that the price paid by the Government is exclusive of the tax to which the certificate pertains or unless the contractor consents to the deduction of such tax from the contract price and the acceptance of the tax exemption certificate in lieu thereof.

(b) When impossible for any reason to effect purchases, excluding the amount of any state or local tax which is deemed to be legally inapplicable to Government pruchases, a tax exemption certificate on Form 1094 will be executed and delivered to the disbursing officer to whose accounts the vouchers in the transaction pertain, together with a written statement to the effect that the vendor refused such certificate. Tax exemption certificates executed and delivered as prescribed in this paragraph are for the use of the Finance Department in securing a refund of the amount of the taxes involved. The serial number of the tax exemption certificate will be shown on the payment voucher.

(c) When Form No. 1094 (or other appropriate certificate) executed under the conditions stated above, is received in the administrative office (Finance Department), the bureau of office number of the payment voucher will be noted on the certificate and the administrative office (Finance Department) will bill the State or local taxing agency for refund of the taxes paid. The amount(s) collected will be transmitted to the disbursing officer for credit to the appropriation(s) from which the vouchers were paid, or to miscellaneous receipts account, "4326—Refund, State and Local Taxes," if the appropriation cannot be readily identified. In the event the administrative office (Finance Department) fails to secure refund of the amount of taxes paid, it will transmit promptly to the General Accounting Office the exemption certificates, if available, together with all correspondence with the taxing agency relating thereto, and information as to the disbursing officer's voucher number on which payment for the merchandise was made, for use by the General Accounting Office in effecting collection thereof as required by section 236, Revised Statutes, as amended by the Budget and Accounting Act, 1921.

State and Local Taxes

§ 81.831 Applicable tax directives. While the various state and local tax laws are not uniform in their application, as a general rule Government purchases are exempt from such taxes. Neither are such laws uniform in their application to purchases by Government contractors. Information will be published from time to time as to the procedure to be followed with regard to state and local taxes. Information already published is contained in a series of memoranda for the chiefs of the technical services and others as follows:

(a) Information as to the situation in other states or advice with respect to particular problems in the states listed above should be obtained from the Office of The Judge Advocate General by inquiry addressed to the attention of the Chief, Tax Division.

(b) The instructions contained in the memoranda listed above are modified by the provisions of § 81.832 so far as they relate to the form of certificates required on invoices of subcontractors and suppliers under cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts.

§ 81.832 Certificate of non-inclusion of state or local taxes in amounts billed to cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors or subcontractors. Where purchases of materials or services by cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractors are exempt from state or local taxes, the vendor's invoices, except as provided in § 81.833, should contain the following statement:

State or local sales, use and similar taxes are not included in the amounts billed.

Where purchases by cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors or cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractors are not exempt from state or local taxes the above statement may be omitted from vendor's invoices, but such taxes must be separately itemized.

§ 81.833 Tax provisions of purchase orders issued by cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors and subcontractors. Cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors and cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractors may include in their purchase orders covering supplies or materials the following statement:

Any state or local sales, use, or similar tax, included in the amounts billed MUST be separately stated and itemized. It is understood, and the acceptance of this order shall constitute an agreement, that unless such taxes are separately stated and itemized, no such taxes are included in the amounts billed.

If this statement is included in the purchase order and if no state or local taxes are included in the amount billed to the cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractor, the supplier of the supplies or materials need not include upon his invoice the statement quoted in § 81.832 that certain state or local taxes are not included in the amounts billed. However, even where the purchase order contains the statement quoted above in this paragraph, the invoice of the supplier under the purchase order must separately state and itemize all state or local sales, use or similar taxes which are in fact included in the price billed.

Collection and Payment of Federal Excise Taxes by the Government

§ 81.840 General. Except as provided in § 81.842, the amount of the Federal excise tax will be collected from the purchaser when articles, subject to tax under Chapter 25 (tax on pistols and revolvers—see § 81.803) or Chapter 29 (Manufacturers' excise taxes—see § 81.802) of the Internal Revenue Code, purchased free of tax are sold to individuals or used for other than the use of the United States. Funds so collected will be deposited with the local disbursing officer together with information of the name of the contractor from whom the articles were purchased and the number of the contract under which purchase was made. In cases where the name and amount of the contract involved are not known to the sales officer, he will ascertain this information from the shipping or contracting officer or from the chief of the technical service, if necessary.

§ 81.841 Remittances to contractor. Funds received by a disbursing officer as payment for taxes imposed by Chapter 25 or 29 of the Internal Revenue Code will be placed in a special deposit account and remitted to the contractor monthly, or at the time the officer closes his accounts when he ceases to disburse, in order that return may be made therefor to the appropriate Collector of Internal Revenue. A copy of the report of such remittance will be forwarded to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. However, if it is impossible for the disbursing officer to determine the contractor from whom the articles subject to tax under Chapter 25 or 29 were purchased, he may remit the amount of the tax to the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which the disbursing officer is located with a statement that the name of the contractor is unknown.

§ 81.842 Transfers to which §§ 81.840 and 81.841 do not apply. In connection with the following types of transfers of Government-owned property purchased by the Government free of tax, it is not necessary that the amount of the Federal tax be collected from the purchaser and accordingly the provisions of §§ 81.840 and 81.841 are inapplicable:

(a) All sales of used property,

(b) Transfers to a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractor of Government-owned property for use in connection with the performance of the contract (whether the transfer is made directly by the Government or on behalf of the Government pursuant to a contract provision similar to that contained in § 81.363,

(c) Sales to a lump-sum contractor of Government-owned property for use in connection with the performance of the contract,

(d) Transfers to other agencies of the Government, including transfers for disposition to the Procurement Division, Treasury Department.

§ 81.843 Adjustment of sales price. As indicated in paragraph (c) of § 81.842, it is not necessary that on a sale of property to a lump-sum contractor, the amount of the Federal tax, as such, be collected from the contractor. It is not appropriate, however, that the contractor derive the benefit arising from the fact that the Government originally acquired the property tax fee. Accordingly, in fixing the sales price to be paid to the Government by the lump-sum contractor, one of the elements going into the price must be the amount of the Federal excise tax which would ordinarily be payable upon a sale of the property.

Adjustments of Contracts Because of Changed Federal Excise Taxes

§ 81.850 Excise tax rates increased by Revenue Act of 1943. The following excise tax rates, among others, were increased (effective 1 April 1944) by the Revenue Act of 1943.

Description of tax	Old rate	Rate under 1943 act
Retailers' excise taxes:	Percent	Percent
Jewelry, etc. (except as to certain watches and alarm clocks)	10	20
Furs	10	20
Toilet preparations	10	20
Luggage (formerly Manufacturers' excise tax)	10	20
Manufacturers' excise taxes:
Electric light bulbs and tubes	5	20
Tax on communication:
Telephone (over 24 cents)	20	25
Domestic telegraph, cable or radio dispatches	15	25
Leased wires, etc.	15	25
Wire and equipment service	5	5
Local telephone service	10	15
Tax on transportation of persons	10	15

§ 81.851 Excise taxes repealed by Revenue Act of 1943. Section 310 of the Revenue Act of 1943 repealed as of 1 April 1944 the Retailers' excise tax imposed by section 2400, Internal Revenue Code, with respect to "silver-plated flatware." Section 311 of the Revenue Act of 1943 revised section 3406 (a) (3), Internal Revenue Code, so as to exempt household type electric vacuum cleaners from Manufacturers' excise taxes.

§ 81.852 Excise taxes repealed by Revenue Act of 1942. Section 611 of the Revenue Act of 1942 repealed as of 1 November 1942 excise taxes imposed by Internal Revenue Code, section 3406 (a), subsections (5), (7), (8), and (9) relating respectively to electric signs, rubber articles, washing machines and optical equipment. Sections 614 and 615 of the Revenue Act of 1942 have revised sections 3405 and 3406 (a) (6) of the Internal Revenue Code so as to exempt from excise taxation certain commercial refrigerating apparatus and cash registers of the type used in registering over-the-counter retail sales.

§ 81.853 Contract provisions requiring adjustment by reason of changed Federal excise taxes. The standard tax article prescribed in § 81.357 (a) (as well as the provision formerly prescribed therein) for lump sum supply contracts requires certain adjustments in contract prices by reason of changes after the date of the contract of the date of the award, as the case may be, in excise taxes directly applicable to the supplies or work covered by the contract or the materials used in the manufacture thereof, all as more fully set out in paragraph (b) of such standard tax article.

§ 81.854 Adjustments required under standard tax article by reason of increase in rates and repeal of excise taxes. The increases in rates of excise taxes and the repeal of excise taxes mentioned in §§ 81.850 to 81.852 require adjustment under paragraph (b) of the standard tax article prescribed in § 81.375 (a) or substantially similar provisions, if:

(a) Such taxes are directly applicable to the supplies or work covered by the contract or to the materials used in work or manufacture under the contract (all as more fully set forth in paragraph (b) of such standard tax article);

(b) The date of such contract or of the award, as the case may be, was prior to the date of the applicable increase or repeal; and

(c) Such taxes were included in the contract price. In the case of increase of rates, however, no adjustment will be made in excess of the amount of additional taxes or charges which the contractor is required to pay by reason of such increase. As a general rule, no adjustment will be required in connection with increase in rates of tax imposed with respect to communication and transportation.

§ 81.855 Authority of chiefs of technical services with respect to adjustments. To facilitate the prosecution of the war by reducing to a minimum the serious administrative burden of making adjustments referred to in § 81.854 and the time of contractors and government officers consumed in determining the amount thereof, the chiefs of the technical services are authorized pursuant to the First War Powers Act, 1941 and Executive Order No. 9001 to negotiate and enter into supplemental agreements with contractors with respect to the amount of any such adjustments after such verification and check thereof as the chiefs of the technical services severally shall prescribe. To expedite the negotiation of such adjustments the amount thereof may be determined by estimate, spot check, audit, or in any other manner deemed reasonable or appropriate by the chief of the technical service concerned. No adjustment decreasing the contract price shall be required in respect of any contract or class of contracts as to which the chief of the technical service concerned shall determine that the amount of adjustment possible to be obtained will not be substantial or will not warrant the interference with the orderly conduct of the procurement program of the expenditure of the time and effort involved in making or determining the amount of adjustment.

§ 81.856 Situations in which adjustment not required by reason of repeal or increase. No adjustment of the contract price will be required by reason of the repeal or increase of rates of excise taxes if the contract provides that the contract price does not include such taxes or if the contract does not contain a provision substantially similar to paragraph (b) of the standard tax article prescribed in § 81.357 (a).

§ 81.857 Adjustments by reason of removal of exemptions by Revenue Act of 1943. Effective 1 June 1944, certain exemptions available in connection with procurement by the United States were terminated (see § 81.815). Such exemptions, insofar as they relate to manufacturers' excise taxes (§ 81.802) and retailers' excise taxes (§ 81.804), remain in force as to contracts entered into prior to that date (see § 81.814) and no adjustments in contract prices are necessary by reason of termination of such exemptions. Such exemptions, however, insofar as they relate to transportation and communications taxes remain in effect only to the extent provided in § 81.810 of this chapter. If under a particular contract provision, adjustment is required by reason of the removal of exemptions relating to transportation and communication taxes, the provisions of § 81.855 shall apply to such adjustment.

§ 81.858 Tax on transportation of property imposed by Revenue Act of 1942. No increase will be made in the price payable under a contract executed prior to 1 December 1942 and containing a tax article substantially in the form of the standard tax article prescribed in § 81.857 (a), by reason of the imposition of the tax on transportation of property under section 3475 of the Internal Revenue Code (Revenue Act of 1942, Sec. 620) on freight charges which the contractor is bound to pay in accordance with the contract. (See Dec. Comp. Gen. B–30754, dated January 2, 1943; 22 Comp. Gen. 583).

APPENDIX—POLICY AS TO CLAIMING EXEMPTION FROM FEDERAL EXCISE TAXES AVAILABLE ON THE BASIS OF PURCHASE OF ARTICLES FOR THE USE OF THE UNITED STATES

§ 81.890 General; scope of Appendix.[1] This Appendix (§§ 81.890 to 81.897) sets forth the policies which were in effect prior to 1 June 1944 as to claiming exemption from Federal excise taxes. These policies were based upon the availability to exemption on the ground of purchase for the use of the United States and therefore remain in effect on and after 1 June 1944 only in those instances where exemption with respect to sales for the use of the United States are continued beyond that date. (See §§ 81.814 and 81.814 (a) with respect to exemption under contracts entered into prior to 1 June 1944 and §§ 81.810 and 81.810 (a) with respect to exemption from specific taxes remaining available).

Discusion in this Appendix of statutory exemption provisions and Treasury Regulations relates to the situation existing prior to 1 June 1944, and is applicable with respect to exemptions based on sales for the use of the United States continuously beyond that date.

The policy as to claiming exemptions which are available on any basis other than purchase for the use of the United States is set forth in §§ 81.810 to 81.818 of this Procurement Regulation 8 (e. g. see § 81.811, concerning exemptions based on exportation and § 81.812, concerning exemption based on supplies and equipment for vessels of war including aircraft).

[1] The matters set forth in this Appendix (§§ 81.890 to 81.897) have limited application. See § 81.890.

§ 81.891 Definition of terms. (a) The following terms are used in this Appendix (§§ 81.890 to 81.897) as they are defined in Treasury Decision 5114, 27 January 1942 (7 F.R. 579, 29 January 1942):

"Prime Contract" means a contract made by the United States. "Purchase article" means any article purchased as such by the United States under a prime contract. "Construction article" means any article for use as equipment, material or supplies by a prime contractor in performing a prime contract: Provided, however, That payment for the article is made by the United States. "Subsidiary article" means any article, which by itself or after being combined by any persons with other articles, is incorporated in a purchase article or construction article.

(b) The following terms are defined for the purposes of this Appendix as follows:

"Subcontract" means any purchase or agreement to perform all or any part of the work, or to make or furnish any article, required for the performance of another contract or subcontract. "Article" includes any material, part, assembly, machinery, equipment or other personal property.

§ 81.892 Statutory exemptions. Chapters 19 (Retailers' excise taxes; see § 81.804), 25 (pistols, revolvers and certain other firearms; see § 81.803), and 29 (Manufacturers' excise taxes; see § 81.802) of the Internal Revenue Code impose certain excise taxes from which exemption is available if the taxable articles are sold for the use of the United States.

§ 81.893 Exemption under Treasury Decision 5114. In accordance with Treasury Decision 5114 dated 27 January 1942, articles are exempt from taxes imposed by Chapter 25 or 29, where such articles are used or incorporated by the purchaser as material in the manufacture or production of, or a component part of, an article which is to be furnished to the United States Government: Provided, That (a) the price of the article does not include a tax on the sale or transfer thereof under Chapter 25 or 29 of the Internal Revenue Code, (b) the article is included at such tax-free basis in the price of the article in which it is incorporated and (c) satisfactory evidence of the exemption is furnished by tax exemption certificate (see § 81.828). With respect to prime contracts or purchases made 1 March 1943, and purchases made by subcontractors on or after that date, see policies outlined in § 81.897.

§ 81.894 When sales deemed for use of United States. An article is deemed to be sold for the use of the United States when it is sold (a) to the United States to be utilized by the United States or to be disposed of by the United States to a foreign Government, or (b) to a Government contractor or subcontractor (including a supplier) when the article is incorporated in an article sold to the United States or in the building or work constructed, altered, improved or repaired pursuant to a contract with the United States, or (c) to a Government contractor under a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contract or subcontractor under a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontract where the article is used as equipment, materials or supplies by the contractor or subcontractor in performing a Government prime contract or in performing a subcontract under such prime contract and payment for the article is made by the United States, whether directly or by reimbursement of the contractor or subcontractor for the cost thereof. With respect to purchases by cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractors of articles to be consumed in the performance of the subcontract (see § 81.395 (c)) tax exemption can be obtained under present rulings of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue only by the issuance of a Form 1094 by an authorized Government officer (see § 81.824). The term "incorporated in" as above refers to any process whereby an article enters into building, work or supplies or a component thereof so as to become a part thereof and is not merely consumed in such production.

§ 81.895 Special considerations affecting tax exemption of lubricating oil and gasoline. (a) Lubricating oil or gasoline, when incorporated in a purchase article so as to become a part thereof, constitutes a subsidiary article within the meaning of Treasury Decision 5114, and tax exemption of such oil and gasoline can be obtained pursuant to that Treasury Decision. Thus lubricating oil incorporated as the fluid in hydraulic apparatus constitutes a subsidiary article, where the hydraulic apparatus is purchased as such by the United States under a prime contract or where the hydraulic apparatus is a component part of some other article purchased as such by the United States under a prime contract. However, except as stated in paragraph (b) below, the term "subsidiary article" does not include lubricating oil consumed in the operation of machinery in manufacturing such hydraulic apparatus.

(b) Lubricating oil or gasoline is also a subsidiary article when sold to a prime contractor for use as equipment, material or supplies in the performance of his prime contract, if payment for the lubricating oil or gasoline is made by the United States, and in other cases where it can be shown that the United States clearly receives the benefit of exemption from the tax. Thus, where the prime contract involves the construction of a plant, or the operation and maintenance of a plant, either on the basis of cost-plus-a-fixed-fee or some other basis under which the tax on the gasoline or lubricating oil is not to be included in the cost chargeable to the United States, the gasoline or lubricating oil sold to the prime contractor for use in the performance of such prime contract constitutes a subsidiary article within the meaning of Treasury Decision 5114 and tax exemption of such oil and gasoline can be obtained pursuant to that decision. In such case, the gasoline or lubricating oil is deemed to be incorporated in the subject matter of the prime contract, namely, the plant construction or the plant operation.

(c) Gasoline, lubricating oil and other similar consumable supplies, used under cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts are exempt. However, such consumable supplies, when constituting subsidiary articles, as in paragraph (b) above, are only exempt under Treasury Decision 5114 if purchased by a prime contractor. If such consumable supplies are purchased by a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractor or subsidiary subcontractor, Form 1094 must be used in order to secure the exemption from Federal excise tax.

(d) With respect to prime contracts or purchases made after 1 March 1943, and subcontracts or purchases made by contractors or subcontractors on or after that date, see policies outlined in § 81.897.

§ 81.896 Exemption rules as to articles subject to tax under Chapters of Internal Revenue Code other than Chapter 25 or 29. Where any technical service has responsibility for the procurement or purchase of any articles subject to tax under Chapters of the Internal Revenue Code other than Chapter 25 or 29, as for instance Chapter 19, such technical service may prescribe such rules governing the securing of tax exemptions thereunder as it may deem proper.

§ 81.897 Memorandum of policy, effective as of 1 March 1943, as to Federal excise taxes. The Under Secretary of War, jointly with the Under Secretary of the Navy, has issued the memorandum dated 4 January 1943, quoted below. The purpose of the policies stated therein is to reduce administrative work caused to Government departments and to contractors with respect to Federal excise tax exemptions and to eliminate confusion which has arisen particularly in connection with purchases, on a tax exempt basis in accordance with Treasury Decision 5114, by fixed price (lump sum) contractors and subcontractors, of articles and supplies for incorporation in or use in connection with supplies or work to be furnished or performed under a prime contract with the Government. The policies outlined in the memorandum have no application whatsoever to state and local taxes or exemptions thereunder or to fixed price (lump sum) prime contracts or subcontracts made prior to 1 March 1943 or to subcontracts or purchase orders thereunder. (The memorandum does not change or have any effect upon the exemption expressly provided by Section 3442 (1) of the Internal Revenue Code under which contractors manufacturing taxable purchase articles may obtain subsidiary articles tax exempt in the manner provided in that Section and applicable regulations see § 81.813.) The memorandum follows:

POLICY AS TO FEDERAL EXCISE TAX EXEMPTIONS—TO BECOME EFFECTIVE MARCH 1, 1943

The War and Navy Departments adopt the following policies as to the payment of Federal excise taxes and exemptions therefrom, with respect (a) to all contracts executed by the Government after 1 March 1943, and all subcontracts thereunder and (b) to all subcontracts made after 1 March 1943 under cost-plus-a-fixed-fee prime contracts, regardless of when the prime contracts were executed. Certain terms used in this memorandum are defined in Note 1 below. The purpose of these policies is to reduce administrative work caused to Government Departments and to contractors with respect to Federal excise tax exemptions and to avoid the complications which have arisen in connection with purchases on a tax exempt basis in accordance with Treasury Decision 5114 by fixed price (lump sum) contractors and subcontractors.

1. The Government may make direct purchase of articles subject to Federal excise taxes ("purchase articles") on a price basis which either includes or excludes such taxes. In general, it will be War and Navy Department policy to make such direct purchases on a tax exclusive basis except where administrative convenience makes tax inclusive purchasing preferable.

2. In general, fixed-price (lump-sum) contractors, subcontractors, suppliers and materialmen will not be authorized to purchase "construction articles", "subsidiary articles" or articles used or consumed in the performance of the prime contract or subcontract, on a tax-exclusive basis pursuant to Treasury Decision 5114, and no tax exemption certificates will be issued in respect thereof.

3. A prime contractor under a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee or cost prime contract, or any cost-plus-a-fixed-fee or cost subcontractor thereunder, may purchase any articles subject to Federal excise taxes ("construction articles", "subsidiary articles", or articles used or consumed in the performance of such prime contract or subcontract) on a price basis which either includes or excludes such taxes: Provided, That in general purchases on a tax exclusive basis shall be made by a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractor only where there is no fixed-price contractor intervening between such subcontractor and the prime contractor. Tax exemption certificates will be issued where purchases are made on a tax-exclusive basis pursuant to the policy announced in this paragraph. In general, it will be War and Navy Department policy to have such cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors and cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractors make such purchases on a tax exclusive basis except where administrative convenience makes tax inclusive purchasing preferable. The term "cost contract" includes any contract provision on a cost basis and any contract for special additional facilities or emergency plant facilities of the Government-ownership type or substantially in the form approved by the Advisory Commission to the Council of National Defense and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on October 19, 1940 (5 F.R. 4147, No. 205).

4. Exceptions to the policies prescribed in this memorandum may be authorized by the War or Navy Departments in order to facilitate procurement.

5. Bidders and contractors will be advised of the policies herein set forth as promptly as possible, so that they may make plans, fix prices and prepare cost analyses consistently with such policies.

6. The policies herein contained have no application to state and local taxes. These policies will likewise not necessitate any change in the policies applicable to fixed-price prime contracts and subcontracts executed prior to March 1, 1943, and subcontracts thereunder.

Dated this 4th day of January, 1943.

ROBERT P. PATTERSON,
Under Secretary of War.
FORRESTAL,
Under Secretary of the Navy.

[NOTE 1: This note in the statement of policy refers to the definitions set out in § 81.891.]

(a) Changes effected by memorandum of policy. (1) Fixed price (lump sum) prime contracts made on or after 1 March 1943 for the acquisition by the War Department of articles subject to Federal excise taxes ("purchase articles") shall in general be made on a price basis which excludes such Federal excise taxes. The chief of any technical service may authorize any contract or class of prime contracts to be made on a price basis which includes such Federal excise taxes.

(2) Fixed price (lump sum) prime contractors under contracts made on or after 1 March 1943 and subcontractors under them will not in general be authorized to purchase "subsidiary articles" (§ 81.891) or articles used or consumed in the performance of the prime contract on a tax exclusive basis pursuant to Treasury Decision 5114.

(3) Where the prime contract with the Government is on a cost-plus-a-fixed-fee basis, regardless of the date of the execution of the prime contract, a fixed price (lump sum) subcontractor thereunder whose subcontract is made on or after 1 March 1943 will not be authorized to purchase "subsidiary articles", or articles used or consumed in the performance of the prime contract or subcontract, on a tax exclusive basis pursuant to Treasury Decision 5114.

(4) Cost-plus-a-fixed-fee prime contractors and cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractors acting under them (where no lump sum contractor intervenes between the prime contractor and the cost-plus-a-fixed-fee subcontractor) will normally purchase articles, which are subject to Federal excise tax, on a tax exclusive basis.

(b) Issue of tax exemption certificates. Except as provided in § 81.897 (c), no tax exemption certificate will be issued by any officer or employee of the War Department or pursuant to Treasury Decision 5114 in a manner inconsistent with the policies provided in §§ 81.897 and 81.897 (a). Nothing in these regulations, however, requires any contractor or subcontractor to forego any Federal excise tax exemption to which he may be entitled otherwise than under Treasury Decision 5114 (see, for example, Sec. 3442, IRC). Where contractors are entitled to any such exemption, contracting officers should take precautions to see that prices under lump sum contracts are fixed after giving due consideration to the effect of such exemption (see § 81.813).

(c) Variations from policy by chief of any technical service. The chief of any technical service may authorize variations (consistent with applicable tax exemption laws and tax regulations) from the policies set forth in § 81.897, in any case or class of cases where he finds that such action is necessary to facilitate procurement. Any variations so authorized will be reported at once in writing to the Director, Purchases Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces. (Variations authorized by § 81.897 (e) need not be so reported.)

(d) Documents to be consistent with policy. The chief of each technical service will make necessary changes in existing bid forms, specifications, and instructions relating to bids and evaluation of contracts to carry out the policies set forth in the memorandum quoted in § 81.897. Great care should be exercised in drawing contracts and purchase orders to make certain that their provisions reflect accurately the intention of the parties with respect to taxes and that they are consistent with the policies above mentioned.

(e) Exception to tax policy with respect to radio apparatus, parts and similar items. In some instances contractors have experienced difficulty in ascertaining whether particular items and parts of certain specialized military and naval equipment fall within the category of articles enumerated in section 3404, Internal Revenue Code (see § 81.802 (c)). Accordingly, as an exception to the tax policy set forth in § 81.897 (see par. (c) above), contracting officers are given authority to make prime contracts by the terms of which the prime contractor will be permitted to make purchases, on a basis exclusive of tax, of articles which are or may be subject to the tax imposed by section 3404 or section 3444 (so far as it relates to articles enumerated in section 3404), Internal Revenue Code, whether such articles (1) constitute subsidiary articles, or (2) are acquired by the prime contractor for transfer by him to the United States as purchase articles. With respect to any such purchases, the prime contractor may be authorized to issue tax exemption certificates in accordance with Treasury Decision 5114 and subject to its limitations.

(f) Taxable articles manufactured by the prime contractor and included in a purchase article as a component part thereof. The tax policy set out in §§ 81.897 and 81.897 (a) is not intended to prevent the Government from buying purchase articles on a basis exclusive of any taxes on component parts of such purchase articles where such component parts (1) have been manufactured by the prime contractor himself and (2) have been included in the purchase article by such manufacturer himself. Buying such purchase articles from prime contractors on a basis exclusive of any tax imposed with respect to such component parts pursuant to the provisions of Internal Revenue Code, Section 3444, is consistent with the above mentioned tax policy.

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

LABOR

In § 81.965 paragraph (a) is amended and paragraphs (d), (e), (f) and (g) are added.

§ 81.965 Exceptions—(a) Shipbuilding stabilization agreement. The Secretary of Labor on February 25, 1943, pursuant to Executive Order 9248, issued an order determining that the provisions of Executive Order 9240 shall not apply after March 2, 1943, to the shipbuilding and ship repair industry.

The Secretary's order is based on a finding that the Zone Standards Agreements for the Shipbuilding and Ship Repair Industry, and the Pacific Coast Repair Agreements, approved by the Government departments and agencies concerned with shipbuilding and ship repair work, are operating satisfactorily to stabilize overtime practices in the industry. The exemption is not limited, however, to companies which are parties or subject to these wage stabilization agreements, but is applicable to the entire shipbuilding and ship repair industry.

The shipbuilding and ship repair industry, for the purposes of the Secretary's order, includes generally construction, conversion, outfitting, and repair of any floating marine structures, including floating drydocks. Many preliminary processes and the manufacture of many parts and products which are eventually used in the building of a ship are, however, not included. For example, the manufacture of prefabricated parts in steel mills or sawmills is not included in the industry.

The construction, conversion, outfitting, and repair activities which are considered within the shipbuilding and ship repair industry are those which are performed in the water, in drydocks, in basins, on ways for launching, or on the premises of a shipyard or boatyard. The exemption covers all employees of companies which are engaged in such activities, including maintenance, clerical and technical employees, and including also employees who may be assigned to work away from the shipyard such as draftsmen employed by the shipyard and temporarily stationed in the office of an independent drafting concern, working on plans for the shipyard. However, employees of "uptown shops" are not within the exemption.

* * * * * *

(d) Sugar Processing Industry. The Secretary of Labor on March 24, 1943, pursuant to Executive Order 9248, issued an order determining that in the case of an employer engaged in the processing of sugar beets or sugar cane into sugar (but not refined sugar) or into syrup, the provisions of section 1A (1) of Executive Order 9240 (requiring the payment of double time compensation on the seventh consecutive day of a regularly schedule workweek) shall not apply to his employees in any place of employment where he is so engaged.

(e) Fish Processing Industry. The Secretary of Labor on June 7, 1943, pursuant to Executive Order 9248, issued an order determining that the provisions of Executive Order 9240 shall not apply to employees engaged in the processing of fish, including the canning and reduction thereof, and operations incidental thereto, in the States of Washington, Oregon, and California, and in the Territory of Alaska.

(f) Fruit and Vegetable Packing and Canning Industries. The Secretary of Labor on August 25, 1943, pursuant to Executive Order 9248, issued an order determining that in the case of an employer engaged in the first processing of, or in canning or packing, perishable or seasonal fresh fruits and vegetables, the provisions of Executive Order 9240 shall not apply to his employees in any place of employment where he is so engaged.

(g) Milk Processing Industry. The Secretary of Labor on October 22, 1943, pursuant to Executive Order 9248, issued an order determining that in the case of an employer engaged in the first processing of milk, whey, skimmed milk, or cream into dairy products, the provisions of Executive Order 9240 shall not apply to his employees in any place of employment where he is so engaged.

PART 81—PROCUREMENT OF MILITARY SUPPLIES AND ANIMALS

RENEGOTIATION AND PRICE ADJUSTMENT

Section 81.1241 is amended as follows:

§ 81.1241 Effect of articles. Both articles divide performance under the contract into specified periods for the purpose of adjusting the contract price. Under § 81.360 (a) the original contract price is exempt from statutory renegotiation for the first period of performance, but under § 81.360 (b) the price for the first period will be adjusted at the end of that period and appropriate credit or refund made, and this adjusted price may be exempted from statutory renegotiation by the contracting officer, as hereafter described. Under both articles the contracting officer and contractor will negotiate at the end of each period on the basis of cost experience and other data, and the contracting officer, at his discretion, may exempt the price so fixed from statutory renegotiation, if he believes that the cost data are sufficiently accurate and that the price is fair to the Government and will not result in excessive profits to the contractor.

[Procurement Reg. 15]

PART 88—TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS

TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS FOR THE CONVENIENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT

Section 88.15–112 is added as follows:

§ 88.15–112 Requirement to expedite "hardship cases". It is War Department policy to expedite settlement of all terminated contracts and subcontracts and to give special administrative priority to further expedite "hardship cases" as defined below.

(a) Definition of a "hardship case". A "hardship case" is any unsettled termination case judged by the contracting officer, or such other officer as may be designated by the chief of the technical service concerned or by higher authority, to be a situation where (1) the termination has resulted in rendering the contractor or subcontractor financially unable to carry on normal manufacturing or business operations either in the performance of other Government contracts or civilian business, or the termination has resulted in placing the contractor or subcontractor in imminent danger of bankruptcy; and (2) the contractor or subcontractor would probably be financially able to carry on normal operations or to avert bankruptcy if the amounts due it in the settlement of its terminated contract were immediately ascertainable and payable; and (3) the contracting officer, or the officer designated, determines that neither Government nor commercial financing is practically available to the contractor or subcontractor to the extent necessary to alleviate its financial situation.

(b) Procedure. (1) When a contractor or subcontractor makes a request to the contracting officer for special administrative priority, claiming a "hardship case", the contracting officer, or the officer designated, will make whatever investigation is practicable under the circumstances and consistent with the necessity for speed. The investigating officer, will set forth his judgment with respect to the above in a memorandum for file.

(2) If it is judged in accordance with the above that the case is not a "hardship case", expedited treatment over other termination cases is not required and the contractor may, in the judgment of the contracting officer, be so notified.

(3) If the case is judged in accordance with the above to be a "hardship case", the contracting officer, as well as accounting personnel, property disposal personnel, the settlement advisory section and others engaged in settling the contract or subcontract will give special administrative priority to the settlement of the contract or subcontract, until the necessary partial payment or final payment has been made. In carrying out this special administrative priority, contracting officers are authorized to accelerate and, in matters not involving established policy, to vary normal administrative procedures within reasonable limits, provided that in their judgment the interest of the Government is not thereby adversely affected.

(c) Expediting settlements other than "hardship cases". Nothing in the preceding paragraphs of this section shall be construed to prohibit a contracting officer from expediting the settlement of any contract or subcontract at a greater rate than other contracts, when in his opinion it is advisable to do so.

In § 88.15–320 paragraph (a) is added as follows:

§ 88.15–320 Service of termination notice. • • •

(a) Prompt inspection and acceptance of completed articles. Promptly after giving the contractor notice of termination of a contract, the contracting officer will take steps to inspect and accept all completed articles which comply with the provisions of the contract and which do not represent unreasonable anticipation of production schedules, and will approve payment of the contract price therefor, unless the contractor and the contracting officer agree on other disposition thereof.

Section 88.15–325 paragraphs (c) (2) and (d) are amended and paragraph (c) (3) is added as follows:

§ 88.15–325 Termination and settlement of subcontracts. • • •

(c) Settlement of subcontracts. • • •

(2) (i) It is necessary to expedite the settlement of subcontracts. In the settlement of fixed-price supply contracts, contracting officers will authorize prime contractors to settle their terminated subcontracts and purchase orders wherever (a) the settlement agreement will call for the payment of not more than $10,000 without deducting disposal credits, (b) the contracting officer is satisfied that the prime contractor will give adequate reviews to subcontractors' statements of charges and to subcontractors' proposals for retention or sale of property allocable thereto, and (c) all the property allocable to the terminated portion of the subcontract or purchase order, the cost of which is included in the statement of charges, will be retained or disposed of by the prime contractor or the subcontractor and credited at fair and reasonable values. Clause (c) above is subject to the exception, however, that, if the prime contractor or subcontractor is unable to obtain what the prime contractor considers a fair and reasonable price for part or all of the property, taking into full consideration the difficulties to be encountered in the shipment and handling of small amounts of property if delivered to the Government, then the prime contractor may make special arrangements with the contracting officer for transfer of title and delivery to the Government of such unsold property. The authorization may be given in connection with fixed-price supply contracts containing either the uniform termination article (§§ 81.324 and 88.15–901) or the old standard article set forth in § 88.15–901a.

(ii) The following additional provisions are applicable:

(a) Similar authorizations should also be extended by contracting officers to subcontractors at any tier under the same conditions, if the number of subcontracts justifies the authorization.

(b) Authorizations given to the prime contractor or to subcontractors should exclude authority to settle claims of subcontractors which are affiliated with the authorized contractor.

(c) No authorization may be given in connection with the settlement of terminated subcontracts or purchase orders under cost-plus-a-fixed-fee prime contracts.

(d) In the cases where the type of authorization permitted by this subparagraph (2) has been granted, the contracting officer will from time to time make selective reviews of the settlements so made by the prime contractor or the subcontractor receiving the authorization, to determine whether the prime contractor or subcontractor is carrying out adequate reviews and fair settlements, and whether the authorization should remain outstanding.

(e) When contractors act under authorization granted to them pursuant to this subparagraph (2), the settlement agreement should bear an appropriate approval, signed by a representative of the contractor authorized to execute the same. Such approval in substantially the following form is authorized:

> The undersigned certifies that it has examined, or caused to be examined, to an extent which it considers adequate in the circumstances, the statement of charges of its within named supplier, and that in its opinion the within settlement is properly allocable to the terminated portion of prime contract with the Government No. W------, is fair and reasonable, was negotiated in good faith, and is not more favorable to said supplier than one which the undersigned would make if reimbursement by the Government were not involved. The undersigned certifies that it has no knowledge to doubt the reasonableness of the settlements with more remote suppliers or to doubt that the charges for them are allocable to said contract. The undersigned shall not be deemed to have made any representations with respect to the more remote suppliers' claims or the settlement thereof other than those expressed in this certificate.
> On the basis of the foregoing, the within settlement is approved pursuant to authorization dated ----------, 194---. All the property allocable to the terminated portion of the subcontract or purchase order, the cost of which was included in the statement of charges, has been retained or disposed of, and credited at what the undersigned considers to be fair and reasonable values.
>
> ----------
> (Name of Contractor)
>
> By----------
> (Authorized Representative)

(f) Settlements made by a contractor (prime or sub) with a subcontractor in accordance with this authorization will be recognized for the purposes of the uniform termination article (§§ 81.324 and 88.15–901) and of the old standard termination article (§ 88.15–901a) in the absence of fraud on the part of the contractor. Any settlements made by the subcontractor with his suppliers (and included in the settlement between the prime contractor and the subcontractor) in accordance with this authorization will be similarly recognized in the absence of fraud on the part of the prime contractor.

(g) The provisions of § 88.15–220, relating to reviews of termination settlements are not applicable to settlements approved in accordance with this authorization.

The foregoing provisions of this subparagraph (2) supersede the memorandum to the Commanding Generals of the Army Air Forces and Army Service Forces from the Under Secretary of War, dated 4 March 1944, subject: "Subcontract Settlements".

(3) The contracting officer ordinarily should not require that settlements made by subcontractors with second tier and more remote subcontractors and suppliers be submitted for his prior approval, although he may do so and he may give such approval in any proper case when it is requested. Such settlements should usually be approved after they have been made unless in particular instances the settlements appear to have been made in bad faith. The contracting officer in requiring and granting approval of settlements of subcontracts, particularly those made with second tier and more remote subcontractors, should act reasonably, without unnecessary formality and with recognition of the fact that, as a practical matter, it is impossible for him to attempt to scrutinize such settlements in detail, except in cases where he has cause to doubt the good faith or reliability of the contractor (or other person claiming through him) making the settlement.

(d) Action to be taken by prime contractor with respect to settlement of subcontracts. The prime contractor to carry out his functions in connection with the settlement of subcontracts must arrange to see:

(1) That his subcontractors and suppliers stop work. (A form of suggested notice to them is set out in § 88.15–912 (b)).

(2) That they are requested to state promptly whether there will be any termination charges (as a result of the termination of their subcontracts), and if so that they are directed to file, and file seasonably, Inventory Schedules, Contractor's Own Charges Schedules, and Contractor's Settlement Proposals, on the appropriate Standard Forms set forth in §§ 88.15–937 (a) and 88.939 (c) inclusive, in accordance with the instructions set forth in §§ 88.15–403 and 88.15–939 (d).

(3) That they are advised of the basis upon which they may obtain partial payments (see § 88.15–502.)

(4) That they arrange a proper program of disposal of property acquired for the performance of their subcontracts (see §§ 88.15–325 (c) and 88.15–350).

(5) That the statements of subcontractors are adequately reviewed (see §§ 88.15–431 to 88.15–435, inclusive).

(6) That a proper settlement of each subcontract and purchase order is negotiated with all possible speed (see § 88.15–325 (a)) and promptly presented to the contracting officer for approval, where such approval is required.

Section 88.15–351 through paragraphs (a), (b) and (d) is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–351 Inventory. Obtaining an inventory of property on hand is the first step in proceeding to dispose of property acquired or produced for the performance of the terminated portion of the contract. The Standard Inventory Schedules for use by prime contractors and subcontractors, Forms C–1, C–2, and C–3, are set forth in paragraphs (a) to (c) inclusive in § 88.15–939. The General Instructions for use of all the Standard Forms are set forth in § 88.15–403, and the Special Instructions for Description of Inventory in Standard Forms C–1, C–2, and C–3 are set forth in paragraph (d) of § 88.15–939.

(a) Basis of pricing inventory. Instructions for completing the cost data of inventories appear on Standard Forms C–1, C–2, and C–3. Cash discounts, trade discounts, special rebates, and similar price reductions should be reflected either in the detailed cost data or as a separate deduction.

(b) Inventory should include bids for contractors' or subcontractors' property which they are willing to retain. Usually the most effective method of making property available for other essential war work is to have the contractor or subcontractor take it over and use it himself or dispose of it (see § 88.15–361). Accordingly columns have been provided in Standard Forms C–1, C–2, and C–3 for offers by the prime contractor or subcontractor filing the forms, in which may be shown the items which he wishes to retain and the prices offered therefor.

• • • • •

(d) Copies. The contracting officer should advise the contractor of the number of copies of Standard A, B, and C Forms that will be required for use of the Government in a particular case, and the contractor should supply this information to his subcontractors and suppliers. Contractors and subcontractors will in addition prepare as many additional copies of the Forms for their own use as they may deem necessary. The paper on which the Forms are prepared can be used for reproduction by liquid process duplicating machines.

In § 88.15–355 paragraph (a) is added.

§ 88.15–355 Retention of property by prime contractor at less than cost. • • •

(a) Diversion of property or orders to other contracts. (1) It is the policy of the War Department to encourage contractors and subcontractors so far as possible to divert to other war production all materials, equipment, and supplies which have become excess by reason of the termination of a contract or subcontract. If notice of termination of any contract to which such property is diverted is thereafter given, the contractor is entitled in the settlement of this contract to reimbursement for the property so diverted to the extent that the property is properly allocable to this contract and is within the reasonable quantitative requirements of the entire contract. Thus, where the cost of such property was not included in the settlement of the original terminated contract, or where the cost was included but the contractor retained the property at an agreed value, the cost or agreed value, as the case may be, together with any charges properly applicable thereto, may be included in the termination settlement of the contract to which such property was diverted.

(2) Where a saving to the Government may be effected, contractors and subcontractors should divert property from a terminated contract to a continuing contract in accordance with subparagraph (1) above even if it necessitates the cancellation of orders which have already been placed for materials, equipment, or supplies under the continuing contract. If notice of termination of the continuing contract is subsequently given, the reasonable cost to the contractor of cancelling these orders may be included in the termination settlement as part of the cost of materials applicable to the terminated portion.

(3) Similarly, it is the policy of the War Department to encourage the transfer of orders for materials, equipment, supplies and services from contracts or subcontracts being terminated to continuing contracts or subcontracts where a saving to the Government may be effected and where the property or services covered by the orders transferred will be property allocable to the continuing contract and within the reasonable quantitative requirements of the entire contract. Where the transfer of an order from a contract being terminated to a continuing contract necessitates the cancellation of orders under the continuing contract, the cancellation charges thereon may be included in the settlement of the contract being terminated.

Section 88.15–376 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–376 Property to which the Government has security title by virtue of provisions of contract article governing partial payment. Property to which the Government has security title by virture of provisions of a contract article governing partial payments of the type set forth in §§ 81.330 and 81.331 may be disposed of in termination proceedings pursuant to the provisions of the new uniform termination article (§§ 81.324, 88.15–901) or the old standard termination article (§§ 88.15–901a) and this Procurement Regulation 15, irrespective of whether subparagraph (d) is contained in the partial payment article as authorized by §§ 81.330, 81.331 and 81.331a. In approving the disposition of such property to or through the contractor, care will be exercised to protect the interest of the Government or of assignees as provided in § 88.15–350 (d).

Preparation and Review of Contractors' and Subcontractors' Accounting Statements and Proposals for Settlement: Accounting Guides to a Negotiated Settlement

Section 88.15–400 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–400 Summary of action to be taken with respect to presentation of contractor's statements and proposals for settlement. The following principal steps will be taken to bring about the settlement and payment of amounts, if any, due to the contractor and his subcontractors and suppliers in connection with the termination settlement:

(a) An initial conference will be held with the contractor at or about the time that the termination notice is sent (see § 88.15–322). At this conference the general outlines to be followed in making the settlement will be negotiated and a definite program for its completion will be worked out in detail.

(b) The contractor will file the appropriate Standard Forms referred to in § 88.15–402, in accordance with the Instructions set forth in §§ 88.15–403 and 88.15–939 (d).

(c) The various subcontractors will file with their immediate purchasers similar appropriate Standard Forms. In any instance where the settlement of a subcontract is likely to be complicated, the preparation of the Standard Forms should usually be the subject of a conference between the prime contractor or the subcontractor and his immediate supplier.

(d) Each contractor and subcontractor will review, through his own personnel, the statements presented by his immediate subcontractors and suppliers (see §§ 88.15–431 to 88.15–435 inclusive) and will negotiate settlements with them, subject to the approval of the contracting officer where such approval is required.

(e) The contracting officer will utilize the services of the Government accounting personnel in connection with the settlement to the extent that he deems desirable in the particular case. In this connection special attention is invited to the fourth paragraph of the memorandum of the Under Secretary of War dated 10 February 1944 set forth in § 88.15–422. Any report requested of Government accounting personnel (see § 88.15–424), and the comments and recommendations therein contained, will be regarded as advisory only and will not bind or control the discretion of the contracting officer.

Section 88.15–401 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–401 Negotiated settlement compared with a formula settlement. The preparation of accounting data and of a proposal for settlement are designed to facilitate the negotiation of a settlement of the amount due in connection with the termination of the contract. Such a negotiated settlement is authorised by paragraph (c) of the new uniform termination article for use in lump sum supply contracts (§§ 81.324, 88.15–901) and in the old standard article (see § 81.15–901a). If such a settlement cannot be negotiated between the contracting officer and the contractor, then, under the termination article, settlement will be made in accordance with the formula contained in paragraph (d) of both the new uniform article (§ 81.324) and the old standard article (§ 88.15–901a). A negotiated settlement can be made more expeditiously than a formal settlement and results in more prompt payment of the amounts owing to contractors and subcontractors. The method of settlement by negotiation, therefore, is to be regarded as the primary and more satisfactory method of settlement. Settlement by formula will be a secondary method and will be resorted to as provided in § 88.15–560.

Sections 88.15–402 to 88.15–411, inclusive, are rescinded and the following §§ 88.15–402 to 88.15–407 are substituted therefor:

§ 88.15–402 Standard forms. Standard forms have been adopted governing (a) Contractor's Settlement Proposal, Forms A–1, A–2, A–3 and A–4 (set out in § 88.15–937 (a), (b), (c) and (d)); (b) Contractor's Own Charges Schedule, Forms B–1 and B–2 (set out in § 88.15–938 (a) and (b)); and (c) Inventory Schedule. Forms C–1, C–2 and C–3 (set out in § 88.15–939 (a), (b) and (c)). These forms are for use by prime contractors and subcontractors alike. The terms "subcontractor" and "supplier" are used interchangeably to refer to such persons in all tiers, and include materialmen.

§ 88.15–403 General instructions for use of standard forms. The following general instructions are applicable to the use of the standard forms referred to in § 88.15–402:

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF STANDARD FORMS IN PRESENTING SETTLEMENT PROPOSALS ARISING FROM TOTAL OR PARTIAL TERMINATION OF FIXED PRICE SUPPLY CONTRACTS

(a) Instructions applicable to all forms—(1) General policy regarding use of standard forms. (i) As a means of assisting prime and subcontractors in the preparation of settlement proposals and of expediting the review of such proposals, the War Department has provided standard forms for general use.

(ii) These forms are to be used in connection with all fixed price supply contracts terminated after 15 May 1944. In exceptional cases, if the forms fail to present the essential facts or are not sufficiently applicable, contracting officers may authorise some other method of presentation on forms specially designed for the purpose. Contractors having contracts terminated prior to 15 May 1944 should also use the forms, where proposals have not yet been prepared on other forms. All subcontractors should use the standard forms, to the greatest extent practicable.

(iii) Contracting officers are authorised to permit the omission of data called for by the standard forms in particular instances to the extent that such data are not applicable, are not reasonably obtainable, or are not deemed necessary for the adequate substantiation of proposals for settlement or for disposal of property and to require additional data when necessary for settlement.

(iv) Information should be supplied in accordance with the requirements set forth on the forms. Failure to do this may result in delayed settlements.

(v) The forms are designed to present information required for settlement of terminated contracts as well as for disposal of property resulting from such terminations. In connection with property disposal, contractors and contracting officers will be guided by the general policy that, without delaying the final settlement, surplus raw materials and work in process should be disposed of finally, to the extent practicable, promptly after termination so that delivery of property or passing of title to the Government will be unnecessary. Where the settlement proposal is less than an amount to be prescribed from time to time in regulations, all property involved should normally be finally disposed of so that no delivery or passing of title to the Government is involved.

(2) Types of standard forms provided. (i) The following outline indicates the individual forms provided and when they are to be used:

Where settlement proposal, before disposal credits, is $10,000 or over—long form procedure. Form A–1, Contractors Settlement Proposal—Summary Statement. This statement is supported by a schedule of the contractor's own charges to date of termination B–1 or B–2. Form B–1 Contractor's Own Charges Schedule—If contractor is presenting his charges on an inventory basis. Form B–2 Contractor's Own Charges Schedule—If contractor is presenting his charges on a total cost basis. The "B" schedule is supported by Inventory Forms. Form C–1 Raw Materials, Purchased Parts and Supplies. Form C–2 Work in Process. Form C–3 Jigs, Tools, Dies, Fixtures, etc.

Where settlement proposal, before disposal credits is under $10,000—combination form procedure. One Combination Statement Form may be used. Form A–3, if contractor is presenting his proposal on the inventory basis. Form A–3, if contractor is presenting his proposal on a total cost basis.

Where settlement proposal is under $500. The Short Form A–4 may be used.

(ii) Even though a particular settlement proposal, before disposal credit is under $10,000 the contractor may use the "C" schedules if he finds them more appropriate, or he may use the entire long form procedure, if he prefers.

(3) Inventory vs total cost methods for presenting proposals. (i) Under the inventory method, the costs allocable to the work done on the uncompleted portion of the contract plus profit, if any, are presented in the proposal. This method should be followed, wherever practicable.

(ii) Under the total cost method, the cost applicable to all work done on the contract are summarised, plus profit, if any, and deduction is made for payments made or to be made for completed units. This method should be used only when the inventory method is not practicable.

(4) Cost data presented in standard forms. (i) In presenting all cost data on standard forms the contractor should be guided by the Statement of Principles for Determination of Costs Upon Termination of Government Fixed Price Supply Contracts (§ 88.15–481) issued by the Joint Contract Termination Board, together with any further interpretations which may subsequently be issued.

(ii) It is of special important that adequate explanations be submitted as to the methods followed in allocating common items of inventory, common claims of suppliers, indirect factory expense, and general administrative expense.

(5) Finished units on hand at date of termination. (i) Normally prime contractors will obtain payment for finished units at the contract price and such units will not be reported on inventory forms.

(ii) Subcontractors may not in all cases be permitted to obtain payment through regular billing procedure for finished units on hand at date of termination. If such finished units can properly be included in the settlement proposal under the existing contractual arrangements, they should be reported as follows:

Contractors using combination form procedure. List and describe in Inventory Schedule provided on Forms A–2 or A–3.

Contractors using long form procedure. Use a separate page of Form C–1 with headings appropriately modified.

(6) Inventories. (i) In filling out the inventory schedules, it is permissible to lump small quantities of items under a "Sundry" caption with a general description of the type of items included, where the aggregate amount involved does not warrant greater detail. As a general rule, the cost of the items included under the "Sundry" caption should not total more than 20% of the total cost of the particular inventory classification or $1,000—whichever is less.

(ii) If the proposal is submitted on the "Inventory" basis, no item of property for which the contractor does not propose to make a charge need be listed. If, however, the contractor seeks any profit on such items, the basis of such a charge must be clearly set forth.

(7) Miscellaneous instructions. (i) A separate set of forms should be submitted for each contract terminated unless grouping of several contracts of the same contractor for settlement purposes is approved by the contracting officer.

(ii) All certificates must be signed by authorised representatives of the contractor. Only one executed certificate is required for each form or schedule—irrespective of the number of pages—unless additional certificates are requested by the contracting officer.

(8) Other applicable regulations; War Department contracts. (i) The general procedures for the handling of terminated War Department fixed price supply contracts are contained in this Procurement Regulation No. 15. Instructions as to the accounting review of termination settlements by Government personnel are contained in TM 14–320, Termination Accounting Manual for Fixed-Price Supply Contracts.

(ii) These regulations should be consulted by contractors as further guides as to the nature of the data to be presented in these standard forms.

(b) Instruction applicable only to long form procedure—(1) Time of presenting individual forms.—

(i) The following plan may be followed, to the extent practicable:

(a) Submit "C" Inventory Schedules as quickly as possible to facilitate disposition of inventory. Cost data should be completed to the extent practicable, without unduly delaying submission of forms. However, cost information is particularly needed for property disposal purposes in connection with property listed on the C–1 form.

(b) Submit "B" Contractor's Own Charges Schedule supported by "C" schedules containing cost data so that the accounting review of these charges can be started.

(c) Submit "A" Contractor's Settlement Proposal—

Summary statement which is the basis for the negotiation of a final settlement.

(ii) All of above forms and schedules may, however, be filed at one time. In some cases the "C" schedules can be filed first and then the "B" schedule and "A" form be filed together.

(2) Inventory schedules. (i) Where any inventory schedule requires the use of two or more sheets, the entire heading need not be repeated on the second and subsequent sheets. Only the contractor's name and the Government contract number, need be repeated, plus the required page number information.

(ii) Inventory schedules listing Government owned property should be submitted only for property disposition purposes and should not be filed as a part of the Settlement Proposal. "Contract Owned". inventory includes all property for which reimbursement may be claimed even though security title may have passed in connection with partial or progress payments.

(iii) Special instructions for describing inventory in column 2 of all "C" forms have been prescribed to facilitate property disposition and to comply with the requirements of the various property disposal agencies. These instructions are attached as Appendix A (see § 88.15–939 (d)). Additional instructions and administrative interpretations may be given from time to time through contracting officers.

§ 88.15–404 Special instructions applicable to Forms C–1, C–2 and C–3. Special Instructions have been adopted for the description of inventory in Forms C–1, C–2 and C–3, and are set out in § 88.15–939 (d) immediately following these forms.

§ 88.15–405 Penalties for false certification. Contractors and subcontractors, in executing the certificates included in the Standard Forms, are subject to penalties for any false certification. (See 18 U. S. C. 80.)

§ 88.15–406 Prompt submission of proposed settlements with subcontractors. Proposed settlements with subcontractors, except those which the contractor is authorized to approve finally pursuant to § 88.15–325 (c), should be submitted to the contracting officer with the appropriate Standard A Forms (and B Forms except as otherwise indicated) from time to time as promptly as it is possible to do so.

§ 88.15–407 Documentary evidence in support of contractor's statement. War Department requirements as to documentary evidence, such as are in force with respect to cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts, are not applicable to negotiated termination settlements of fixed price supply contracts. In the case of settlements by negotiation, no such documentary evidence is to be submitted to the disbursing officer. Contractors and subcontractors, however, are held to the standards of good commercial practice as to possession and maintenance of records, and should preserve all pertinent records and supporting papers so that the Government can make such inspection of them as it deems necessary. In paragraph (h) of the new uniform termination article (§§ 81.324, 88.15–901), a requirement of preservation of such records for three years has been established. It should be remembered that when a fixed price supply contract is completed, the contractor is not ordinarily required to prove his costs under the contract, except possibly in connection with renegotiation proceedings, and even these are usually conducted on an "over-all" basis for each contractor. The contractor should therefore not be required to state his costs in unreasonable detail in connection with termination proceedings. There is no justification for obliging a contractor to maintain an otherwise unnecessarily elaborate cost accounting system merely because of the possibility that his fixed-price contracts may be terminated for the convenience of the Government.

In § 88.15–421 paragraph (b) is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–421 The Termination Accounting Manual. • • •

(b) Termination Accounting Manual not applicable to formula settlements. The Termination Accounting Manual (T. A. M. par. 1113) does not prescribe audit procedures for settlement made through the use of the formula set forth in paragraph (d) of either the old standard termination article (see § 88.15–901a) or of the new uniform termination article (§§ 81.324, 88.15–901), as contrasted with settlements made on the negotiated basis pursuant to paragraph (c) of such termination articles. Procedures for formula settlements will be determined by the chief of the technical service concerned consistently with this regulation (PR 15) and with accounting methods prescribed by the Office of the Fiscal Director, Headquarters, Army Service Forces. The cost principles set forth in § 88.15–480 and following sections will be applied in making formula settlements. Prompt written notice will be given to the Contract Termination Branch, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces (through the chief of the technical service), of any settlement which is to be made in whole or in part on a formula basis but action by the chief of the technical service with respect to such settlement will not be delayed to await any action upon the report. Such report will contain a full statement of the issues remaining unsettled where a partial settlement has been effected (see §§ 88.15–535 and 88.15–560).

In § 88.15–424 paragraph (e) is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–424 Nature of accounting review. • • •

(e) Expediting partial payments. Paragraph (g) of the new uniform termination article (§§ 81.324, 88.15–901) provides that "the Government shall make partial payments and payments on account, from time to time, of the amount to which the contractor shall be entitled under this Article", and the old standard termination article (§ 88.15–901a) contains a similar provision in paragraph (i). It is the duty of accounting personnel to facilitate such partial payments in every proper manner. For example, in appropriate cases a brief preliminary office review may suffice as a basis for the authorization of partial payment by the contracting officer.

Sections 88.15–430 to 88.15–437 are rescinded and §§ 88.15–431 through 88.15–435 and § 88.15–437 are substituted therefor:

§ 88.55–431 Responsibility of contractors and subcontractors to review claims of subcontractors and suppliers. It is the primary responsibility of each contractor and subcontractor to review or examine in an appropriate manner all statements of charges and settlement proposals submitted by his immediate subcontractors and suppliers, arising out of the termination. The problem which he then faces is similar to that faced by Government personnel with respect to the statement of charges and settlement proposal of the prime contractor. Each contractor and subcontractor should advise his immediate subcontractors and suppliers that the statements of charges submitted by them may be audited by Government auditors. The subcontractor and supplier is thus put on notice that his statement of charges and settlement proposal will be used by his purchaser in compiling the latter's setlement proposal for submission either directly or indirectly to the Government.

§ 88.15–432 Standard of care applicable to review. In making such review or examination, the contractor and the subcontractor will be held to the same degree of care that a business man would employ in the conduct of his own affairs, but will not be required to warrant the accuracy of the statements contained in the papers so reviewed or examined.

§ 88.15–433 Office review of supplier's statement of charges and settlement proposal. The contractor or subcontractor charged with the duty of making any such review or examination will at least cause an office review to be made, by qualified accounting personnel in his employ, of each statement of charges and settlement proposal submitted by his immediate subcontractors and suppliers. He should, in each such case, give special attention to the matters listed in § 88.15–424 (b).

§ 88.15–434 Report of accounting personnel. Each contractor or subcontractor will have his accounting personnel furnish a written report of each office review and will upon request make a copy thereof available to his immediate purchaser and to Government personnel.

§ 88.15–435 Appropriate extent of examination beyond an office review. (a) It is the responsibility of each contractor and subcontractor to determine in the first instance what examination, if any, beyond an office review should be made by him of any proposed settlement with any of his immediate subcontractors and suppliers. In making this decision the following should be considered:

(1) The amount and complexity of the proposed settlement.

(2) The report of the office review.

(3) Available reports of independent public accountants.

(4) Any information available from personnel familiar with operations under the subcontract.

(b) If it is determined that any further examination should be made, the following are illustrative of the steps which may then be taken:

(1) The subcontractor or supplier may be requested to submit additional data or explanations in writing.

(2) The contractor or subcontractor may have his accounting personnel visit the supplier's plant to discuss the statement of charges, with such reference to the accounting records as may be appropriate.

(3) An audit may be made by qualified accounting personnel in accordance with the procedures outlined in the Termination Accounting Manual.

§ 88.15–437 Investigation by Government personnel of subcontractors' and suppliers' claims. Although it is, in the first instance, the duty of each contractor or subcontractor to review or examine the statements of charges and settlement proposals submitted by his immediate subcontractors and suppliers, the Government fully reserves the right to make such additional investigations as it may deem proper. As a practical matter, the Government must rely in a great majority of instances upon the review of a particular subcontractor's or supplier's claim made by the reviewing contractor or subcontractor, and the contracting officer and Government accounting personnel will be warranted in doing so in the absence of circumstances coming to their attention pointing to the necessity of special investigation of particular subcontractors' or suppliers' claims, or showing incompetent or inadequate review. All reviewing contractors and subcontractors should call attention to any special circumstances relating to the propriety of the claims of their immediate subcontractors and suppliers. The contracting officer and Government accounting personnel should establish such programs for (a) examining subcontractors' and suppliers' claims and (b) appraising the character of the review given by the prime contractor to the claims of his immediate subcontractors and suppliers, as may be necessary to protect the interest of the Government.

Section 88.15–440 is deleted.

§ 88.15–440 Form of certificate of subcontractors' charges on termination. [Deleted] See § 88.15–937.

In § 88.15–443 paragraph (c) is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–443 Standard termination article (§ 81.324); provisions for reimbursement of the contractor. * * *

(c) Uncompleted portion of the contract-formula settlement. Under paragraph (d) of the old standard termination article, (§ 88.15–901a) and in the new uniform termination article (see §§ 81.324, and 88.15–901), if the contracting officer and the contractor agree upon a negotiated settlement pursuant to the applicable termination articles, the Government, without duplication of any other payments made pursuant to the termination article or prior to giving notice of the termination of the contract, shall compensate the contractor in accordance with the formula set out in paragraph (d) of the applicable article. Attention is invited to §§ 88.15–535 and 88.15–560 which discuss the possibility of partial negotiated settlements.

In § 88.15–444 paragraph (a) is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–444 The Contract Article; limitations on reimbursement. * * *

(a) Maximum payments. Under paragraph (g) of the old termination article (§ 88.15–901a), the payments to be made under the article, when added to "the sum of all amounts previously paid under the terminated contract, shall not exceed the total contract price", adjusted as provided in paragraph (g), in the event that the contract contains an article providing for price adjustment or an escalator clause. A somewhat similar limitation applicable to formula settlements is found in paragraph (d) of the new uniform termination article (see §§ 81.324 and 88.15–901). Even under the new uniform termination article no negotiated settlement will cause total payments under the contract (other than reimbursement of post termination expenses) to exceed the contract price, except with the written approval of the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

Section 88.15–446 is rescinded.

§ 88.15–446 Alternate methods of calculating the contractor's own costs applicable to uncompleted portions of the contract for purposes of an accounting guide: [Rescinded]

Section 88.15–447 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–447 Treatment of disposal credits. Disposal credits may arise either from the retention of items by the contractor or subcontractor or from the sale of property to others. The total amount of such credits will be deducted in arriving at the amount of the Settlement Proposal. (See § 88.15–937 (a), (b), (c) and (d)).

Section 88.15–535 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–535 Where prime contractor cannot settle with one or more subcontractors. Where the prime contractor is unable to effect a settlement, which the contracting officer will approve (where such approval is required), with one or more subcontractors, the settlement agreement between the Government and the prime contractor may exclude the amounts due to such subcontractors from the negotiated settlement, leaving to later determination the question of the payment to be made to the prime contractor with respect to such subcontracts. In appropriate cases, with the written approval of the officer or employee of the War Department in charge of the procurement office in which the settlement is being administered, acting personally or through a representative designated for the purpose, the Government in the settlement agreement with the prime contractor may assume and agree to pay the obligation of the prime contractor with respect to such subcontracts, so far as related to the uncompleted portion of the terminated prime contract. Each such agreement to assume such an obligation shall provide that the amount to be paid under such assumption of liability shall not exceed a stated amount and, where appropriate, will contain an assignment of all rights of the prime contractor relating to such obligation. This amount will be determined at a figure sufficiently low so that the total payments under the terminated prime contract will not exceed any maximum limit set for payments under the applicable termination article (see §§ 81.324 and 88.15–444 (a)). In the event of such an assumption of the prime contractor's obligation, the settlement agreement shall include suitable provisions requiring the contractor (a) to give prompt notice to the contracting officer of the commencement of any litigation with respect to the obligation, and (b) to permit the Government to assume the defense of such litigation as a condition of the Government's liability (see § 88.15–321 (g)). Similar arrangements may be made, with the written consent of the prime contractor and of all intervening subcontractors, where a subcontractor of any tier cannot make settlement with one or more subcontractors of the next tier below him. A written report of each agreement entered into pursuant to this section will be made through channels to the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces.

Section 88.15–550 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–550 Relation of termination to statutory renegotiation. The settlement of terminated contracts will not be delayed pending completion of renegotiation proceedings. However, the following points must be considered in reaching settlement agreements:

(a) The Statement of Principles for Determination of Costs upon Termination of Government Fixed Price Supply Contracts provides that the following should not be included as an element of cost:

> Cost which, as evidenced by accounting statements submitted in renegotiation under section 403 of the Sixth Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, as amended, were charged off during a period covered by a previous renegotiation, may not be subsequently included in the termination settlement if a refund was made for such period, or to the extent that such charging off is shown to have avoided such refund.

(b) In some cases contractors are willing to waive or otherwise release any claim for payment of costs and profit thereon to which they may be entitled as a result of termination of contracts. The signing of such a waiver will not prejudice whatever rights the contractor has to include such costs in accounting statements submitted in renegotiation. It should be pointed out to contractors, however, that the waiver of payment must be made within the contractor's fiscal year if the applicable costs are to be included in accounting statements submitted in renegotiation for that year. Profit consideration in renegotiation with respect to that segment of production represented by the costs on contracts terminated will generally be dependent on the extent and character of the manufacturing contribution represented by those costs.

(c) Contracting officers and accounting personnel will take full advantage of accounting and cost information in the possession of the Price Adjustment Board or section charged with renegotiation dealings with a contractor whose contract has been terminated and will keep that board or section fully informed and make available to it the information developed in connection with the termination settlement.

Section 88.15–560 is amended as follows:

§ 88.15–560 Where settlement by negotiation proves impossible; formula settlement. (a) Where settlement by negotiation of the amount due with respect to the contract (or any portion as to which settlement by negotiation is permitted) proves to be impossible, settlement will be made by formula. Contracting officers will take action promptly to make settlement by formula wherever a negotiated settlement is being unreasonably delayed by the contractor or seems unlikely to be effected within a reasonable time because of inaction by the contractor. Such action will be pressed with special vigor where the interests of subcontractors may be adversely affected by delay of the prime contractor in acting on settlements with his subcontractors.

(b) Resort to a complete formula settlement may in some instances be avoided in part by (1) limiting the formula settlement to any separable issues which are in dispute and (2) negotiating a partial settlement agreement covering all clearly separable issues as to which fair agreement can be reached without unreasonable concessions to the contractor (see also in this connection § 88.15–535). This course, however, should not be pursued unless exhaustive and diligent effort has been made to negotiate a complete settlement of all the matters arising in connection with the termination. Even then, partial settlement should be employed cautiously and no partial settlement should be made if such a settlement will prejudice the Government's interests in the light of the issues left unsettled. The chiefs of the technical services may authorize the execution of such partial settlement agreements either in specific cases or by general rule or delegation of authority. As a general rule, partial settlements covering particular items of the contractor's proposal should not be made during the course of negotiations, since such partial settlements may embarrass the Government's negotiating position as to a final settlement. This general rule, however, is not applicable to agreements approving subcontract settlements or approving dispositions of property and credits arising therefrom.

(c) Where a settlement by formula is to be made of the whole or any part of the amount due in connection with a contract in process of termination, the contracting officer will give the contractor not less than fifteen (15) days written notice by registered mail to produce on or prior to a stated date his written evidence bearing upon the determination of the amount due, including such vouchers, verified transcripts of books of account, affidavits, audit reports and other documents, as the contractor may wish to submit or as the contracting officer in his discretion may require. If the contractor wishes to present oral testimony or if the contracting officer wishes testimony presented in behalf of the Government or by independent experts or to examine persons whose affidavits or reports have been submitted by the contractor, in the discretion of the contracting officer a hearing may be held. If such a hearing is held, the contractor shall be given due notice in writing. The contracting officer may cause such accounting and other investigations and audits to be made as he may deem appropriate. Ordinarily, an investigation will be made on all issues which the negotiations reveal to be in dispute and such additional documents and data may be required as the contracting officer in his discretion considers necessary in the particular case. It is not intended, even in connection with a formula settlement (see §§ 88.15–407, 88.15–421 (b)), that the chief of the technical service shall require the contractor to furnish detailed evidence, vouchers and other data to the extent ordinarily required in cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contracts. The purpose in making investigation and in directing the submission of evidence should be to require the contractor to establish by proof, satisfactory to the contracting officer the substantial facts as to the amount owed to him. The burden of proof is upon the contractor. The nature of the additional data to be furnished will depend upon the situation in the particular case and upon the character of the issues remaining in dispute. Generally, photostatic or other copies of such documents and records as the contracting officer may require will be sufficient for the purposes of the contracting officer and for this reason originals should not be required except where the authenticity of particular documents is in dispute. In all cases the contractor should be given full opportunity to submit within a reasonable time such additional documents, records and other evidence as he may deem appropriate to support his claim.

(d) After a review of the additional accounting information prepared by his own office (see § 88.15–421 (b)) and any additional data or evidence furnished by the contractor, the contracting officer will make administrative findings of fact and a determination on the issues still in dispute and will transmit a copy of such findings and determination to the contractor by registered mail. In this communication the contracting officer should also refer the contractor to the provisions of his contract giving him any right of appeal which may exist (see § 81.326). Such determination shall be based upon the applicable formula in the termination article in the particular contract and shall comprehend the following items (without duplicating amounts included in partial settlements arrived at through negotiation):

(1) A summary of the costs to be paid under the formula settlement. Such costs should ordinarily be summarized in substantially the same manner as the summary shown on Standard Form A–1 (§ 88.15–937 (a)) with the detailed supporting data shown in the summary on Standard Form B–1 (§ 88.15–938 (a)) or on Standard Form B–2 (§ 88.15–938 (b)) whichever is applicable. Such summary of costs, however, may be in such form as the contracting officer deems appropriate in the particular case.

(i) When the costs are presented on the "inventory basis", the figures on the cost summary should be supported by an inventory list. Where the inventory is comprised of more than three pages, a reasonable analysis only will be presented. This analysis (which should not require more than one or two pages) should show the description, quantity, prices (if appropriate) and extensions of the important classifications of inventory. For example, raw material may be listed by major groupings, and principal purchased components may be briefly described. Work in process will be listed to show the dollar amounts by departments or other appropriate classifications.

(ii) When the cost summary is presented on the "total cost basis" each major element of cost on the summary should be supported by an appropriate short analysis or schedule of one or two pages. This analysis in respect to direct material will show to the extent practicable the several major classes as indicated by the contractors' records, such as steel, copper, lumber, etc., subdivided as to grade for the major elements. Such a breakdown should seldom include more than 15 or 20 items. Direct labor may be summarized by plant operations, production centers or other appropriate classifications, if the contractor's accounting system so provides or if such an analysis can be readily obtained. Other direct charges if important, may be succinctly analyzed. Usually indirect factory expenses will be reflected in not more than 25 or 30 major accounts. The basis of allocation to the contract being terminated should be clearly described. A similar schedule should be submitted for administrative expenses and any other major groups shown on the cost summary if and to the extent deemed appropriate by the contracting officer.

(2) A statement of the amount allowed by the contracting officer by way of profit. If the contract contains the new uniform termination article (§§ 81.324, 88.15–901) this item of profit should show separately (i) the amount allowed with respect to the cost of articles or materials not processed by the contractor, and (ii) the amount allowed with respect to other costs of the contractor. If the contract contains the old standard form of termination article (see § 88.15–901a) the contracting officer will include a statement of his estimate of the profit which would have been realized on the uncompleted portion of the contract if the contract had been completed and his determination of the percentage of completion of the uncompleted portion of the contract, as well as the amount of profit allowed with respect to the work done on the uncompleted portion of the contract.

(3) A supporting analysis of disposal credits, if substantial or if they cannot be appropriately explained in the summary, segregated as to those arising from property retained by the contractor and those arising from sales to outsiders. In no event is it expected that such analysis will require more than two or three pages.

(4) A list of all settlements with immediate (first tier) subcontractors and suppliers with the name and address of each subcontractor and supplier and the amount of each settlement as approved or authorized by the contracting officer.

(5) A schedule of settlement expenses (sometimes referred to as post-termination expenses) including the cost of preserving and protecting the property. This schedule will show the major items by classification followed by a description where necessary to clarify the figures and should seldom exceed one page.

(6) The total amount found to be due to the contractor. (Any amounts payable to the contractor in connection with a partial negotiated settlement should be listed separately for purposes of information.)

(7) In addition to the accounting statements and schedules enumerated above, there should be furnished the following supplemental or collateral data:

(i) The administrative accounting reports to the contracting officer by Government accounting personnel.

(ii) Copies of correspondence directly bearing on the findings of the contracting officer.

(iii) An appropriate certificate by the contracting officer supporting his findings of fact and stating that the amount of the termination settlement agreement is in his judgment just and reasonable.

(e) In connection with a formula settlement, settlements with subcontractors and suppliers made with the approval of the contracting officer, prior or subsequent to the breakdown of negotiations will not be reexamined and the cost of such settlements will be reimbursed to the contractor under the applicable termination article as part of the formula settlement. Similarly, other action taken by the contractor prior or subsequent to the breakdown of negotiations in reliance upon the written approval of the contracting officer in connection with the termination settlement, e. g., dispositions of property, will be treated as final in connection with the formula settlement.

(f) If the contractor does not take an appeal from the decision of the contracting officer within the time set forth in the Disputes article of the contract (see § 81.326), the administrative findings of fact and determination of the contracting officer made in accordance with paragraph (d) above shall thereupon become the determination of the War Department with respect to the amount due to the contractor in connection with the termination or so much thereof as is dealt with in such determination.

(g) In the event of an appeal by the contractor from the decision of the contracting officer, the contracting officer will transmit to the appropriate appeals agency a narrative statement of the action, relevant to the issues raised by the appeal, taken prior to the appeal. He may in his discretion include such schedules, office reviews, audit reports and records as he deems appropriate. He will also transmit to the appeals agency a copy of his administrative finding and determination together with such other documents and papers as the rules of the appeals agency may require. At the present time most such appeals will be to the War Department Board of Contract Appeals (see §§ 81.318d to 81.318f), although in some contracts made prior to the formation of that Board, appeals lie to the chief of the technical service concerned. The burden of proof as to the amount due rests upon the contractor. Upon a determination by the appropriate appeals agency, such determination shall thereupon become the determination of the War Department with respect to the amount due to the contractor in connection with the termination or so much thereof as is dealt with in such determination. In the event that the contractor does not accept the decision of the appropriate appeals agency, he remains free to prosecute any claim, which he may have and as to which the decision of the appeals agency is not final, without further action on the part of the War Department.

(h) The contracting officer shall retain in the files of the procurement office to which he is attached or in the office of the chief of the technical service, as the chief of the technical service may direct, a file containing copies of all written evidence and other data relied upon by him in making his administrative findings of fact and determination, except that original books of account and other original papers and documents may be returned to the contractor upon the contractor's agreement to preserve the same available for examination for a period of not less than three years from the date of final settlement.

(i) The chief of the technical service will notify the Director, Readjustment Division, Headquarters, Army Service Forces, of each such appeal which is taken either to the chief of the technical service, the War Department Board of Contract Appeals or any other appeals agency.

(j) (1) Notwithstanding proceedings have been commenced to make settlement by formula, the contracting officer, unless the chief of the technical service otherwise directs, may make or authorize a negotiated settlement with the contractor at any time prior to the time when the contracting officer has administratively determined the amount due on account of the formula settlement by sending to the contractor the communication referred to in paragraph (d) above.

(2) If the contracting officer's determination is, by the terms of the contract, subject to review by the Secretary of War, or his duly authorized representative, and if the contractor perfects his right to such review, the contracting officer unless the chief of the technical service otherwise directs, may make or authorize a negotiated settlement at any time prior to final action on such review (see § 81.306f).

INSTRUCTIONS

1. This Form No. A-1 should be prepared as soon as the contractor can complete his net settlement proposal.

2. Where schedules provided do not provide adequate space, attach schedules in similar form.

3. Contractor's Own Charges.—Contractor should attach latest copy of Contractor's Own Charges (Form B-1 or B-2) as filed with the contractor or Government representative who rendered Notice of Termination. "Contractor's Settlement Proposal" copies of inventory schedules showing all disposal credits should also be attached.

4. Adjustments.—Schedule A-1-a should be used to explain all adjustments made by contractor to items included in attached Form B-1 or B-2.

5. Post Termination Charges.—Should be listed in reasonable detail in Schedule A-1-b with appropriate explanation.

6. Settlements With Subcontractors.—This item includes all settlements with subcontractors. Subcontractors' claims may be submitted as soon as they are examined and settlements negotiated. In such cases, the settlements should be listed on a schedule made up with the same headings as shown in Schedule A-1-c. Each such schedule with subcontractors' proposals attached must be accompanied by a certificate as to the examination made by the contractor, and the opinion of the contractor as to the reasonableness of the proposals. The type of certificate to be presented should conform to the applicable portion of the certificate shown on this Form No. A-1. In preparing Schedule A-1-c under such circumstances, it is necessary only to list the totals of schedules previously submitted. Subcontractors' settlements not previously submitted should then be listed in detail to bring the total amount of this schedule (A-1-c) into agreement with the amount listed as item 5 in the summary.

7. Disposal Credits.—The amount shown here should represent the total of the individual disposal credits listed on the inventory schedules. Each inventory sheet should be totaled separately and a listing of the page totals should be prepared to show the source of the total (Line 8 of the Summary) used on the summary.

8. Advance payments.—Attach copy last report covering advance payments account, if any, bringing account transactions to current date.

9. Other credits.—List all other credits. Where statement is on a total cost basis, any payments made for completed units after the filing of the Form No. B-2 should be listed here.

10. Subcontractors may include on line 14 any amounts applicable to finished units completed at date of termination but not otherwise billed. In that case, the inventory and any applicable disposal credits should be listed on a separate sheet of the C-1 Form with the headings appropriately modified. The total of these disposal credits should be shown on line 15 of the Summary.

General Instructions for preparation of Settlement Proposals and for the use of these forms should be procured from the Government representative or contractor from whom the termination notice was received.

1. This Form No. A-3 is to be prepared by the contractor as soon as cost information required in the Summary can be determined.

2. If space provided in these schedules is not sufficient attach additional sheets, using the same headings. Inventory on hand at the date of termination should be grouped in Schedule A–3–a by "Raw Materials, Purchased Parts, and Supplies," and "Work in Process." Costs should be shown to the greatest extent practicable for items included in this inventory listing. Subcontractors may also use this schedule for listing finished units on hand at date of termination not to be billed.

3. The costs shown in this Summary are those costs incurred which are applicable to the entire contract. Where costs applicable to the inventory can be determined accurately, the contractor should present his proposal on Form A–2.

4. An explanation should be attached as to the bases of allocation and calculation of the amounts of indirect factory expenses (Line 3 of Summary) and general and administrative expense (Line 4 of Summary) applicable to the contract.

5. Include in Other Charges (Line 5 of Summary and Schedule A–3–b) all costs not previously included.

General Instructions for preparation of Settlements Proposals and for the use of these forms should be procured from the Government representative or contractor from whom the Termination Notice was received.

SUMMARY OF TERMINATION

Items contracted for	Quantity				Value of order
	Ordered	Shipped and billed	Shipped but not billed	Canceled	Ordered	Shipped and billed	Shipped but not billed	Canceled

Finished units which have been shipped and billed should not be included in the proposed settlement.

PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

(Include only items allocable to the contract and properly to be included in settlement on termination under your contract)

1. Contract price of finished units shipped but not otherwise billed $
2. Contract price of finished units not shipped (less their fair value)
3. Proposed settlement for work in process and materials allocable to contract (explain below).
Total of Proposed Settlement $

Explain below how you determined the amounts shown on lines 2 and 3 of the above Proposed Settlement. If there are finished goods on hand which are not to be shipped, show both the contract price of such items and the value at which you are willing to keep them in your inventory. Enter the resulting net cancellation charge on line 2. Explain also how you determined the settlement due you for work in process and materials, making certain that you have reduced your charge by the fair value of materials or work in process which you are retaining. Enter the net cancellation charge for this portion of the work on line 3 of the above Proposed Settlement.

CERTIFICATE

The undersigned certifies that the above Proposed Settlement includes only charges allocable to the terminated portion of this contract, that the charges and credits explained above are fair and reasonable, and that this proposal has been prepared with knowledge that it will, or may be used by contracting officers acting on behalf of the United States as the basis of settlement with the undersigned or others.

COLUMNAR INSTRUCTIONS

Column 1—Line Number. Number each entry in sequence. This will facilitate necessary references in case of adjustments, disposal actions, etc.

Column 2—Description. Specific instructions as to the method of listing, and the detail of description will be furnished by the Government representative or contractor from whom the Termination Notice was received.

Columns 6 and 7—Unit and Total Costs. An explanation of your method of computing costs should be attached to the original and to the copy accompanying your cost statement. This explanation should cover your treatment of transportation and discounts, and should also explain whether "first-in-first-out" or some other method is used.

Column 8—Recommended Disposal. Whenever practicable, give your recommendation for disposal of those items you do not wish to retain. Use following code:

D—Sell to distributors.
M—Sell to manufacturers.
P—Public sale on bids.
W—Sell to other war contractors (name on attached statement).
V—Sell to original vendor.
S—Scrap (reasons to be set forth on attached statement).
X—Other recommended method. (Explain on attached statement referring to proper item number.)

Recommendation should represent your opinion of the method which will move the property with greatest speed consistent with the best interest of the Government as to price and other appropriate factors. Column 9—Enter OPA Ceiling Or Market Price Per Unit If Practicable—If ceiling price is used, indicate by letter "c" before price, thus "c12.50."

Columns 10 and 11—Contractor's Offer. Any offer for inventory for an amount less than your cost must be explained on an attached statement. Such explanations should include reference to line number and page number to facilitate identification.

Columns 12 and 13—Disposal Credits. Materials retained, returned to supplier, or otherwise disposed of. These credits are to be recorded on the copy of this schedule which is submitted with the Contractor's Settlement Proposal (Form A–1), and on the Contractor's File Copy.

(d) Special instructions applicable to form C–1, C–2, and C–3 are as follows:

[Actual size 8½" x 14"]

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR DESCRIPTION OF INVENTORY UNDER COLUMN 2 OF STANDARD CONTRACT TERMINATION INVENTORY SCHEDULES (FORMS C–1, C–2, AND C–3)

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

The inventory schedules provided in Form C–1, C–2, and C–3 are intended to assist contractors and property disposal officers in valuing and disposing of property resulting from contract terminations, as well as for the purpose of arriving at the settlement amount.

It is therefore essential that the inventory be classified in general groupings as outlined in these supplementary instructions. The instructions should be carefully studied before inventory lists are prepared and followed to the extent practicable with each contract termination inventory.

OFFERS BY CONTRACTORS

It will greatly facilitate final settlement if that part of the listed property which the contractor is prepared to purchase is segregated under the various subdivisions of the property lists.

CONDITION OF EQUIPMENT

The condition of equipment listed on Schedule C–2, and of any property listed in Schedule C–3, and of any property listed in Schedule C–1 or C–2 which is other than new and excellent, should be indicated, using the following condition codes:

N—New.
U—Used-reconditioned.
O—Used-usable without repairs.
R—Used-repairs required.
1—Excellent.
2—Good.
3—Fair.
4—Poor.

For salvage show only "X" and no number.
X—means Salvage-Obsolete Property (no further value for use as originally intended).

Except in case of salvage, a "letter-number" combination must always be used to describe condition. Examples: N2—New and in good condition; R3—Used, repair required, general condition fair.

CLASSIFICATION OF PROPERTY

Specific instructions as to the classification of property listed on each of the three schedules, C–1, C–2, and C–3 are included in the following paragraphs.

RAW MATERIALS, PURCHASED PARTS, AND SUPPLIES (SCHEDULE C–1)

1. Purchased parts and components identified with a particular assembly may be listed together under the group heading in which the assembly would normally fall, notwithstanding the fact that they are standard parts or common components which would otherwise be included under the group headings listed below.

2. With the exception of the above, items should be listed under the following group headings. The group headings should be shown at the top of each group listing. A new page should be started for each group; or, in the case of small inventories, groups may be separated by extra space.

Crude animal and vegetable products, edible.
Crude animal and vegetable products, inedible.
Fibers, vegetable and animal, unmanufactured.
Leather.
Boot and shoe cut stock and findings.
Wood basic materials.
Pulp, paper, and paperboard.
Textile basic manufactures.
Food and beverage basic materials.
Oils, fats, waxes, and derivatives, animal and vegetable.
Petroleum and coal products, except raw materials for chemical industries.
Chemicals.
Paints, varnishes, lacquers, japans, thinners, pigments, driers, fillers, and related products.
Iron and steel, including pig, ingots, castings and forgings (before machining), plates, sheets, strips, bars, structural shapes, piling, rails, tubular products, wire, and other shapes and forms.
Copper and copper-base alloy basic shapes and forms.
Aluminum and aluminum-base alloy basic shapes and forms.
Magnesium and magnesium-base alloy basic shapes and forms.
Other nonferrous basic shapes and forms.
Fabricated metal basic products, including basic hardware, wire products, insulated wire and cable, stamped, pressed, and perforated metal basic products.
Nonmetallic mineral basic products, including natural stone products, clay products, glass basic products, hydraulic cements, concrete products, gypsum products, pottery basic products, mineral wool basic products, abrasive basic products, absestos basic products, graphite and carbon products, mica and refractories.
Raw materials not classified above.
Mechanical common components, including engines, pumps, power-transmission equipment, bearings, valves and steam specialties, lubrication equipment (i. e.) standard components that can be used in more than one product).
Electrical common components, including motors, controls, switches, wiring devices, lamps (i. e., standard components that can be used in more than one product).
Noncommon components, parts, equipment, and accessories (i. e., components that can be used only in the particular industry in which any given product falls). For example, if the product is motor vehicle, the group heading should read "Motor Vehicle Noncommon Components" and should include automotive engines, tires, etc. If the product is aircaft, the group heading would read "Aircraft Noncommon Components" and should include aircraft hardware, aircraft electrial fittings, etc.).
Containers and closures.
Purchased parts and supplies not classified above.

WORK IN PROCESS (SCHEDULE C–2)

Property should be segregated into groups of similar items for instance, component parts of a particular subassembly should be grouped together, completed subassemblies should be shown in the same group, partially fabricated items of the same general type should be listed together. Appropriate headings should be used for the different groups so that a prospective buyer may readily locate the type of property in which he is interested. Whenever practicable, the group headings set forth for Schedule C–1 should be used for this purpose.

Parts fabricated by the contractor should be included in the Inventory Schedule C–2 for Work in Process to the extent practicable. Where such parts are not easily segregated by the contractor from similar items of purchased parts, it is permissible to include them with purchased parts in Inventory Schedule C–1 for "War Materials, Purchased Parts, and Supplies." The term "Manufactured Parts" is intended to represent completely fabricated units which are identifiable as piece parts or subassemblies and which have been manufactured in the contractor's own plant.

JIGS, TOOLS, DIES, FIXTURES, ETC. (SCHEDULE C–2)

Items should be listed under the following group headings. The group headings should be shown at the top of each group listing. A new page should be started for each group; or, in the case of small inventories, groups may be separated by extra space:
Gages and precision measuring instruments.
Perishable tools.
Jigs, dies, and fixtures.

DARGER ITEMS OF PRODUCTION EQUIPMENT UNDER (SCHEDULE C–3)

This form should also prove satisfactory for the listing of major items of production equipment for property disposal, particularly Government-furnished production equipment. When used for such purposes, items should be listed under the following group headings (attachments, accessories, and auxiliaries should be included with the major item of equipment to which they pertain):
General-purpose industrial machinery and equipment, including engines and turbines, compressors and pumps, conveyors, cranes, derricks, hoists and winches, industrial trucks, trailers, tractors, and stackers, and fan and blower equipment.
Electrical machinery and apparatus, including rotating equipment, transmission and distribution equipment, motor starters and controllers.
Special industry machinery (machinery for industries requiring specialized machines).
Metal-working machinery, including machine tools, primary and secondary metal forming and cutting machinery and equipment.
Office machines.
Motor vehicles.
Furniture and fixtures.
Miscellaneous machinery and equipment.

NOTE. In order to assist in classifying property as specified above, it is expected that a supplement will be issued at an early date setting forth alphabetically some 1,500 items and types of property frequently encountered in contract terminations, and indicating under which of the classifications specified in these Supplementary Instructions particular property should be listed. The Standard Commodity Classification Number for each item and type will also be indicated.

Section 88.15–941 is rescinded.

§ 88.15–491 Inventory form. [Rescinded.]

In connection with the offer, etc., of the medicinal preparation "Zonite Liquid", or any similar product, and on the part of respondent Zonite Products Corporation, its officers, etc., disseminating, etc., any advertisements by means of the United States mails, or in commerce, or by any means, to induce, etc., directly or indirectly, purchase in commerce, etc., of respondent's said product, which advertisements represent, directly or by implication, that said preparation, when used as a mouth wash or gargle, will eliminate or destroy tobacco breath, onion breath, or other mouth odors in excess of the extent to which said preparation can reach and oxidise odoriferous substances which may be the source of such odors; prohibited. (Sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended by sec. 3, 52 Stat. 112; 15 U.S.C., sec. 45b) [Cease and desist order, Zonite Products Corporation, et al., Docket 4755, May 17, 1944]

In the Matter of Zonite Products Corporation, a Corporation, and H. W. Kastor & Sons Advertising Company, Inc., a Corporation

At a regular session of the Federal Trade Commission, held at its office in the City of Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of May, A. D. 1944.

This proceeding having been heard by the Federal Trade Commission upon the complaint of the Commission, the answers of the respondents, and a stipulation as to the facts entered into between the respondents herein and Richard P. Whiteley, Assistant Chief Counsel for the Federal Trade Commission, which provides, among other things, that without further evidence or other intervening procedure except the rights to file briefs and be heard by oral argument, which rights have been waived by respondents, the Commission may issue and serve upon the respondents herein findings as to the facts and conclusion based thereon and an order disposing of the proceeding, and the Commission having made its findings as to the facts and its conclusion that said respondents have violated the provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act:

It is ordered, That respondent Zonite Products Corporation, a corporation, and respondent H. W. Kastor & Sons Advertising Company, Inc., a corporation, their respective officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of the medicinal preparations "Zonite Liquid" and "Zonitors," or any product of substantially similar composition or possessing substantially similar properties, whether sold under the same name or under any other name, do forthwith cease and desist from directly or indirectly:

1. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated, by means of the United States mails or by any means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which represents, directly or by inference:

(a) That said preparations will destroy all germs or bacteria in the genital tract, or destroy germs or bacteria which they contact in the genital tract, or that they constitute a treatment for infections of the genito-urinary tract, unless it is clearly and conspicuously revealed in immediate connection therewith that it is not always possible for said preparations to contact all germs and bacteria in the genito-urinary tract.

(b) That said preparations, as a means of feminine hygiene or otherwise, constitute contraceptives, unless it is clearly and conspicuously revealed in immediate connection therewith that it is not always possible for said preparations to contact all spermatosoa in the genital tract.

2. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated, by any means, for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of said products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which contains any of the representations prohibited in paragraph 1 hereof.

It is further ordered, That respondent Zonite Products Corporation, a corporation, its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of its medicinal preparation "Zonite Liquid," or any product of substantially similar composition or possessing substantially similar properties, whether sold under the same name or any other name, do forthwith cease and desist from directly or indirectly;

3. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated, by means of the United States mails or by any means in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which represents, directly or by inference, that said preparation, when used as a mouth wash or gargle, will eliminate or destroy tobacco breath, onion breath, or other mouth odors in excess of the extent to which said preparation can reach and oxidise odoriferous substances which may be the source of such odors.

4. Disseminating or causing to be disseminated, by any means, for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of said product in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, any advertisement which contains any of the representations prohibited in paragraph 3 hereof.

It is further ordered, That the respondents shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

By the Commission.

[1944 Dept. Circ. 530, 5th Rev., Amdt. 6]

PART 315—REGULATIONS GOVERNING UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS

AMENDMENT WITH RESPECT TO LIMITATION ON HOLDING, AND AUTHORIZED FORMS

JUNE 12, 1944.

Department Circular No. 530, Fifth Revision, dated June 1, 1942, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Section 315.5 Authorized forms of registration, Series F and G is amended by striking out the second sentence of the first paragraph and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Bonds of these two series may also be registered in the names of fiduciaries, corporations, associations or partnerships, except that they may be registered in the names of commercial banks, which are defined for this purpose as those accepting demand deposits, only to the extent and under the conditions set forth in § 315.9 (c) hereof.

2. Section 315.9 (c) is amended to read as follows:

§ 315.9 Amount which may be held.

(c) Series F and G—$50,000 (issue price) for the calendar year 1941, and $100,000 (issue price) for each calendar year thereafter, of either series or of the combined aggregate of both: Provided, however, That as to bonds of these series originally issued on or after January 1, 1944, the amount held by a commercial bank holding savings deposits and issuing time certificates of deposit (as each is defined in Regulation Q of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System) shall not in any case exceed $100,000 (issue price) or 20 percent of such time certificates of deposit (but only those issued in the names of individuals and of corporations, associations, and other organizations not operated for profit) and savings deposits as shown on the bank's books as of the date of the most recent call statement required by the supervising authorities prior to the date of acquisition of such savings bonds, whichever is less; and Provided further, That the amount of savings bonds of Series F and G originally issued on or after January 1, 1944, held by a commercial bank together with 2½ percent Treasury Bonds of 1965–70, subscribed for under Treasury Department Circulars Nos. 729 and 740, 2¼ percent Treasury Bonds of 1956–59, subscribed for under Treasury Department Circular No. 730, and 2 percent Treasury Bonds of 1952–54, subscribed for under Treasury Department Circular No. 741, shall not exceed in the aggregate $400,000, or 20 percent of such savings deposits and time certificates of deposit of such banks as above defined, whichever is less."

PART 318—OFFERING OF UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS, SERIES F AND G

AMENDMENT WITH RESPECT TO LIMITATION ON HOLDING AND AUTHORIZED FORMS

Sections 318.4 (a) and 318.5 (a) (1), (Section IV, Paragraph 1, and Section V, Paragraph 1 (2) of Department Circular No. 654, Second Revision, dated January 1, 1944) are hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 318.4 Limitation on holdings. (a) The amount of United States Savings Bonds of Series F, or of Series G, or the combined aggregate amount of both series, originally issued during any one calendar year to any one person, including those registered in the name of that person alone, and those registered in the name of that person with another named as coowner, that may be held by that person at any one time shall not exceed $100,000 (issue price): Provided, however, That as to bonds of these series originally issued on or after January 1, 1944, the amount held by a commercial bank holding savings deposits or issuing time certificates of deposit (as each is defined in Regulation Q of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System) shall not in any case exceed $100,000 (issue price) or 20 percent of the combined amount of such time certificates of deposit (but only those issued in the names of individuals and of corporations, associations, and other organizations not operated for profit) and savings deposits as shown on the bank's books as of the date of the most recent call statement required by the supervising authorities prior to the date of subscription for such savings bonds, whichever is less; And provided further, That the amount of savings bonds of Series F and G, issued on or after January 1, 1944, held by a commercial bank, together with 2½ percent Treasury Bonds of 1965–70, subscribed for under Department Circulars Nos. 729 and 740, 2¼ percent Treasury Bonds of 1956–59, subscribed for under Department Circular No. 730, and 2 percent Treasury Bonds of 1952–54, subscribed for under Treasury Department Circular No. 741, shall not exceed in the aggregate 20 percent of the combined amount of such savings deposits and time certificates of deposits of such bank or $400,000, whichever is less. No such bank shall hold more than $100,000 (issue price) of Series F and Series G savings bonds (Series 1944) combined.

§ 318.5 Authorized forms of registration. (a) (1) In the name of an incorporated or unincorporated body, in its own right, except that they may not be registered in the names of commercial banks which are defined for this purpose as those accepting demand deposits: Provided, however, That bonds originally issued on or after January 1, 1944, may be registered in the name of a commercial bank holding savings deposits or issuing time certificates of deposit to the extent and conditions set forth in Part 318.4 hereof.

Chapter IX—War Production Board

Subchapter B—Executive Vice-Chairman

AUTHORITY: Regulations in this subchapter issued under sec. 2 (a), 54 Stat. 676, as amended by 55 Stat. 236 and 56 Stat. 176; E.O. 9024, 7 F.R. 329; E.O. 9125, 7 F.R. 2719; W.P.B. Reg. 1, as amended March 24, 1943, 8 F.R. 3666, 3696; Pri. Reg. 1 as amended May 15, 1943, 8 F.R. 6727.

PART 1029—FARM MACHINERY

[Limitation Order L–257, Direction 4]

SPECIAL APPLICATIONS FOR ADDITIONAL QUOTA

The following direction is issued pursuant to Limitation Order L–257:

(a) What this direction does. In order to encourage the use of "idle and excess" inventories in making more farm machinery and equipment, the War Production Board has set up a reserve of 15,000 tons of carbon steel (and other controlled materials in proportion) for delivery under third quarter 1944 allotments. This direction states the rules on how this reserve is to be given out to manufacturers and covers all persons who can qualify even if they are not "producers" as defined in paragraph (b) (1) of Order L–257. Thus, if you can make more than your L–257 quota under these rules, this direction tells you how to apply for the necessary permission.

(b) How to apply. If you want to make more than your quota of any item of farm machinery and equipment (as listed in schedule B of Order L–257), you must apply on Form WPB–3788 in accordance with the instructions on the form. You can get copies of this form from your local WPB field office. When you have filled out the form, you should send it to the Farm Machinery and Equipment Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. If you need any allotment of controlled material, you should also accompany your application with Form CMP–4B as explained in the above instructions.

(c) Date for filing applications. To be assured of consideration under this direction, your application should be received not later than June 26, 1944.

(d) Standards to be used in granting applications. In its consideration of applications properly filed under this direction, the War Production Board will be guided by the following standards:

(1) Extent to which you can match any allotments of controlled material needed with maximum use of "idle and excess" materials. Your local WPB field office will tell you what these materials are and how to get them. In general, they include materials which you can buy under Priorities Regulation 13, and surplus inventories on hand (excluding material obtained with priorities assistance to make your regular quotas as described in paragraph (e) (3) below), as well as used material which you can get without priorities assistance.

(2) Critical materials and components. It is not expected your application will be granted if it involves substantial allotments of the following critical materials:

STEEL

Plates
Sheet
Strips
Tin mill products
Forgings
Seamless tubing
Wire rope and strand

COPPER AND COPPER BASE ALLOY PRODUCTS

Rod ½" and smaller Fine wire
Cable
Tubing 4" and over

Likewise, your application will not be granted if it appears that critical non-controlled materials or components will be needed, i. e., those which you could not get with a rating of AA–4.

(3) Labor requirements. The following are the standards with respect to labor:

(i) In general, there are no restrictions as to labor requirements for "small plants", i. e., if your plant employs and will continue to employ 100 production workers or less (50 or less in the critical West Coast labor areas of San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle).

(ii) However, for small plants in any of the above West Coast areas, or in any other Group #1 Labor Market Area where an Area Production Urgency Committee has been established, the exemption in subparagraph (i) above will apply only if your proposed production under this direction will not cause any increase in your total employment of production workers. For example, if you have a plant employing 35 production workers in the San Francisco Labor Area, you will qualify under this exemption only as long as you will not need to hire any additional production workers. Otherwise, you are governed by the rule set out in (iv) below.

(iii) If your plant is in a Group #3 or #4 (or unclassified) Labor Market Area and is not a small plant under (i) above, the standard is whether or not your proposed production in that plant, or the labor requirements for it, will interfere with war production in that plant or in any other plant located in the same area.

(iv) If your plant is in a Group #1 or #2 Labor Market Area and is not exempted under (i) and (ii) above, your application will not be granted except in unusual circumstances.

(e) Authorizations to produce. Any application properly filed under this direction and conforming to the required standards may be granted by the War Production Board. This grant will be in the form of an authorized production schedule and any necessary allotments on Form CMPL–150 or other applicable form. If you get such an authorization, you are governed by the following provisions unless the authorization states otherwise:

(1) You must schedule your production of the item as if the orders for it bore a rating of AA–4.

(2) You may use a rating of AA–4 to get non-controlled materials and components (no "upratings" will be granted under any circumstances). You may not use the rating of AA–2 which may have been assigned to the production of your regular quotas under L–257.

(3) You may not use materials or components obtained or to be obtained with allotments or preference ratings for the manufacture of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts under your regular quotas. You may use other materials in your own inventory obtained with priorities assistance, but only as permitted under paragraph (a) of CMP Regulation 1 (for controlled materials) and in § 944.11 of Priorities Regulation 1 (for other materials).

(4) Use of lumber is subject to Order L–335 and any other applicable WPB orders.

(5) You must file by October 10, 1944, an interim report of what you have produced through September 30 under the authorization, and a final report, if necessary, when the production is completed. These reports should be by letter (and not on Form WPB–1768).

(f) Small plants do not need special permission in certain cases. Direction 3 to Order L–257 removes quota restrictions on certain small plants who can make items without needing any allotments of controlled material or other priorities assistance higher than a rating of AA–4. If you qualify under that Direction 3, you do not have to apply for permission under this Direction 4. However, if you need any allotment to make more than your regular quota of farm machinery and equipment, you may apply for and must get permission under this direction.

(g) Order L–257. To the extent that any provision of this direction is inconsistent with the terms of Order L–257, the provision in this direction controls.

NOTE: The reporting requirements in this direction have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 3191—CIVILIAN AIRCRAFT

[Preference Rating Order P–47, as Amended June 8, 1944]

Preference Rating Order P–47 as amended August 4, 1943, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 3191.21 General Preference Rating Order P–47.—(a) Purpose and scope. The purpose of this order is to provide certain persons operating civilian type aircraft essential to the war effort with a uniform procedure for obtaining material for the operation of aircraft and for aircraft facilities both in the case of controlled materials obtained by use of allotment symbols under the Controlled Materials Plan and in the case of materials or products, including components, obtained by preference ratings.

(b) Definitions. (1) "Aircraft facility" means any material, equipment, machinery or structure used in connection with the operation or shelter or the maintenance or repair of aircraft.

(2) "Operator" means any individual, partnership, association, business, trust, corporation or any organized group of persons (whether incorporated or not) other than the Army or Navy of the United States which is engaged in:

(i) The operation of a commercial airline under certificate from the Civil Aeronautics Authority, whether or not the airline operates outside the United States;

(ii) The operation of a foreign commercial airline if approval is received from the War Production Board on Form WPB–1747 or if such approval was received for use in getting materials during the second quarter of 1944;

(iii) The operation of any aircraft to the extent that such aircraft is based in the Territory of Alaska.

(c) Preference rating and allotment symbol. Each operator is assigned a preference rating of AA–1 and is authorized to use the allotment symbol MRO (P–47) to get the materials he needs for maintenance, repair and operating supplies and for new aircraft facilities, subject to the limitations contained in the following paragraphs.

(d) Limitations on the quantity of materials. (1) No operator who received an approved Form WPB–1747 for the second quarter of 1944 may use the preference rating or allotment symbol assigned above to acquire in any one quarter an amount of any item of material listed in that form costing more than the amount approved for that item. Any such operator who wishes to use an amount of any item in excess of the amount of that item approved for the second quarter of 1944 should file Form WPB–1747 and ask for approval from the War Production Board for materials in excess of the permitted amounts.

(2) Any operator who did not receive an approved Form WPB–1747 for the second quarter of 1944 must, before using the rating and symbol assigned by this order, file that form and receive approval from the War Production Board for materials he needs; the amount approved by the War Production Board on Form WPB–1747 for purchase by him during the quarterly period specified on the form shall be the amount which he is permitted to purchase under this order during subsequent quarters. If he wishes during any subsequent quarter to use an amount of any item in excess of the amount of that item approved on his Form WPB–1747, he should file another Form WPB–1747 and ask for approval for materials in excess of the permitted amounts.

(3) In addition, all operators must file Form WPB–1747 for all new metal propellers, propeller blade assemblies, or new aircraft propulsion engines.

(e) Limitation on the purchase of materials for construction jobs. No operator may use the preference rating and allotment symbol assigned by this order to get materials for construction jobs needed to carry on his aircraft operations, unless the cost of the material used in the job does not exceed $500. (In determining the cost of material, the cost of any equipment which is being installed for use in the maintenance, repair or operation of aircraft may be excluded. No construction job shall be subdivided for the purpose of coming within the $500 limit.) Any such construction job may be carried on without getting permission to begin construction under Order L–41. All other construction may be carried on only to the extent permitted under the provisions of Order L–41. The term "construction" is defined in paragraph (b) of Order L–41.

(f) Application for items on List "B" of Priorities Regulation No. 3. Any operator may file Form WPB–1747, in accordance with the instructions accompanying the form, for items on List "B" of Priorities Regulation 3. The War Production Board may authorize the use of a preference rating and allotment symbol for those items.

(g) Acquisition of materials. Operators may obtain materials under this order by placing on their purchase orders the following certification, (or the alternative form of certification provided in CMP Regulation No. 7), signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7:

MRO (P–47 Serial Number ------) Preference Rating AA–1. The undersigned certifies, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that the items covered by this order are within the amounts approved by the War Production Board under Preference Rating Order P–47, and are to be used for a purpose so approved.

Name----------
By---------- Authorized Official.

Date----------

The operator should include in his certificate the serial number assigned to him in his approved Form WPB–1747. A purchase order for controlled materials bearing this certification shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order for the purpose of all CMP Regulations.

(h) Penalties for misrepresentation. (1) The placing of any order bearing a certification or symbol, as provided by this order, shall constitute a representation, subject to the criminal penalties of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code (18 U. S. C. 80), that the person placing the order is entitled, under the terms of this order, to use of the symbol or preference rating indicated thereon.

(i) Inventory restrictions. No operator shall receive any delivery if acceptance thereof would increase his inventory above a practicable working minimum, as provided in § 944.14 of Priorities Regulation No. 1, or would exceed the inventory limitations prescribed for such person by CMP Regulation No. 2, or by any other applicable regulation or order of the War Production Board.

(j) Applicability of other orders and regulations. (1) Nothing in this order shall be construed to relieve any person from complying with any applicable regulation or order of the War Production Board (including orders in the "E", "L", and "M" series) or with any order of any other competent authority.

(2) No operator may acquire material by the use of CMP Regulation No. 5 or No. 5A. Persons needing maintenance, repair and operating supplies for aircraft who are not operators within the meaning of this order may use CMP Regulation 5 or 5A where applicable or any other applicable order or regulation of the War Production Board.

(k) Communications. All communications concerning this order should be addressed to: War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: P-47.

(l) Effective date. This amended order shall become effective on July 1, 1944. General Preference Rating Order P-47, as amended August 4, 1943, shall remain effective until July 1, 1944.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

PART 2270—CONTAINERS

[Supplementary Order L-103-b, as Amended June 8, 1944]

GLASS CONTAINER AND CLOSURE QUOTAS

§ 3270.36 Supplementay Order L-103-b. This order lists the only products which may be commercially packed in new machine-made, glass containers or with new metal closures. It specifies closure materials and sets forth the number of glass packages and metal closures which may be used for each listed product. In addition, some restrictions are placed upon the manufacture of closures.

The order limits "commercial packs" only. Although there are certain manufacturing restrictions, the use of glass containers or metal closures for home canning purposes is not affected.

Likewise, the provisions of this order cover only new glass containers and closures. Used containers or closures are not limited. However, closures which are fabricated from used closures—that is, where the used closures are a production material—are regarded as new closures made of "waste" and are governed by the pertinent provisions of this order.

Definitions of the various terms used in this order appear in paragraph (z) hereof.

Restrictions on Use of Glass Containers and Closures

(Note exceptions from these restrictions in paragraphs (p) through (v)).

(a) Prohibited acceptances and uses of glass containers and closures. No packer shall accept delivery of or use any new glass container, or any new metal closure for packing any product not listed in a schedule of this order.

(b) Limitations on acceptance and use of glass containers and closures. Likewise, during any calendar year beginning with 1944, no packer shall accept delivery of or use, for packing any product which is listed in a schedule of this order, more new glass containers or more new metal closures (other than closures made from waste) than his quota for that product. However, jobbers or retailers may obtain closures and glass containers and resell them in conformity with the provisions of this order.

(c) Closure materials. No packer shall accept delivery of or use, for packing any product, new metal closures made of any material except those permitted for that product in the schedules of this order. However, blackplate (including rejects) may be used wherever tinplate or terneplate is specified, and frosen plate may be used wherever tinplate, terneplate or blackplate is specified. Likewise, closures made of waste may be used in accordance with the following paragraph:

(d) Closures made of waste. Closures made of waste shall not be used for packing any product not listed in the schedules attached to this order. Closures made of waste may be used in addition to specified quotas for listed products.

(e) Home canning jars. No packer shall pack any commodity in a home canning jar. (Note that the use of these jars for home canning is not restricted).

Quotas

(f) General. Closure and glass quotas are stated separately in the attached schedules, and are not necessarily the same for any given product.

Quotas are not interchangeable as between listed products. That is, a packer who packs two products, product A and product B, must compute his quota (in the manner described in the following paragraph (g)) for each product separately. He cannot allot any portion of his quota for product A to product B, even if he does not pack his full quota of product A.

Furthermore, quotas may not be transferred from one packer to another except as provided in Priorities Regulation 7A.

(g) Computation of quotas. In most cases where this order provides a quota for the packing of any product, it does so, in the attached schedules, by stating a percentage figure followed by a calendar year—for instance, 100% 1943. Where this appears in the "glass quota" column opposite a product, it means, unless otherwise specified, that a packer's glass container quota for that product during 1944 and subsequent calendar years is computed as follows:

(1) He takes the number of new glass containers which he used for packing that product during the named base year.

(2) He subtracts the number of new glass containers which he used for packing that product during the named base year and which were quota exempt under the provisions of any prior order of the War Production Board or under any previous amendment of this order.

(3) He multiplies the resulting figure by the applicable percentage.

Identical rules apply to the computation of closure quotas, except that unless otherwise specified they are based on the number of new metal closures used during the specified base period.

The schedules of this order provide that the quotas for some products are based on the number of new metal closures or new glass containers accepted rather than those used during the specified base period. Here again, the method of computation, described in this paragraph, applies, except that the word "accepted" should be substituted for the word "used" in steps 1 and 2 above. Only the new metal closures or the new glass containers which a packer actually accepted delivery of and those which were invoiced to him during the applicable base period may be included in his quota base in such cases. But, for the purpose of making charges against quota, a packer must include the new metal closures and the new glass containers which he actually accepts delivery of, and those which are set aside for him or held by another party for his account—whether or not they are actually invoiced to him.

In a few cases, the schedules of this order set forth special rules, not covered by the above, for the computation of quotas for particular products. Such rules must be followed, and supersede the general statements contained in this paragraph (g) to the extent that they conflict with them.

(h) Use of quotas. As indicated above, most quotas are based on past use. The word "use" refers only to the actual filling operation in the case of glass and the actual capping operation in the case of closures. Therefore, to the extent that a person did not do this directly during the base period, he has no quota, despite the fact that he may have supplied the actual packer with the product, closures, containers, etc. After December 31, 1943, any packing done for him must be within the quota of the person performing the actual filling and capping operation.

In the case of products whose quotas are based upon acceptances, a person is deemed to have "accepted" glass containers or closures (for the purpose of computing quotas) only to the extent that he himself actually took possession of them or had them invoiced to him. If he did not do this during the base period, he has no quota, and the rules stated in the preceding paragraph of this paragraph (h) apply.

Packers who use or accept new glass containers or metal closures for packing products for the account of others, as well as for their own account, must conduct both operations within their own quotas. Without a special appeals grant under this order, they cannot regard their use or acceptances of glass containers and metal closures for the account of others as an addition to their quotas. This is true even where the other person may represent to the packer that he has a quota which he is not using himself.

On the other hand, packers are entitled to include, in their own quota bases, their use or acceptances of new glass containers or new metal closures, for the account of others during the specified base periods.

Restrictions on Sale and Delivery of Glass Containers and Closures

(i) General restrictions. No person shall sell or deliver any glass containers or closures which he knows, or has reason to believe, will be accepted or used in violation of any provision of this order.

(j) Export deliveries. During any calendar year, no person shall deliver more empty new glass containers or more new metal closures to any person outside of the 48 States of the United States and the District of Columbia than he delivered to that person during 1943.

(k) Certificates. No person shall sell or deliver any new glass containers or new metal closures except under a purchase order or contract validated by the delivery to such person of a purchaser's certificate, signed manually, or as provided in Priorities Regulation 7.

This certificate shall be in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit A in the case of sales or deliveries of all glass containers, and of all metal closures except malt and non-alcoholic beverage closures. Attention is called to the fact that this certificate, once filed by a purchaser with a supplier, covers all future deliveries from that supplier to that purchaser.

The certificate should be in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit B, where sales or deliveries of malt or non-alcoholic beverage closures are concerned. This certificate differs from Exhibit A in that it must be filed with each purchase order for beverage closures in order to validate the order.

Jobbers as well as packers must file certificates in accordance with this paragraph (k). However, in Exhibit B, jobbers need only supply the information called for in sections (b) and (d) of that certificate.

(l) Outstanding certificates. Certificates previously filed with a supplier under any previous amendment of this order, shall remain valid insofar as sales or deliveries of glass containers are concerned. Exhibit A certificates previously filed under order M-104, shall remain valid insofar as closure (other than malt or non-alcoholic beverage), deliveries are concerned. In either of the above cases, no new certificate need be filed by any purchaser to validate his orders placed with the supplier to whom the previous certification was made.

(m) Cases where certificates need not be filed. No certificates shall be required for the sale or delivery of the following:

(1) Home canning jars
(2) Home canning closures
(3) Returnable glass containers for packing products listed in item 96 of Schedule I
(4) Prescription bottles and ointment jars for prescription use
(5) Closures for prescription and ointment jars for prescription use
(6) Glass containers or closures of any kind to retailers for resale empty or unused or to persons purchasing them from retailers.

(7) Glass containers or closures on shipments empty or unused to persons outside the forty-eight states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

(n) Standard certifications. The standard certification provided for in paragraph (d) of Priorities Regulation 7, cannot be used in place of the certifications provided by this order; nor may the certifications provided by this order be waived in accordance with paragraph (f) of Priorities Regulation 7.

Restrictions Relating Solely to Manufacture of Closures

(o) Closure material. (1) No person shall use any zinc, aluminum, tinplate, terneplate, blackplate, frozen plate, waste-waste or waste for the manufacture of the following types of closures:

(i) Cover caps which serve as a protective or decorative closure in addition to any original sealing medium (other than paraffin) such as another closure.

(ii) Double shell or semi-double shell caps.

(iii) Two-piece closures when both pieces are made of metal, except as permitted in paragraph (o) (2).

(2) No person shall use any zinc, aluminum, tinplate, terneplate, blackplate, or wire for the manufacture of any closure of the home canning type, except as, and to the extent permitted in Schedule VII attached to this order. No closure manufactured pursuant to Schedule VII shall knowingly be sold to, or used by, any person for packing any product for sale.

(3) No person shall use any tinplate, terneplate or blackplate heavier than 90 pounds per base box for the manufacture of crown caps. This restriction does not apply to rejects, frozen plate waste-waste, or waste.

(4) No person shall use for the manufacture of closures, any tinplate with a tin coating in excess of 0.50 pound per base box except as follows: 1.50 tinplate may be used to make closures for packing items 1 to 46, inclusive, in Schedule I. However, even in the case of these items all persons are urged to use 0.50 tinplate whenever possible.

(5) No person shall use any wire for the manufacture of paperboard disc plug caps, having a diameter of two inches or less, for milk bottles.

Exceptions Pertaining to Both Glass Containers and Closures

(p) Deliveries to certain agencies and persons. Nothing in this order shall prohibit the purchase, acceptance of delivery, or use (such use to be in addition to any quota specified in the schedules attached to this order) of glass containers or closures by any of the following persons or by any person for packing any product to be delivered to or for the account of any of the following persons:

(1) Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Maritime Commission, or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such Administration or Commission for use thereon).

(2) Any person for packing products for retail sale or distribution through post-exchanges, sales commissaries, officers' messes, servicemen's clubs, ship service stores, or outlets; provided same are located at Army or Navy Camps, are not operated for private profit and are established primarily for the use of Army or Navy personnel within Army or Navy establishments or on Army or Navy vessels.

(3) American Red Cross, United Service Organizations, or such other nonprofit Defense Recreation Committees, engaged in the operation of recreation centers in the 48 States of the United States or the District of Columbia solely for military personnel, as are certified to be within the exemption provided by this paragraph (p) (3) by the Office of Defense Health and Welfare Services, OEM.

(4) Any agency of the United States purchasing for a foreign country pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act).

(q) Special provisions in schedules relative to exempt deliveries to certain agencies and persons. The schedules of this order contain certain limitations on the exception provided by the preceding paragraph (p) in the case of certain products—as, for instance, ice cream mix and malt and nonalcoholic beverages. In such cases, the provisions of the schedules are controlling and supersede paragraph (p) to the extent that they conflict therewith.

Exceptions Relative to Glass Containers Only

(r) Small users. The restrictions of this order which pertain to glass containers shall not apply to any person, who was a packer before January 1, 1944, during any calendar year in which he accepts no more than a total of five hundred ($500.00) dollars worth (cost price to him) of empty new glass containers for all products.

(s) Large size glass containers. The restrictions of this order which pertain to glass containers shall not apply to any glass container with a capacity larger than 140 fluid ounces.

(t) Glass containers of non-permitted sizes manufactured prior to January 4, 1944. A packer may accept and use, for packing any product listed in the schedules of this order, any glass container which was manufactured before January 4, 1944, even though the container is of a size which is not permitted for that product by the schedules. Such acceptance and use must be in accordance with the quota provisions of this order and with the provisions of Order L-103.

(u) Quota status of glass containers in inventory as of January 1, 1944. Glass containers in the possession of a packer as of January 1, 1944, may be used by him for packing any listed product as follows:

(1) Quota free, if accepted for packing a product which had a limited quota in 1943, (unless "borrowed" as described in point 3 of this paragraph).

(2) Within quota, if accepted for packing a product which had an unlimited quota in 1943.

(3) Within quota, if borrowed against anticipated 1944 use as permitted in paragraph (e) of this order as amended November 1, 1943.

Exceptions Pertaining to Closures Only

(v) Small users. The restrictions of this order which pertain to closures shall not apply to any person during any calendar year in which he accepts no more than five thousand new metal closures for all products.

Prior Appeals

(w) Appeals granted prior to December 31, 1943 under Order M-104 and Order L-103-b. All appeals granted prior to December 31, 1943 under orders L-103-b and M-104 are cancelled and shall be ineffective on and after January 1, 1944. Therefore, after that date, no person shall accept delivery of or use or shall manufacture, sell or deliver any new glass container or any new metal closure except in accordance with the provisions of this order—unless he receives a new grant on appeal after January 1, 1944.

Definitions

(x) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Glass container" means any empty new machine-made bottle, jar or tumbler, with a capacity of 140 fluid ounces or less, which is made of glass and which is suitable for packing any product. It shall not include ampoules or vials made from glass tubing.

(2) "Packer" means any person who uses glass containers or closures for commercially packing any product in the continental United States (the 48 States and the District of Columbia).

(3) "Home canning jar" means a glass container which is specifically made for use as a home canning jar (that is, for the purpose of packing or preserving food or food products in the home) and which carries some lettering or other marking identifying it as such.

(4) "Closure" means any new sealing or covering device affixed or to be affixed to a glass container for the purpose of retaining the contents within the container. The term shall not include bulbs or droppers for medicinal bottles.

(5) "Metal closure" means any closure which is made of zinc, aluminum, tinplate, terneplate, blackplate, frozen plate, waste-waste, or waste.

(6) "Tinplate" means sheet steel coated with tin, and includes "primes", "seconds", and all other forms of tinplate except waste and waste-waste.

(7) "Terneplate" means sheet steel coated with a lead-tin alloy, and includes "primes", "seconds", and all other forms of terneplate except waste and waste-waste.

(8) "Blackplate" means any sheet steel, other than tinplate or terneplate, and includes "rejects", and all other forms of blackplate except waste.

(9) "Frozen plate" means only tinplate, terneplate or blackplate which, since before August 9, 1943, has been held in the owner's inventory because, for any reason, it was not suitable for manufacture by the owner into articles permitted the use of steel under the provisions of War Production Board orders.

(10) "Waste-waste" means hot dipped or electrolytic tin coated steel sheets which have been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets from sale as primes or seconds.

(11) Tinmill blackplate "rejects" means steel sheets rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets for sale as prime blackplate.

(12) "Waste", means:

(i) Used closures made of tinplate, terneplate or blackplate;

(ii) Used cans made of tinplate, terneplate or blackplate;

(iii) Tinplate, terneplate or blackplate discs produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing screw bands for home canning closures;

(iv) Slitter or shear trimmings, or lithographing lay sheets, produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing closures or cans.

(13) The term "0.50 tinplate" wherever used in this order, includes "menders" arising in the production of such tinplate which have been hot dipped with a maximum tin coating of 1.25 pounds per base box.

Miscellaneous

(y) Multiple unit users. Any commercial user who uses glass containers at more than one plant may choose to compute and apply a separate quota for each plant (or group of plants) or a collective quota for all such plants. Any organization which consists of a parent corporation and one or more wholly-owned subsidiary corporations may consider itself as a single commercial user for purposes of this paragraph.

(z) Applicability of regulation. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(aa) Appeals. Appeals from this order shall be filed by addressing a letter to the War Production Board, Containers Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: L-103-b.

The letter of appeal need not follow any particular form. It should state informally, but completely, the particular provision appealed from, the precise relief desired, the reasons why denial of the appeal would result in undue and excessive hardship, and such other statistical and narrative information as may be pertinent.

(bb) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to: War Production Board, Containers Division, Washington (25), D. C., Ref.: L-103-b.

(cc) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or accepting further deliveries of or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

EXHIBIT A—PURCHASER'S CERTIFICATE FOR ALL GLASS CONTAINER DELIVERIES AND ALL CLOSURE DELIVERIES EXCEPT MALT AND NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CLOSURES

One copy of this certificate is to be delivered to each person from whom purchases of new glass containers or new metal closures (other than malt and non-alcoholic beverage closures) are made. Such certificate shall cover all purchases present and future.

The undersigned purchaser hereby certifies to the seller and to the War Production Board that he is familiar with Limitation Order L-103-b and that he will not use or sell any glass containers or any closures purchased from

SCHEDULES—GENERAL EXPLANATION

Schedules I through VI list the only products which may be packed in new glass containers or with new metal closures. Schedule VII relates to the manufacture of home canning closures.

The data set forth in the two "quota" columns, opposite each product, indicate the number of new glass containers and new metal closures (determined in accordance with the general rules set forth in paragraph (g) of Order L-103-b), which may be used for packing that product. However, any special quota provisions which these schedules make applicable to any product, are controlling to the extent that they conflict with paragraph (g).

The "X" mark which appears opposite each product in one of the columns headed "closure material" indicates that, except as listed hereafter, only closures made of the specified material may be used to pack that product. The general exceptions from this rule are:

(i) Closures made of blackplate (including rejects) may be used, within quotas, wherever tinplate or terneplate is specified.

(ii) Closures made of frozen plate may be used, within quota, wherever either tinplate, terneplate or blackplate is specified.

(iii) Closures made of waste may be used in addition to specified quotas for listed products.

All special provisions of these schedules relating to closure materials for specific products must be followed, and control to the extent that they conflict with the above.

All size specifications for glass containers set forth in these schedules must be followed in addition to the provisions of Order L-103 and its schedules.

Attention is called to paragraphs (p) through (v) of Order L-103-b which establish limited exceptions to the provisions of this order. Here again, any special provisions which these schedules contain relative to quota exemptions—as in the case of ice cream mix and certain beverages—must be observed.

SCHEDULE I—FOODS

NOTE: Item 60 amended June 8, 1944.

No product packed in a can shall be repacked for sale in a glass container by the same or a different person, in the same or a different form, except as follows (or as otherwise specifically permitted in this schedule):

(i) When required for the packing of other products, pineapple may be repacked from No. 10 cans. Grape juice, grape pulp, citrus peel and pulp may be repacked from reusable cans, 5-gallons or larger. Apricots and peaches, solid pie pack, may be repacked from No. 10 cans or larger. No. 10 cans cut under this provision must be properly cleaned and returned to the nearest detinning plant.

(ii) Tomato paste, tomato pulp or puree, and tomato sauce may be repacked from No. 10, or from 5-gallon or larger reusable cans when required for packing other products, or for repacking in different form (other than in the form of tomato paste or tomato pulp or puree), but none may be repacked in the same form. No. 10 cans cut under this provision must be properly cleaned and returned to the nearest detinning plant.

(iii) Closures made of aluminum may be used for any product listed in this schedule for which aluminum closures were used in 1939, 1940 or 1941. However, all aluminum closures must be used within, and charged to, the quotas established by this schedule.

SCHEDULE VI—BEVERAGES

(The rules set forth in this Schedule are controlling wherever they conflict with any other provisions of Order L–103–b. However, except as modified herein, all provisions of Order L–103–b are applicable)

MALT BEVERAGES

Product: Malt beverages, including only beer, ale, porter, near beer and mixtures thereof.

Glass Containers

(a) Glass container quota. 100% of the number of new returnable glass containers which the packer accepted delivery of for malt beverages during 1943—less the number of quota exempt returnable glass containers which were accepted during the period between July 1, 1943 and December 31, 1943.

(b) Exceptions from glass quota provisions. In addition to his quota of glass containers for malt beverages, any packer may accept delivery of the following portion of the number of new or used glass containers used, or actually to be used, during the then current calendar year for delivering malt beverages to or for any of the persons listed under paragraph (p) of this order:

(1) Export shipment. The full amount of glass containers for delivering malt beverages to or for any such person for shipment to points outside the continental United States.

2. Domestic consumption. 8% of the full amount of glass containers for delivering malt beverages to or for any such person for use or distribution within the continental United States.

Closures

(c) Closure quota (See Notes 2 and 3). 115% of the number of new metal closures used for malt beverages during 1943. (Quota exempt closures may not be included in base.)

(d) Closure material. (See Note 1) Blackplate (including rejects) as allocated; electrolytic waste-waste, and frosen plate. Hot dipped waste-waste may be used only to make malt beverage closures which are to be exported unused. The export of unused malt beverage closure to foreign countries (but not exports to United States territories or island possessions) is exempted from the limitations of paragraph (j) of this order.

No closures made of waste may be used in addition to quota, pursuant to paragraph (d) of Order L–103–b, except as follows:

(1) Closures made of used cans.

(2) Closures made of used closures and of discs produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing home canning screw bands.

NON-ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES

Product. Non-alcoholic beverages, including only carbonated soft drinks; non-carbonated soft drinks; unflavored carbonated waters and unflavored naturally carbonated and still waters (See Note 2); drinks consisting of fruit juices, vegetable juices and combinations thereof, where less than 85% by weight of such drinks is pure fruit juice, vegetable juice, or a mixture thereof; and sterilized milk drinks made with powdered milk.

Glass Containers

(a) Glass container quota. 80% of the number of new glass containers which the packer accepted delivery of for non-alcoholic beverages during 1941.

(b) Exceptions from glass quota provisions. In addition to his quota of glass containers for non-alcoholic beverages, any packer may accept delivery of the following portion of the number of new or used glass containers used, or actually to be used, during the then current calendar year for delivering non-alcoholic beverages to or for any of the persons listed in paragraph (p) of this Order.

(1) Export shipment. The full amount of glass containers for delivering non-alcoholic beverages to or for any such person for shipment to points outside the continental United States.

(2) Domestic consumption. 8% of the full amount of glass containers for delivering non-alcoholic beverages to or for any such person for use or distribution within the continental United States.

Closures

(c) Closure quota (See Notes 2 and 3). 115% of the number of new metal closures used for non-alcoholic beverages during 1943 (Quota exempt closures are not to be included in base).

(d) Closure material (See Note 1). Blackplate (including rejects) as allocated; electrolytic waste-waste, and frosen plate. Hot dipped waste-waste may be used only to make non-alcoholic beverage closures which are to be exported unused. The export of unused non-alcoholic beverage closures to foreign countries (but not exports to United States territories or island possessions) is exempted from the limitations of paragraph (j) of this order.

No closures made of waste may be used in addition to quota, pursuant to paragraph (d) of Order L–103–b except as follows:

(1) Closures made of used cans.

(2) Closures made of used closures and of discs produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing home canning screw bands.

WINES

Product. Wines.
Glass container quota. 100% of 1943.
Closure quota. 50% quota glass containers.
Closure material. Blackplate.

DISTILLED SPIRITS

Product. Distilled spirits, including cordials.
Glass container quota. 100% of 1943.
Closure quota. 50% quota glass containers.
Closure material. Blackplate.

NOTE 1: Permission to accept delivery of used cans made of tinplate or of sheets recovered from such cans or of tinplate slitter or shear trimmings, lithographing lay sheets and discs must be obtained in accordance with Conservation Order M–325.

NOTE 2: Except with regard to items listed in Schedule II, no new metal closures shall be affixed to glass containers smaller than 12 fl. oz. for packing unflavored carbonated natural or mineral waters unless such glass containers were manufactured on or before June 1, 1942.

NOTE 3: No person other than a jobber purchasing for resale shall accept delivery of malt beverage or non-alcoholic beverage closures which would increase his inventory beyond 30% of his 1944 quota of such closures. This inventory shall include closures to be used as described in paragraph (p) of this order but not closures made of waste materials described in paragraphs (d) (1) and (2) of this schedule. No separate inventory is permitted for uses described in paragraph (p).

SCHEDULE VII—HOME CANNING CLOSURES

No manufacturer of glass containers shall ship any jars with 70 mm. screw finish, intended for home canning unless at least 40% of such jars shipped during each calendar month are delivered as a unit, consisting of the jar and a "glass lid closure" packed together. A "glass lid closure" is one consisting of a glass lid, a screw band and a top seal jar ring.

INTERPRETATION 1: Revoked Jan. 4, 1944.

INTERPRETATION 2

GLASS CONTAINER AND CLOSURE QUOTAS

Paragraph (g) sets forth the method for computing a packer's quota of new glass containers or new metal closures. The first step in the process (subparagraph (1) of paragraph (g)) is to take the number of new glass containers or new metal closures used or accepted for packing that product during the named base period. In arriving at this number a packer may not include more containers or closures than he was permitted to accept or use under the provisions of the applicable order in existence at the time. New glass containers or new metal closures accepted or used pursuant to the grant of an appeal are properly included in making the computation. (Issued Apr. 3, 1944.)

[Interpretation 3]

A caterer or restaurateur, who fills glass containers with food which is ready for consumption, for the purpose of delivering it to a plant to be served in in-plant feeding operations, is not a packer within the meaning of the term as defined in paragraph (x) (2) of this order and therefore not subject to the restrictions contained in it. He may properly use the certification contained in Exhibit A in placing his purchase orders if the glass containers are to be used for this purpose only. (Issued May 15, 1944.)

PART 3270—CONTAINERS

[Conservation Order M–81, as Amended June 8, 1944]

CANS

§ 3270.31 Conservation Order M–81—(a) Prohibitions on purchase, acceptance and use of cans. No person shall purchase, accept delivery of or use any can for any other purpose than for packing a product listed in a schedule attached to this order.

(b) Restrictions on purchase, acceptance and use of cans. No person shall, during any calendar year (or any seasonal year when packing quota is based on a seasonal year in the schedules), purchase, accept delivery of or use for packing any product which is listed in a schedule attached to this order, more cans than his packing quota for that product. However, jobbers or retailers may obtain and sell cans in conformity with the provisions of this order.

(c) Restrictions on cans for War Shipping Administration. No person shall sell or deliver any product packed in cans for use on vessels under the direction of the War Shipping Administration unless authorization to acquire the cans has been obtained on Form WPB 646 (formerly PD–300).

(d) Restrictions on use of cans made of waste. Attention is called to the fact that cans made of waste (other than those specified in paragraph (k) (4) are now covered by the provisions of this order. Such cans may only be made or used contrary to the restrictions of this order pursuant to the grant of an appeal. Appeals for this purpose shall state: (1) the product to be packed, (2) the number and type of cans to be used and (3) the type of waste to be used.

(e) Restrictions on can material and sizes. No person shall purchase, accept delivery of or use for packing any listed product, cans made of any kind of plate or of any size except those permitted for that product in the schedules of this order. He may, however, use a can larger than the largest permitted size for packing a listed product. Wherever the can size is specified by weight, the weight referred to shall be net weight of the contents of the can.

When tinplate is specified for the manufacture of cans for packing a particular product, the coating indicated represents the maximum weight of tin coating per single base box. The term "0.50 tinplate" or "0.75 tinplate" wherever used in this order includes menders arising in the production of such tinplate which have been hot-dipped with a maximum tin coating of 1.25 pounds per base box, and hot-dipped waste-waste. When SCMT is specified, special coated manufacturers' terneplate is referred to.

(f) Prohibition against repacking. No product packed in a can shall be repacked for sale in a can or any other container by the same or different person in the same or different form except to the extent specifically permitted in the schedules attached to this order or pursuant to Order L–103–b.

(g) Prohibition against packing dried or frozen fruits or vegetables. No dried or frozen fruits or vegetables shall be packed in a can except to the extent specifically permitted in the schedules attached to this order.

(h) Restrictions on food packing. The foods listed in Schedules I and II are limited to those which are intended and suitable for human consumption. Canning of foods for animals and pets is not permitted.

Restrictions on Manufacture, Sale and Delivery

(i) General restriction. No person shall manufacture, sell or deliver any cans which he knows, or has reason to believe, will be accepted or used in violation of any prohibition or restriction of this order.

(j) Certificate. No person shall manufacture, sell or deliver any cans except under a purchase order or contract validated by a delivery to him of a purchaser's certificate, signed manually by the purchaser as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7. This certificate shall be in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit A. This certificate, once filed by a purchaser with a supplier, covers all future deliveries to him from that supplier. No certificate shall be required from a retailer who buys for resale, or from persons purchasing from retailers.

Exceptions

(k) Exceptions to restrictions on purchase, acceptance or use. The restrictions imposed by this order shall not apply to the purchase, acceptance of delivery or use of the following cans:

(1) Cans (other than for samples distributed for the purpose of advertising or promoting the sale of a product) for packing any product which is not to be sold in the same or different form. However, cans packed by federal or state institutions for their own consumption shall be controlled by the can size and material restrictions.

(2) Fibre cans with ends made of waste-waste or blackplate rejects for packing the following products: any food product for human consumption, antiseptic or medicinal powders, dental plastics and impression materials, dentifrice powders including denture cleaners and adhesives, insecticides and rodent poisons, seed disinfectants and inoculants, cements, photographic chemicals, cleansing powders, wallpaper cleaner and inner-tube repair kits.

(3) Fibre cans with ends made of sheets recovered from used cans. Permission to accept delivery of used cans or sheets recovered from used cans for this purpose must be obtained under Conservation Order M–325.

(4) Fibre cans with ends made of waste.

(5) Cans for packing any products not listed in Schedules I or II attached to this order when such cans are to be delivered either (a) packed or empty to the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such Commission or Administration for use thereon), pursuant to a letter of intent approved by or a purchase order or contract negotiated for or with any of these agencies, or (b) to other persons pursuant to authorization by the Maritime Commission under Form WPB 646 (formerly PD–300).

(l) Inventory exceptions—(1) Schedules I and II. The restrictions concerning can materials and sizes contained in paragraph (e) shall not apply to cans made of tinplate which was either in process at the tin mill, in the inventory of the tin mill for the account of the manufacturer, or in the inventory of the can manufacturer, on or before January 3, 1944, for packing products listed in Schedules I or II.

(2) Schedule III. The restrictions concerning can materials and sizes contained in paragraph (e) shall not apply to cans made of terneplate or blackplate which was either in process at the tin mill, in the inventory of the tin mill for the account of the manufacturer, or in the inventory of the can manufacturer, on or before January 3, 1944 for packing products listed in Schedule III.

(3) Change of specifications. Whenever the size and can material specifications for a product are changed by amendment, a can manufacturer must continue to manufacture, sell and deliver cans for that product in accordance with the superseded specifications (before making any cans conforming to the new specifications) as long as there is available to him plate made for that product which was in process at the tin mill, in the inventory of the tin mill for his account, or in his inventory, on the date of the change. Packers of that product must accept and use (within quota) such cans for packing that product.

(m) Small user. Nothing in this order shall prohibit any person, who, during the calendar year 1942, used cans requiring for their manufacture less than 25 base boxes from purchasing, accepting delivery of, or using during any subsequent calendar year without restriction an aggregate of cans requiring for their manufacture not more than 25 base boxes. However, if he uses the cans to pack a product listed in the schedules of this order, he must conform to the provisions of Paragraph (e) relative to sizes and can material.

Definitions

(n) For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Can" means any unused container which is made in whole or in part of tinplate, terneplate, blackplate, or waste, and which is suitable for packing any product. The term includes all pails and drums made from blackplate, 29 gauge or lighter (except stripper drums having a capacity of 30 pounds or greater) and any container closure or fitting made in whole or in part of tinplate, terneplate, blackplate, or waste, but does not include a closure or fitting to be used on or as a part of a glass container or fiber or steel drum (as defined in Orders L–103, M–313 and L–197). The term does not include fluid milk shipping containers as defined in Conservation Order M–200.

(2) "Tin plate" means steel sheets coated with tin (including primes, seconds and hot-dipped waste-waste), and includes (i) electrolytic tinplate in which the tin coating is applied by electrolytic deposition, and (ii) hot-dipped tinplate in which the tin coating is applied by immersion in molten tin. The term does not include waste.

(3) "Terneplate" means steel sheets coated with terne metal (including primes, seconds, and waste-waste). The term does not include waste.

"Terne Metal" means the lead-tin alloy used as the coating for terneplate, but does not include lead recovered from secondary sources which contains not more than 2½% residual tin.

(4) "Blackplate" means steel sheets 29-gauge or lighter other than tinplate or terneplate. The term includes "blackplate rejects," "electrolytic waste-waste" and chemically treated blackplate (CTB). The term does not include waste.

(5) "Waste" means scrap tinplate, terneplate and blackplate (including strips and circles) produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing cans, and also tinplate and terneplate strips produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing tinplate and terneplate.

(6) "Pack" unless otherwise specified, means the quantity, by area measurement of tinplate, terneplate, and blackplate required for the manufacture of all sized cans used by a person for packing a particular product during the base period specified.

(7) "Packing quota" unless otherwise specified, means the quantity by area measurement of tinplate, terneplate or blackplate that a person may use for packing a particular product during any calendar year (or any seasonal year when the packing quota is based on a seasonal year in the schedules).

(8) "Seasonal year" means the twelve-month period for packing a particular product beginning in one calendar year and ending in the next.

(9) "Frozen tinplate, terneplate or blackplate" means only tinplate, terneplate or blackplate which, since prior to January 3, 1944, has been held in the inventory of a can manufacturer (or in the inventory of a supplier of such plate having been produced for the account of a can manufacturer) because it had been so processed, or was of such size, gauge or grade, that it was not suitable for the manufacture of cans for which tinplate, terneplate or blackplate are specified.

Miscellaneous

(o) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(p) Appeals. Appeals from this order shall be filed by addressing a letter to the War Production Board, Containers Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M–81.

The letter of appeal need not follow any particular form. It should state informally, but completely, the particular provision appealed from, the precise relief desired, the reasons why denial of the appeal would result in undue and excessive hardship, and such other statistical and narrative information as may be pertinent.

(q) Communications. All communications concerning this order shall unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Containers Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–81.

(r) All can manufacturers shall file a monthly report on Form WPB 2707 in accordance with the instructions in that form. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such other forms and questionnaires as said Board shall, from time to time, request subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget.

(s) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further delivery of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

EXHIBIT A

PURCHASER'S CERTIFICATE

One copy of this certificate is to be delivered to each person from whom purchases are made of cans made in whole or in part of tinplate, terneplate, or blackplate. Such certificate shall cover all purchases present and future so long as Conservation Order M–81, in its present form or as it may be amended from time to time, remains in effect.

The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties for misrepresentation, that he is familiar with Order M–81 of the War Production Board, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the use of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with the order, as amended from time to time.

SCHEDULE I—FOOD CANS

The packing quota specified in this Schedule I indicates total packs of the respective products listed, for all purposes including cans required by any order of the War Production Board, the Department of Agriculture, or the Director of Food Distribution, to be set aside for purchase by a Government agency. The designation FDO–22 indicates that cans may be used for packing only the quantity of product required to be set aside by Food Distribution Order No. 22 and orders supplementary thereto, as same may be amended from time to time. Such quantity is sometimes referred to as "set aside quotas".

NOTE: Item 38, column (5) amended June 8, 1944.

SCHEDULE II—FOOD CANS

NOTE: Schedule II amended June 8, 1944.

Packing quotas specified in this Schedule II indicate permitted packs of the respective products listed for all purposes except for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such commission or Administration for use thereon), or for any agency of the United States purchasing for a foreign country pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941 entitled, "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Land-Lease Act). While restrictions pertaining to can sizes and can materials are applicable to such cans, cans used for packing the respective products listed shall be in addition to the specified quotas, when delivered either (a) pursuant to a letter of intent approved by or a contract or purchase order negotiated with or for, any of the foregoing agencies, or (b) to other persons pursuant to authorization by the Maritime Commission under Form WPB 646 (formerly PD–300). The word "none" indicates that no cans shall be used for packing the applicable product except for the above mentioned agencies. When determining a quota for packing a product listed in this Schedule II, cans packed during the specified base period for the above mentioned agencies shall be excluded.

SCHEDULE III—NON-FOOD CANS

NOTE: Schedule III amended June 8, 1944.

(a) Packing quotas specified in this Schedule III indicate permitted packs of the respective products listed for all purposes except for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration of the United States (including persons operating vessels for such Commission or Administration for use thereon), or for any foreign country pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Land-Lease Act). Cans used for packing the respective products listed shall be in addition to the specified quotas, when delivered either (1) pursuant to a letter of intent approved by, or a contract or purchase order negotiated with or for any of the foregoing agencies, or (2) to other persons pursuant to authorization by the Maritime Commission under Form WPB 646 (formerly PD–300). When determining a quota for packing a product listed in this Schedule III, cans packed during the specified base period for the above mentioned agencies shall be excluded.

(b) Wherever blackplate is specified for making the body or ends of a can for packing a product listed in this Schedule III, special coated manufacturers' terneplate (SCMT) may be substituted for making any part or fitting of the can which is required to be soldered. Wherever blackplate is specified, blackplate or chemically treated blackplate (CTB) may be used. Wherever special coated manufacturers' terneplate (SCMT) is specified, blackplate or chemically treated blackplate (CTB) may be used.

(c) If a person has a packing quota for a product listed in Items 10, 34, 36, 43, 44, 45, 54, 55, or 63 under this schedule, and also has one for the same product in glass containers under Order L–103–b, he shall limit his combined pack of that product in cans and glass containers in accordance with instructions contained in Direction No. 3 of this order.

PART 3270—CONTAINERS

[Conservation Order M-81, Direction 3]

LIMITATION OF COMBINED PACK IN CANS AND GLASS CONTAINERS

The following direction is issued pursuant to Conservation Order M-81:

(a) Purpose of this direction. Paragraph (c) in the headnote of Schedule III of Order M-81 provides that if a person has a packing quota for certain products in cans under this Order, and in glass containers under Order L-103-b, he shall limit his combined pack of that product in cans and glass containers in accordance with this direction. As quotas under Order M-81 are based on the area of plate and quotas under Order L-103-b on units of glass containers, it is necessary to set up a procedure for determining the permitted pack of a product in both cans and in glass containers.

(b) Reducing packing quota under M-81 to number of cans. A person having a packing quota for a product in both cans and glass containers shall first determine the area of plate (base boxes) in his packing quota and then, using the size listed for that product in Order M-81 most favorable for his purposes, convert to the number of cans which he may pack. He may not use for this purpose a size larger than a listed size.

(c) Procedure to follow if number of cans is larger than number of glass containers. If the number of cans arrived at in paragraph (b) above is larger than the number of glass containers in his quota under Order L-103-b, he shall use the following method in determining his combined pack: (1) Deduct from the number of cans, the number of glass containers which he uses in the calendar year for packing that product; (2) convert the remaining number of cans to area of plate, using the size which he used in paragraph (b) for this computation. This area of plate represents the amount he may use as his packing quota for that product in cans.

(d) Procedure to follow if number of glass containers is larger than number of cans. If the number of glass containers in a person's quota under Order L-103-b is larger than the number of cans arrived at in paragraph (b) above, he shall use the following method in determining his combined pack: Deduct from the number of glass containers in his quota under Order L-103-b, the number of cans that he uses to pack the product in the calendar year. He may use the number of glass containers remaining for packing that product.

(e) Insecticides and fungicides. In the case of Item 34, Insecticides and fungicides, a person's packing quota in the one-gallon size under Order M-81 is unlimited. Therefore, his packing quota in the gallon size shall not be taken into consideration in making the above computations, and only his packing quota in the quart size shall be used.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT

[Limitation Order L-23-c, as Amended June 7, 1944]

DOMESTIC COOKING APPLIANCES AND DOMESTIC HEATING STOVES

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage of materials for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

Section 3288.66 Limitation Order L-23-c is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 3288.66 Limitation Order L-23-c—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Domestic cooking appliances" means the following non-electric appliances: Gas ranges, cook stoves and hot plates for household use; coal and wood ranges and cook stoves for household use; fuel oil ranges, cook stoves, table stoves and hot plates for household use; combination ranges (including dual oven types, ranges with built-in kitchen heaters, and bungalow types) for household use; camp and trailer stoves for cooking purposes; fuel oil conversion range burners; and drum and portable ovens.

(2) "Domestic heating stoves" means any device (except electric) for the direct heating of the space in and adjacent to that in which the device is located, designed for use without heat distribution pipes or ducts as integral parts of such heating devices, and includes but is not limited to circulating, radiant and portable heaters; trailer and caboose stoves; and laundry stoves (except water jacketed and permanently built-in coil types). Domestic heating stoves shall not include floor or wall furnaces.

(3) "Stove" means any domestic cooking appliance or domestic heating stove.

(4) "Accessories" means aprons, high closets, high shelves, clocks, lights, timers, broiler pans other than iron or steel, cover-alls and any other instruments, attachments, or appurtenances (except top-burner lighters, thermostats, thermometers, top work space and storage compartments) for domestic cooking appliances not essential to any of the following three major cooking operations: Top burner cooking, oven baking and oven broiling.

(5) "Steel coal or wood range or cook stove" means a coal or wood range or cook stove in which the total weight of steel is 20% or more of the total weight of metal in the unit.

(6) "Base period" means the twelve month period from July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941.

(b) General restrictions on production. (1) During the period from June 7, 1944 to July 1, 1944, no person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stoves except such stoves as he is able to make from materials which were in inventory on July 29, 1943, or which the War Production Board has specifically authorized him to acquire and use under the Controlled Materials Plan, or otherwise.

(2) After July 1, 1944, no person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stove except to the extent authorized by the War Production Board on Form GA-1850. (Application for authorization should be made in accordance with paragraph (b) (3)). The War Production Board will authorize limited production quotas so that the aggregate production of each type of stove will not exceeed the percentage of the base period production specified in Schedule A. Production will not be authorized in any plant where such production, or labor requirements therefor, will interfere with war production in that plant, or in any other plant located in the same area.

(3) A person wishing to make stoves under paragraph (b) (2), should apply for authorization by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., reference L-23-c. This letter should give all pertinent information with respect to proposed production and should request authorization to produce stoves in only those fuel types which he manufactured during the base period. Where the applicant will need controlled materials in order to produce the equipment, the letter requesting authorization should be accompanied by an application on form CMP-4B for the controlled materials.

(c) Special restrictions on production. In addition to the restrictions contained in paragraph (b), all of the following special restrictions must also be complied with:

(1) No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stoves except in the fuel types manufactured by him during the base period.

(2) No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any accessories or incorporate them into any stove except that those non-electric accessories, not including cover-alls, which were in his stock in a completely assembled and finished condition on June 7, 1944, may be used in the production of stoves.

(3) No thermostats for use with stoves shall be produced.

(4) No person shall manufacture, fabricate or assemble any stoves except those listed on Schedule B attached, and then only in accordance with the numbers of models, sizes and other specifications set forth therein.

(5) No person shall use any "bright work", "bright finish", metal finish or trim containing copper, nickel, chrome, aluminum, or other alloy in the production of stoves.

(d) Exceptions. (1) The restrictions of this order do not apply to the production of repair and replacement parts. However, no person shall produce repair or replacement parts in excess of the quantity required to maintain a practicable minimum working inventory.

(2) The restrictions of paragraphs (c) (1) and (c) (3) of this order do not apply to the production of stoves not available in the producer's inventory when required by the Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, War Shipping Administration, Foreign Economic Administration or Coast Guard, or by rules and regulations promulgated by the Coast Guard for merchant vessels or for approved installation in a building or project authorized by any order in the P–19 or P–55 series or on Form GA–1456 or Form WPB–2896 or to fill orders authorized by the Maritime Commission on Form WPB–646.

(3) Nothing contained in this order shall restrict the manufacture, fabrication or assembly of trailer or caboose stoves.

(e) Reports. Manufacturers of stoves shall report on or before the tenth day of each month on Form WPB–3249. This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(f) Applicability of regulations. All persons and transactions affected by this order are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(g) Applicability of other orders. Insofar as any other orders heretofore or hereafter issued by the War Production Board limit the use of any material in the production of stoves to a greater extent than the restrictions imposed by this order, the restrictions of such other order shall govern, unless otherwise specified therein.

(h) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be filed on Form WPB–1477 with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(i) Communications. All communications concerning this order, except appeals, shall unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., reference L–23–c.

(j) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 7th day of June 1944.

Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE A

	Percentage of total unit production by all producers in the base period (July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1941)
Domestic cooking appliances:
1. Gas ranges and cook stoves	40
2. Combination, bungalow and kitchen heater ranges	40
3. Coal and wood ranges and cook stoves	100
4. Fuel oil ranges and cook stoves	40
Domestic cooking appliances—Con.
5. Gas hot plates	75
6. Portable and drum ovens	75
Domestic heating stoves:
1. Gas fired heaters	75
2. Oil fired heaters	40
3. Coal and wood heaters	100
4. Coal and wood laundry stoves	100

SCHEDULE B

Domestic cooking appliances	Maximum number of models or sizes permitted	Types
1. Gas ranges	3	One to have 3 top burners, broiler optional. One to have 4 top burners, broiler optional, but without storage compartments or top work space.
2. Gas hot plates	3	1—1 burner, 1—2 burner, 1—3 burner.
3. Coal or wood ranges and cook stoves	8	2 steel ranges or cook stoves. 3 cast iron ranges. 3 cast iron cook stoves (At least one steel range or cook stove, one cast iron range and one cast iron cook stove manufactured by any producer shall be the lightest of each in his line).
4. Gas and coal or wood combination ranges	1
5. Bungalow or kitchen heater range (gas and coal or wood)	1
6. Fuel oil ranges	2	1—3 top burner range with bake oven. 1—2 top burner range with bake oven.
7. Fuel oil stoves	2	1—2 burner stove. 1—3 burner stove.
8. Fuel oil table stoves	3	1—1 burner stove. 1—2 burner stove. 1—3 burner stove.
9. Portable ovens	2	1 single oven.
10. Drum ovens	1	1 double oven.

Domestic heating stoves	Number of models or sizes permitted	Maximum of models or sizes permitted in B. t. u. capacities per hour
1. Gas radiant	10	2—12,000 or less input. 2—12,001 to 30,000 input. 2—20,001 to 30,000 input. 2—30,001 to 45,000 input. 2—over 45,000 input.
2. Gas circulating	6	2—30,000 or less input. 2—30,001 to 50,000 input. 2—over 50,000 input.
3. Fuel oil portable (ball type)	No restriction.
4. Fuel oil circulating	6	2—90,000 or less output. 1—30,000 to 40,000. 1—40,000 to 55,000. 1—over 55,000.
5. Cast iron or steel coal and/or wood	10
6. Sheet steel wood stoves	6
7. Laundry stoves	6	4—2 hole stoves. 2—4 hole stoves. (1—2 hole stove and 1—4 hole stove manufactured by any producer shall be the lightest of each in his line.)

PART 3290—TEXTILE, CLOTHING AND LEATHER

[Conservation Order M–328, Gen. Direction 1]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of knit underwear and of materials and facilities used in the production of knit underwear for defense, for private account, and for export. It is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense to assign priority to orders for knit underwear of the types below mentioned and to allocate materials and facilities available for the production of such knit underwear on the conditions and in the manner and to the extent set forth in the following direction:

The following direction is issued under paragraph (c) of Conservation Order M–328:

Each person in the business of producing knit underwear, who in 1943 produced any of the following types of underwear, shall in each calendar quarter of 1944 beginning July 1, 1944, produce, and accept and fill orders for, at least as many dozens of each of the following types of knit underwear as he produced in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1943. Production of knit underwear on orders to or for the account of the U. S. Army or Navy shall be excluded in computing these quotas.

The types of knit underwear referred to above are:

Men's knit union suits, over 9 lbs. per dozen in weight based on size 42, long sleeves, ankle length.

Men's knit shirts, over 6 lbs. per dozen in weight based on size 42, long sleeves.

Men's knit drawers, over 4¾ lbs. per dozen in weight based on size 38, ankle length.

Boys' knit union suits, over 5½ lbs. per dozen in weight based on size 34, long sleeves, ankle length.

Issued this 8th day of June 1944.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

[Priorities Reg. 19, Direction 1]

STATUS OF ORDERS AND CERTIFICATES FOR FARM SUPPLIES ORIGINATING BEFORE MAY 6, 1944

The following direction is issued pursuant to Priorities Regulation 19:

Farmers' orders. If a farmer used a PR–19 certificate before May 6, 1944, to get a priority on repair services, but the repairs were not done by then, the farmer's order must be treated by the repair shop as if it had been rated AA–2X when the farmer gave the repair shop the certificate. If a farmer used a PR–19 Certificate before May 6, 1944, to get a priority on farm supplies which were removed from the list on that date and which had not been delivered to him by then, his order must still be treated by the dealer as if it were rated AA–5. If a farmer used a PR–19 Certificate before May 6, 1944, to get a priority on farm supplies which are still listed in paragraph (m), but which had not been delivered to him by that date, his order must be treated by the dealer as if it had been rated AA–2X with respect to farm supplies in paragraph (m) (1), and AA–3 with respect to farm supplies in paragraph (m) (2), when the order was placed.

Dealers' orders. Any PR–19 certificates given to a dealer before May 6, 1944, which the dealer had not used by then to get a priority on his own orders, may still be used to get a priority on farm supplies listed in the amended regulation, just like certificates received by the dealer after May 6, 1944. The treatment to be given dealers' orders for farm supplies placed with suppliers before May 6, 1944, depends upon whether the supplies are still listed in paragraph (m). Unfilled orders from dealers originally rated AA–5 on the basis of farmers' certificates must be filled by the supplier as if they were originally rated AA–2X with respect to supplies in paragraph (m) (1), AA–3 with respect to supplies in paragraph (m) (2), and AA–5 with respect to items no longer listed. That is, unfilled orders for items removed from the list on May 6 are to be filled by suppliers as if the regulation had not been amended on that date.

The rating of AA–5 assigned to dealers' orders placed under PR–19 before July 17, 1943, for an initial stock of farm supplies is cancelled. Any orders of that kind not filled by May 6, 1944, must be treated by the supplier as if they had never been rated at all.

Suppliers' and direct-buying dealers' orders. So far as manufacturers' back-orders are concerned, it makes no difference whether the farm supplies are still listed in paragraph (m) or not. Orders for farm supplies placed with manufacturers before May 6, 1944, by suppliers or direct-buying dealers, and rated AA–5 under Priorities Regulation 19, still have that same rating and are to be filled as if the regulation had not been amended on that date.

However, the AA–5 rating assigned to direct-buying dealers' orders placed before July 17, 1943, for an initial stock of farm supplies, is cancelled. If any orders of that kind were not filled by May 6, 1944, the manufacturer must treat them as if they had never been rated at all. (This does not apply to ratings extended by a supplier to a manufacturer, because the manufacturer has no way of knowing whether the rating extended by the supplier was based upon farmers' certificates or upon a dealer's order for an initial stock.)

PART 1076—PLUMBING AND HEATING SIMPLIFICATION

[Limitation Order L–42, Interpretation 1 to Direction 2]

DELIVERIES FOR INVENTORY PROHIBITED

The following interpretation is issued with respect to Direction 2 to Limitation Order L–42:

Paragraph (c) of Direction 2 to Limitation Order L–42 prohibits anyone from delivering or receiving delivery of cast iron bathtubs manufactured under that direction, except to fill actually existing orders on their books. Manufacturers are prohibited from delivering such bathtubs to dealers unless they receive, in addition to the rating and certification accompanying the order, the information specifically called for in the direction. Deliveries of such bathtubs to dealers are prohibited when the tubs are to be carried in inventory pending receipt of an order.

The term includes any item serving the same function as any of the above-named items, whether or not such item is listed by any manufacturer under a different name.

The term shall not include:

(i) Any of the above-named items when such items are designed and produced for use overseas, in the field or on shipboard by the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration or by the military forces of any country entitled to receive deliveries pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941, entitled, "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act). (An item shall be deemed to be designed and produced for use overseas, in the field or on shipboard, only when the purchase order or contract under which the item is produced specifically states that the item is for use overseas, in the field or on shipboard. A purchase order or contract for Lend-Lease shall be deemed to be for the military forces of a Lend-Lease country only when the purchase order or contract specifically so states.);

(ii) Any parts or material for the repair or maintenance of any of the above-named items; nor

(iii) Any accessories for use in connection with any of the above-named items; nor

(iv) Any recessed cabinet.

(2) "Manufacturer" means any person engaged in the manufacturing, fabricating or assembling of medical and surgical furniture and related equipment.

(b) Restrictions on items and models of medical and surgical furniture and related equipment. (1) In making the items on List A of this schedule, manufacturers shall be limited to the number of models specified in the left-hand column of the List, and such models must conform with the descriptions set forth in the right-hand column of the List.

(2) The items referred to in paragraph (a) (1) of this schedule, which include all those on List A and others as well, are subject to the restrictions on materials contained in paragraph (c) of this schedule.

(c) Restrictions on the use of certain materials in the manufacture of medical and surgical furniture and related equipment. (1) No manufacturer shall incorporate any nickel in the manufacture of any medical and surgical furniture and related equipment except for the following uses:

(i) Nickel may be used for plating to the extent permitted under the terms of Conservation Order M–6–b;

(ii) Nickel may be used in alloy steel for any item permitted in List A.[1]

(2) No manufacturer shall incorporate any monel metal, copper or copper base alloy in the manufacture of any medical and surgical furniture and related equipment except to the extent permitted in the right-hand column and the footnote of List A.

(3) No manufacturer shall incorporate any aluminum in the manufacture of any medical and surgical furniture and related equipment except to the extent permitted by Supplementary Order M–1–i or by any specific authorization under that order.

(d) Exception for furniture and equipment in process. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (b) (1) and (c) of this schedule, a manufacturer may complete the manufacture of any medical and surgical furniture and related equipment which was partially fabricated on July 13, 1943: Provided, That such manufacture is completed on or before August 13, 1943.

(e) Filing of pictures and accompanying information. On or before August 2, 1943, each manufacturer shall file with the War Production Board, Safety and Technical Equipment Division (Ref: L–214), a photograph or catalog cut, in duplicate, of each model of the permitted items which he elects to manufacture under this schedule. Each photograph or cut shall be mounted on suitable backing 8½" x 11" in size with the following information entered clearly thereon:

(1) The name of the item, as listed on List A.

(2) A brief identification of the model, if more than one model of the item is permitted under List A.

(3) The manufacturer's catalog number.

(4) A brief description, including size and material specifications and any other pertinent information, showing that the model comes within the description of the permitted item as set forth in List A.

(f) [Deleted, Oct. 9, 1943]

NOTE: This reporting requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Issued this 9th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

LIST A

NOTE: List A amended June 9, 1944.

Subject to the provisions of this schedule each manufacturer may manufacture only the permitted number of models of the permitted items of medical and surgical furniture and related equipment set forth below, and such permitted models of the permitted items shall conform with the description set forth in the right hand column of the list. (Different sizes of permitted items are regarded as different models; for example, it is not permissible to manufacture two sizes of an anesthetist's stool because the two sizes are regarded as two models.)

Permitted number of models	Permitted items	Description of permitted items*
1	Anesthetist's stool	Not more than one drawer.
1	Anesthetist's table	Non-hydraulic type.
1	Autopsy table	Both models may be open framework type, or one may be open framework type and the other of a type having cabinet space in the frame; each model shall hold one basket only.
2	Basket
2	Bed cradle	Wheels shall not exceed 10" in diameter; drawers and compartments are prohibited; basin and pail attachments may be used.
2	Bedpan and urinal rack	Both models adjustable.
3	Cabinet for suction and/or pressure pumps.	Hydraulic-base.
1	Dressing truck, cart or carriage	Non-portable; fluoroscopic type.
2	Examining and treatment table	Copper or copper base alloy may be used in heating elements; in water-jacketed types, copper or copper base alloy may be used to the extent required for efficient operation.
1	Eye, ear, nose and throat chair table	Not to exceed 80" in width.
1	Foot-stool	Maye type, using "T" handle type of set-screw lock.
1	Fracture table	One model shall not exceed approximately 16" x 20", and have not more than one drawer; one model shall not exceed 24" x 36", and have not more than three drawers; both shall be rectangular.
2	Incubator	Each model shall have "T" handle set-screw locks; bowl and tray attachments are prohibited.
1	Infant conveyor	Open metal framework for use with removable bags.
4	Instrument cabinet
1	Instrument stand	Not more than one model with a hydraulic base.
2	Instrument table	One major hydraulic base table; one minor hydraulic-base table; and one tubular framework table; monel metal may be used for table tops.
4	Irrigator and solution stand	Adjustable.
1	Laundry bag conveyor
1	Leg dressing stand	May be single or double style.
2	Obstetrical table
3	Operating table	All models restricted to not more than 25" in depth and 26" in width.
1	Operator's stool	One model adjustable, designed for eye, ear, nose, and throat operating, and treatment; one model non-adjustable, designed for first aid operating and treatment with attachments for treatment of limbs; each model limited to 95 lbs. weight; neither model shall have hydraulic lift.
1	Orthopedic and fracture cart, truck and carriage	Both models X-ray type; one hydraulic model; one non-hydraulic model; copper and copper-base alloy may be used in drainage drawers and filters.
1	Proctological table
1	Solution stand	One open-top model minimum height 24"; and one kick-about model; and one step-on model.
3	Sterilizer cabinet	Both models non-hydraulic; one non-adjustable model; one tilting model; wheels on each model shall have a maximum diameter of 10".
4	Treatment cabinet
2	Treatment chair
2	Urological table
1	Wall shelf stand
8	Waste receptacle
2	Wheel stretcher

*In all permitted tables brass may be used to the extent required in gears. In all permitted hydraulic-base tables copper and copper base alloy may be used to the extent required in the hydraulic pumps. Copper and copper-base alloy may be used in the electrical circuit or electrical connections of any of the permitted items.

[1] The War Production Board is at present restricting the types and grades of alloy steel, other than National Emergency Triple Alloy Steel (nickel-chromium-molybdenum), that may be produced for particular end uses. If a manufacturer desires to have alloy steel of a restricted type or grade produced for him, the matter should be discussed with the Steel Division of the War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C. It is the intention of the War Production Board to continue to allow the production of alloy steel containing nickel up to 9% by weight for table tops on autopsy tables and operating tables.

PART 3288—PLUMBING AND HEATING EQUIPMENT[1]

[Limitation Order L–42, as Amended June 9, 1944]

PLUMBING AND HEATING SIMPLIFICATION

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of materials and facilities necessary for the manufacture of plumbing and heating equipment for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

Section 3288.11[1] is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 3288.11 Limitation Order L–42—(a) Issuance of schedules of simplification of lines. The War Production Board may from time to time issue schedules establishing simplified practices with respect to the types, sizes, forms, specifications or other qualifications for any plumbing or heating products, or other similar products which may be used in any other line. From and after the effective date of any such schedule, no such product shall be produced, fabricated, assembled, delivered or accepted except those that conform to the issued schedule, and except as specifically permitted by such schedule.

(b) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order or of any direction or schedule issued under it shall be filed on Form WPB–1477 with the field office of the War Production Board for the district in which is located the plant or branch of the appellant to which the appeal relates.

(c) Applicability of regulations. All persons and transactions affected by this order and by any direction or schedule issued under it, are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(d) Communications. All communications concerning this order, except appeals, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to the War Production Board, Plumbing and Heating Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref. L–42.

(e) Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order or of any direction or schedule issued under it, or who, in connection with this order (or any such direction or schedule) willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 9th day of June 1944.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[Allocation Order M–340, as Amended June 9, 1944]

MISCELLANEOUS CHEMICALS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of the chemicals subject to this order for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3293.491 Allocation Order M–340—(a) Definitions. (1) "Subject chemical" means any chemical listed in Appendix A, as therein defined.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the production of any subject chemical and includes a person who imports any subject chemical or has it produced for him pursuant to toll agreement.

(3) "Distributor" means any person who buys any subject chemical for the purpose of resale without further processing and without changing the form thereof.

(4) "Supplier" means a producer or distributor.

(b) Restrictions on deliveries. (1) On and after the applicable effective date stated in Appendix A, no supplier shall deliver a subject chemical to any person except as specifically authorized or directed in writing by War Production Board. No person shall accept delivery of a subject chemical which he knows or has reason to believe is delivered in violation of this order.

(2) Authorization or directions as to deliveries to be made by suppliers in each calendar month will generally be issued by War Production Board prior to the beginning of such month, but may be issued at any time. They will normally be issued on Form WPB–2947 (formerly PD–602) which is to be filed by the supplier with War Production Board as explained in paragraph (g) below.

(3) If a supplier is authorized or directed by War Production Board to deliver a subject chemical to any specific customer or group of customers, but is unable to make the delivery either because of receipt of notice of cancellation or otherwise, the subject chemical shall revert to inventory, and shall not be delivered, or used, without further instructions.

(c) Exceptions for small deliveries. (1) Specific authorization in writing of War Production Board is not required for delivery by any supplier to any person in any calendar month of a subject chemical in a quantity not exceeding the quantity stated in Column 3 of Appendix B.

(2) The aggregate quantity of a subject chemical which any supplier may deliver in any calendar month pursuant to paragraph (c) (1), shall not exceed:

(i) The quantity which he has been specifically authorized, upon application pursuant to Appendix D, to deliver on small orders; or

(ii) If he is a distributor, the quantity which he acquired upon certification that it was required to fill small orders or the quantity which he acquired himself on such a small order, or

(iii) If he is a distributor who customarily delivers exclusively on small orders, any quantity.

(d) Exceptions for deliveries for other reasons. Specific authorization in writing of War Production Board is not required for delivery of a subject chemical by any supplier to any other person for a purpose stated in Column 4 of Appendix B.

(e) Restrictions on use. (1) On and after the applicable effective date stated in Appendix A, no supplier shall use a subject chemical except as specifically authorized or directed in writing by War Production Board.

(2) Each person who with an order for a subject chemical furnishes a certificate required by paragraph (f) shall use the subject chemical delivered on such order only as specified on such certificate except as otherwise specifically authorized or directed in writing by War Production Board.

(3) War Production Board may from time to time issue directions with respect to the use or uses which may or may not be made of a subject chemical to be delivered to, or then in inventory of the prospective user.

(f) Supplier to obtain from customer a certificate of use. No supplier shall in any calendar month (beginning in the case of each subject chemical with the calendar month in which the order becomes effective as to that chemical as stated in Appendix A) deliver to any person a greater quantity of such subject chemical than is stated in Column 3 of Appendix B, unless he shall have received from such person a certificate as to the use for which such person is ordering such subject chemical. Such certificate shall be substantially in the form and shall be subject to the instructions stated in Appendix C and shall be in the hands of the supplier not later than the 15th day of the month preceding the month in which delivery is to be made. It need not be filed with War Production Board. A supplier must not deliver a subject chemical where he knows or has reason to believe the purchaser's certificate is false, but in the absence of such knowledge or reason to believe he may rely on the certificate.

(g) Applications by suppliers for leave to deliver or use. (1) Each supplier requiring authorization to make delivery of, or to use, a subject chemical during any calendar month shall file application on or before the 20th day of the preceding month. The application should be made on Form WPB–2947 (formerly PD–602) in the manner set forth in the general instructions appearing on that form, subject to the special instructions contained in Appendix D. If there is an inconsistency between the general and special instructions, the special instructions must be followed.

(2) War Production Board may issue to any supplier other and further directions with respect to preparing and filing Form WPB–2947 (formerly PD–602).

(h) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(2) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(3) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M-340.

Issued this 9th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,

Recording Secretary.

APPENDIX A

Chemicals subject to this order. (1) "Acetaldol" means the chemical known by that name and by the names aldol, beta hydroxy butyric aldehyde oxybutanol, 3-hydroxy butanal.

Effective date—August 1, 1943. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(2) "ET-115" means the preparation known by that trade name, as defined and specified in Appendix to Regulation No. 3 (1942 Revision) of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Effective date—August 1, 1943. Comes in the following grades; no grades.

(3) "Dehydrol-O" means the chemical known by that trade name as defined and specified in Appendix to Regulation No. 3 (1942 Revision) of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Effective date—August 1, 1943. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(4) "G. C.-78" means the chemical known by that trade name.

Effective date—August 1, 1943. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(5) "By-product—phosphoric acid" means phosphoric acid obtained as a by-product in the manufacture of methyl methacrylate.

Effective date—September 1, 1943. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(6) "Oxidised petrolatum" means high paraffinic petrolatum oxidised and processed to contain aliphatic ketones, and which is suitable for use as a base in the manufacture of rust preventive compounds or corrosion inhibitors meeting specification Nos. AXS-673, 52-C-18 and AN-C-52, such as those petrolatums known by the trade marks Par-Al-Ketone, Alox 707, Alox 701 and Alox 600.

Effective date—October 9, 1943. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(7) [Deleted June 9, 1944]

(8) [Deleted Mar. 27, 1944]

(9) [Deleted Mar. 27, 1944]

(10) [Deleted Oct. 22, 1943.]

(11) "DDT" means the chemical 2, 2-bis (para chlorophenyl) 1, 1, 1-tri-chloroethane, and is also known by the trade name "Neocid".

Effective date—January 1, 1944. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(12) "Enamel wire naphtha" (also known as E. W. naphtha) means a mixture of aromatic solvents derived from coke oven light oil, drip oil or coal tar, distilling between 150 and 200° C., with at least 15 per cent distilling above 200° C., and containing 20 to 60 per cent monocaneric polymerizable constituents of the cumorone-indene type. The term does not include aromatic material for the production of E. W. naphtha, or for the production of cumorone-indene resin, or for the production of other chemicals or intermediates, or for use as solvents in the crude state.

Effective date—February 1, 1944. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(13) "Methyl Bromide" means the chemical CH_3Br.

Effective date—March 1, 1944. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(14) "Precipitated calcium carbonate" means ultra fine particle calcium carbonate such as the chemical known as Kalvan, Witcarb R and Multifex.

Effective date—April 1, 1944. Comes in the following grades: no grades.

(15) "Pyronate" means the pyroligneous alcohol known by that trade name which is produced as a by-product of the destructive distillation of hardwood.

Effective date—May 1, 1944. Comes in the following grades: No grades.

(16) "Hi-flash naphtha" means water white coal tar solvent naphtha, having a distillation range of 145° C. (293° F. to 200° C. (392° F.), derived from coke oven light oils, coal tar distillates, drip oils or holder oils.

Effective date—July 1, 1944. Comes in the following grades: No grades.

APPENDIX C—CUSTOMER'S CERTIFICATE OF INTENDED USE

The undersigned purchaser hereby certifies to War Production Board and to his supplier, pursuant to Order No. M-340, that the ---------- (specify subject chemical) ordered for delivery in ----------, 194-.
Month
will be used by him for the manufacture or preparation of the following product(s), and that such product(s) will be put to the following end use(s):

	Quantity	Primary product	End use
(A)
(B)

Name of purchaser

By ----------
Date Duly authorized official Title

Instructions for customer's certificate. (1) The certificate shall be signed by an authorized official of the purchaser, either manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7.

(2) Where a purchaser wishes to receive more than the exempted quantity of each of two or more subject chemicals, a separate certificate shall be obtained as to each.

(3) The purchaser will specify under "Primary product", the exact product or products in the manufacture or preparation of which the subject chemical will be used or incorporated. A distributor ordering the subject chemical for resale as such will specify "resale" or, if ordering exclusively for resale on exempt small orders, will specify "small orders of ---------- or less" (specify quantity stated in Column 3 of Appendix B). If purchase is for inventory state "inventory."

(4) Under "End use", purchaser will specify the ultimate or end use to which the primary product will be put. He will also indicate whether civilian, Lend-Lease, other export or military, and if the product is for uses falling in two or more such categories, the percentage falling in each. Also, he will give contract numbers in the case of military use or Lend-Lease, and in the case of export, export license numbers. A distributor ordering the subject chemical for resale as such will leave blank the "End Use" column.

APPENDIX D—SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR SUPPLIER'S FORM WPB-2947 (FORMERLY PD-602)

(1) Obtaining forms. Copies of Form WPB-2947 (formerly Form PD-602) may be obtained at local field offices of the War Production Board.

(2) Number of copies. Prepare an original and three copies. File original and two copies with War Production Board, Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-340, retaining the third copy for your files. The original filed with the War Production Board shall be manually signed by a duly authorized official.

(3) Separate set for each chemical. Where the supplier's application relates to deliveries of two or more subject chemicals, he will file a separate set of Form WPB-2947 (formerly Form PD-602) for each.

(4) Information at top of form. In the heading, under "Name of Material", specify the subject chemical to which the Form WPB-2947 (formerly Form PD-602) relates; under "Grade", specify grade stated in Appendix A, or if no grade specified, leave blank; under "WPB Order No.", specify "M-340"; indicate month and year during which deliveries covered by the application are to be made; under "Unit of Measure", specify unit of measure stated in Column 2 to Appendix B; under name of company, specify your name and the address of the plant or warehouse from which shipment will be made.

(5) Listing of customers. In Column 1 (except for small orders as explained in (7) below) list the name of each customer from whom an order for delivery of the subject chemical during the applicable month has been received. If it is necessary to use more than one sheet to list customers, number each sheet in order and show the grand total on last sheet which is the only one that need be certified.

(6) Primary product and end use. In Column 1-a (except for small orders as explained in (7) below) specify the product or products in the manufacture or preparation of which the subject chemical will be used by your customer, the end use to which such product or products will be put, and military or Lend-Lease contract numbers, and export license numbers, all as indicated by the certificate obtained under paragraph (f) of this order. The quantity of the subject chemical used in the manufacture or preparation of each primary product for each product use shall be shown separately. If the subject chemical ordered by a customer is for two or more uses, indicate each use separately and indicate the quantity of the subject chemical ordered for each use

(7) Small orders. The supplier need not list the name of any customer to whom he is to deliver in the applicable month a quantity of the subject chemical not exceeding the maximum quantity (indicated in Column 3 of Appendix B) which he is permitted to deliver to any one person in any calendar month without specific authorization. Also, in the case of any such delivery, he need not show the name of the product or the end use. Instead, he must write in Column 1 "Total small order deliveries (estimated)" and in Column 4, must specify the total estimated quantity of the subject chemical to be delivered on such orders.

(8) Use by producers. A producer requiring permission to use a part or all of his own production of the subject chemical shall list his own name as customer in Column 1 on Form WPB-2947 (formerly Form PD-602) specifying quantity required and product manufactured. Written approval of War Production Board on such Form WPB-2947 (formerly Form PD-602) shall constitute authority to the producer to use the subject chemical in the quantity and for the purposes indicated in such approved form.

(9) Table II. Each producer will report production, deliveries and stocks as required by Table II, Columns 9 to 16, inclusive. Distributors will fill out only Columns 10, 12 and 13. Producers and distributors will show in Column 8 Grade, as stated in Appendix A, or if no Grade is there specified, will leave Column 8 blank.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[Conservation Order M-131, as Amended June 9, 1944]

CINCHONA BARK AND CINCHONA ALKALOIDS

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of cinchona bark and cinchona alkaloids for the war effort, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the war effort:

§ 3293.131 (Conservation Order M-131)—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Cinchona alkaloids" means any of the alkaloids or their salts obtained from cinchona bark whether alone or in combination with other alkaloids from cinchona bark, including, but not limited to quinine, totaquine, cinchonine, cinchonidine, quinidine, quinine sulfate, etc., and such alkaloids in standard dosage forms (pills, tablets, capsules, ampoules, etc.) or totaquine in packages of one-half ounce or less.

(2) "Quinine" means quinine alkaloid obtained from cinchona bark and its salts and derivatives.

(3) "Cinchonine" means cinchonine alkaloid obtained from cinchona bark, and its salts and derivatives.

(4) "Cinchonidine" means cinchonidine alkaloid obtained from cinchona bark, and its salts and derivatives.

(5) "Quinidine" means quinidine alkaloid obtained from cinchona bark, and its salts and derivatives.

(6) "Totaquine" means a mixture of alkaloids obtained from cinchona bark.

(7) "Cinchona bark" (also known as Calisaya, Peruvian or Jesuit's bark) means the bark obtained from Cinchona succirubra P. et K., C. Calisaya W., C. Ledgeriana M. et T. and from its hybrids.

(8) "Anti-malarial agent" means any product or material which according to modern medical opinion is recognized as a specific for suppression, alleviation or cure of malarial infections.

(9) "Producer" means any person who produces or imports cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids or has cinchona alkaloids produced for him pursuant to toll agreement.

(10) "Distributor" means any person who buys cinchona alkaloids for resale without further processing.

(11) "Supplier" means a producer or distributor.

(b) Restrictions on deliveries and use. No person other than Defense Supplies Corporation or any other corporation organized under section 5 (d) of the RFC Act, as amended, or any duly authorized agent of such corporation, shall deliver, accept delivery of, or use cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids unless specifically authorized by War Production Board, on Forms WPB 2945 or WPB 2946, whichever is appropriate. However, the U. S. Army, Navy, the U. S. Maritime Commission and War Shipping Administration need not apply for authorization to accept delivery of and use cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids, but their supplier must list the proposed deliveries, and contract numbers on his application Form WPB 2946, and such supplier shall not make delivery until authorized by War Production Board. Such authorization will also constitute authorization to those services and agencies named to accept delivery of and to use the cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids.

(c) Exceptions to restrictions on delivery and use. Nothing contained in this order shall prohibit the following transactions:

(1) Deliveries of uncompounded cinchona alkaloids under toll agreement. Any person may, without authorization from War Production Board, accept delivery of cinchona alkaloids pursuant to toll agreement for the purpose of compounding into standard dosage forms, and thereafter redeliver the same to the owner thereof, provided the person making the delivery in the first instance has received specific authorization to use the cinchona alkaloids and retains title to such cinchona alkaloids and to the products made therefrom.

(2) Small deliveries of cinchona alkaloids. Any person may, without authorization from War Production Board, accept small deliveries of cinchona alkaloids for the purpose of resale to licensed physicians, veterinarians or to ultimate consumers, or for the purpose of compounding into dosage form and thereafter reselling the same in such form, provided that small deliveries do not exceed in any calendar month:

(i) 8 ounces of totaquine (uncompounded), 4 ounces of cinchonine or its salts in the aggregate (uncompounded), 4 ounces of cinchonidine or its salts in the aggregate (uncompounded), 4 ounces of quinine or its salts in the aggregate (uncompounded).

(ii) 2 ounces of quinidine or its salts in the aggregate (whether compounded or in standard dosage form), unless acceptance of delivery of this amount, taken together with such person's stock of quinidine on hand on the delivery date exceeds 4 ounces of quinidine or its equivalent in standard dosage form.

No authorization from War Production Board is required for the compounding of such cinchona alkaloids or for any subsequent delivery, acceptance of delivery, or use of such cinchona alkaloids, whether in compounded form or otherwise. However, the appropriate certification referred to in paragraph (d) of this order is required for all small deliveries unless the small delivery is made to an ultimate consumer. Deliveries of quinidine to an ultimate consumer may only be made upon a physician's prescription as explained in paragraph (e) of this order.

(3) Deliveries of totaquine, quinine, cinchonine and cinchonidine in standard dosage forms. Any person may, without authorization from the War Production Board, accept deliveries of totaquine in packages of one-half ounce or less, or quinine, cinchonine or cinchonidine in standard dosage forms. No authorization from War Production Board is required for any subsequent delivery, acceptance of delivery or use of such cinchona alkaloids. However, the certification referred to in paragraph (d) of this order is required for all such deliveries in standard dosage forms, unless the delivery is made to an ultimate consumer.

(4) Delivery and use of cinchona bark on hand April 30, 1942. Any person may deliver, accept delivery of or use, without authorization from War Production Board, any stock of cinchona bark consisting of less than 50 pounds and which was physically located at any one place on April 30, 1942.

(5) Delivery and use of cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids previously compounded. Any person may deliver, accept delivery of, or use, without authorization from War Production Board:

(i) Any quinine which had been combined or compounded with other medicinal agents on or before April 4, 1942;

(ii) Any totaquine or cinchona bark which had been combined or compounded with other medicinal agents on or before April 30, 1942;

(iii) Any quinine and urea hydrochloride (USP) or quinine hydrochloride and urethane which had been combined or compounded with other medicinal agents on or before January 9, 1943;

(iv) Any cinchonine, cinchonidine or quinidine which had been combined or compounded with other medicinal agents on or before June 19, 1942.

(v) Any anti-malarial agent manufactured on or before January 9, 1943, pursuant to the provisions of this order as in effect up to that date; provided that the certification for "quinine, cinchonine, cinchonidine and totaquine" referred to in paragraph (d) of this order as now amended is required for all deliveries of such anti-malarial agents, unless delivery is made to an ultimate consumer.

(d) Certification required. No person shall deliver cinchona alkaloids pursuant to paragraphs (c) (2), (c) (3) and (c) (5) (v) of this order except upon receipt of a certificate in substantially the form shown below (whichever is appropriate), signed manually by a duly authorized official or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7. The quantity of material delivered should be specified on the reverse side of the certificate. A certificate is not required in those cases where delivery is made to an ultimate consumer.

CERTIFICATE FOR QUININE, CINCHONINE, CINCHONIDINE OR TOTAQUINE

The undersigned hereby certifies to War Production Board and to ---------- (insert name of seller or supplier) that the quinine, cinchonine, cinchonidine or totaquine (or product containing cinchonine or cinchonidine) ordered hereby (specify quantity on reverse side) is for use as an anti-malarial agent and will not be sold, transferred or delivered by the undersigned for any other purpose. This certification is made in accordance with the terms of Conservation Order M-131 with which the undersigned is familiar.

CERTIFICATE FOR QUINIDINE

The undersigned hereby certifies to the War Production Board and to ----------
(name of seller or supplier) that the quinidine (or product containing quinidine) ordered hereby (specify quantity on reverse side) is for use in the treatment of cardiac disorders and will not be sold, transferred or delivered by the undersigned for any other purpose and if any part of this purchase order of quinidine is sold to an ultimate consumer it will only be sold upon a physician's prescription as provided in paragraph (e) of Conservation Order M-131; and the undersigned further certifies that acceptance of delivery of this order will not increase his inventory of quinidine on hand on the delivery date in excess of 4 ounces of quinidine or its equivalent in standard dosage form. This certification is made in accordance with terms of Conservation Order M-131 with which the undersigned is familiar.

(Date)

(e) Restrictions on all deliveries of quinidine to ultimate consumers. Any person who wishes to get quinidine for consumption and not for resale must furnish the supplier with a physician's prescription. This paragraph applies to all deliveries of quinidine to the ultimate consumer. No person shall deliver quinidine to an ultimate consumer except upon receipt of a written prescription signed by a physician licensed to prescribe drugs, which shall state either that the quinidine prescribed is to be used for the treatment of cardiac disorders or "Pursuant to War Production Board Order M-131, paragraph (e)". No quinidine shall be delivered pursuant to a prescription which is written for more than fifty 3-grain tablets or capsules or for the equivalent of 150 grains of quinidine in other dosage forms. No delivery of quinidine shall be made pursuant to a prescription which is used a second time to obtain additional quantities.

(f) Applications for authorization to accept delivery or use. A person requiring authorization to accept delivery or to use cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids during any calendar month shall file application on Form WPB 2945 (formerly PD-600) with the Chemicals Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., on or before the 15th of the preceding month. However, applications for November delivery or use should be filed as soon as possible after November 4, 1943. Instructions for filling out this form are set out in Appendix A. One copy of Form WPB 2945 will be returned to the sender, on which War Production Board will indicate the quantity and type of cinchona alkaloids which he is authorized to acquire or use.

(g) Applications for authorization to deliver. A supplier desiring authorization to deliver cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids during any calendar month shall file application on Form WPB 2946 (formerly PD-601) with the Chemicals Division, War Production Board, Washington 25, D. C., on or before the 20th day of the preceding month. However, applications for November delivery should be filed as soon as possible after November 4, 1943. Instructions for filling out this form are set out in Appendix B. One copy of Form WPB 2946 will be returned to the supplier on which the War Production Board will indicate the quantity and type of cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids which he is authorized to deliver.

(h) Inventory report—quinine, quinidine. Every producer or distributor who, on November 4, 1943, has in his possession or under his control, ten ounces or more of uncompounded quinine, or four ounces or more in the aggregate of quinidine, whether uncompounded or in standard dosage forms, shall file a letter with the Chemicals Division, War Production Board, on or before November 15, 1943, stating the quantity of such material on hand as of November 4, 1943. This letter need not be filed by any supplier who files an application for authorization on Form WPB 2945 on or before November 15, 1943, or on WPB 2946 on or before November 20, 1943, for the reason that such forms require an inventory report of these materials on hand.

(i) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable regulations of War Production Board, as amended from time to time, except to the extent that any provisions hereof may be inconsistent therewith, in which case the provisions of this order shall govern.

(j) Inability to deliver. If a producer or distributor is authorized or directed by War Production Board to deliver cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids to any specific customer or group of customers, but is unable to make the delivery either because of receipt of notice of cancellation or otherwise, he must immediately notify the War Production Board, Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-131, and shall not deliver the material to anyone else, or use it, until he receives further instructions.

(k) Appeals. Appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(l) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(m) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C. Ref: M-131.

Issued this 9th day of June 1944.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

APPENDIX A

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING APPLICATIONS ON FORM WPB 2945[1] (FORMERLY PD-600) FOR SPECIFIC AUTHORIZATION TO ACCEPT DELIVERY AND USE CINCHONA BARK OR CINCHONA ALKALOIDS

(1) Who should file. Specific authorization by War Production Board is required for acceptance of all deliveries of cinchona alkaloids, unless the deliveries fall within the exceptions provided in paragraph (c) of the order. Any producer desiring permission to use part or all of his own production shall also file this application. This form need not be filed by the U. S. Army, Navy, Coast Guard, the U. S. Maritime Commission or War Shipping Administration.

(2) Where forms may be obtained. Copies of Form WPB 2945 may be obtained at local field offices of War Production Board.

(3) Number of copies. Five copies shall be prepared, of which three shall be forwarded to War Production Board, Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-131, one forwarded to the supplier with whom applicant's order is placed, and the fifth retained for applicant's file. At least one of the copies filed with War Production Board shall be signed by applicant by a duly authorized official. Where the application is solely for authorization to use from inventory, no copy need be prepared for suppliers.

(4) Special instructions for filling out form. Follow the instructions on the form except where they conflict with the specific instructions given below:

(a) Heading. Under "Name of chemical", specify either "Cinchona bark" or "Cinchona alkaloids", using a separate set of forms for each. Under "WPB Order No.", specify "M-131", under "Unit of Measure", specify "Pounds" in the case of cinchona bark and "Ounces" in the case of cinchona alkaloids.

(b) Column 1. In applying for authorization to receive or to use cinchona bark, specify in Column 1 the grade or variety. In applying for authorization to accept delivery or to use cinchona alkaloids, specify in Column 1 the name of each alkaloid or the salt of the alkaloid; for example, quinine alkaloid, quinine sulfate, totaquine, quinidine alkaloid, quinidine sulfate, etc. (It is not necessary to use a separate set of forms for each alkaloid or salt of alkaloid requested).

(c) Column 2. Specify the quantity (in pounds) for cinchona bark and (in ounces) for each type of cinchona alkaloid.

(d) Column 3. In Column 3 "Primary product" specify the exact name of the product or products in the manufacture or preparation of which the cinchona bark or the cinchona alkaloids will be used or incorporated. Distributors ordering cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids for resale will specify "Resale". If purchase is for inventory, specify "Inventory".

(e) Column 4. In Column 4 specify ultimate use to be made of the primary product, for example, "Anti-malarial" or "cardiac", and if the purpose is to fill Army, Navy, Land-Lease or other government agencies' contracts, state the contract number. If purpose is for export, the WPB 2945 must first be sent to Foreign Economic Administration together with application for an export license. If the export license is granted, Foreign Economic Administration will then affix the export license number to Form WPB 2945 and forward the document to War Production Board.

APPENDIX B

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING SUPPLIER'S APPLICATION ON FORM WPB 2946[1] (FORMERLY PD-601) FOR SPECIFIC AUTHORIZATION TO DELIVER CINCHONA BARK OR CINCHONA ALKALOIDS

(1) Who should file. All suppliers (except Army, Navy, etc.—as listed in paragraph (b)), must obtain specific authorization before delivering cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids.

(2) Where forms may be obtained. Copies of Form WPB 2946 may be obtained at local field offices of War Production Board.

(3) Number of copies. Four copies shall be prepared, of which three shall be forwarded to War Production Board Chemicals Division, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-131, the fourth to be retained by the supplier. Each producer who has filed application on Form WPB 2945 specifying himself as his supplier, shall list his own name as customer on Form WPB 2946 and shall list his request for allocation in the manner prescribed for other customers.

(4) Special instructions for filling out form. Follow the instructions on the form except where they conflict with the specific instructions given below:

(a) Heading. In the heading under "Name of chemical", specify "Cinchona bark" or "Cinchona alkaloids", as the case may be, using a separate set of forms for each. Under "WPB Order No.", specify "M-131"; under "Unit of measure", specify "Pounds" in the case of cinchona bark and "Ounces" in the case of cinchona alkaloids.

(b) Column 1. Specify the names of customers. A producer requiring permission to use a part or all of his own production of cinchona bark or cinchona alkaloids shall list his own name in Column 1 as customer. After completing the list of customers, insert "Total small order deliveries (estimated)" for each alkaloid or salt delivered pursuant to paragraph (c) (2) of this order.

(c) Column 3. List each alkaloid or salt (and in the case of cinchona bark, the variety) for which orders for delivery during the applicable month have been received as indicated in the Forms WPB 2945 filed with him by his customers.

(d) Column 4. Specify total quantity to be delivered to each customer named in Column 1, and total estimated quantity to be delivered on the "Small order deliveries" mentioned in Column 1.

(e) Table II. Each producer will report production, deliveries and stocks as required by Table II, Columns 8 to 16, inclusive. Distributors and importers will enter in Columns 9, 11 and 14 "Receipts" instead of "Production". In Column 8 the supplier will specify in the case of cinchona bark the variety and in the case of cinchona alkaloids each alkaloid or salt of alkaloid for which orders for delivery during the applicable month have been received, as indicated in the Forms WPB 2945 filed with him by his customers.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[Limitation Order L-20, as Amended June 9, 1944]

CELLOPHANE

§ 3293.1 Limitation Order L-20—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Supplier means any manufacturer, converter, jobber, dealer, printer and any other person who directly or indirectly delivers cellophane to the users.

(2) "Cellophane" means a film of plasticized regenerated cellulose, whether in nonmoisture proof or moistureproof grades and whether or not heat sealing, and cellulose caps or bands. It does not include any material which has been used to package, wrap or seal any product or in manufacture.

(b) Restriction on use. Except as provided in paragraphs (i) and (j), no person shall use cellophane for the packaging, wrapping, sealing or manufacture of the following materials or products:

(1) Cosmetics, soaps, deodorants (including paradichlorobenzene), and cleaning materials, except that cellophane may be used as provided in paragraph (c) and as a replacement of metal for collapsible tubes for tooth paste.

(2) All textiles other than bandages, sanitary swabs and typewriter ribbons.

(3) All rubber and rubber products, except that cellophane may be used in the manufacture of rubber products, as a substitute for Holland Cloth in the backing of retreading stocks for tires, tire reliners, patches and sandblast stencils, and as a wrapping on friction and rubber tape.

(4) All hardware, metals and sporting goods, except that cellophane may be used for packaging and wrapping precision metal parts.

(5) All paper and paper products, including cellulose backed adhesive tape for household purposes.

(6) Glassware, including optical lenses and jewelry.

(7) Candles and wax products, except that cellophane may be used as provided in paragraph (c).

(8) Electrical equipment, except that cellophane may be used in the manufacture of such equipment.

(9) Wood and wood products other than medical tongue depressers and swabs.

(10) Leather and leather products.

(11) Bottles and jars for any use except that cellulose bands and caps may be used for sealing bottles containing wines and alcoholic liquors; for sealing bottles containing drugs subject to deterioration through loss of volatile ingredients by evaporation, when the bottles are labeled to that general effect; and except as provided in paragraph (c).

(12) Canned goods of any sort.

(13) Flowers, plants, seeds and grains.

(14) All decorations and novelties.

(15) Bowl and basket covers, household dyes, household rolls, soda straws, sewing supplies, garment covers, toys and games, pipe filters, coin wrappings, natural and artificial sponges, doilies, hair waving equipment, brake linings, molding materials, window covers, "Jiffy Seals" and similar seals.

(16) Milk bottle hoods, except by a dairy bottling 84,000 or less bottles per month.

(17) Putty and paint, except that cellophane may be used as provided in paragraph (c) and as a replacement for metal containers.

(18) Plastic products (other than tooth brushes) and except that cellophane may be used in the manufacture of plastic products.

(19) Drug products, chemicals and antiseptics, except where necessary for the protection of the product itself.

(20) Candy products and chewing gum as follows:

(i) For box overwraps, including the wrapping of either lid or box of "set-up" boxes.

(ii) For open end sleeves on boats or trays.

(iii) In addition to any wrapper of waxed paper, glassine, grease proof, vegetable parchment, or super calendered sulphite.

(iv) For use as both a container and individual wrap for the same candy piece to form a single packaging unit.
